NAVAL OPERATIONS
FROM JANUARY 1800 TO MAY 1800
QUASI-WAR WITH FRANCE
UNITED STATES SCHOONER EXPERIMENT ATTACKED BY PICAROO NS OFF GONAIVE ISLAND. JANUARY 1, 1800.
PREFACE

This volume is the fifth of a projected series of early documentary material dealing with American naval history. It covers naval operations from January 1, 1800, to May 31, 1800, inclusive, during the quasi-war with France (1798–1801), and contains much hitherto unpublished material concerning naval activity, together with related political and commercial matters.

Among the principal events dealt with herein are the following: The engagement between the Frigates Constellation and La Vengeance; the action between the Boston and nine armed barges; the capture of the Privateer Sandwich by a cutting out expedition from the Constitution; captures of French Privateers by the Philadelphia, Augusta, John Adams, Enterprise, Baltimore, Constellation, Insurgente, Experiment, Adams, General Greene, Boston, Richmond, Amphitheatre, and a number of engagements between American armed merchant vessels and French Privateers.

The same chronological arrangement of documents is followed as in the previous volumes of the series. Throughout the work it has been the endeavor to make the text of the printed document identical with the original source. Spelling, punctuation, abbreviations, etc., are reproduced as they are found in the originals or in the copies on file. It should be noted, however, that the spelling of proper names is sometimes inconsistent and that capitalization and punctuation as found in the copies may not always be identical with the originals.

Sincere thanks are due to the following individuals and activities, not mentioned in the preceding volumes, who have kindly cooperated in this work: Virginia State Library, Richmond, Va.; T. Truxtun Hare, Ministry of Marine, Paris, France; Charles Henry Burnham, Jr.; Mrs. Truxtun Beale; Augustin Normand, Le Havre, France; Henry E. Huntington Library and Art Gallery, San Marino, Calif.; John H. Kemble, Claremont, Calif.; Wadsworth Athenæum, Hartford, Conn.; Regional Director, Survey of Federal Archives, New York, N. Y.

Following is a brief description of the four preceding volumes:

The first volume includes the period from February 1797 to October 1798. In addition to documents concerning the diplomatic and commercial prelude to hostilities, the volume contains much source material related to the establishment of the Navy Department and the procurement and mobilization of the Navy for prosecuting this war.

The second volume carries the chronology forward from November 1798 to March 1799. A special feature of the second volume is a section devoted to the American armed merchant vessels which participated in this naval war during the year 1798. Such information as the names of masters and other officers, number of crew, tonnage, guns carried, registry ports, etc., is given when available, together with interesting details of encounters between armed merchant vessels and French privateers.
The third volume covers the period from April to July 1799, inclusive. It contains additional documentary material related to the early organization of our naval forces, the establishing of bases in the Caribbean Area, operations of our Navy incident to the protection of American commerce, and the activities of our armed merchant vessels.

The fourth volume covers the period from August 1799 to December 1799. It carries forward the operations of the Navy and related events, together with accounts of the captures of several French privateers, and many recaptures from the French of American and British vessels.

A large part of the preparation of this fifth volume has had the immediate supervision of Lieutenant Commander J. U. Lademan, U. S. N., who has been assisted by Mr. H. F. Lunenburg, Miss L. I. MacCrindle, Miss C. M. MacDonnell, Mrs. C. R. Collins, Mrs. Alma R. Lawrence, and Miss Georgia Freese.

The publication of these Documents was made possible by the Acts of Congress approved March 15, 1934, and June 3, 1936, quoted below:

"Provided, That in addition to the appropriation herein made for the Office of Naval Records and Library, there is hereby appropriated $10,000 to begin printing historical and naval documents, including composition, clerical copying in the Navy Department, and other preparatory work, except that the 'usual number' for congressional distribution, depository libraries, and international exchanges shall not be printed, and no copies shall be available for free issue: Provided further, That the Superintendent of Documents is hereby authorized to sell copies at the prorated cost, including composition, clerical work of copying in the Navy Department and other work preparatory to printing without reference to the provisions of Section 307 of the Act approved June 30, 1932 (U. S. C., Supp. VI, title 44, sec. 72a).

"Printing Historical and Naval Documents.—For continuing the printing of historical and naval documents, including composition, clerical copying in the Navy Department, and other preparatory work, in accordance with the provisions of the appropriation made for the commencement of this work as contained in the Naval Appropriation Act for the fiscal year 1935, $25,000, together with the unexpended balance for this purpose for the fiscal year 1936: Provided, That nothing in such Act shall preclude the Public Printer from furnishing one hundred and fifty copies of each volume published to the Library of Congress."

QUASI-WAR WITH FRANCE

[1 January 1800]
To Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy from Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General, St. Domingo, concerning engagement between the U. S. Schooner Experiment

[U. S. Schooner Experiment]
LEOGANE, Jan. 2, 1800.

Sir, I have this moment landed here, after an unpleasant passage of six days. Nothing extraordinary happened during our voyage until the 1st instant, when at 7 o'clock in the morning, being becalmed in the middle of the channel between the island of Gonaib and Trou Corvet (a small inlet between Montrous and the Point of St. Marc) we were attacked by 10 barges, manned with negroes and mulattoes, and armed with muskets, sabres and boarding pikes. Several of these barges carried cannon of 4 pounds and swivels in the bow; and from the most accurate calculation I could make, the whole number of people on board of them amounted to about 4 or 500 — the large ones carrying 60 or 70, and the small ones 40 or 50 each. They rowed towards us with great eagerness from Trou Corvet until they came within long gun-shot of the convoy, when they divided into several small squadrons, with intention to board each of the vessels. Capt.
Maley had made the best possible arrangement for receiving them:
The guns of the Experiment being concealed and her ports kept shut, they could not distinguish her from the merchantmen under her convoy, but approached her with the same degree of boldness that they did the rest. When they came within musket shot of the convoy they commenced a very heavy fire from their great guns and musketry, which was instantly returned by the Experiment, the brig Daniel and Mary, and the schooner Sea Flower. Our grape shot and small arms made dreadful havoc among them, and obliged them to retire out of the reach of our guns. In this situation they lay on their oars for the space of half an hour examining us, and consulting what measures they should adopt.

They then rowed towards the island of Gonaib, fired a gun, and were joined by some other barges from the shore, which took out the dead and wounded from those that had been in the engagement, and brought off a reinforcement of men. After they had continued thus recruiting their force for an hour and a half, they hoisted their masts and sails, and divided into three squadrons of four barges each: The center division, consisting of the largest barges, displayed red pendants from the mast heads, while the van and the rear kept the tri-coloured flag still flying. In this order they rowed towards our bow with great boldness and velocity; and from their manoeuvres we could plainly perceive that this attack was meant for the Experiment, and her alone, and that they were determined by one vigorous effort to board and carry her. During their approach capt. Maley made a very judicious arrangement of his force: He placed a very strong body of musketry on the forecastle, and another on the quarter-deck: The oars on both sides were manned to bring her starboard and larboard broadside to bear as occasion might require; the boarding nettings hoisted, and the great guns all loaded and ready for action. As soon as they came within half musket shot of the Experiment, the van and centre of this little fleet, ranged themselves on each side of us, whilst its rear attacked us on our bow. They then commenced a brisk and well directed fire on all sides, accompanied with dreadful shrieks and menaces. The guns of the Experiment, however, being well served, and the fire of the marines continued with great steadiness and activity, we at length succeeded in driving them off, after a smart action of near three hours.

In this second attempt two of their barges were sunk, and a great number in the others killed or wounded: I am sorry, however, to add, that during the heat of the engagement, and while they attempted to board us on all sides, two of the barges left the fleet, and sheltering themselves from our guns behind the schooner Mary, captain Chipman and the brig Daniel and Mary, captain Farley attempted to take them. The first barge accomplished its object, boarded the Mary, and inhumanely murdered captain Chipman, being the only person found on deck, as the rest of the crew had either secreted themselves in the hold, or jumped into the sea. The other was sunk in the act of boarding the Daniel and Mary, by a well directed shot from the Experiment, which passed between the masts of the brig. As soon as it was perceived that the Mary was taken, a few rounds of grape shot were thrown on board of her, which quickly dislodged the pirates, and obliged them to abandon her, before they had time to do more than plunder the cabin. After the second attack, the barges rowed towards Gonaib, again landed their killed and wounded, and took in another reinforcement. They continued in this position for some time, laying on their oars, and carefully watching our motions. As the calm continued it was impossible for the Experiment to pursue them, or for the vessels under her convoy to escape. About 4 o'clock in the afternoon observing that the current had carried the brig Daniel and Mary, and the schr. Washington, nearly out of the reach of our guns, they rowed off a third time, with a determination to cut off these two vessels. This being perceived by capts. Farley and Taylor, commanders of the brig and schooner, they came to a resolution to abandon their vessels. They were induced so to do in consequence of their crews refusing to defend themselves, and from being too distant to be protected by the Experiment; they therefore came on board of the armed schooner with their crews and passengers. They had scarcely left their boats when the barges boarded their respective vessels, and towed them off in triumph. Every effort was made by capt. Maley to save them, but without effect, by means of his oars; however, he got near enough to reach the barges with his round shot, which did them considerable damage.
Observing this, they detached two of their number to some distance from the brig and schooner, either to prevent us from following them, or to capture the two remaining vessels that were still under convoy of the Experiment, should she continue the pursuit. Capt. Maley judged it, therefore, most prudent to remain by them; the calm still continuing it was very uncertain, whether he could have reached the two vessels that were already taken while on the other hand, had he continued the pursuit, he must have subjected the other two to certain capture—During the 1st and 2d actions, with the barges the Experiment suffered in her spars, rigging, and sail; fortunately no person was killed on board of her, and only two slightly wounded. Lieut. Porter received a slight contusion from a musket ball in his arm, and a French passenger was struck in the breast with a spent ball. — I cannot too much applaud the intrepidity, good conduct and activity of capt. Maley, his officers, and men during the several actions in which the Experiment was engaged. — By their persevering exertions the sch. Sea-Flower, and Mary was saved; and even the Experiment herself preserved from capture. Surrounded as these vessels were by superior numbers, in a perfect calm and attacked on all sides, without being able to bring the guns of the Experiment to bear on the greatest part of the enemy — it is really surprising that any of them escaped. — The murder of the unfortunate capt. Chipman, and the loss of two of the convoy, are circumstances much to be regretted; but were notwithstanding inevitable — the barges were so numerous that it was next to impossible to prevent them from boarding some of these vessels. Had capt. Farley and capt. Taylor remained on board the schooner and brig, it is highly probable that both they and their crews would have been put to death, and it is but doubtful whether after all their vessels could have been preserved; it was therefore prudent in them to retire. The Experiment expended nearly all her grape shot in the engagement, and as it would be hazardous for her, to cruise against the barges again, without this essential article, I have prevailed on General Touissant to spare her 2 or 300 canisters, until she can receive a fresh supply — he has also been good enough to lend her a long six pounder to serve as a stern chase, the want of one during the late action, was a very serious inconvenience, and subjected her to much hazard. Capt. Maley has thought it advisable to go to Port-au-Prince and take in these articles, and get a supply of fresh water; he expects however, to be ready in two or three days to resume his station, and protect the commerce of the Bight.

I have received accurate information, that the number of barges which now actually infest the coast from l’Archaye to St. Marc’s is not less than 37, and the number of pirates they carry exceeds 1500. If you should think it proper to send any more cruisers on this station, permit me to suggest to you the necessity of furnishing them with a large supply of musket ball and grape shot.

I have the honor to remain, with respect and esteem, Sir,

Your most obedient servant,

EDWARD STEVENS.

[LC, "Claypoole’s American Daily Advertiser", (Phila.), 21 February 1800.]
At 6 Am. discovered Eleven Barges making for me, it falling a dead calm, I got into the center of the Fleet by my Sweeps immediately and made every preparation to receive them; @ 3/4 past 7 AM the Barges were within Gun shot, and commenced a heavy fire on me with Cannon and small Arms, which were answered by the Experiment immediately; I had then in company the Brig Daniel & Mary of 3 Guns and 8 Men & the Schooner Sea Flower of 3 Guns & 8 Men; during the attack, the Barges made several attempts to board the Brig & schooner, by fortunate shots from the Guns of the Experiment they (aided by the good conduct of the Crew of the Brig & Schooner) were obliged to desist, and were repulsed with the loss of two Barges and many Killed & wounded, they then withdrew, and prepared for a second attack; they very soon came up again in three divisions, and made immediately for the Experiment, when near enough, I gave them a full Broadside, which had its due effect; finding themselves much disabled by this Broadside, they relinquished their attempt, and notwithstanding my utmost exertions (it remaining still calm) they boarded the Schooner Mary of Boston (Cap[1] Chipman) and inhumanly murdered the Cap[1] being the only person on deck, the mate and crew had secured themselves in the hold, or had Jumped over board; I immediately directed a very heavy fire on the Mary which soon obliged the Pirates to leave her;—at 11 AM the Barges returned towards the shore, being still calm it was impossible for me to come up with them, at 1/2 past 11 the Barges made for the Experiment the third time; previous to their coming up, Cap[1] Farley of the Daniel & Mary finding that he had expended all his Ammunition, with Cap[1] Taylor and their Mates, passengers & crews, came on board the Experiment, expecting if they should be taken to meet the fate of Cap[1] Chipman. the Barges soon commenced their third attack and took possession of the Daniel & Mary Schooner Washington Cap[1] Taylor; to my great regret, it however remaining calm it was impossible for me to prevent their taking possession of those vessels: In the course of the Action the Experiment suffered in her rigging & sails, tho' not considerably, but had the pleasure to find that I had not lost one Man either Killed or wounded (except M[1] [David] Porter my first Lieu[1] who received a slight concussion on his Arm,) The Pirates under cover of the calm made off with the Vessels.—

I must here remark, that if the second attack by the Barges had continued with spirit, I should have been very awkwardly situated, as to my Marines, by their not having a proper supply of Musket Cartridges; and this deficiency was owing to the inattention of M[1] Sheridan, my Lieu[1] of Marines. —

[NDA. NO, Vol. 1.]
Protest of Robert Hart, Mate, John Holland (or Hollins) and Solomon Done (or Done), Seamen, of the American Schooner Mary, in engagement with barges in Bight of Leogane, while in company with U. S. Schooner Experiment.

By this public instrument of protest, be it made known and manifest that on this 3rd day of January, in the year of our Lord 1800, personally appeared before me, Robert Ritchie, consul of the United States of America, resident in this city, [Port Republicain] Robert Hart, mate, Jno. Hollins and Solomon Done, seamen of and belonging to the schooner Mary, of Boston, of the burthen of 76 tons or thereabouts, who being duly sworn, on their solemn oath deposes and say that they sailed from the port of Boston on board the said sch'r the 29th day of November last, bound on a voyage to Cape Francois, their vessel being tight, staunch, and strong, provided with all things needful and fitting for the merchants’ service. That on the 3 and 4 of Dec’r following they encountered heavy gales of wind from the westward, which caused their vessel to leak considerably; that without experiencing anything remarkable, worthy of noting, or appertaining to the subject-matter, they arrived at Cape Francois, on this island of St. Domingo, the 21st of the said month December, where, finding the market very unfavorable for the vending of the cargo, the capt. decided upon departing for this port, and on the 26th left the cape in company with the brig Daniel and Mary, Capt. Farley, and sch’r Sea Flower, Capt. Treadwell, both belonging to Boston, under the convoy of the United States armed sch’r Experiment, commanded by Lieutenant Maley, and in the prosecution of the passage, on the 1st of January, in the year of our Lord 1800, being then in the Bite of Leogane, commonly so called, the point of St. Mark’s bearing E. NE., distant about four leagues, about half-past 6 o’clock a. m., discovered a number of armed barges with their sweeps out, rowing towards them, and at or about 7 o’clock a heavy firing commenced from the commodore and the merchants’ vessels that were armed, as also on the part of the barges, which continued till about half-past ten, when the barges rowed off, but being perfectly calm could not be pursued. At or about 11 o’clock they returned and renewed the combat, when, perceiving that three of the barges directed their attack upon the deponent’s vessel, who, being possessed of no means of resistance, they must effect the boarding of her, and seeing then Capt. Wm. Chipman fall upon the deck from a wound he received from a musket-ball, the deponents, with the rest of the crew, flew in every direction to conceal themselves, which they happily effected, for as soon as the crews of the barges got on board their vessel they inhumanely murdered the said Wm. Chipman, who was the only object they met with to vent their diabolical fury on. The commodore, finding their vessel was in the possession of the enemy, effected the directing of his fire upon their sch’r, which proving too warm for the enemy, they deserted her, when the deponents again took possession and committed the body of their capt. to the ocean, it having been mangled in a dreadful manner. The crews of the barges while on board broke open the capt. chest and plundered his cloaths and took away a small trunk, which Robert...
Hart, one of the deponents, declares must have had money in it, as he heard the gingling.

They further say that the next morning they anchored at Leogane, and the day following proceeded to this place, where they safely arrived the same day, and have appeared before me, the said consul, to receive this their declaration to serve when and where needful and necessary, protesting as well in their own names as in the names of all and every one concerned, that whatever damage has arisen or may arise has been occasioned by the circumstances as stated in the premises.

Robert Hart.
John Holland.
Solomon Doane

Sworn as above before me.

ROBERT RITCHIE.

I, Robert Ritchie, consul of the United States of America at Port Republicain, do certify the foregoing to be a true copy of the original protest deposited in my office.

In testimony whereof I have hereunto subscribed my name and affixed my seal of office, at the city of Port Republicain, this 3rd day of January, 1800, and of the Independence of the United States the 24th.

ROB'T RITCHIE.

[Extracts from letter to Secretary of State, from Turell Tufts, U. S. Consul, Paramaribo]

Sir, It is a long time since any thing has occurred within my observation of sufficient importance to be communicated to you. Unfortunately I have now a Subject,

From the indiscreet conduct of one of the Midshipmen of the Portsmouth & the rashness of General Magan to punish the folly, much altercation & irritation was produced between the General and Captain M'Neill. Some Letters passed between them on the subject, copies of which, together with the examination that was made on board the Portsmouth in my presence, I have no doubt, Captain M'Neill will transmit to the Honorable Secretary of the Navy. — I saw the Captain's Letters before they were sent, and I have no hesitation in saying — they were such as in my opinion the nature of the circumstances dictated; and, if no alterations or additions were made — they contained nothing, either servile or insulting. But, it is the unhappy privilege of folly, after having provoked censure and retort, — not to be able to brook a manly answer, always imagining every expression as insulting or indecorous. — From the threats of the General, & from his representation of the case to the Commander in Chief at Martinique, I am induced to believe it may come before you as a complaint from the British Minister. I have therefore written a Letter to His Excellency the Governor principally on that subject, and herewith transmit a Copy. Such business is so entirely new to me, that I shall be more than pleased if you are satisfied with my conduct therein. — I consider it nevertheless, as a most trifling affair, particularly, as it was without damage, injury, or harm, & the intention of Captain McNell. — I cannot refrain remarking that, in the detail of the business, the captiousness & vanity of the General is discovered — more than his understanding or good-will; and that it cannot be mentioned to you for no other purpose than as a counterpoise for any complaint you may have of a more heinous nature. It also exhibits in the strongest light the inclination of the Commander to catch at every circumstance & unfortunate occurrence to throw odium on the character of our rising Navy. Indeed, You Sir, can scarcely imagine the degree of jealousy that is daily manifested at that branch of our Power. We see it perhaps still more in the transactions of Commerce: And as you have instructed me to inform you of the terms of our intercourse with this Colony I now proceed to that subject.

* * * * * *

Citayen Ninet, (who was sent by Burnel as Agent to this Government, taken by Capt McNell, & put on board an American Vessell bound to Boston, which Vessell was taken by the Invincible — (& condemned at Barbados) & the Agent set at liberty here — ) being about to return to Cayenne in a Cartel, I sent him information, that he must consider himself a prisoner of the U States; that, should Capt McNell fall in with the Flag — or Capt Rodgers, — he would be taken out — (as the British Commanders had no right over him) — unless he took a passport from me, which I was ready to give, on his stating to me in writing his rank or titles and the circumstances of his capture. This he complied with, and I gave him a Letter accordingly. — A Copy of his acknowledgement I transmit herewith. — I transmit also two printed proclamations brought here from Cayenne by the Cartel. You will see that Burnel on account of his villainies was shipped for France. The Gov't is now considered to be in good hands. Franconie's character is excellent, having always been opposed to the plundering system. He is old, has a family; and a son is educating at N York — under the protection of Messrs Forbes, Merchants. Of this you will be informed by his Letters, if the Packets I forwarded by Captain Downs have been sent on by the Admiralty Court at Barbados.

Only Six Vessells of the U States have cleared from this port, with return Cargoes, during the last month. Since the capitulation a large number have tried the market — and found it necessary to seek another. 12 or 14 are now here. —

Captain McNell left the station unexpectedly to me, & without giving me any time to prepare a Letter. —

I have the honor to be,
Most respectfully,
Your humble Servant.

T. Tufts, Consul
U States & Paramaribo, Jan' 1, 1800.

[SDA. Paramaribo, Vol. 1, CL, 1799-1834.]
JOHN CULMAN Esq.

Sir, Yesterday I received your letter of Septem'r 6th with duplicates of your letters of May 12th and Aug't 30th.

I know not how it should have happened that your communications should have been overlooked, and that you have received no dispatches from my office; for it has been a constant rule to transmit to all the Consuls the Acts of Congress, from Session to Session. Those Acts would have informed you of the provision made to reimburse Consuls for their expenditures in relieving American seamen sick and destitute. Since the Act allowing 12 cents only per day, further provision has been made; and if a quarter of a dollar a day be necessary, I shall have no difficulty in allowing it. — For what is past you will be pleased to send me a regular account, and draw a bill upon me for the amount. I presume you have taken receipts for all the expenditures, which you have expected to have reimbursed by the United States: but it will be best for you to retain your original vouchers until the war is over, or a very safe opportunity of transmitting them shall present.

Besides relieving sick and destitute seamen, you will be pleased to do what shall be needful to get them back to the United States, agreeing to allow a reasonable sum for their passage, in cases where you cannot procure their return for wages or their work, advising me of such agreement as my guide in paying. —

A few days since I received your letter of the 25th of October last, and agreeably to your wish, will immediately endeavour, thro' Col'H Humphreys, our Minister at Madrid, to obtain your exequatur as Consul for the Canary Islands. I am only surprized to find that you have held the office so many years without one.

A copy of such acts of Congress as shall appear not to have been already forwarded shall be sent you.

I am Sir &c &c.

To Robert Gilmore Chairman of Committee for Ships building by Baltimore, Md. from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department January 1st 1800

ROBERT GILMOR Esquire
Baltimore —

Sir I am honored with your letter of the 28th Ult. — Interest will be allowed to the subscribers to the fund for building the ships [Sloops of War] Maryland and Patapsco, from the dates of their respective payments to a fixed period, which shall be subsequent to all the payments, at which time the Certificates will be dated, the Interest thus previously arising will be paid in Specie or added to the principal as may be determined on the final settlement of the Accounts —

When you exhibit your account for settlement, it will be proper that the original Tradesmens bills should be produced — The money you require shall be furnished say 12,000 Dollars or 15,000 — You may therefore draw on me, or I will remit it as you may please to advise —

Be pleased to inform me on board of which vessel the Guns received from Mr Yellot were put, that the proper charge may be made.

I have the honor to be

Sir
Your obed Servt

U: S. Frigate Insurgente
St Christopher 2⁴ Jan 1800

My Lord I am under the necessity of intruding upon your Lordship, to state to you the unfortunate Situation of my Ship.

I have the Honor of Commanding the above named Frigate, on this station, & have discover'd my fore mast to be in so rotten a state that upon a survey on it, it has been determined that it cannot possibly be repaired, or placed in any kind of security, as it is only supported by the rigging. under these circumstances, I have sent a Prize Brig of ours under the command of My second Lieu, Mr Watson, to beg the favor of your Lordship to grant me a Mast at his Majesty's Naval Arsenal at English Harbour, which favor will be highly estimated by my Government, & accounted for in any manner your Lordship may deem expedient —

Viewing our situation in a political light, contending as we now are in the same just cause, & against the same adversary, I flatter myself my request will not be deem'd impertinent, or prove unsuccessful, I therefore determine to beat my Ship up to English Harbour (if my mast will hold out) to wait the result of my Application

With the greatest respect

To the Commissioners of the City of Washington from Secretary of the Navy

[Philadelphia]
Navy Department 2nd January 1800

Commissioners of the City of Washington —

Gentlemen I am honored with your letter of the 30th Ult & will direct payment to be made to you for the squares —

In a conversation with the President this morning, he mentioned to me, that he should not adopt Mr Whites advice, to take for his residence one of General Washingtons houses or Mr Carrols, but was determined to occupy the house intended for him

He requested me to ask you to furnish him through me, as quickly as possible with a plan of the House describing the state of the different rooms, and an estimate of the sum necessary, and the time it will require to furnish each Room — His intention is to direct the completion of such rooms as he shall judge necessary for his accomodation, if the whole cannot be finished in time — His Year in his present house will end in June, and his wish is to remove his furniture at that time to his house in the City — I have the honor to be Gentlemen Yr obed Servt

To David Lenox, U. S. Agent in Great Britain for the relief and protection of American Seamen, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Philad. Jan'y 2, 1800.

DAVID LENOX Esq'f

Sir, I have represented to the President of the United States the extent as well as necessity and utility of your services, as manifested by your statements, and confirmed by M' King's information. And in consideration thereof and of the expense of a London residence, the President approves of an addition of five hundred dollars a year to your salary, to be computed from the commencement of your services as the Agent of the United States in Great Britain, for the relief and protection of American seamen. Of this I shall advise M' King, that he may cause this increase of salary to be paid to you whenever you shall think proper to call for it.

I am very respectfully &c &c

12th to 13th Nivose Year 8.

Fair weather, a light squall caused us to break the two fore-mast trestle-trees and the fore-topmast was split down to the cap, this damage which was of the greatest consequence forced me to return to Dehaye [Deshayes] and try to put things right in order to be able to proceed to Basse Terre without inconvenience, at 2.30 we anchored at Dehaye [Deshayes] where I had woolding and frapping done to support the topmast [mutilated] At the said Port I sent an officer ashore to find out whether the materials needed to repair the damage could be obtained, On his return the officer said that nothing was obtainable at the Port and that there was not even a forge, which decided me to proceed to Basse Terre.

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Alexander Murray, U. S. Navy

St CHRISTOPHER’S 3d Jan’ 1800

BENJ Stoddert Esq’

Sir My last respects to you of the 10th Ultº inform’d you of the short range, I had taken since then, I shall proceed with what further Occurrences hath transpired.

From St Piers I intended to have run first for Prince Rupert’s Bay. but hearing of some Privateers being lately seen near Dominico. I determined to seek them. but saw nothing except one British Brig a Privateer of 14 guns which we brought too. I then ran close off the Harbour of Basseterre, to take a look at the Shipping, and soon after fell in with the Baltimore, having been some time on the Station without seeing any thing, the next day, fell in with the Pickering as a flag of Truce, with prisoners for exchange. I lay off, & on, with him till that business was effected, of which you are no doubt inform’d, we then saw a Privateer which we chased, & had nearly gotten within gun shot of her, when it fell calm, & she at the same instant took a light breeze, & got under the Fort, on the 17th Dº we ran for Prince Ruperts bay, & after filling up our stock of water, we took in about 30 tons of ballast, & a quantity of wood, & on the 19th set sail, & ran over for Point Peter, to take a look at the French fifty gun Ship & corvette, that had arrived there. we saw them very snug under the Fortifications, & ply’d two days under the lee of Marygalante, & from Grandeterre to Dominico, but in passing rather too near one of their Batteries, they gave me a salute. which did us no injury we saw a number of Privateers in the road, of Marygalante: As those French Ships have drawn several British Frigates & 74 gun ship to watch them, we moved our Station, & beat to windward of Martinico, running north, & south, in a range from the Latitude of Berbuda, to Dominico, but saw nothing till the 22d when we fell in with the U: S. Ship Connecticut which had met with no success, nor seen any thing on the Station. we tried her sailing & found that she beat us most shamefully, & I think will beat any Vessel belonging to the Navy, she is a very fine ship. and well calculated for a Cruiser. Our Frigates are not so good for this business, as smaller Vessels, for almost the whole host of Privateers, are very Small, & hide themselves from us, tho’ they will frequently give chase to them & are easily decoy’d.

After we seperated, I stretch’d away to the N: E of Antigua and brought too an American brig, bound to Baltimore by whom I wrote you a few lines, I determined to stand on with her, a while but soon after saw a very large sail, bearing down before the wind. & in order to diminish the object, we took in all our sail, & lay by to get her as near to us as possible, before she could see what we were. the Scheme took in part, & she came down boldly, till we could see that she was a Ship of some force. but she at once haul'd her wind from us, when we gave chase with every thing we could crowd, & had at dusk got so near, as to see the Men on her deck. & every hope of keeping sight of her with our night glass, but unfortunately we lost her; presuming she might then stand on the same course we first saw her on, we made sail for Deserada & ran down S W 90 Miles that night. hoping to be, beforehand with her, to cut her off. at day light, we saw Deserada, & a large Ship under our lee, but as day open'd, we saw to our mortification, that it was the Connecticut, we spoke, & then stood on different tacks. that night, being the 28th — we at 10 P. M. saw a Ship close on board of us, we fired a Shot at her, & brought her too. She was the Ship Commerce of New Bedford, from Liverpool, bound to New York, with a Valuable cargo on board, had been blown off the Coast, & was running down for Antigua. but was that day taken by a small Privateer. & would have been in Port Liberty in a few hours, so that we had the good luck to rescue a Valuable property out of their hands, & sent her down to this place, where she now is, preparing to sail with the Convoy. After I parted with her, and just before Sun set, saw a large Frigate off the N: W. End of Guadaloupe, & neither of us understanding the Signals we display'd. Mutually had doubts. She stood for me, & I for her. being prepared for the worst emergency, we manœuvred some time before we hail'd it being then dark, & both prepared for action, we then found her to be his Britannic Majesty's Frigate the Unity of 44 guns, we kept together that night, & part of the next day, lying off Basseterre, where we saw (as I have been inform'd since, I arrived here) the Ship I had chased a few days previous she was a Corvette of 28 guns, & gave a circumstantial account of the narrow escape she had.

After ranging along the West Side of Guadaloupe, I cruised a few days off Englishman's head, when we discover'd that our fore mast, had unfortunately given way in many places, & was very much decay'd. this determined me on running down here, to see what could be done with it, & herewith send you the result of a survey over it. it has likewise undergone the inspection of Capt Tryon, who is here, with his Ship, which you will be advised of. & as it is past repairing, shall send to the Admiral to beg the favor of him to permit me to get a Mast at Antigua, & in the mean time shall endeavour to beat up there with my topgallant mast down, to relieve it. if I succeed, I shall go on with my Cruise again, as long as possible or till I have further orders from you, having not yet been favour'd with a letter from America since I left it.

I cannot conclude this letter, long as it is, without beging you candidly to review the Various routes I have taken, & my perseverance with a crazy ship, & worst of Materials (tho' I must observe that she is capable of being made a fine Frigate with a great expence) yet confident that I have not answer'd the expectations of the Public, having been so highly favor'd with unlimited instructions from you. while at the same time Vessels of less note have been very fortunate. Yet one thing I flatter myself with, that I shall stand acquitted with the Executive. & have your approbation, being well satisfied that I have done every thing in my Power for the good of the community. & I find that none of the British Frigates have atchieved any thing on this station for a long time. you will perceive that in your review, we have never avoided the prospect of danger, but on the contrary, strove to place ourselves where we thought we could do honor to the Navy of the U: S. — & upon all occasions my officers have shewn an equal degree of emulation with myself, but so it is, we have not yet had it in our power to convince the Public of our energy, you may remember an old adage of Julius Cesar in his ideas of an officer (tell me whether he is fortunate & I will determine whether he will suit my purposes) I confess I should not have been a favourite of his. but flatter myself I have a generous & less scrupulous head to serve: tho' a good Criterion to judge by.

I have now undertaken a plan perhaps deviating from my direct authority. but I have drawn my inference from circumstances, & what you could not have been aware of. The case is this, I have no alternative but to try my influence with the Lord Hugh Seymour to obtain a Mast from the Naval Arsenal at Antigua. I have gotten letters of recommendation & a Statement of my present distress from his Honor Rob't Thompson Commander in Chief of this Island, & the fortunate Capture of the French Brig Privateer [Conquest of Italy] by the Connecticut has induced me to think that I shall stand justified by manning her for the interval, with a Part of the Insurgents Crew to Cruise while we are beating up to Antigua in our crippled state, & while we shall be employ'd in getting the Mast in, provided we obtain the grant from his Lordship, which I have requested him to bestow on us upon any terms he may think proper

I have put my Second Lieu't Mr Watson, as commander on board of her, with several of my best Midshipmen, & 30 Men. he is first to proceed with my letters to his Lordship, at Port Royal, in Martinico; & then to meet me off English harbour at Antigua. if I succeed in my application, I shall then put a few more Men on board of him, & send him out upon a short Cruise off Deserada. after I have made my repairs, I shall then make a short Cruise with the Brig, & finally proceed to America with her, in behalf of the concern'd, having stipulated that she is to act for the U: S. & our united Ships companies, Vizt the Insurgente, & Connecticut. I shall dispatch her this day as she seems not to be in want of any thing of moment & will not be of much expence to the Public.

I have drawn a Set of exchange on you for $1965,14 in favor of Jam's Crawford for sundry Supplies had in Martinico which the purser will account for hereafter.

I also inclose to you a Copy of my letter [dated 2 January 1800] to Lord Hugh Seymour.

As my letter is of such a length I beg you will excuse any inaccuracies, as I have not time to go over it. for we are on the eve of departure. & if I have err'd in any part of my conduct, I hope you will rather attribute it to the head, than the heart, for believe me I have acted to the best of my abilities

With great respect
I am

Your most Obed't

Mf Whitesides

Sir I now appoint you as Prize Master on board the Ship Commerce, & you may repair on board of her as soon as you please, & proceed to New York with her, under the direction of Cap† Whippey, when you arrive there, you must send on the inclosed letter to Mf Miller, & to the Secretary of the Navy, & you are to lay our claim for the ¾ Salvage of Vessel, & cargo in behalf of the Insurgents crew.

When your attention is no longer required at New York, you must repair to the Secretary of the Navy for his orders, either to join me again, when I arrive, or to go on board any other Vessel, I can only observe that I should be glad to have you with me again, & wish you every success, should you arrive at Philadelphia before me, I beg you will wait on Mf Murray, as she will be glad to see any officer of the Ship, as to money matters, you must procure a sufficiency at New York on your own account, or the Publick's

Lieut† Watson

Sir The unfortunate state of our foremast, hath induced me to give you the command of the Prize Brig Conquest of Italy, & you are to proceed without delay to Port Royal, with the letters to the Admiral, (Lord Hugh Seymour) which contain a request that his Lordship will grant an order for a Mast for us, at English Harbour, (Antigua), should I be so fortunate as to obtain the permission, you will without delay join me there, or whether or not, after your arrival, we will determine on something further to keep our Crew employ'd.

You must not run out of your way to chase any thing unless you accidentally meet with any captured vessel in your track, & observe the same regulations that we do on board the Insurgente. should it so happen that you should meet with a recapture, you are to send her here, or keep her with you till you arrive at English Harbour.

Confiding in your Valor, skill, & Industry, I shall add no further than to assure you of my Wishes for your Success & am your most Obed†

Protest of James Deale, Master of the Ship Lewis (Louis), captured by French Privateer La Clarisse

Extract from the Register of the Office of the Commercial Tribunal of Land and Sea of the Isle of France.

This day Eighth Pluvios, eighth Year of the French Republique one and indivisible, in the afternoon.

In the office of the Commercial Tribunal of Land and Sea, of the Island of France, Before me Stephen Francis Prieur, Sworn Clerk Register, underwritten.

Appeared James Deal, Commander of the American Vessel Lewis, assisted of Citizen Bonnefoy, sworn Interpreter of the English Language, residing in this city, for the N. W. Harbour.

Which through the Organ of said Interpreter has said and declared, that he sailed from the Port of Baltimore on the first of January one Thousand Seven hundred & Ninety Nine, bound for London, there to Sell the Cargo which he had taken at the place of his departure; that he arrived there on February following, that on his passage he met with a french Privateer from Bourdeaux, who boarded him and afterwards permitted him to proceed on his voyage; That he sailed from London on the eighth of June of said Year, with a new Cargo bound for Calcutta and arrived there on the Twenty sixth day of October following. Sailed from thence on the Thirty first of December, with a part of his Cargo on board, on his Return to Baltimore, and to touch at Madrass where his Cargo was to be Completed. That on the fifth day of January one Thousand eight hundred, at the break of day, being in Latitude 19° North, and Longitude 90. E. he was in Company with an other American Vessel [the Criterion], and with which he sailed from Calcutta, when he fell in with the french Privateer, the Clarissa, commanded by Captain Surcouf, which they discovered at about three leagues distance; The vessel of the appearer was sailing before the Wind, and found himself about half gun shot distant from his Companion, when the Privateer steered right after this appearer, and when within a musquet shot from him fired a Gun; that the Privateer had nothing but a red colour flying at the Top of her main mast, then this appearer answered by a discharge of one of his guns, having his Colour hoisted. That after these two Shots, a whole discharge ensued from the french privateer, when this appearer also made a similar discharge, and afterwards was boarded by the said Privateer who took possession of this Vessel, That the other Vessel who had witnessed, as well as seconded the appearer in the Action to escape the privateer, made sail when he saw that this appearer was in the power of the Privateer. That he had during the Action three men Killed, and eight Wounded, and entered on board of said Privateer to go to the Isle of France where he arrived Yesterday. Said Captain James Deal through the means of said Interpreter, do declare that he protests against the capture of said American vessel Lewis, for the preservation of the Rights of the owners and interested of said Vessel, against whom of Right it shall or may appertain. of which declaration and protestation said Captain has requested an Act through the organ of the said Interpreter; then made and signed being first read by the said Interpreter who has also signed with me Notary the day and Year first above Written — Signed —

Protest of John W. Bronaugh, Supercargo of the Ship Louis, captured by French Privateer La Clarisse

By this Publick Instrument of Protest be it known and made manifest unto all persons whom it doth shall or may Concern, That on Wednesday the Sixteenth day of January in the Year one thousand eight hundred, Before me George Chalmer Notary Public dwelling and practising at Fort Saint George on the Coast of coromandel in the East Indies by lawful authority duly admitted and Sworn personally came and appeared Mr John W. Bronaugh late Supercargo of the American Ship Louis belonging to the Port of Baltimore in Mary land and declared as follows That a cargo was provided by him the appearer and taken on board the said Ship or Vessel at Calcutta in the Kingdom of Bengal consisting of Three hundred and six Bales of piece Goods Eight hundred and fifty four Bags of Sugar, one hundred and twenty two Bundles of Twine, Long line and Marine and one Trunk of fine Muslins, for and on Account of Messrs. S. Smith and Buchanan and Mr. J. Hollins Merchants of the said Port of Baltimore, That the said Ship with the said Cargo on board and commanded by Mr. James Deal left Calcutta on or about the Twenty Seventh day of December last past, bound to Madras in prosecution of their Voyage to the said Port of Baltimore expecting to meet the Indiamen there and to proceed as far as their respective Voyages would permit. And the appealer further declared that at the time of leaving Calcutta the American Ship Criterion Captain Weeks was in company and it was agreed upon that the Louis and her should stay by and co-operate with each other in resisting the attacks of Privaters — And the appealer further declared that while proceeding down the Bay of Bengal in Company with the said Ship Criterion they on the morning of the fourth Instant at day light were in Sight of a French Privater who immediately made towards them and seeing no prospect of escaping Captain Deal prepared for action as did also the Criterion, and as soon as the Privater came within a short distance they began to cannonade her from the Louis with considerable effect But the Privater instead of pursuing this mode put up the helm and being a very fast Sailor she soon run down upon the Louis and Boarded her and the said Privater having a very numerous crew they were under the necessity of Surrendering in the Louis after a severe conflict in which three men were Killed. And the appealer further declared that during the action they received no assistance whatever from the Criterion who struck her Colours when the Privater had boarded the Louis, But the said Privater having carried away her Bowsprit and Fore Top Mast the Criterion again hoisted her Colours and fired a Broad Side and made all the sail she could to escape and which she effected the Privater being unable to follow her. The Vessel proved to be the Clarissa French Privater and commanded by Captain Surcouf, — And in proof of the cargo laden on the said ship Louis The appealer did Exhibit to me Notary an Invoice Marked A Shewing the Marks and Numbers of the Bales with the respective Costs or prices thereof making an aggregate Value of Sicca Rupees one hundred and twenty eight thousand five hundred and Sixty Nine, Two Annas and three Pice — And the appealer further declared that the Costs of the fine Muslins herein before mentioned amounted to Sicca Rupees one thousand Nine hundred and twenty five, and fifteen annas and altho' it was not included in the general Invoice yet it was actually on board at the time of the Capture and the reason of its not being inserted in the General Invoice was from Mistake Owing to and occasioned by the hurry which prevailed in consequence of the Exertions made to join the Indiamen at Saugur; And the appealer further declared that four setts of the said General Invoice with a Bill of Lading on each, were granted for the said cargo, one of which was sent on the said Ship Criterion and the other left to be forwarded by the Ship India Captain Ashmead now at Calcutta, That the other two Setts were on board the Louis at the time of her capture, But the Trunks being all opened by the crew of the Privater only one could be found which was retained by Captain Surcouf who permitted the appealer to take a copy of it, having refused to deliver the Original, considering it necessary to Effect the condemnation of the Louis and her cargo at the Mauritius. And I the said Notary by direction of the appearer have hereunto Subjoined the said copy Marked with the Letter A as also a List or Invoice of the Muslin contained in the Trunk Marked with the letter B in proof of the interest which the said S. Smith and Buchanan and Mr John Hollins had on board the said Ship Louis at the time of her capture and to Serve and avail in case the other original Invoices and Bills of Lading should not arrive in safety. That besides the Goods aforesaid there was also on board the said ship Six hundred Dollars in Specie making Sicca Rupees on thousand two hundred and forty three, and fourteen annas the Whole interest of the Owners in cargo and Specie being one hundred and thirty one thousand Seven hundred and thirty eight Sicca Rupees fifteen annas and three Pice as is Shewn by the Statement C hereunto annexed — And the appearer further Declared that the said Privateer having afterwards captured a Pariah vessel he and Part of the crew were sent on board of her and allowed to proceed to Madras where [or when] they arrived on the fifteenth Instant — And the appearer further declared that the Utmost Exertions were made by the said Captain Deal and the officers and crew of the Louis to defend her from the said Privateer, and that the loss and capture was occasioned by the means aforesaid and not to any default of them. And therefore the said John W. Bronaugh on behalf of the said Messrs S. Smith and Buchanan and Mr John Hollins and all and every other person or persons who are or may be interested in the said Ship Louis or her cargo, desired me Notary to Protest in order to serve and avail as occasion may require —

Wherefore I the said Notary at the request aforesaid have Protested and by these presents do Solemnly Protest against the captors of the said Ship Louis and her cargo and against all Causes and things in any Manner Contributing thereto —

To the end therefore that all losses and damages together with the Costs incurred by Protest ing or Otherwise may be all had and recovered and that they may be submitted to, borne, paid and sustained by the Insurer Underwriters or Respondentia Lenders or whomsoever else it doth shall or may concern and not by the appearer or the commander, the officer or crew of the said Ship Louis they having all used their best Exertions for her safety and preservation —

In Faith and Testimony whereof I the said Notary have hereunto set my hand and affixed my seal of office in Fort St George aforesaid the day and year first above written — as I have also done to a Duplicate hereof

In Testimonium Veritatis

G Chalmer

John W. Bronaugh late Supercargo of the American Ship Louis maketh Oath and Saith that the aforesaid Declaration and Protest is true in Substance and Matter of fact.

Fort St George this 21st day of January 1800 Sworn to before me Richard Chase
Mayor

[ Ct. of CL, French Spol., Case No. 2191.]
Statement of John W. Bronaugh, Supercargo of the Ship Louis, captured by French Privateer La Clarisse. After his release, while returning to Baltimore, in the Rebecca, was attacked by French Privateer Madoric, but escaped.

In the month of June in the Year 1799 I sailed from London in the Ship Louis of Baltimore commanded by James Deale bound to Calcutta and Madras, I was the principal Super Cargo of the said Ship, and my Brother Jeremiah W. Bronaugh my assistant — I had under my charge in Spanish Milled Dollars for and on account of the owners, S. Smith and Buchanan and John Hollins all Merchants of Baltimore One Hundred Thousand, and letters of Credit on Madras for any further Sums I might require to lade the Louis fully with her return Cargo — I had also under my charge seven Thousand Spanish Milled Dollars at their current price in London, shipped on account of James Deale who was commander of the Louis — We arrived safe in the Port of Calcutta in the month of October 1799, where I commenced the purchase and shipping the Goods stated in my account marked No 1, and also in the account No 3, on account of James Deale. We sailed from Calcutta in the month of December 1799: bound to Madras, where I had ordered a considerable amount to be gotten ready in Handkerchiefs and other Madras goods to be there shipped on board the Louis in addition to the Goods purchased and shipped at Calcutta. In the prosecution of this passage we had agreed to keep company with Ship Criterion of Philadelphia commanded by Benjamin Weeks as far as the Lattitude of Madras — On the morning of the 4th of January 1800 we were attacked off Ganjam in the Bay of Bengal by the French Privateer ship La Clarisse commanded by Robert Surcouf, after a short but severe conflict we were taken possession of by Surcouf with the loss of three Men Killed, and every other person wounded except James Deale the Commander, Jeremiah W Bronaugh assistant Super Cargo and myself. In a day or two after we were captured, Surcouf took a country Brig, commanded and sailed entirely by natives of India, on Board this Brig, Surcouf put my Brother all the wounded Men, officers and myself, belonging to the Louis, except James Deale Commander, his Brother John Deale and William Bantam Steward of the Louis — On parting with Captain Deale who remained on Board the Privateer, then Bound to the Mauritius, I handed to him my written instructions to defend the Louis and cargo at the Isle of France or Mauritius, and on the event of her being condemned, to have proper protests made & to forward them to the owners in Baltimore together with a copy of the condemnation. After I arrived at Madras in the country Brig, I intended to have put the goods I had there on board of some vessel bound to the United States together with my Brother our wounded crew and myself, finding this impossible, there being no ship there bound to the United States, nor was one to be purchased, I then determined to proceed back to Calcutta with my disabled Crew, this was not only a laborius and expensive undertaking but occasioned to me nineteen months loss of the Prime of my life before I could make such arrangements in purchasing equipping and maning a ship to come Home in — It may here be proper to state that I purchased at Calcutta a large new Fine ship called the Rebecca burthen about one Thousand Tons, I put on her 16 double fortified nine pounders, small arms pikes cutlasses & every other kind of weapons of defence I could get, after this was done, I shipped a crew of 85 Men, made Richard Pitt, who was the first Mate of the Louis my Sailing Master, holding the command in my own hands thus equipt I set sail in the Rebecca about the commencement I think of October 1800 for Baltimore and in a few days after discharging my Pilot I was again attacked nearly about the same point, in the Bay of Bengal where we had lost the Louis, by the Malartic Brig a Privateer from the Isle of France commanded by Monsieur Dutert, this Brig we fought 2 Hours and 45 Minutes, and at length on my ordering that we should cease firing, finding that our Shot was nearly exhausted, to let the Privateer approach nearer if she chose to do so, and give us an opportunity with our remaining shot to sink her at close quarters. Immediately on our ceasing to Fire the Privateer was maned with 16 sweeps on a side there being little or no Wind and ran off — The next day after, this Brig was taken in the Bay of Bengal by one of the India Companys ships, in distress having been cut almost to pieces, by us in the engagement with the Rebecca, and carried into the Port of Calcutta from which we had sailed. On my arrival at the Cape of Good Hope, where I was compelled to touch to refit, having sustained great damage in our sails and Rigging in the action, and thereby occasioned us a long passage, I had handed to me at the Cape of Good Hope a Calcutta Paper, in which was "Stated that the Malartic Privateer Capt' Dutert had been brought into that Port by one of the companys ships found in Distress occasioned by the action she had with the American Ship the Rebecca Capt' Bronaugh in which there were 25 men Killed on Board the Malartic and 16 wounded — In this engagement I was fortunate enough not to have a man Killed or wounded, the only loss was the damage done to our Sails and Rigging, which cost me to refit at the Cape of Good Hope including our provisions and naval stores about one Thousand pounds sterling —

JOHN W. BRONAUGH.

Stafford County to Wit:

This day came before me, John G. Hedgman, a justice of the peace for the County aforesaid, John W. Bronaugh and made oath on the holy Evangelists, that the foregoing Statement, as far as he can recollect, is just & true: he further declares on oath that he has found on reference to his protest made at Madras, that he was captured by the Ship La Clarisse, on the 4th day of January 1800, instead of December 1799, as he had stated in the affidavit annexed to his own & Capt. Deal's accounts proven before me on the 27th November 1830 —

Given under my hand & seal this 16th day of December 1830 —

JOHN G. HEDGMAN

Light airs and a heavy Swell from the Southward. — The Store Ship about one mile Distance.

The numerous colds & coughs with which the crew were effected, for a considerable time before we sailed from the Chesapeake — begin to suside fast — and by the Surgeons Report this day only ten remained in his list, and Six of these are under Venereal complaints, of long standing, thus we may call the Ship Remarkably healthy. —

Employed repairing of Sails, that have been much injured by rats — and unhanging the port lids, as I find the Ship very Stiff in comparis[on] to what she was with the 24 p² cannon on her decks — and these lids with their hinges & Iron work, I calculate to average each 4 C² which takes from the Sides of the Ship Six tons weight. —

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Edward Preble, U. S. Navy

Frigate Essex, Newport Harbor,
January 6, 1800.

Sir: — I have the honor to inform you that we are now weighing one anchor to proceed to sea in company with the Congress, the wind from N. N. W., gives us a prospect of a favorable time off the coast; this letter will be accompanied by my muster-roll, quarter bill, watch bill, boarding list, return of the commissioned and warrant officers, allotments of pay, indents for stores supplied the ship, recruiting accounts and receipts for money advanced. I have been obliged to make them out in such a hurry that I am confident they are not so regular as they ought to be, but the very little assistance I have had must plead my apology; it is but a few days that I have had a clerk on board, and my purser has never been of any assistance to me, nor do I expect he ever will. Lieut. [David] Phipps is very infirm, and so far advanced in life, with a broken constitution, that although he is a very worthy man, I do not expect it will be in his power to render any essential service on board. I am inclined to think, from present appearances, that he never will return; this has induced me to take on board Mr. Geo. Washington Tew, who was senior midshipman on board the General Green, and arrived here sometime past in a prize. Mr. Tew stands very high in the opinion of every person who knows him, and has been so very strongly recommended by Messrs. Gibbs and Channing that I have received him as first midshipman of the Essex, to act as Lieutenant. This arrangement is perfectly agreeable to the gentlemen of the wardroom with whom he messes, and I hope it will meet your approbation.

I have been much disappointed in my marines; six out of the ten sent to Salem I have been obliged to land here unfit for service, and were so when I received them, and in lieu of the forty I was to receive here I have received only twenty-four; this disappointment obliges me to go to sea twenty men short of my complement, which is by no means a pleasant consideration, as I am bound on so long a cruise, although I do not consider it of consequence enough to detain the ship a moment, when I take into consideration the importance of the object of our destination.

I have been obliged to land my carpenter, and one midshipman, Mr. Fitch Tarbell here sick; and to discharge from the service six able and ordinary seamen in consequence of disorders which it was not possible to discover previous to a proper examination by a surgeon, which it was not possible to have at the time of their engagement, as they were shipped in an out-port where no surgeon or physician could be procured. There has also been two desertions as per muster-roll.

The two midshipmen, Mr. Williams and Mr. Hitchcock, are on board. Two officers of marines were ordered to this place to join the Essex, one of them, Lieut. S. W. Geddes, [U. S. Marine Corps] has by a scald, fortunately for the ship, been prevented. I say fortunately as his conduct since his arrival in this place has been disgraceful to him as an officer and as a man; the other, Lieut. M. [?] Porter, [U. S. Marine Corps] is on board.

The recruiting service for this ship has been attended, in some instances, with more expenses than ordinary, in consequence of the short time allowed to man her, and the number of vessels manning at the same time, but I am confident that the officers employed on the recruiting service have been governed by no motives but such as are justifiable.

My returns of every description shall in future be regular and proper, and every attention paid by me to the good of the service.

I beg you to accept my best wishes for your health, happiness and a long life.

I have the honor to be, with great respect, Sir,
Your most obedient humble servant,

Edward Preble, Capt.

Hon. Sec'y of the Navy.

To Secretary of the Navy from Gibbs & Channing, Navy Agents, Newport, R. I.

Newport Jan'y 6 1800

The Congress & Essex Frigates sailed this day; they have on board the supplies, and sixteen thousand dollars in dollars for Ships use and advances to the Officers. — Capt. Sever & Preble have recommended our shipping about 3000 Gs Rum, which we shall ship by a fast sailing Ship belonging to Bristol, and expected to be here this week — We shall give directions, that in case the Frigates should have left Batavia before the Ship gets there, to have the Rum sold, and the proceeds remitted in good bills for Government account. —

The Carpenters are now at work on the larboard side of the George Washington, which they find more defective than the starboard — Messrs Franklin & Robinson's Captain has returned to Newyork without concluding with us, and we are of opinion, that tho' they want the Ship much, that they will not accede to our offers to them — If a private sale cannot be effected within a limited time, shall we have her put up to Auction, and if so, under what limitation shall we let her go —

Hon. Benjamin Stoddert Esq —

Mess Gibbs & Channing

Gentlemen In consequence of Advice from the Secretary of the Navy, I request you to ship in some fast sailing ship, which may soon sail for Batavia three Thousand Gallons of rum for the United States frigate Congress & Essex & to be there delivered to the orders of their respective Commanders. Provided they should have left that Station before the arrival of the rum, then the same to be disposed of agreeable to orders you are requested to forward for that purpose.

Frigate Essex. At Sea,

Newport Light House, bearing N. W. by N., 2 leagues. Jan. 6, 1800, 4 P.M.

Sir: — I have the honor to acquaint you that the Essex in coming out of the harbor sailed much faster than the Congress, and is, I think, in every respect a fine frigate.
The wind is fair and the weather pleasant, and we have every prospect of a good time off the coast. Two ships and a brig are under our convoy, the names and destination of which I suppose Capt. Sever has made you acquainted with. My dispatches for the Navy Office I had the honor to enclose previous to weighing anchor, and committed them to the charge of the agents.

With great respect Sir,
I have the honor to be
Your obedient humble servant, Edward Preble, Capt.

P. S. I have the satisfaction to say that the Congress has not waited one moment for the Essex. E. P.

Messrs. James & Ebenezer Watson
New York —

Gentlemen I am honored with your letter of the 4th Instant.
If the vessel on board of which you have shipped the Stores for the Constitution be armed you may let her proceed without the Richmond.
If she is not armed be so good as to ascertain what the owners will demand for demurrage, which if not extravagant had better be paid, than for the stores to run the risque of capture by her proceeding alone — It is to be regretted that you have not been able to ship the stores for the Frigates Congress and Essex — Be pleased to dispose of the wine, the Bread & Beans You may retain until wanted — I have the honor to be

Gentlemen Considering how important it is that the stores shipped for the Constitution should arrive safe, I have the honor to request that you will be pleased to detain the Vessel on board of which they are until the Richmond is ready to proceed with her — The expence of demurrage if necessary and not enormous must be submitted to in preference to risking the capture of the Stores.
If the Vessel cannot be detained on proper terms, you will please take the Stores out of her and ship them on board another vessel as soon as practicable —

To William Eaton, U. S. Consul, Tunis, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Phila* Jany 11th 1800

No 3.

WILLIAM EATON Esq:

Sir, The Brig Sophia arrived with your dispatches the latter end of August, when the yellow fever had again obliged the public officers to remove from this city. New York was visited with the same disease at the same time; and the inhabitants of both cities generally removed into the country; whereby business was suspended. We returned hither the beginning of November. Congress assembled in December, when the treaty between the United States and Tunis was laid before the Senate, with the alterations in the 11th, 12th, and 14th articles to which you and Mr Cathcart agreed. The Senate having given its advice and consent, the treaty has now been duly ratified by the President. One of the originals received from you is herewith returned, with the ratification in due form. The other destined by you to be returned, will be sent by the next safe conveyance. — A large ship is loading at New York with naval and military stores for Tunis; and the Agent informed me that she will be ready to sail the first week in February. The residue of the stipulated stores will be forwarded as fast as they can be provided; but some are of a nature difficult to procure, and it will take time to furnish them. They are not articles which are to be found on hand, like common merchandise, in our seaport towns; the timber and planks especially, being of prescribed dimensions, must be cut and prepared for the particular service. However, that the Bey might receive an evidence that the United States will fulfill their stipulations, the large ship above mentioned has been directed to be loaded with such of the stores required as the City of New York could furnish; the lumber of dimensions as near as possible to those prescribed. Until the Sophia’s arrival, nothing could be done: because it was hoped and expected that the Bey would consent to substitute money for stores. The burthen of the latter is enormous. By a calculation made of their bulk, it appears that they will probably occupy the space of at least fifteen thousand barrels. Regularly, none could have been provided, until the treaty was finally ratified; and this could not take place until the Senate assembled in December.

Under these circumstances, the Bey will see the impossibility of sending forward the regalia of maritime and military stores within the period which he proposed: and unless he is at all events determined to make war upon us, he will wait such a length of time as will render the providing and transporting of them practicable. He should also consider the danger we run of capture by some of the belligerent powers; seeing the stores are contraband of war. From that cause alone, half of them may miscarry.

Your letters of June 1st and 15th were received the 16th of October. the latter strongly enforces the necessity of forwarding the stores expeditiously: but it is hoped your apprehensions are too lively, that war will be the consequence of some delay. As the Bey would accept no substitute for the stores, he will hardly forfeit them by war rather than wait a few months longer. I enclose a copy of Capt O Brien’s list of stores, and of that which you forwarded. Comparing them, you will see the latter to be materially more burthensome, by the addition of ten tons of cordage, and the greatly increased dimensions of the planks and timber.

The importance of sending a naval force into the Mediterranean, to shew to the Barbary powers our capacity to defend our commerce, and to annoy them, has repeatedly been urged; and probably the period is near at hand when this measure will be practicable. At the same time its efficacy may be questioned. The Danes and Swedes have long possessed a naval force vastly superior to what we can exhibit: yet the regencies have often broken their peace with them; and after a display of frigates and some fighting (as in the case of the Danes lately with Tripoli) both of those nations have yielded to the humiliating demands of Algiers, Tunis and Tripoli. Whence this contemp of those two maritime powers? Have these never been in earnest in joining battle with the Corsairs? Or have they wanted spirit or conduct? — The late spirited example of Portugal, when a single ship of the line destroyed two Tripolitan Corsairs and reduced the Bey to the very novel condition of purchasing peace of a Christian Power is encouraging; and should our differences with France be settled by our Envoy now at Paris, and either of the Regencies break their peace with us, our whole naval force may be sent against them: and consisting of Frigates, smaller ships, brigs and Schooners, no fleet would be equally adapted for service on the coast of Barbary: and by their numbers and strength, according to the enclosed list, you will see they are sufficient to destroy the Corsairs of any one, or of all the three regencies together. — For you know from the proofs given by American seamen in our revolution war, that they are not surpassed in skill and bravery by the seamen of any nation on earth. And altho' it would be neither decent nor prudent for you to boast of our naval force; yet if the Bey should unfortunately manifest a hostile temper you can contrive without a direct communication from yourself, unless he should enquire to let him know the extent and quality of the naval force we can send into the Mediterranean. He knows and fears the prowess of the English: and he may be informed that we are their descendants; and ship to ship and man to man, are in nothing inferior.

Your expressions are, that the Bey requests a cruiser of 18 or 20 guns, and demands a present of jewels. Neither was stipulated or expected by the United States. — The former we could certainly furnish, because of our own manufacture. The jewels can only be obtained in Europe — at present in England — the amount enormous.

Your details of the commerce of Tunis are interesting. It would give employment to all her naval armament, if converted from corsairs to merchant vessels. And is it not possible to give to a Prince so enlightened as the present Bey, such ideas of the advantages of a peaceful commerce as to induce him to attempt the change? Besides, as the government is hereditary in his family, he will feel an interest in it, which can have no operation in the military elective regencies.

In his letter to the President, the Bey expresses his desire that a solid and lucrative commerce may be established between us. Our enterprising merchants would readily commence it, were they assured of protection, and that monopolies of the exports of his Kingdom would not prevent their obtaining return cargoes. If, for instance, the 250,000 hides, which you state to be annually exported by a company, with exclusive privileges, and which the subjects are compelled to sell to them, at eleven cents each (amount 27,500 dollars) were not under a monopoly, they might be exchanged with American merchants for commodities, probably of the value of 250,000 dollars. Or suppose they gave Tunissian subjects only 25 cents and the Bey 12½ cents for each hide, his subjects would receive $125,000, and his revenue, instead of ten or fifteen thousand dollars, would on this single article be increased to upwards of $60,000. — Are these monopolies irrevocably fixed? It is not presumable. And cannot a man of the Bey’s good sense, and so eager after gain be easily enlightened on the subject; and will he not feel himself under strong and lasting obligations to the Consul and nation who shall place him in a condition so advantageous to himself and his subjects? If these ideas are not visionary, the freedom with which he converses with you, will enable you to disclose them.

I am with great regard &c. &c

To Josiah Parker, Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 11th January 1800

Josiah Parker Esqr
Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs —

Sirs, In compliance with the requisitions contained in your letter to me, I have the honor to present enclosed, a view of all the Vessels of War procured, & preparing, for the Naval service of the United States, shewing how, and where they have been obtained, & designating those in actual service, those which have been lately launched, and are now equipping; & those which will not be ready for sea, before the commencement of the next summer.

By comparing this view with the different acts respecting the Naval Armament, it will be seen, that the whole number of vessels authorized by Law are in service except the Ship Montezuma, lately sold, as she proved to be unfit for a cruiser; two Frigates building at New York, and six Ships of seventy four Guns. The two Frigates will be ready for Sea in the beginning of next summer; and the frames of Live Oak cut to the moulds, and other timber sufficient for the six seventy four gun Ships, it is confidently expected, will be deposited at the different building places, early in the spring; and if the situation of the Country should require great exertions, such progress towards their completion can be made in the year 1800, as to leave but little to be done in the following year.

The Acts of Congress have not contemplated the establishment of Naval Arsenals. Money has been appropriated for the building, equipment and maintenance of Ships for one year: the course of the business has been to provide the different articles of Military and Naval Stores by the time the ships were ready to receive them. In doing this no difficulty has been experienced — at least none for the last 12 months. The Manufacture of Cannon, and indeed of all kinds of Arms, and Military Stores, is now so well established in the United States, that no want of them can be experienced in future, nor does it appear essential, that large supplies of them should be laid up in store for the Navy Service.

When a Ship is once provided with the most important articles, she is provided for ever; for those less durable, and less important, it will be sufficient to provide in the Estimates of the annual expense of the Navy, for their purchase, as occasional supplies of them shall be required — It is presumed that there will be arsenals, under the direction of the War Department, from whence powder can at all times be obtained — Every other article necessary for the Navy service, Hemp, Canvas, and Copper excepted, can be furnished, and with promptitude, in many parts of the Country. — for hemp, canvas & copper, we are still dependant on foreign Countries, and probably shall remain so, until the wisdom of Congress shall devise effectual means to encourage the growth of the first and the manufacture of the two last articles at home. The consumption of these articles in the United States must amount annually to several millions of Dollars, and besides the safety of possessing within ourselves every thing requisite for Navy defense, it is not unimportant, that so large a sum, instead of being paid to other Countries, should be applied to the encouragement of Industry and enterprise in our own —

Hemp was once cultivated in the United States but the cultivation ceased except in the Western Country, in consequence of immense importations from Europe Russia, a consequent fall in price, and failure of demand — a certainty of sale would revive the cultivation. There are reasons to hope that the manufacture of Canvas will increase; as to copper the manufacture of this article requires the expenditures of so much money, that without effectual Public assistance it will not be soon established in the United States — and it is the more essential that it should be, as the country from whence we have heretofore derived our supplies has prohibited the exportation under an apprehension of a failure in its mines.

To carry into effect the intentions of Congress in the passage of the Act "authorizing the purchase of Timber for Naval Purposes", intelligent men have been employed to examine into the state of the Georgia Lands bearing the live oak, and it is believed that very correct information has been obtained. From this information it appears that there remains but two or three small Islands sufficiently clothed with this valuable timber, to be worth the Public attention. Measures have been taken to secure these Islands for the Public by purchase, and it is expected that the cost will be something under 50,000 Dollars: — for part of the residue of the 200,000 $ appropriated by this Act — Contracts have been made for the frames, of Live oak for two 74 Gun Ships, in addition to the six, authorized by Law. It was perceived that great devastation would be made in this timber in the course of the present winter, to prepare the lands on which it grows, for the cultivation of cotton, & that it would be almost impossible to obtain entire frames for large Ships hereafter, except from the lands proposed to be purchased; and the quantity of these lands is too small to admit the idea of their supplying entire frames for large ships. To be long useful they must be kept to furnish only these parts of the frames most subject to decay.

It was not to be expected that such a navy as could be created in little more than a year could afford complete protection to a foreign commerce, more extensive than that of any other nation, one only excepted. The first object, of the President's attention has been the security of our own coasts, the second the protection of that portion of our trade, which is at once the most important to the whole community and most in our power to defend — and although efforts have been made, and no doubt will be repeated to give some aid to commercial enterprise to more distant regions, yet our trade, beyond the limits of the American seas, can only receive very partial assistance from our present force, or indeed from any force which it will be prudent suddenly to raise for however desirable a rapid increase of our navy may be, there is no seasoned timber in the country, and to fell the trees, and build the ships in the same year, would be a waste of resources, and a want of economy, which nothing but extreme necessity could justify. If it be the policy of the United States to cherish this system of defence, so congenial with the genius and spirit of our citizens, and so well adapted to the geographical situation of our country, a suitable provision of suitable timber will be indispensable — On this subject I beg leave to observe, that when every piece necessary for a ship is at its place of deposit and in a proper state to be used, a few months only will be required to build the ship — that more time will always be consumed in collecting the materials than in putting them together — that ships built of well seasoned timber will last four or five times as long as those built of timber, recently cut from the woods — and that if the timber be properly seasoned it will receive no injury, in half a century, but will be the better for having been so long kept. I took the liberty during the last session to suggest to the Committee of Congress on Naval Affairs, that 12 ships of 74 guns as many frigates, and twenty or thirty smaller vessels, might be found sufficient to inspire respect for our neutrality in future European wars, with which our interest, and our policy will have no connexion — No reasons have since occurred — none can occur to justify an opinion that so often as the great maritime powers shall contend for superiority, our commerce will not be plundered, our seafaring citizens imprisoned, and even "our sea coasts ports and harbours insulted" and ultimately the weaker parts of the Union invaded, if we content ourselves with a permanent naval establishment less than the one suggested. There can be no danger that a nation, deriving more than six millions of dollars annual revenue from its commerce and whose population is hourly increasing can be oppressed by applying a part of that revenue, and only in time of war to the maintenance of that system of defence, which alone can insure that from this source of defence any revenue shall be received — In peace the ships can be laid up, and the care of them will cost but a pittance, and our peace will not be often interrupted, if it be known that we have the power of retaliating the injuries we receive —
Should it be determined that the United States shall have the power of calling into existence at the end of two, three, four, or five years, or any longer period as many additional ships as shall make our Naval strength consist of 12 Ships of the Line 12 Frigates, & 24 Ships to mount 24 — 12 pounders on the Gun Deck, an early provision of timber will be necessary for 6 — 74 Gun Ships (except the frames for 3 already providing,) one Frigate, and 12 Ships of 24 Guns. Ships of this last mentioned size, are equal or superior to the Public or private vessels of all Nations, under the rank of Frigates, and besides being as useful as inferior vessels in annoying the Commerce of an Enemy, add real strength to the Navy in any kind of service — smaller vessels do not — It may be relied on too, that in Wars unlike the present, & when Congress shall retaliate on the Merchant Vessels of an Enemy the treatment our own receive, as there will then be an object for individual enterprise, private adventurers will supply for private emolument all the smaller vessels, which can be advantageously employed —

It is not more the Interest than it is the desire of the people of the United States & of their Government to do justice and to cultivate peace & harmony with all the World. — But if our own experience was not sufficient, that of other Nations would be to convince the most incredulous Politician, that more is required than a conduct void of offence to other Nations, to secure a pacific people who have something to lose from injury and oppression — In private life a man averse to Strife, may escape insult, if he is known to possess courage & strength to punish outrage. The same observation will apply with equal force to Nations

On the American Continent we cannot have an enemy to excite serious apprehensions — In this particular we have nearly all the advantages of an Island & require the same kind of defence — It is from the European World that danger must come — A Navy alone can arrest it on its passage

The Estimates for the support of the Navy for the present year, being included in the Report of the Secretary of the Treasury, now before Congress, it would be useless to repeat them here.

Having already delayed this address too long, I will take the liberty in another to attend to your enquiries respecting the Marine Corps, Navy Officers, & the rules and regulations for the government of the Navy

I have the honor to be

with great respect Sir

Yr most obed servt

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain James Sever, U. S. Navy, and also a letter from a Gentleman on board the U. S. Frigate Congress

[The following is an extract of a letter written at sea, (soon after the misfortune which happened to the frigate Congress) in an expectation of an opportunity of sending it on immediately; but none offered before her arrival at Norfolk.]

"On board the frigate Congress, at sea, Jan. 14, 1800.

"UNDER the impression of the most poignant regret, I have the misfortune to report to you, sir, the disastrous situation of the United States frigate Congress under my command. I sailed from Newport on the 6th inst. accompanied by the Essex frigate, capt. Preble, having under convoy, a ship and a brig belonging to Philadelphia, and a small ship from New-Haven, but finding them to sail very heavily, and two of three being in ballast only, on the day succeeding that on which I left Newport, I determined on leaving them; and with the Essex to make the best of my way, to carry into effect the instructions with which you had been pleased to honor me. The first three or four days subsequent to leaving port, we had the winds far northwardly, the weather cool, attended with snow and hail. On Saturday the 11th the wind veered to the southward and came on to blow very fresh, attended with warm rain, and a heavy sea; this weather produced an astonishing effect upon my rigging, (which had previously been in very good order) it stretching so much as to induce apprehensions for the safety of the masts. The weather being such as to preclude the practicability of setting it up: I caused tackles to be got up to succour the masts, and the rigging to be swiftered; but unfortunately every step taken to support the masts proved futile. On Sunday morning the 12th, it blowing hard and a heavy sea running, at half past six the mainmast sprung about eight feet above the upper deck: I immediately caused the main yard to be lowered down (the top gallant yard having previously been sent down, and the top gallant masts housed) on consultation with the officers, it was decided as affording the only probable means of saving the mainmast, to endeavour to cut away the main topmast. This was immediately attempted: Mr. Bosworth, my fourth lieutenant, with 4 or 5 smart active men, going into the top to perform the service; while in its execution the mast unfortunately gave way, and in its fall involved the loss of that active, deserving officer; the other men who were aloft, and engaged in the same service, were all happily saved. The fall of the mainmast carried away the mizen top mast, with the head of the mizen mast. Being under an apprehension that from the roughness of the sea, the hull of the ship might be essentially injured by the action of the wreck, was induced to clear it from the ship with all possible expedition, by which means a very small part only of the rigging and sails attached to those masts were saved. I now turned all my attention to, and made use of every practicable exertion to preserve the foremost; the wind still continuing to blow hard with a very heavy sea, and the ship, from the loss of her after masts, laying in the trough and labouring very much; at half past 12 she rolled away her fore top mast; soon after which it was discovered that the bowsprit was very badly sprung, just without the gammoning. I immediately caused the jib boom to be rigged in, and endeavored to secure the bowsprit by strong lashings round the heel of the jib boom; at the same time getting up tackles to the foremost head to secure the mast (which was already sprung) and to relieve, in some measure, the stress upon the bowsprit, caused by the fore and fore preventer stays.

It is with great regret I am to add, that all my endeavors proved of no farther consequence than probably to retard, for a very little time, what eventually took place, as at half past 3 P. M the bowsprit gave way, and at the same instant the foremost went over the side, leaving us totally dismasted, and with the loss of the principal part of the sails and rigging, which in our then situation it was not practicable to preserve.

Thus, Sir, we were left, in the short space of a few hours, in a most deplorable situation, entirely at the mercy of the winds and waves; and thus no expectation of being enabled to render important services to my fellow-citizens, by affording a protection to their commerce, were at once marr’d. I hope, sir, you will do me the justice to believe that this misfortune (which I most sensibly feel) is not attributable to any negligence on my part, every thing practicable having been attempted to ward off the evil which the nature of the circumstances would admit."

PRIVATE LETTER

PHILAD. MARCH 10.

Extract of a letter from an officer on board the Congress, dated Hampton Roads, Feb. 24.

"We are now in the Bay, about two miles from Hampton Roads, where we were obliged to come to anchor, in consequence of carrying away our [Jury] fore-top mast, which will be replaced this evening, and with morning tide we shall go as far up towards Norfolk, as the water will admit. It is very uncertain what arrangements may take place with respect to the officers and crew of this ship, as it will be a considerable time before she can be fitted for sea. From the important nature of our voyage, it is probable, if the frigate Chesapeake of 44 guns, now fitting out at Norfolk, is in a forward state, she will be ordered out in our stead, and our ship's company turned over to her.

"The fate of the Essex is to us unknown. We are willing to hope that she weathered the gale without sustaining much injury, and has proceeded on the voyage.

"Poor Bosworth perished in discharging with alacrity and gallantry, a most important and hazardous duty. The word to cut away the main top mast, was no sooner passed, than he was up shrouds."

On Board the U. S. Frigate Congress — At Anchor within The Capes of Virginia in Sight of Hampton Roads — Feb' 24th, 1800

Major W. W. Burrows —

SIR — I take the earliest Opportunity of Informing You of our present Situation — together with the causes which have so unexpectedly brought us to this port — On the 6th Jan'y we Sailed from New Port in Company with the Essex Frigate & some Mercht Men — we had favorable Winds & parted with the Mercht Men on the 8th — On the 11th Strong Gales & a high Sea — At 6 lost sight of the Essex & lay too — Burnt Several false fires which were not Answerd — the Gale encreasd with a high Cross Sea — at 7 on the Morning of the 12th found the Main Mast Sprung — the Captain Orderd the Main Top Mast cut away to save the Main Mast — Lieut. Bosworth & five Seamen went into the top to perform that duty — At 8 the M-Mast went over — Lieut Bosworth lost — the Men fortunately Saved by Clinging to the Wreck — the Mizen Mast Carried away at the same time — with it all the Yard Sails & most of the Rigging — At 10 found the Fore Mast Sprung — At Noon still a Violent Gale at 2 P M the fore Top Mast went over the Cap — ¾ before three the Fore Mast & Bowsprit went away — lost Yard Sails &c — then totally dismasted — Shipp'd several Seas & lost the Jolly Boat from the Stern — then Comenced Rigging Jury Masts which were got up by the 22d — On the 2d of Feby Carried away the Jury Main top Mast — Saw on that day two Ships — fired on one & endeavoured to Bring her too — but could not effect it — have Spoke no Vessels except two Schooners — Nor have we Seen or heard from the Essex since — But the Captain thinks she suffered at least as much or more than we have — as she was Inferiour in point of strength & Quality of Rigging — the Marines are in perfect Health And the Crew are generally so — I shall in a few days Transmit to you the proper Returns — they will probably be brought by Lieut. Llewellyn who wishes to Come & will If the Capt. does not Object to it as I am my self Willing he should do so — I have Issued & Charg'd to the Men the Frocks that I purchased at Boston — which will be deducted from their pay — You can have no Conception of the loss of Cloth that has Occurrd among the Marines — Notwithstanding I have us'd every Method to prevent it — Some lose them by being cut away by the Boatswain — Others have them Stole — & Hats Continually Blown Overboard — In fact I have been Obligd to Issue Already a Considerable Quantity of the Extra Cloathing to prevent many of them from being unfit to appear on Deck — In those cases I suppose they must be Charg'd to them & deducted out of their pay — On that I wish your Advice — The Service is to me every way disgusting — & I think you would perfectly Agree with me If you had a trial for one week only — It is Impossible to keep the Men in the order that Soldiers ought to be — from their being Constantly liable to the orders of every Officer of the Ship — I have assisted by my Friend Llewellyn done every thing in my power to keep them in the best Order & I suppose they are as much so — as men in their Situation can be — I have been Almost Continually Sea Sick & I believe should Remain so If I was to Sail for a Year — this Circumstance alone would prevent my Again going out If I could well Avoid it — But I have many other Reasons which determines me against it — which in my next I will more fully explain — I Mention this that you may make some other Arrangement for an Officer to Command the Marines now on Board this Ship As soon as Convenient — As it is my Intention when I have Settled my Accounts to Resign — In the Meantime I shall pay every attention in my power to promote the good of the Service — If Lt. Llewellens Rank is not an Objection I know No man better Calculated for such a Command — As he is an Excellent Officer & much beloved by the Men — please to write me as Soon as possible — Give my Compliments to the Officers of our Corps & Believe me to be

BENJAMIN STROTHER
Lieut of Marines

PS — we this Morning carried away our Jury fore top Mast & are now repairing it — we shall proceed to the Road

NORFOLK April 2nd 1800

Sir Expecting you would have ordered a Court of enquiry respecting the Frigate Congress being dismasted, has prevented my addressing you previous to the above date — Discovering from Captain Severs official letter, that he mentions of having consulted his Officers respecting the situation of the Ship, fully authorizes me, with the sanction of the other officers to assert it was not in all respects the case. — The above reasons have induced me to give You a candid representation of facts —

On the 2nd day from leaving New Port we parted company with the Merchant Ships then under convoy — finding them to sail far inferior to the Frigate Congress or Essex. Nothing of consequence happened till the 3rd day at noon, when I requested the Captain to give me permission to set up the lower rigging — unfortunately this was rejected with this answer, "I Sir am the best judge" consequently the rigging remained in the same state — At 5 OClock the same evening, the Essex was then in sight about 1½ miles astern — at 6 OClock it then growing dark, we lost sight of her False fires were then thrown as signals, but of no effect. The Congress was then immediately hove too, with an idea that if the Essex was still steering her proper course she would have passed nearly under our stern We remained in this situation till the next day. In the course of the night we discovered the rigging very slack — Mr Saunders the 3rd Lieutenant had charge of the Deck from 12 till 4 OClock in the morning — at 3 Mr Saunders informed the Captain that the situation of the rigging was dangerous but of no effect — At 4 A M. I took charge of the Deck, and immediately employed the watch in swiftering the lower rigging — but unfortunately when in the act of hauling taught the swifters, the Main Mast sprung about 15 feet above the Deck — all hands were immediately called — our only recourse was then to cut away the main Topmast in hopes of securing the Main mast. — Mr Bosworth the 4th Lieutenant undertook this service accompanied with 4 seamen but unfortunately in the act of cutting away the M. Mast broke from the original spring, and carried with it the head of the Mizzen Mast with the people — the men were all saved excepting Mr Bosworth — Every exertion was then made to clear the wreck which perhaps was accomplished as soon as cases of that nature ever admit — Our next resource was to preserve the foremost & Bowsprit — The Officers were fully of opinion that by keeping the Ship directly before the wind, it might be practicable — however this opinion was rejected, and the Ship still remained hove too — We were at this time employed in securing the Fore Mast with proper Tackles — all our efforts were of no effect — The ship plunging into the sea, soon convinced every officer of experience what the consequence would be —

The foremost went near the Cap — We soon cleared it from the side. [My] attention was then to the Bowsprit which sprung about 2 feet without the Bows — The Jibb boom was immediately rigged in in order to serve as a fish for the Bowsprit — the Foremast soon after sprung near the Deck, and a few moments — they both went overboard thus wher left entirely sparless — It may perhaps have been mentioned to you that the Gale was uncommonly boisterous — but rest assured, it was not the case — the sea was very irregular, but the wind by no means so high as seamen in general encounter in most voyages —

And to be candid I am fully of opinion that had we set the rigging the previous [day] (which certainly was practicable) we should have reserved the masts — I am Sir with respect

BENJ° STODDERT Esq°

Sir My letters from St Kitts inform you of my misfortune of springing my fore mast & the consequent condemnation of it as well as the impossibility of repairing the damage there

We sail'd from thence on the 4ᵗʰ & arrived here on the 6ᵗʰ inst. without farther damage & tho' a place held almost sacred to every vessel but those in his Majesty's service I have been received into the Harbour & have had the most flattering attention paid me with every proffer of assistance I stand in need of by Capt Western of the Tamer [Tamar] Frigate now here under repairs I advised him of the steps I had taken with regard to Lord Hugh Seymour which he said was perfectly right, but he would have done every thing I required for the Security of the Ship upon his own authority as commanding Officer here & as the Brig might be expected every day I proposed waiting his Lordships reply at the same time he permitted us to make every preparation to take in a new mast the moment she arrived. Accordingly we have hoisted out the old one & upon further examination of it 'tis wonderful how it brought us here

As I gave you my opinion respecting our masts previous to leaving America I flatter myself you will not deem me culpable in this instance & nothing but the inclemency of the Season could have prevented me from making a shorter cruise than I find I am compell'd to do & happy shall I be if I can bring my ship safe to her mooring, in America after the severity of the Winter is over for was I to put her in the condition she requires to be in with regard to sparrs, sails & rigging in the West Indies it would cost the Public at least $10,000 exclusive of Provisions & the coppering of her Bottom but by a little delay I hope to be well employ'd on this station & to make out with my old materials

I fear from the delay of the Brig that Mr Watson has been obliged to cruise after the Admiral not finding him in Martinico but if I succeed in my application I hope to be at sea in four days after his arrival & in the mean time I must have patience & am

P° just as I was closing my Letter the Brig arrived with an answer to my Letter from Lord H. Seymour granting me every supply I stood in need of and having the Mast nearly ready hope to be at Sea in four Days, I herewith enclose you the Copy of his Lordships Letter as well as one from Gen² Paris, from Guadaloupe in answer to one I wrote him some time ago —

Sir I wrote from here the 19th Dec¹ bad weather has kept me here thus long — The weather is now good & should it continue so two days more I shall have the whole of my Cargo on board — I took in at Madeira 30 pipes of Wine & shall take in at this place 270 Pipes, having sold my Brandy at 3/6 Sterling pᵃ Gallᵃ I thought it better than carrying it on further — I wrote from Madeira the 7ᵗʰ Dec⁰ by the Brig Charlotte Murdock Capt Walker but the letter arrived at this place a few days after me, Capt Walker having been taken & Carried into Palma from which place he came here, the privateer that took Capt Walker was fitted out from St Cruz, at which place she now lies. Should she be on another cruse before I get from this, — You may not apprehend the least danger from her as she sails dull & should she fall in with me cannot take me — There is one American ship at this place mounting 12 six pounders & better man’d than I am, she is bound the same road with me & I expect to sail in company with her. — A few days ago, there was a Ketch rig’d Vessel of this port showing 14 guns (I suppose the same Vessel that Phillips sold in Bordeaux several Years since) she ran up within musket shot of the John & then sheer’d off — She is now laying at St Cruze & report says she is a Letter of Marque from Bordeaux bound to Guadaloupe should she be otherwise, I apprehend but very little if any danger from her — The Vessel that brings this goes for Charlestown S. C. & as she is a dull sailer I think it best to leave my Certificates for my Brandy, to come with letters that I shall leave behind in the first Vessel bound to America —

On the 14th ult. I fell in with a French privateer sch. of 14 guns, which I chased the north side of Demerara, within gun-shot of the shore, until she got under cover of the fort. She sailed remarkably fast or should have taken her; I fired upward of 80 shot at her.

On the same day, I chased on shore on Deseada, a fine ship direct from France, mounting 22 guns, which bilged and sunk immediately after she struck.

Capt Brown who made this capture is now at Boston — He may be called on to have the Buonaparte condemned in our Courts & you might then make before the Court a claim for the value of the Swedish property on board — this is the regular course but the proceeding would be tedious and expensive — the Captain being disposed to dispute the claim made on the part of the Subjects of Sweden observing on the improbability of their risking their property on board French Vessels, when their own could pass unmolested — If you will furnish the necessary evidence to establish the ownership and value of the property claimed, I will endeavor to have the thing so arranged that payment may be made here —

I thought the pretext a plausible one, I ordered him to Continue on Board as prize Master, and gave him liberty to exchange one of his men: — directed him to go on board and make sail which he refused to do, or take the man exchanged. I then ordered M[r] Fleming to take his place and sent him on Board with M[r] Blake to see that he delivered M[r] F[leming] all the papers, and to see that he left this quadrant with M[r] F. for the use of the Prize, when M[r] B[lake] demanded the quadrant, M[r] Allen refused, and threatened to knock M[r] B. down if he attempted to take it, M[r] B, then confined him and brought him on board the Experiment he was very much intoxicated, and gave no account of his Conduct

To Richard O Brien, U. S. Consul General, Algiers, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Philad. Jan. 15th 1800

RICHARD O BRIEN Esq

SIR, On the 11th of July I received your dispatches by the Polacre Dey, Captain Smith. Soon after, I desired Mr Humphreys and another naval architect to examine the vessel, for the purpose of putting her in the order which you desired. They examined, and reported their opinion that the expense of such alterations and repairs would be much greater than the whole value of the vessel when completed; and that she was not calculated for such an armed vessel as you designed to make her. No other suitable vessel immediately presented: and in August, the yellow fever again prevailing, oblige the inhabitants to flee to the country, and suspended business.
The fever prevailed in like manner, and produced similar effects, in New York. After this, there was a prospect that one of the public armed ships, which was taken out of the service, would supply the place of the Polacre; but upon further enquiry, this vessel also was deemed ineligible: and the season being then far advanced, it was concluded to load the Sophia once more for Algiers; and she is now ready to sail, with a valuable cargo, as by the inclosed invoice and bill of lading. — As you mentioned that 500 barrels of powder must be sent, I directed their being put on board: but the room left for them being insufficient, only 360 have been shipped. And I think this not unfortunate; that so necessary a commodity may not be wholly hazarded in a single bottom. The residue will be shipped in the Spring, with the other articles contained in your lists; except a few not to be found in the United States; or not in the quantities required. — Of the spikes of the specified dimensions, several tons are made, and the several quantities will in due time be completed.

The delay which takes place in forwarding the stores and goods you commissioned, wherewith to discharge our debts to the Jews, will I trust produce no very great inconvenience: Every just claim, every stipulation, will be provided for by the shipment in the Spring.

The twenty brass twenty-four pound cannon desired by the Dey, cannot be procured in the United States, nor probably elsewhere during the present war. But if iron guns of that size, and of the neatest and best kind, will answer as a substitute, we can furnish them. Our iron is of a superior quality, and our founderies now very perfect. The guns will be light, as well as strong and smooth. If the 24 pounders are wanted for gallies, they perhaps need not be more than seven feet long, and weigh about thirty six hundred; perhaps less. By adding to their length, their weight will necessarily be increased: but if eight feet and a half long, they need not exceed forty hundred weight: whereas the usual weight of iron 24 pounders is 48 to 50 hundred. In fact, for every kind of real service, in ships and garrisons, iron guns of strong metal, and light, are, in the opinion of good judges, superior to brass. I have said thus much to obviate the common prejudice in favour of brass guns; seeing we have it not in our power to furnish them.

I inclose the copy of a paper delivered by Captain Cathcart, in May 1796 to Mr. Barlow, as exhibiting a list of the articles required by the Dey of Algiers for our annuity of maritime and military stores. But the quantities of the several articles are enormous; and instead of twelve thousand sequins (21,600 dollars) would cost the United States three or four times that sum. This was not contemplated when the treaty with Algiers was ratified. It is true, the treaty provides that if the value of the stores annually delivered exceed the twelve thousand sequins, the surplus is to be paid for: But the prices of these commodities, as estimated at Algiers, bear no proportion to the sums they cost the United States, and consequently any surplus adds to our loss. — By your settlement in February last with the present Dey, you got rid of the burthensome peace presents, and it is hoped you will, at least on the arrival of the next cargo of goods and stores, be able to bring the annual present within the bounds of moderation. Perhaps the list inclosed, dictated by the former Dey in his wrath, may not be known by his successor; or if known, be admitted to be unreasonable. In such an event, you will send a list of the reduced articles for the annuity, defining the sizes, as well as quantities, with great precision; and adding the respective prices at Algiers. — Cutting the oak and pine planks of one length, breadth and thickness, a great deal of timber, and they make bad stowage in a vessel. As the Dey has cruisers of various sizes, an assortment of planks, varying in all their dimensions, would be better adapted to his service than the huge planks hitherto required, and more practicable and less expensive for us to procure. — It is very true, if a plank 15 or 18 inches broad will be rated no higher than one of 12 inches, we had better cut off the surplus timber, to lessen the freight. But as the Algerines allow a better price for thick than thin planks, so may they distinguish between broad and narrow ones.
It would be convenient to receive from you a correct table of Algerine weights and measures compared with those of the United States.

It is proper that you should know the history of the ship Hero, which sailed hence more than a year ago laden with planks, masts and naval stores for Algiers. — In a few days after her departure, springing a leak, she bore away for the West Indies, and arrived at Jamaica, where she was obliged to unload and repair. In the Spring, she sailed thence to proceed on her original voyage: again became leaky; and so put back to New-York. There she was again unloaded, and underwent a thorough repair. But in the autumn, when ready to load the third time, it was found that a great part of her lumber was ruined. The large oak planks in particular were so decayed as to be fit only for fuel: and on this account it is fortunate that she returned from Jamaica to the United States. — This extraordinary circumstance must be ascribed to the large quantity of the timber on board, shipped, much of it, while full of sap, heating and fermenting for a time in the hot climate of the West Indies.

The oak planks and some other parts of the timber being thus damaged, or ruined, and other portions being, in consequence of your settlement, no longer required for Algiers, while they would answer well for our engagements with Tunis; it was judged best to complete the Hero's cargo with additional lumber (such as could be found at New York nearest the requisite dimensions) and other suitable stores, for Tunis. She is now nearly loaded; and the Agent informs me, will be ready to sail the first week in February. — The residue of the stores for Tunis will be provided and shipped as soon as possible.

A plate has been cut for the new passports, such as you recommended, of but about half the present breadth at the head; and the parts necessary for the Consuls will be forwarded in the Spring. — One entire new passport is inclosed for your inspection. —

After a series of misfortunes, Mr Joseph Donaldson arrived at Philadelphia. The ship and cargo with which he sailed from Leghorn, was seized and condemned by the French at Cayenne. He went to France, hoping to recover the value; but was disappointed. In the last summer he sailed again for Europe, where he still is. When he returns, the bills he drew on London in favor of the Jews, and which you sent me, will be presented, and payment obtained if practicable.

I am Sir, &c &c &c

To James Leander Cathcart, U. S. Consul, Tripoli, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

PHILADELPHIA, JANUARY 15\textsuperscript{th} 1800

JAMES LEANDER CATHCART Esq\textsuperscript{1}

Sir, By the Sophia, which arrived here the latter end of August, I received your dispatches. Your negotiation with the Bey of Tripoli has been conducted in a manner very satisfactory to the President. The services of Doctor McDonogh have been so useful, I have written him a letter (herewith transmitted) expressing the President's acknowledgements, approving the compensations made to him by you, and bespeaking his future good offices, should any occasion call for them.

It is not surprising that Tunis & Tripoli should feel hurt by any claim of pre-eminence by Algiers: and from the indignant manner in which they repel this claim, it is manifestly impolitic to hold it up to view, even if it exists — (a point at least doubtful —) because its existence will operate its full effect in our favour, so long as it shall be known that we stand well with Algiers. And it will not be amiss, when a fair opportunity shall offer to intimate to the Bey of Tripoli, that the United States are disposed to treat him with the like respect and friendship as they do the Chiefs of the two other Regencies. This seems to be what he expects by this expression in his letter to the President — "We have consummated the peace, which shall on our part be unalterable; provided you are willing to treat us as you do the two other Regencies, without any difference being made between us." The letter previously adverted to the difficulties in the way of your negotiation, and his resolution not to receive you: But that Dr. McDonogh's entreaties prevailed; and so, in order to gratify his desire, and to preserve unaltered the subsisting friendship, the Bey agreed to accept the small sums of ten thousand dollars in lieu of the stipulated stores, and eight thousand dollars as a substitute for the brig Sophia, promised by Captain O Brien. — I should send you a copy of the Bey's letter, if the answer of the Rais to you "that the Bey never gave copies of his letters to any one," did not excite an apprehension that if it were known, it might give offence: and yet, without a formal copy, it seemed proper that you should be acquainted with the substance of its contents.
Agreeably to your request, Mr. Woodsides has received two hundred dollars on your account, to procure you some supplies, which I expect he will send in the ship Hero, now nearly loaded, and which is to sail for Tunis the first week in February. This ship which sailed a year ago for Algiers, sprung a leak, and bore away for the West Indies. There she was obliged to unload and make repairs. Departing thence, she again became leaky, and got back to New-York, in May. There again unloading, she has undergone a thorough repair, and is pronounced a safe ship. But by these misfortunes, her oak timber, put on board green, decayed and was unfit to reship. This deranging her cargo for Algiers, the deficiencies were supplied with lumber as near as possible of the kinds required for Tunis. — The Sophia carries this letter: she is loaded with a valuable cargo of stores & merchandize for Algiers. In the Spring other vessels with ample cargoes, to fulfil our engagements with Algiers and Tunis will be forwarded. — The yellow fever has again visited Philadelphia & New-York, and obliged the bulk of the inhabitants, as well as the public offices to remove. This retarded every measure to be taken relative to the states of Barbary. We did not return till the beginning of November.

The merchandize before mentioned, with the quantities yet to be sent to Algiers, is destined to form an exchange for the monies borrowed there to defray the expenses of negotiations with Tunis & Tripoli, and for charges and obligations incurred in Algiers. —

It appears probable that some of our armed vessels will visit the Mediterranean in the ensuing spring or summer. I inclose a list of our growing fleet; besides which, materials for building six seventy fours are collecting.

I am Sir &c &c.

Sir I have duly received your letters down to the 15th December including the one of that date all of which have been communicated to the President who desires me to mention his approbation of Your measures and his entire confidence in your judgement to execute properly the difficult Service assigned You —

I annext to this letter an extract of one dated the 9th December received by the Secretary of State from Doctor Stevens — It would have been as well if he had communicated the same ideas to you — perhaps he has done so. It is impossible to foresee from this Country at what particular Spots, our Vessels can be employed with most advantage for the protection of our Commerce You must consider yourself at full liberty at all times to follow your own judgement in employing the vessels under your Command for the defence of our trade & the capture of Enemy Vessels, not only in the Neighbourhood of Touissants ports but round the whole Island & the other Islands in the vicinity of St Domingo. — But you justly consider it important to maintain a superiority of Naval Force near Cape Francois, & although no circumstance has yet arisen to shew the necessity of this caution, there is no knowing how soon the good policy of it may become too evident — I send the extract of Doctor Stevens letter, not that you shall consider it as making any part of your Instructions but as containing ideas which may be usefull — of which however you are to be the sole Judge You must judge when to keep the vessels within cooperating distance & when to separate them a great distance from each other. — This goes by the Richmond, Captain Law, who is to place himself under your command — By this time you have been joined, in addition to the Genl Greene & the Boston, the Herald & the Experiment by the Patapasco Geddes & the Augusta MtElroy It is desirable that you should have small vessels enough to cruise at all the places in the neighbourhood of Saint Domingo including Porto Rico most useful for the protection of our trade, and large ones enough to give you a superiority wherever it shall be necessary over any force belonging to the French or the Island near Touissants ports

The Richmond takes under convoy some of the articles of rigging & mentioned by you, as wanting for the Constitution — Some of the other vessels besides the Constitution may want a part Messrs James & Ebenezzer Watson will send you an invoice of the articles. Having sent you provisions under convoy of the Augusta, I hope you will not want more before I can hear from you after the arrival of the Augusta— On the subject of provisions, I can only repeat what has before been said, that it being very expensive to buy them in the Islands, except green vegetables which you can get cheap, every means must be used to economise — Whenever a vessel under your command returns to the United States for whatever reason she should bring no more provisions than necessary to last her home — the overplus should be distributed among the Vessels remaining — Doctor Stevens as you observe, has a difficult part to act — & may be obliged to temporize, & to do things not warranted by the arrangement with Touissant but he ought not to give passports, except for the purposes of trade between Touissants ports, & except to Vessels actually employed by Touissant in carrying supplies for his troops.

Upon another perusal of your letter, I am more forcibly struck as with the probability of a crisis bearing near at hand, which will require all your prudence to manage, so as to guard our Citizens well on shore as at Sea from very great evils. The machinations against Touissant seem to be increasing & will too probably increase, and the arrival of the Frigates with the French Comm if they do arrive may be the signal for an explosion. I can suggest nothing useful to you — In any event that may arise, you will feel it to be your duty to employ your whole force in such manner as shall best contribute to the security of the persons & property of our Citizens —

I am sorry the General Greene is in such bad condition — the time of her men will be out in March, April & May — If she can be useful it will be best to keep her with you for the present & send her in so as to arrive about the middle of April — I would send you another Frigate if it was in my power, but it is necessary that we should be a match for 3 Frigates at Guadeloupe, as well as at St Domingo & we have lately sent the Congress and the Essex, a distant voyage, & our other new Frigates are not yet ready — The French Frigates intended for Saint Domingo will probably be selected for fast sailing, and may be light vessels — The Constitution & the Boston with the aid of the Patapsco, I hope will be a full match for them. Should you be obliged to send in the General Greene, & as long as there seems to you to be good reasons to expect the arrival of the French Frigates, it would seem but prudent in you to keep this force within cooperating distance —

To Secretary of the Navy from Richard Soderstrom, Minister of Sweden to the United States

Sir! I have received the letter you have honored me with dated the 14. Instant on the Subject of the Swedish property taken on board the French armed Vessel Buonaparte — I am sorry to find that Capt Brown has so mistaken an Idea, as to suppose it improbable that Swedish Subjects should risque their property on board of French Vessels, when their own could pass unmolested — unfortunately a severe experience has often taught our merchants to think otherwise, & has often obliged them to resort for protection to the quarter from which the greatest danger was to be dreaded — From the United States they feared nothing, knowing that their property would be safe in American hands, tho' found on board of hostile Vessels — Your offer to have the business amicably Settled, & the money that may be found due paid here, can only tend to confirm me in this opinion — In consequence, I lose no time in availing myself of it, and have the Honor of inclosing to you the proofs of ownership & Value of the property, which have been transmitted to me by the Secretary of State under the 14th Novemb: A® P® [?], and which I hope will prove Satisfactory — Should any thing further be required, I beg you will be so good as to inform me of it, that I may take immediate measures to give you that Complete Satisfaction which you are entitled to recieve —

Dear Sir Cap’ Champain has been so polite as to offer to be the bearer of this, & presuming that it will be pleasing to you to be in-form’d of the very great civilities, & attention that I have received here. I can assure you that I feel myself under the most infinite obligations to Lord H: Seymour for the generous courtesy in which he has replied to my letter, & gave orders to the Officers of the Arsenal to supply me with a mast & every other assistance I stood in need of. I am now on the eve of departure to cruise off Deserada for about a fortnight when I hope to have the pleasure of seeing you

Previous to the reply to my letter, I had the good fortune to meet with one of the most friendly, & worthy Men I ever knew in the Person of Cap’ Western, of the Tamer [Tamar], from being perfectly a stranger to him, he at once removed every ceremony, & we became as familiar as Brothers & anxious to shew me every thing that he thought new to me in the Nautical line. I avail’d myself of taking an insight into many things, That we in our Infancy have not yet been able to comprehend fully, or bring to maturity, comparitively. with so perfect a system of order, & contrivance as prevails in the British Navy so that my time has not only been pass’d agreeably, among his friends, & acquaintance, but usefully, for I will not deny but we have much yet to learn in Our profession.

I have likewise met with great civilities from Cap't Kittor, who is here heaving Down his Ship. as my accounts are enter’d on Government acct I have not had occasion to make use of your friends assistance at St Johns

I hope you will agree with me in Opinion that we ought to remain on this station as long as possible. for however anxious I feel with respect to my Family from whom. N° 34.

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Philad. Jany 17th 1800

WILLIAM EATON Esq'r

Sir, I have reserved for a separate letter the President's determination on the subject of the present of jewels demanded by the Bey of Tunis. In his letter to the President, of which I inclose a copy, you will see that he persists in his claim; but not in terms so decisive as in his conversations with you. Perhaps it may yet be parried; or at least reduced to one half the amount. Since you wrote, you may have ascertained what other powers, as well as Spain, have given on similar occasions. I am aware that the delay is unfavourable: but if he waits the arrival of the Hero, with her valuable cargo of naval and military stores—an earnest besides that the residue will come—I hope he will be softened; and that you will either do away [with] this claim, or reduce it to a small value, in some few of the most conspicuous articles in his list. — You will well consider how this affair may be best conducted; and act as you shall think most advantageous for the interest of the United States. It will not do to lose our peace with Tunis for the value of this present. You suppose the estimate to be extravagant: doubtless the articles are set at the Jew prices; and that for a much less sum they may be procured in England. If therefore you are compelled to give the present, secure time enough to get them from England. Some articles must probably be manufactured for the purpose; and the whole may require a year to be procured. In the mean time, as he wants something to be seen, a few articles most showy may be provided at Tunis. If he objects to the proposed delay; you can answer, that the President felt a confidence, that, on further reflection upon all circumstances in relation to the United States, he would relinquish the claim; and therefore did not give orders to provide the Present. I suppose the Bey understands French; and therefore, with a copy of the President's letter to him in English, I send you a French translation of it, to be presented or not as you judge proper.

To Captain Christopher Raymond Perry, U. S. Navy, from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Constitution at Sea, off Cape Francois.

Christopher R. Perry, Esq†
Commanding the U. S. Frigate General Greene.

Sir, as the continuance of our Ships of war on this station, (off the Cape), at the present time, seems to be very unpromising, of any success, or immediate service to our Country, I have thought it best, that our force should cruise else where, for some time.

Therefore on the receipt of this you will proceed to cruise for seven days in, or off the Turks Island Passage, with a View to capture any French ships that may leave the Ports of St Domingo, immediately after our ships disappear. — After which you will make a cruise, round the Island of St Domingo—first by the way of Nicholas Mole, crossing the Bite to Dona Maria, and paying more particular attention to the South side of the Island —

When you have compleated this circuit of the Island you will run into the Bite of Leogane, meet with the Boston, and take her Station in that quarter, where you will continue until further Orders. —

While in the Bay you must pay attention to Convoysing the American trade, too, & from Port Republick till they are clear of the Bay, and even thro' the Keys, should appearances seem to make it Necessary — The Experiment is now in the Bite, and it is likely she will be found there when you arrive You can therefore command her to assist in securing the Convoy against the Boats of Rigaud in case of Calms so common in that Bay — You will be careful not to capture any Vessels (except those from Rigauds Ports) within one league of any part of the Island under General Touissants Command, or do any one thing, that may Justly give cause to disturb the Harmony between him, and the People of the United States —

The number of American vessels trading to Rigauds part of the Island, has become very considerable You will therefore endeavor to intercept them as much as possible —

I have the Honor to be

Sir,
Your Obedt Hble, Serv†

CAPE FRANCOIS 25th Jan. 1800

EDWARD STEVENS Esq* E
Consul General of the United States at St Domingo

Sir, I have just been informed of your return to the Cape, and take the earliest opportunity to make known to you, that Commodore Talbot sent in here on the 18th Inst., a Schooner, called the Anna Capt. Dutton, prize to the United States armed Schooner Experiment Capt. Wm. Mayley, her papers are all lodged in the office of the Judge of the Peace Citoyen Telemaque. When the Captain late Owner of the prize Scht did undergo an examination. The interrogations put, with his replies, are filed there. I have desired all further proceedings to stop 'till I know from you, how far the Laws of the United States will justify a Trial, Condemnation and Sale (of Prizes taken, bearing the American Flag, by our Ships of War) in any other Ports, except it be one of the United States. —

I have the honor to be,

Sir,

Your very Hble Servt

Interrogation of Captain Benjamin Dulton (or Dutton), commanding the Schooner Anne, captured by U. S. Schooner Experiment

[Translation]

3rd PLUVIOSE year 8 [23 January 1800]

Extract from the minutes of the records of the court of the justice of the peace of the Commune of Cap [Francois].

Interrogation of Captain Benjamin Dulton [or Dutton] of the schooner Anne, a prize captured by the Experiment.

In the name of the French Republic the eighth year of the French Republic one and indivisible and the third Pluviose [23 January 1800]

Before us Charles Cezar Télémique, justice of the peace of the Commune of Cap [Francois] appeared the master of the schooner Anne, at anchor in this roadstead, a prize taken by the armed United States Schooner Experiment, the said master assisted by Citizen Blouy government interpreter for the English language to whom we administered the oath prescribed by law; whereupon we put the following questions to the said master through the said interpreter.
Interrogated as to his name, age, profession, place of birth, and habitual domicile, [he] answered that his name was Benjamin Dulton that he was born in Pennsylvania was twenty-seven years old; by profession a merchant residing in Baltimore, and at present master on board the schooner Ann.

Interrogated as to the ownership of the said schooner and by whom, when and in what place she was captured [he] replied that the said schooner belongs to [he] that she was captured by the schooner Experiment Captain Maylay about the tenth [12th] of the month of January as well as he could remember [while] off Cayemitee [Caimite].

Interrogated as to who was the original owner of the schooner Anna, he answered that he did not know.

Interrogated as to the ownership of the said vessel and as to who sold her to him, and where she was sold [he] answered that Mr. Richard Beyll had bought her after she had been condemned at St. Yague de Cuba as appears from two documents written in the Spanish language and handed over by him at this time to be added to the other documents and that it was in St. Yague de Cuba that he bought the said Schooner from the said Richard Beyll.

Interrogated as to the whereabouts of the papers which he handed over, when he delivered those he had to the Captain of the Experiment [he] answered that the papers had been handed over by him to the lieutenant who boarded his ship [and] who left them in his possession.

Interrogated as to whether he was acquainted with the facts relating to the said vessel [he] answered that the said Schooner had been built in Virginia, that she left Norfolk bound for St. Thomas that in the latter place she was sold and that the register and the sea letter were sent back to the Continent according to custom — that she set sail for Porto Rico with Danish papers that she was taken from Porto Rico by an English frigate and sent to Jamaica that while on her way there she was recaptured by a Spanish felucca which sent her to St. Yague de Cuba; that she was condemned as an English prize [and] bought after the condemnation by Mr. Richard Beyll.

Interrogated as to the nationality of Mr. Richard Beyll, his present place of residence and how long he has resided there [he] answered that Mr. Richard Beyll is a naturalized Dane, that he does not know the place of his birth, that he now resides at St. Croix and that he does not know at all how long he has been residing there.

Interrogated as to why the bill of sale does not bear the signature of any public official I mean the bill of sale made out by Richard Beyll in his favor [he] answered that the United States Consul at St. Yague had knowledge of the bill of sale made out in his favor by Richard Beyll as appears from the affidavit which is attached thereto.

Interrogated as to why Richard Beyll the seller, did not appear before the Consul to acknowledge the said bill of sale in his presence and thereby give it more authenticity [he] answered that the said Richard Beyll was present and that no mention was made of his presence, since it was not judged necessary.

Interrogated as to whether the said Schooner, when he purchased her, was laden, what her cargo consisted of, as to whether he sold her at St. Yague de Cuba, to whom, and as to what was the amount of the proceeds of the sale [he] answered that the said Schooner had only a cargo of yellow wood [and] that he sold it to Richard Beyll for the sum of one thousand gourdes.
Interrogated as to why no mention is made in the bill of sale of the cargo which amounts to a third of the sum which is specified therein, [he] answered that no mention is made of it because it is not customary to include in the sale of a ship, [the value of] a cargo which may be on board.

Interrogated as to how much the total sum realized by the sale of the ship and cargo amounted to [he] answered that the total amounted to four thousand gourdes.

Interrogated as to the whereabouts of the document which he must have received at St. yago de Cuba from the Spanish officers of the port [he] answered that he only had a clearance which he left with the commanding officer of the fort.

Interrogated as to where he went after leaving St. yague de Cuba, and as to the place he was bound for [he] answered that he was bound for port Républicain and that he went to port antonio on the island of Jamaica.

Interrogated as to why instead of proceeding to his destination, he went to port antonio [he] answered that it was because he had lost his main mast.

Interrogated as to what was his cargo on leaving the island of Cuba [he] answered that he only had a stone ballast.

Interrogated as to the purpose of his going to port Républicain [he] answered that it was for the purpose of taking on freight there for the united states of america.

Interrogated as to why, since he did not have any paper issued by the american government, such as Register sea letter and Clearance, he did not proceed directly to the united states, to obtain them, as he should have done in order to prove in an incontrovertible manner the american ownership of the said ship instead of engaging in a sort of Coasting forbidden by all maritime laws, as much by those of his nation as by those of the other nations of europe [he] answered that he had not gone directly to the united states to obtain these divers papers, not believing it necessary, and that his own interests determined him to go and get freight in a French port for the purpose of selling it later in America.

Interrogated as to where he had the clearance which he must have received at port antonio where he had put in [he] answered that not having made an entry at the custom house of port antonio, seeing that he was in ballast and in distress, he had obtained permission to leave the port with a simple pass which he delivered to the Commanding Officer of the fort.

Interrogated as to the day and hour of his departure from port antonio, as to whether he had been met or searched by any ship and as to where he went [he] answered that he does not remember, that he was met by three English ships two of which searched him, and that on the following day which he thinks was the ninth of January [word illegible] he sighted a large vessel which was waiting for them and in order to avoid her he took refuge with the help of his oars, under the protection of fort dame marie where he spent about five hours; that finding the land between himself and the said vessel he sent a small boat ashore at nightfall to pay anchorage dues and obtain permission to leave; which was done at once.

Interrogated as to whether he had guns or muskets aboard the said Schooner [he] answered that he did not have any. It was represented to him that in the inventory of the articles found aboard the said Schooner and made by the prize Captain there are entered twelve shot for swivel-guns, powder and ten little bags of shot and [he was asked] why these objects were on board since he had neither swivel-guns nor muskets [he] answered that these objects came from an armed american vessel which was at St. yago [and] from which one of his sailors had brought them on board his ship as they were intending to take some muskets, which they had not done.

Interrogated as to whether he was acquainted with a certain John hugues [he] answered that he knows him because he was a passenger aboard his ship.

Interrogated as to where the said hugues came on board, as to where he intended to go, and as to where he left him, [he] answered that he came on board at St. yague with the intention of going to port Républicain and that he stayed aboard the Schooner Experiment.

Interrogated as to the place of residence of the said John hugues, as to whether he has not resided at Jeremie, as to whether he knew at what date he was still there and as to whether he and the said hugues are not partners and have not done some business at Jeremie [he] answered that the said John hugues is a Citizen of the united states; that he has resided at Jeremie that he does not know at what date he was still there and that he was charged with his business, about which he was being interrogated, at the said port of Jeremie.

Interrogated as to how far he was from Jeremie, when he was captured [he] answered that he judged that he was seven miles from jeremie.

It being pointed out to him that his statements conflict with the depositions of James Leace who positively states that they were captured a mile and a half from the rocher de la grande anse; of John clement hyle who says that the ship was captured three quarters of a mile from the grande anse; and adds in a second affidavit that he thinks judging from the several circumstances of the voyage that they were bound for Jeremie [he] answered that they were all falsehoods.

Interrogated as to whether the English ships which boarded him found the papers he had sufficient, and as to whether he did not have any others which he no doubt had shown as justification [he] answered that he only showed them the papers which were later handed over by him to the captain of the Experiment, and that they were satisfied with them.

Interrogated as to what he thought was the nationality of the ship which forced him to put in at Cap Dame Marie [he] answered that he thought she was English.

Interrogated as to why since he thought she was English he tried to avoid her, seeing that the ships which had previously searched him had assured him that his papers were quite in order [he] answered that he avoided her for fear of being detained and of losing precious time through such detention.

Interrogated as to whether he is not aware of the interdiction by the united states of america against entering one of the ports under the domination of the Rebel Rigaud and as to why he put in at Cap Dame Marie he answered that a ship in distress puts in at the first port she comes to.

Interrogated as to why there was not on board among the papers a [sea] protest made out before a public officer of the place at which he put in [and] showing the reasons for and necessity of putting in [he] answered that he thought that it was not necessary. And he was not interrogated further.

On being shown the papers of the said Schooner, to the number of twelve and including the two papers handed over by him during the present interrogation and interrogated as to whether he recognized them as being the papers found aboard his ship; he declared that they were the same ones and that they were all those he had on board, which he initialed with us and the aforementioned interpreter and the clerk of the court with the exception of items one, two, three, eight and ten.

We then read to him with the aid of the aforementioned interpreter the present interrogation and his answers, and he declared that he stood by the truth of his statements after which we signed with the interpreter and the clerk of the court each one of the pages of the present interrogation. * * * [The said Captain Dulton refused to sign.]

CAP FRANCOIS JAN'Y 27TH 1800 —

Sir — In answer to your Letter of this Morning["], which I have just had the Honor of receiving, I beg Leave to inform you that I am acquainted with no Tribunal at this Place competent to the Trial of the Prize Schooner Anna. — I am rather inclined to think that she ought to be sent for Adjudication to the U. States. —

My Opinion is founded on the 7th Section of an Act of Congress, pass'd on the 9th Day of July 1798, entitled "an Act further to protect the Commerce of the U. States." It contains the following positive Clause Viz: — "Sec. 7: And be it further enacted that before break-"ing Bulk of any Vessel which shall be captured as aforesaid, or other "disposal or Conversion thereof, or of any Articles which shall be "found on board the same, such Capture shall be brought in to some "Port of the U. States & shall be libelled and proceeded against before "the District Court of the same District &c. &c." — The Conclusion I have formed is still farther strengthen'd by the Silence which both the Laws of the United States and the different Treaties they have enter'd into with foreign Nations observe respecting the Trial, in foreign Ports, of Prizes made by our Ships of War —

The Schooner Anna, it appears, has been captured under American Colours. — She can only, therefore, be tried for a supposed Contra-vention of the Laws of the U. States. — I submit it to you, Sir, whether sound Policy does not dictate in such a Case, rather to leave it to our Courts of Admiralty to decide whether an Infraction of the Law has really taken Place, than to solicit the Interference of a foreign Jurisdiction — If the Tribunals of this Colony are permitted, — nay invited to determine Questions that solely regard the Interests of American Citizens numberless Inconveniences would result from it. —

When I enquired by what Authority the Judge of the Peace had taken Cognizance of the Capture, it was from a Supposition that no Application had been made to him for that Purpose; and from knowing that our Government had expressed great Solicitude to prevent the Officers, at foreign Places, from determining the Validity of Prizes made by our Ships of War. — In the 17th Article of the Treaty of Amity and Commerce between the United States of America and the Monarchy of France, — in the 19th Article of the Treaty with Sweden, and in the 19th Article of that with Prussia, the wisest Precautions have been taken to prevent this dangerous Species of Interference — Had, therefore, the Judge of the Peace commenced the Trial unsolicited, I should have deemed it my indispensable Duty to have put a Stop to the Proceedings. —

Such, Sir, were the Motives that dictated my Answer to your Letter of the 25th Inst — It is my sincere Wish to do every Thing that can in any Measure tend to advance the real Interest of the U. States, and I beg Leave to assure you of my hearty Concurrence with you, whenever that desireable End can be attained. —

I have the Honor to be, with Respect & Consideration

Sir

Your most obedient Servt

Edward Stevens

To Nicholas Roosevelt, Soho, near Newark, N. J., from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 18th January 1800

Nicholas Roosevelt Esq.
near Newark —

Sir I send you a Copper Spike made here in a Blacksmiths Shop — The process is to take a piece of Copper, heat it, and draw it near the Silver Urn Presented to Captain Thomas Truxtun, United States Navy by Underwriters and Merchants at Lloyd's Coffee House in London.
Size of a Spike then cool it in water, hammer point & head it cold
If hammered hot, the spike will be too soft, will not drive, but bend in driving, & often so far in the Ship as not to be got out without great difficulty
As to cast spikes, there never can be a certainty that they are solid, when they are nearly driven to the head, they frequently break short off — No Bolts or spikes therefore will answer the Public purposes except such Bolts as are rolled, or hammered or swesed [squeezed?] cold — & Such Spikes as are hammered & made cold
Mr. Humphreys is setting by me while I am writing this & indeed it is from his information I write — You can judge whether you can make such bolts & spikes, & if you cannot, the best way will be to give up the thing at once — The hammered spikes you have sent might by being hammered cold be made to answer for smaller spikes — but the Cast Spikes cannot be mended — Mr. Humphreys says that old copper once cast over dl not afterwards work under the hammer & cannot be made malleable — or to answer for spikes or bolts —

Sir The Goods claimed as Sweedish property on board the Buonaparte, are "3 cases marked DCD, containing 100 Reams of writing papers & 3 cases marked L N° 1, 2, 3, containing 50 ½ ps Listados, 23 pieces Ging and Harlem & 50 ps fil ds Epревael harlem". Have you any evidence of what the cargo did consist; & that these cases or any part of them were not on board of them at the time of capture? If you have not, you will have to pay for the whole, & must deduct from the prize money accordingly — The amount claimed for the first 3 cases is 435 D° and for the latter $1239, making together 1674 D°, which sum must remain in the hands of Messrs Higginson & Co subject to my order.

The Bills received from Mr Clarkson for account of the N° proceeds of the sales of the Buonaparte having been partly sold on credit no settlement can take place with, or payment be made, to you on that A/C out of the money actually received on acct of the Bills — $1436 25/100 being the Balance due for salvage on the recaptured Brig Harmony, and 2820$ for the prize Schooner Magicienne, and if the money received be not sufficient they will make good the deficiency But why should these bills have been sold on credit? were they not Government Bills? and could any doubt exist as to their punctual payment? — The sale however being an act of your own whether by yourself or Messrs Higginson as your Agent you must abide the consequences —

Gentlemen It appears there is due Captn Brown & the Crew of the Merrimack on account of the recaptured Brig Harmony D° 1436 25/100 and on account of the Magicienne $2820, and half the Nett proceeds of the sales of the Buonaparte after deducting therefrom the claim for Sweedish property said to be onboard at the time of Capture amounting to d° 1674. It was hoped the two first sums might have been paid out of the part belonging to the Public of the latter prize, but from the manner in which the Bills remitted by Mr Clarkson have been sold, it appears there has not been enough of money received for this purpose consequently it remains to provide for the deficiency Be pleased therefore to retain in hand out of the money actually received for bills sold, 1674 D⁴ to meet the Sweedish claim in the event of its being established & pay over the residue to Captain Brown for himself and the Crew of the Merrimack on acco⁴ of the first two prizes, & if it be not sufficient you will please make up the deficiency — No settlement can take place with or payment made to theCaptors on A/C of the Buonaparte until this money be received for the bills sold — But why sell these bills on credit! Were they not Govern⁴ Bills! & could any doubt exist as to their punctual payment — The sale of those bills however being an act of Captain Brown, whether by himself or you as his Agent he must abide the consequences.

[PHILADELPHIA]

"Mr Joshua Humphreys

Sir A Dock for the purpose of repairing our largest Ships without the dangerous operation of heaving down is contemplated to be erected at New London, New Port, a place between New Port & Providence, Boston or Portsmouth New Hampshire, and I want to ascertain at which of these places it can be constructed to most advantage — One of the 74 Gun Ships is to be built at Boston — another at Portsmouth, and wherever they are built, it is desireable that a sufficient quantity of Ground should be purchased for a complete Navy Yard for the present occasion, and future uses of the Navy — With these objects in view and wishing to avail the public of your knowledge respecting them, I have to request that you will be pleased to visit the several places mentioned, and with a critical examination of them, report to me your opinion of the advantages and disadvantages of each so far as respects the construction of the Dock — You will also please to designate each place the sites which you may judge most proper for that purpose, with such discriptions that they may be readily ascertained by any person hereafter, and conceal the Spot which in your mind you shall fix on, a competition may be created between the proprietors of the several places and the public be thereby enabled to purchase the necessary quantity of ground on fair and reasonable terms — The appropriation by Congress for a Dock is small, much too small for the object, but it is proper that it should be begun, and at a place, and on a plan capable of great extension. — Although a Dock sufficient to contain not more than one Ship will be attempted in the first instance, it ought to be foreseen that it may be necessary to annex to it hereafter Docks to contain 20 Ships of the line, and that the works now to be erected should constitute a permanent part of the whole establishment — The neighborhood of Boston on many accounts appears to me to be the most desirable place for a Dock — There they have workmen of all kinds, seamen and Fortifications — I wish you to pay pointed attention to that place," and particularly to the spot pointed out in the Letters of the Reverend Jedediah Morse which you will receive herewith — Let not this opinion of mine however, create any partiality in your mind favorable to this place or unfavorable to any other, but give each a fair thorough examination, and deside according to their respective merits, taking into view situation, convenience for Docking Timber, facility of Navigation, capability of defence, capacity of the harbours to contain a Fleet, in short every thing which your own matured judgement (on which I have great reliance) shall suggest as proper and necessary. — A number of documents relative to the places and objects in question will be delivered to you herewith, of which I request your particular care as Copies of them are not retained in the Office. — With respect to the Navy Yards for building Ships of War, I find that considerable sums of money have been expended in erecting wharves &c for building the Frigates authorized in 1794 on Private property, and in confined places; inadequate to the purposes at present contemplated — To prevent the same evil in future, you will be pleased to designate at or near Boston and Portsmouth, proper sites, to comprize a quantity of ground at each place sufficient for a permanent building Yard, and all the buildings, Dock and seasoning timber &c necessary for such an establishment, I presume from 15 to 50 acres, according to price and situation, and ascertain the price at which it may be purchased — As it is hardly to be expected that a sufficient quantity of ground can be purchased at an eligible price in either of the Towns, I request your attention to situations adjacent to each, particularly to an Island in the neighborhood of Boston, and two or three in the neighborhood of Portsmouth, and in this, as in the former instance create competition between the proprietors of the soil, by ascertaining at each place more than one spot which may answer the object in view — If you fix on either of these places for a Dock for repairing Ships, it is probable the building Yard may be comprized in the same purchase of ground, and it is desirous that it should be so. — Messrs Howland and Allen at New London, Gibbs & Channing at New Port, Stephen Higginson & Co at Boston, and Jacob Sheaffe Esq. at Portsmouth, to all of whom you have Letters will afford you every assistance in their power to facilitate our operations, which as soon as you have completed, you will be pleased to make report of to me — You have also Letters from John Brown Esq. to John J. Clark or Tho Holsey Esq. Mess. Brown & Ives — Benjamin Talman Esq & James Rhodes Esq of Providence, — and a Letter from Theodore Foster Esq. to myself, relative to the situation between New Port and Providence — Great expectations are formed of this place — do full justice to it in your Report — It appears desirable to some of the Members of Congress to the Eastward that some places in the district of Maine should be examined with a view to the construction of a Dock, particularly Portland and Wiscassett. You will therefore be pleased to extend your visit to those places and report on their situation &c in addition to the before resited — Letters to Mathew Cobb and Nathl Fosdick of Portland from the Hon: Geo: Thatcher, — and to General Wood and Abiel Wood Junr, John Hues & John Merrill Junr Esquires of Wiscassett from the Honb Silas Lee are herewith handed you, also a Letter from the Hon: P. Wadsworth to Joseph McUellan & Son and one to Weeks & Tucker of Portland. —
I have the honor &c

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 21st January 1800

Col. Josiah Parker

Sir The enclosed paper is drawn up by Capt Tingey to meet the difficulty stated therein I believe it is the practice of all Nations to condemn vessels from the papers & without the vessels themselves being arrived into their ports — It is certainly the constant practice of the British & French Nations — and nothing is more certain than that our armed Vessels could cruise but to little purpose for the protection of our trade if they should be obliged in all cases to send the Captured Vessels into ports of the United States for condemnation as the existing Laws direct — Upon reading Captain Tingeys draft of a Bill & considering a little the subject, you will judge what is proper to be done —

Extract from letter from Lieutenant Charles C. Russell, U. S. Navy, commanding the U. S. Ship Herald, concerning the capture of the French Privateer La Muline

"I have the honor to inform you, that on the 21st inst. at 6 o'clock, A. M. I saw a sail in the N. W. quarter, to which I gave chase, and at 9, after firing seven shot at her, bro't her to. She proved to be a French privateer, called La Muline, commanded by capt. Lauger, from St. John’s, Porto Rico, and had been out 14 hours; she mounted six guns, 12 and 4 pounders, with 60 men, half French and half Spanish."

Extract from a letter from an Officer on board the U. S. Brig Augusta, to a Gentleman in Baltimore, Md., concerning capture of the French privateer Schooner La Mutine

"After compleating our water, and replacing our foretop-mast with a new one, we proceeded off this place, according to the orders of commodore Talbot, who commands on this station, and generally lies off the Cape. Nothing material occurred (having fallen in with nothing but Americans, Danes, &c.) till the night of the 21st inst. saw a sail on our weather beam; we immediately gave chase, but they with sweeps got out of shot, it being almost calm. However, we kept her in sight till morning, and then springing up a smart breeze, we pursued her so close that at 9 A. M. the U. S. ship Herald being to leeward, she struck. She proved to be the French privateer schooner Mutine, of 4 twelve pounders and 2 fours, manned with 65 men. By this capture I hope we have saved some of our defenceless countrymen, as she had been out but 12 hours, intending to cruise three months in which time, had she not been intercepted, she would undoubtedly have done a great deal of mischief to our commerce. We understand there are several others in Porto Rico, which we keep pretty well blockaded, but they will slip out in the night. We brought to a brig two days ago from Philadelphia, who informed us of the death of our worthy and beloved Washington."

Sir, I am honored with your letter of the 6th Instant. The price at which you have offered the George Washington is certainly a fair one, & she ought to command it. If however she will not, you will be pleased to decline selling her, & continue her repairs as if she was again to be fitted for a Cruiser, as must be the case in the event of your not being able to obtain an adequate price for her, and I am decidedly of opinion that by enlarging her Sails and other alterations, she may be improved so as to render her a valuable one. It is still however desirable that she should be sold, and if a private sale cannot be effected you may offer her at Auction under the limitation before prescribed.

To Captain Thomas Tingey, U. S. Navy from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 22nd January 1800

Capt Thomas Tingey

Sir One of the 74 Gun Ships is to be built at the City of Washington, where the public have procured thirty odd acres of Ground with a view to a permanent Navy Yard —
You will be pleased to proceed to that place with a view to Superintend the building of the Ship and as it is very desireable that the improvements to be made for the purpose of building the Ship should be such as will make a part of larger improvements hereafter, I have to request that you will pay particular attention to the placing of these improvements
I know of nothing immediately necessary, but a Wharf and a place for docking timber; but these should be judiciously placed, so as to conform to future arrangements on a larger scale. — At present nothing more is to be attempted than economy and dispatch will require in building the ship in contemplation but I wish you would take a correct view of the ground and suggest a plan of improvement for a complete Navy Yard — M' William Marbury is the Navy Agent at that place — He will point out to you the place fixed on for the establishment of a Navy Yard, & will aid you with all the information & assistance in his power — I deem it unnecessary at present to give you any minute instructions relative to the operations you are about to undertake If any should be necessary, in future, they can be given from time to time as circumstances may require —
You will be pleased to keep me constantly informed of the progress of the work under your Superintendence —

Sir This will be delivered by Captain Tingey an officer of great merit in our service. He goes to Washington with a view to superintend the building of the 74 Gun Ship & to aid in the arrangement of the Navy Yard — the improvements of which he will also superintend — The money as heretofore will pass through your hands —

Captain Tingey being a man of understanding & having Seen the Navy yards of England, will be able to direct the layings of that in Washington to greatest advantage — Still it is not intended that any expence shall for the present be incurred, beyond what is necessary for building the 74 Gun Ship & docking timber — I beg leave to recommend Captain Tingey to your good Offices —

OFF DESEADA Jan? 22nd 1800

JOHN SHAW Esq:

Dr Sir I have now the pleasure of acknowledging the receipt of two of your favors, one I found at St Kitts on my arrival there, the other handed to me by M' Watson, the intelligence it contained was truly distressing to me, but 'tis in vain to repine at the unerring will of Providence.

I am very happy you have such a good command, and which I had arraigned for you previous to my leaving America and am well convinced that the small fast sailing vessels are the most profitable to the Commanders, it would give me singular pleasure to have you join'd to any command I might have, but at present I am acting as a single Vessel, under the immediate control of the Secr of the Navy, & have nothing to do with any of the Public Vessels, nor they with me.

I shall at all times be happy to hear of your success & welfare, & am with great regard

To Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy from Captain Alexander Murray, U. S. Navy

OFF DESEADA Jan? 22nd 1800

THO' TRUXTUN Esq:

Dr Sir I hope this will find you safe arrived at St Kitts, having spoken with two American Vessels that sail'd under your convoy, it would give me singular pleasure to have the good luck to meet with you previous to my departure for America. Mr Clarkson will no doubt be able to detail to you any particulars respecting my Cruise which I am sorry to say has not answer'd my expectations (& I fear) nor that of my Country, but this I am certain of, that it has not been for want of zeal or industry on my part.

I am extremely anxious to hear from my family, having never had a line from them, or the Secretary of the Navy since I left America, & hope you have brought me some intelligence from them, & which I fear will not be of a pleasing nature, having had the report of the death of one of my dear Children.

I must beg the favor of you to leave me a few lines, in case of my not seeing you, to tell me what has been going on in our department in my absence, & whether my conduct has been approved of in the range I have taken, as I have been altogether governed by my own judgment.

As my Ship is now almost a wreck, I feel very anxious to return with her, but as yet fear to encounter the rigor of our Winter Coast, & can make out a while longer in the West Indies, where our services are much required.

As you will now have the command here, & as I propose to be at St Kitts in all this Month, if you should have a convoy ready for America, & will permit the prize Brig Conquest of Italy, now Cruising under the command of Mr Watson (one of my Lieue") to proceed with me, I will take charge of it & see it as far as the Latitude of 25° 00' N & then send the Brig on to America, with the charge while I return to cruise some days off Porto Rico previous to my departure.

If you can make any better arrangement in the interim you will be so good as to let me know, & should be happy to act in coincidence with your better judgment, being with the greatest respect

To Benjamin Lincoln, Collector of Customs, Boston, Mass., from U. S. Consul at St. Jago de Cuba

(The following letter from the American Consul at St. Jago de Cuba, is important as it defines a commercial point in the maritime orders of Spain, not heretofore distinctly understood. This letter was accompanied with a protest, stating that the sch. Polly, Atkins of Boston, sailed from Port de Paix, in Dec. last, for Boston, was taken by a British frigate, retaken by a Spanish falucca, and sent into Cuba where she was condemned.)

ST. JAGO DE CUBA, 22d Jan. 1800.

B. LINCOLN, Esq.

Sir, "On the arrival of the therein mentioned schooner Polly of Boston at this port, I claimed her as American property, subject to a salvage. But was told by the court of admiralty here, that by an order of the King of Spain, all neutral vessels retaken, should be considered as good prizes. For an explanation of this, I beg liberty to refer you to Mr. Stoughton the Spanish Consul with you."

I am your most obedient,

Humble servant,

JOSIAH BLAKELEY,
Consul of the United States.

P. S. On the 15th we received at this city the awful and distressing account, of the death of that friend of mankind — the great — the good — GEORGE WASHINGTON. The Americans in port wear crape for 13 days, during which time the American flag is raised half mast. On the first day of mourning, two American vessels in port, fired in the morning, at noon, and in the evening 13 minute guns. Many respectable strangers here, requested permission and join us in the solemn tribute of respect. — Reflections the most serious, seem to have taken possession of every countenance; in a gloomy silence, each inhabitant appeared enveloped — In a fearful gloom the whole city seem to set, inshouded.

(Copy)

SILAS TALBOT Esquire

Sir, Having this instant returned from Leogane, I hasten to transmit, you a Copy of the arrangements made with the General in chief, Toussaint Louverture respecting French arm’d vessels. I believe you will find them perfectly agreeable, to the instructions, contain’d in an Official letter I had the honor of receiving from the Secretary of State, at the moment of my departure from the Cape; and I flatter myself they will meet the approbation of the Government of the U. States to whom I shall communicate them by first safe conveyance.

REGULATIONS

Article 1st — No Vessel of any description whatever, shall be allowed to arm in that part of the Colony, under the Jurisdiction of General Toussaint, except such as are employ’d by him either for the protection of commerce, or, to co-operate in his military expeditions, against the South —

2nd That all arm’d vessels, not in his immediate Service, shall be liable to capture and Confiscation by the Ships of War of the United States —

3rd that all the cruisers in his employ (of which a list shall be sent to the Commodore of the United States Squadron on the S' Domingo Station) shall be furnished with regular passports, signed by the Consul General, the British agent, and General Toussaint. Those that neglect to apply for such passports (‘tho in his service) shall be liable to capture and confiscation.

4th all armed vessels in his service, shall cruise within the Limits prescribed by the secret conventions entered into between General Toussaint, and the British previous to the renewal of commerce: Viz, not more than 5 Leagues from the Island of S' Domingo —

5th no passports, shall be granted to any vessels but those using the coasting trade of the Island or, those in the service of General Toussaint, and sailing within the limits mentioned in the 4th Article —

6th The particular agent of the executive Directory shall grant no commissions for arming the vessels of Private individuals, and if any such vessels shall be found at Sea with commissions of this Description, they shall be liable to Capture and Confiscation.

7th No arm’d merchantmen which have already arrived in this Colony from France, or, which may hereafter, arrive shall be entitled to a passport and if any such vessels should be captured, either in coming to, or going from this Island by the Ships of war of the United States, such capture shall not be considered by General Toussaint as an infraction of the arrangements entered into with the United States. It is understood, however, that (if it can possibly be avoided) such captures shall not be made, so near to the shores of the Island, as to give a suspicion that the American Ships of war have cruised there for the express purpose of taking such vessels, it is also understood that all such arm’d vessels, belonging to France as may be captured by the ships of War of the United States, shall be sent elsewhere for adjudication, and brought into a port of the Colony —
Such are the regulations, Sir, that have been made, in conformity to the instructions I received from the Government of the United States, I now embrace the earliest opportunity of transmitting them to you.

I have already had the honor of informing you, that the strictest, orders have been given to prevent ships of war, or privateers belonging to the French Republic from entering the ports of this colony, as to armd Merchantment coming from France, I do not immagine that the trade of the United States, will incur any risk from them, in future. Those that have already arrived, are so much disgusted with the Government, in consequence of the requisitions to which they have been subjected, that they will return, no more, but should they even think proper to Continue, so disadvantageous a commerce, the most effectual steps have now been taken to intercept them, without interrupting the Harmony between this Island and the U States. I have discuss'd this subject very fully with General Toussaint, and have I believe, effectually done away [with] the unfavorable impressions made in his mind by the unjust, and ill founded Clamors of the French inhabitants at the cape. He sees the conduct of our naval commanders in a true light, and does them the Justice they Merit. I have convinced him that their Orders are positive, and that no arm'd French Vessels can be respected, but such as carry passports agreeable to the above Stipulations.

I have the honor to be with sincere esteem and regard —

Sir,

Your M'o Obed' Servan't

Capt Silas Talbot

of the Constitution —

Cape Francois —

Sir I observe from letters published in the Rhode Island News papers from Captain Perry, and from other circumstances, that some of the Captains on the Saint Domingo Station think themselves authorized to Capture French property even on board Neutral Vessels —

Mistakes of this kind will lead us into quarrels with all the World — It is our interest and our policy to avoid them — at least not to provoke them by acts of injustice I have the honor to request that you will check this disposition to make captures which our Laws do not authorize in the Officers under your command — They must be governed by the Laws, and by their instructions founded on the Laws — The publication of letters from our Officers to their friends on Public affairs has already done mischeif — You will be so good to inform all under your Command, that the President disapproves of the practice of writing private letters from our Ships relative to public transactions, and requests that it be discontinued. — It is believed that the officers of the British Navy are injoined to avoid this practice, which from what I have already observed is sometimes injurious not only to the Public interest, but to the Officers themselves —

I understand from Mr Higginson that the Brig sent in by Captain Little & Perry to Boston will not be condemned and that the most expected is a decree that there was cause to justify the sending her in for trial. —

I have the honor to be

Sir

To the Secretary of the U. S. at Philadelphia

Sir! I have the satisfaction to inform you that the Crew of the Delaware have been generally recover'd — & this morning Capt. Baker finding his Ship's company so sufficiently well — he determin'd to go out after a French Privateer who sail'd yesterday — he will probably stretch as high as Cumana — where French Cruisers have of late done much mischief. The Scammel has remain'd here — & her Commander & many of the Crew, are very unwel — Captain Baker has been very Zealous in the affair of the Nautilus — with the Governor, with no more success than myself — the only difference is — he has vouchsafed to answer Captain Baker.—

The calls on me since the Delaware & Scammel have been here, have been very heavy — for Provisions & & & I am very sorry to add, that the Hospital expences in consequence of the numbers who have been & yet are sick, will amount to a considerable Sum. — I shall be under the necessity of drawing for about 5000 Dollars — in a short time — & I will endeavour to include in my account — which I design to furnish — the whole disbursements when it will be closed.

I take the liberty to acquaint you that Mr^† Phillips & my own Health, & the promotion of my business will render it necessary for me to return home in a few months — & I have resolved to appoint Mr W^§ D. Report of the Committee of Commerce and Manufactures, instructed 15 December 1799, to report in what manner and to what effect the Act suspending commercial intercourse with France, has been executed, accompanied by letter to Chairman of Committee of Commerce and Manufactures, from Secretary of the Treasury

THE committee of Commerce and Manufactures, beg leave to report, on the subject of the suspension of the commercial intercourse between the United States and France, that the laws which have been enacted for that purpose have been, as far as appears to the committee, faithfully executed in all respects depending on the care of the officers of the United States. It is but too probable however that individuals, engaged in pursuit of private commercial advantages, and regardless of the public welfare, have evaded in many instances the provisions of those laws. Some observations from the Secretary of the Treasury, relative to these practices, and a detail of the cases, which under the sixth section of the last act of Congress, prohibiting commercial intercourse with France, have been transmitted to that department, are herewith submitted. The committee being of opinion, that it is expedient further to suspend all commercial intercourse, between the United States and France have prepared a bill for that purpose, which is also submitted, and in the opinion of the committee ought to be enacted without delay.

_TREASURY DEPARTMENT_,

Sir, I have the honour to enclose a statement of all the cases which have been transmitted to this department for decision pursuant to the act of Congress passed on the 9th of February, 1799, entitled, "an act further to suspend the commercial intercourse between the United States, and France, and the dependencies thereof."

Although this statement contains the substance of the information desired by the committee, and particularly in what manner the power granted by the sixth section of the act has been exercised, yet it may be useful to observe, that the law of Congress passed on the 13th of June, 1798, which imposed the first restrictions on commercial intercourse with France, was by this department understood to declare the following principles, by which the conduct of the collectors of the customs has accordingly been governed.

1st. That all exports to France or her dependencies were prohibited after the first day of July 1798, except the goods and effects of Frenchmen residing in the United States, and about to depart in vessels with permits from the President of the United States.

2d. That the entry of vessels bona fide the property of citizens of the United States, or employed by them, and having on board property of such citizens only, was lawful until the first day of December 1798, and no longer.

Although the true interpretation of the law cannot be considered as finally settled by judicial decisions; yet as diversities of opinion are known to exist, it is desirable that the sense of the legislature may be ascertained upon the following points, in case the restrictions upon commerce with France, shall be continued after the third day of March ensuing.

1st. Whether the restrictions shall extend to any, except French and American vessels?

2. Whether trade through a neutral country, by means of a mutual agent of persons residing in the dominions of France and the United States shall be lawful?

3. Whether cartel vessels with passports of the President of the United States, authorizing the departure of French citizens and their effects shall be exempted from the restrictions imposed on other vessels?

4th. Whether vessels which may be captured or driven by distress into French ports, the cargoes of which may be seized or detained by the French government, shall be allowed to receive merchandise or produce in exchange, or compensation for the cargoes so seized and detained.

The following practices have been discovered and may be expected to increase, in case the law shall not provide a competent remedy.

1st. American citizens have proceeded to the island of St. Thomas, and have there obtained certificates of naturalization for themselves and their vessels; — with such vessels a direct trade between the United States and French ports, has been attempted to be prosecuted in the same manner as before the law was passed.

2d. Agents for commercial houses have been established in the island of St. Thomas, and other neutral places, to whom the productions of the United States have been consigned; these productions have been shipped from thence in other American vessels for French ports. The vessels employed between the neutral French ports, have been generally covered as Danish property.

3d. Although vessels which have been employed in transporting French citizens and their property from the United States, have been carefully restricted by instructions and by the Custom House inspection, from transporting merchandise on account of persons resident in the United States, yet there is reason to suspect that the intentions of the government have, in some instances been evaded. In case it shall be deemed reasonable to continue the provision for removing French citizens and their property — precise regulations for preventing the vessels from being employed in commerce will be highly necessary.

4th. Vessels have been carried to the vicinity of French ports, where as is believed, they have been captured by French privateers, in consequence of pre-concerted arrangements; — other vessels have entered French ports, on pretence of distress. — Although the vessels have, in many instances, been liberated, yet the cargoes have been detained by order of government. In some cases, the masters or owners have been permitted to purchase return cargoes — latterly to strengthen the plea for being admitted to entry in the United States, it has been represented, that the masters have been compelled to receive cargoes on board their vessels.

The cases of vessels which have been reported as having been captured by privateers, or driven into French ports in distress, have been attended with particular difficulty. — In some instances the representations have doubtless been fair and correct; but in others they have unquestionably been collusive and fraudulent; the protests and other papers usually produced by masters of vessels could not however furnish the means of a just discrimination.

No effectual remedy is perceived against an abuse which must continue to increase, but by declaring importations from French ports to be unlawful in all cases whatever, without excepting those of vessels really captured or driven into French ports in distress. The capture or arrival in distress may be involuntary and therefore not illegal — but the purchase of a new cargo or any purchase whatever except of necessaries to enable the captured persons to return to their own country, ought as is believed to be declared unlawful.
It may be said that such a regulation would be odious and severe; that it would be cruel to oblige men to suffer unnecessary losses, or to abandon their property to great risques, when an equivalent was offered. Admitting these objections to have some force, yet it may be observed with equal truth — that the act prohibiting commercial intercourse, ought to be considered in connection with other measures, as constituting a part of the system of resistance, adopted by the United States — that prior to the adoption of this system, our vessels were captured and condemned indiscriminately — that the suspension of commerce is a measure, which if well executed, must powerfully influence the conduct of the French colonies — that no system of resistance can be executed without exposing our citizens to some losses: that it is impossible to distinguish cases of real capture or distress, from those which are fictitious — that many of our citizens, will not make reasonable efforts to avoid being captured or entering French ports, if they find themselves exempted from every loss and inconvenience — that the plea of forcible exchange cannot be admitted without permitting the French government virtually to repeal our laws, by means of their own internal regulation; and that if the United States refuse to submit to an insidious policy, and some of our citizens suffer losses, it is against the French and not the American government that their complaints ought to be directed.

I have the honour to be,

With great respect,

Your most obedient servant,

OLIVER WOLCOTT.

Chairman of the Committee of Commerce and Manufactures.

CHESTER FITCH Esq'

Sir I avail myself of the present Opportunity of writing to you, as one of the Gentlemen who direct the affairs of the Arsenal at English Harbour, & am sorry to say that I have had great injustice done me with regard to my fore mast, we had not been at sea twelve hours before we discover'd it to open & shut in several places & to a dangerous degree. upon close examination we found it full of large knots, that had been work'd out & the Vacancy plugged up & fill'd with putty so as to prevent the discovery of any outward defect. we have secured it as well as our present situation will admit of, but to fish it substantially will be a matter of considerable cost. I think the harder of it as it was evidently the intention of the Admiral to act a friendly and generous part toward us, & the Master Builder and Mast Maker, must have both been very conscious that the mast they gave me was not trust worthy. & such a one as they would not have offer'd to one of their own Ships when at the same time I am charged with the full value of a first rate mast that could be made.
I shall certainly have a proper survey over it the first opportunity I have of meeting with any of his Majesties Men of War, & let the Admiral know the result, which my duty to my country, as well as my own reputation compel me to, I am the more sorry for this event, having been so handsomely treated, & received so many friendly benefactions from all the Gentlemen of Antigua.
Be pleased Sir to accept of my assurances of esteem & make my respectful Compliments to Cap't Western & the other Gentlemen of our acquaintance

Capt Daniel McNeill

of the Portsmouth, New York

Sir, I am honored with your letter of the 24th and congratulate you on your arrival with your Crew in perfect health — It would have been more agreeable if you could have reached Boston, as the men would have been better pleased to have been discharged there, and the Officers would have been among their friends. — But it will not be prudent to think of removing the Ships at this season — Be pleased therefore to direct the Purser to prepare the mens accounts for immediate settlement that they may be discharged — I will on Monday remit you 20,000 Dollars which I suppose will be sufficient to pay the whole crew.

I presume some of the men & perhaps some of the officers have given powers of Attorney for part of their pay in their absence —
these powers ought to have been witnessed by yourself & by the Purs-er, and you ought both to have an account of their names — In these cases it will be impossible to ascertain what sums have been paid on the powers under a fortnight or more, & it will not do to keep the men until it can be ascertained — In all these cases therefore the Purser must deduct all the money that the Pursers authorized to be paid, to be sure of deductions enough — If too much is to be de-ducted the men can receive their balances at the ports to which they belong. — If you are not extremely attentive to this part of this business, there will be great confusion & perhaps considerable loss to the United States — The sooner the men can be discharged, the better in all respects — Messrs James & Ebenezer Watson are the Navy Agents at New York to whom you will apply for any advice & assistance you may stand in need of — You have not mentioned whether the Ship wants any repairs — Please to inform me of this in your next letter, and also what Stores & will be required for another cruise —

Sir Previous to paying the Crew of the Portsmouth — you will take care to ascertain all charges against them. You I presume know whether any of them have authorize\textquotesingle d Attorneys to draw any part of their pay and you must be responsible for charging it against their wages. It appears from the Accounts of Stephen Higginson Esquire rend\textsuperscript{9} to this Office that several payments has been made by him to Attorneys of several of the Portsmouth Crew, an abstract of which you will herewith receive, but it is more than probable this abstract does not contain all the payments that have been made, and in all cases where Powers of Attorney have been given it will be best for you to presume that all the payments authorized by the Powers of Attorney have been made, and to charge the individuals therewith — The only charge against you for money advanc\textquotesingle d at this Office, is $150 paid on your order — to Captain Mc\textsuperscript{4}Niel — Your pay rolls must contain columns for the names & stations of the Ships Company, also for the commence\textquotesingle and expiration of service, one for the time of service & others for the rates and amount of pay for that time, and such other columns either in the pay or receipt roll as are necessary to exhibit the charges of money, Slops, payments to Att\textsupersingle &c. as circumstances may require, and one for the ballances due, and remaining to be paid at the time the roll is made up to, or time of discharge, death, or desertion of the individual, for the final payment a receipt roll will be proper, which besides having in it such of the aforesaid columns for advances as you may not have room for in your pay roll, must have columns for names, stations, and ballances, together with a column for the signature of the person paid and another for the witness to the final payment and signature; the witness should be a commission’d or warrant Officer, one of whom should always be present at the pay table while paying off — deserters forfeit the wages due to them, but the Ex* or Adm* of dead men and the Att* of absentees with leave, upon producing and leaving with you for y* Voucher the letters of Attorney or administration, legally executed and authenticated may be paid, such as do not apply while you are paying may hereafter be paid at this office, for which purpose it will be necessary for you to make out, an abstract of the ballances due to dead & discharg’d men or deserters which must be produc’d with your pay and receipt rolls in your Slop account you will shew by approprié columns the quantities of each several kinds of articles rec’d or purchas’d, and the amount, and from whom — when & where, & on the contrary you will shew the qt* dispo’d of & remaining on hand, with their amounts respectively so that y* Acc* will shew both the article & the amount. —

The regulations of the Navy require every person belonging to a vessel of war, to draw one ration and this it will be presumed is always done unless the contrary is shewn, therefore in the subsistence abstract a distinction must be made between the undrawn rations, and the extra rations that some of y* commissioned and Warrant Officers are entitled to pay for, the undrawn adds a ration to y* provision a/c. which should be accompanied by a statement shewing the number of men, who from time to time, have drawn rations, and the quantities of each several kinds of article, thereby expended & in order to shew the state of the Officers subsistence account, an abstract exhibiting what provisions each of them have drawn, or have been Supplied with, and what may be due to each of them must accompany your provision Account. —

Deposition of Peter Taylor, Captain of the American Armed Brig Nancy, captured by the privateer Sloop Filibuster belonging to Bourdeaux & sailing with English colors hoisted

Before John Culnan, Consul of the United States of America, for the Canary Islands —

Personally appeared — Peter Taylor master James Dryburgh mate, & John Collins mariner of the American brig Nancy of new-York, & owned by Thomas Buchanan Merchant of said place, being duly sworn, deposed, & said —

That on the twentieth of January 1800 sailed from the harbour of Funchal, in the Island of Madeira bound for Lisbon; on the 21st got clear of the Island; on the 23d in latitude 32°50' Longitude 13°00' saw two ships to windward which gave chase, at meridian came up, & boarded us. They proved to be the Lord Rodney, & the Boeswick, two Liverpool letters of Marque bound to Madeira, after examining our papers permitted us to proceed — at 2 P. M. tacked Ships to the Northward, & westward. On the 25th at seven A. M. made the Island of Porto Santo, & tacked again to the Eastward — at 3 P. M. thick weather, twenty leagues to the eastward of Porto Santo, discovered a Sloop on our lee bow, about 3 miles distance under English colours, & suspecting her to be an Enemy, prepared for action, at four we fired a gun ahead of her, & hoisted our colours, when she returned another gun still under English colours, & coming into our wake, hove about, & stood for us — at 5 came up under our stern, & hailed us in English to hoist out my boat (perceiving her superiority, & having two men, & a boy sick, & two of the others not willing to fight) was obliged to go on board the privateer with my papers — she proved to be the Flisbustier of eight guns, & sixty five men belonging to Bourdeaux, Comanded by Antoine Watering, who sent a prize master, & fourteen men to take possession of the Nancy, & taking out her crew returned me aboard, & Steered for the Island of Palma — the privateer keeping us Company — On the 28th came to anchor in the road of Palma; on the 29th was taken ashore to make a deposition before the Governor — the 30th d o myself & crew embarked for the Island of Teneriffe, where we arrived the 2d of February. —

Whereupon at the request of the said master & in behalf of his Owner, I do solemnly protest against the said Sloop privateer Flisbustier, Antoine Watering master, & all concerned for the capture of the brig Nancy for whatever losses, Costs, damages, interest, expenses already might have suffered, or hereafter Suffer for, or by reason of the premises. —

Thus done, & protested with my Consular Seal hereunto affixed at my Office in Teneriffe this third day of February 1800, & twenty fourth year of the Indepcndance of said States — the said master, mate & mariner having sworn to the contents of this publick Instrument of protest, & signed the same. —

Ship Portland feb 26th 1800

GENTLEMEN Your anksity has doubtless been very great with respect to the ship and mine has not been less so as I can only say at present that on the twenty fifth day of Jan', last I was taken by a french Privateer (in Latt's 21°50' Long's 59°30') after a chace of Eighteen hours during which time I ply'd them with a number of shot unfortunately to no purpose I was but ill able to stand the deck my self. had it have been otherwise our fortune might possibly have been better or worse the particulars you will learn when Ever we meet let it suffice at present to say that on the second inst. the Ship was Recaptured by the United States Brig Peckering Capt B Hiller in Sale Rock Passage and conducted to Tortola Capt Hiller proceeded on to St Kitts where fortunately I was in pursuit of the Ship in hopes she might be Retaken. You will learn by the within closed protest the rout which I have been oblig'd to take had I not been there Tortola would have prov'd as fatal to the property as Guadalupe it was with some difficulty that I got the property out of their hands it now Rests on this that I conduct the ship and cargo to Boston address'd to Messrs Stephen Higgenson & Co agent for the American Navy in that place where I hope to see one or more of the gentlemen owners of the Ship or otherwise I shall call on Mr Eben Preble for advise

I have with me now in the ship of my former crew my two mates Wm Cross & the Boy the others I left in prison at St Martins doubtless Gentlemen I shall have advise forw'd Imeditately to Boston on the Receipt of this I shall immediately on my arival protest against the proceedings at Tortola as it has not been in my power to do it before by reason the fleet were under way & I was oblig'd to join them the Schoo Sally & Mary ariv'd at St Kitts the day before I left had been taken by the same privateer that I was & Retaken by the British Frigate Dianna Capt Cross was taken on board the privateer & a Young Clerk only left onboard. I Conclude Subscribing my Self

Sir, The brig Sophia left the capes of the Delaware for Algiers, on the 26 of January, and I expect will arrive by the last of the present month. Duplicates of my dispatches by her accompany this letter. I now inclose an invoice and bill of lading of the cargo of the ship Hero, Captain Robinson, destined for Tunis, where her arrival will I trust put a good face on our affairs. — The other stores for Tunis will be shipped as early in the Spring as it will be possible to procure them. I hope they may be under convoy. —

Extract from a private letter from Lieutenant John Shaw, U. S. Navy, commanding the U. S. Schooner Enterprise

"On the 17th December we left our capes with a moderate breeze from the S. W., but it shortly increased to a violent gale accompanied by quantities of rain, and having a new vessel and raw hands, had soon many difficulties to encounter. We lost one man overboard besides springing our foremast, but had it condemned by a surveyor as being unfit to proceed to sea with. On the 19th January procured another mast in Martinico, and proceeded to St. Kitts with a convoy of 15 sail. Hauled up for a brig we saw under Guadaloupe, which showed a Swedish jack. As we had every reason to suppose her a French vessel, beat all hands to quarters, the usual mode we adopt on seeing a strange sail. We gave her a gun, showing our colors, but she kept her wind to the southward until we had fired 14 shot at her, when she hauled down her colors and came under our lee. She proved to be a Swedish brig of twenty 12-pounders and 90 men. After examination let her proceed. On the 19th were ordered out on a cruise. On the 22d recaptured the schooner Victory with a valuable cargo from Norfolk bound to Antigua, five days in possession of the French. On the 24th recaptured the brig Androscoggin of Topsham, six days in possession of the French. They both arrived safe in St. Kitts. On the 26th inst. we proceeded to Curraoal with dispatches from Commodore Truxtun to Captain Baker of the Delaware. She is in port with many of her men sick."

American Brig Polly, Lazarus Lovell commanding, describes falling in with certain U. S. Ships of War, and mentions the capture of the French Privateer La Voltigeuse by the U. S. R. C. Brig Pickering

On the 26th, about 70 miles to windward of Desedada, early in the morning I fell in with the United States ship L'Insurgent, Alexander Murray, esquire, commander; by his request I lay by until they closed several packages — the lieutenant who came on board informed me that there was also cruising to windward, the U. States ship Connecticut, capt. Tryon, the Adams, captain Morris, and the Invincible [British?] of 74 guns, the Baltimore and Pickering cruising under the lee of Guadaloupe. Likewise informed me that three weeks before had arrived at Guadaloupe, two French ships, one of 20 and one of 50 guns, which had brought out a new governor, Genet — capt. Murray very politely told me he would stand on a piece with me to the northward, and accordingly did until 2, P. M. a lofty warlike looking ship with a crowd of sail hove in sight to windward, but on getting sight of us she in studding sails and hauled on a wind to the northward; the L'Insurgente then made sail and stood to windward after her; night came on, and I lost sight without knowing which had the better of the chase. On the 28th, I fell in with the United States brig Pickering, Benjamin Hillar, esquire, commander, on a cruise; eight days before had captured the Voltigeuse [La Voltigeuse captured 7 December 1799], of 10 guns, and 61 men, 3 days from Guadaloupe, taken nothing; 3 months provisions on board. It was expected that this privateer would have engaged the Pickering, as she shewed 14 ports; but on the Pickering firing a shot athwart her fore foot, and giving three cheers, the French colors came down. I had the above news from lieutenant Ingraham, who came on board — he further said, that four days before he was himself on shore at Point Petre, to exchange the above prisoners, and saw there the two French ships before mentioned.

The Pickering altering her cruise, has captured 16 sail; she was then full manned, and all her crew in good health: the doctor, Mr. Sargeant, was so good as to come on board and prescribe for a man I had sick, who has since recovered.

To Robert Goodloe Harper, Chairman of Committee of Ways & Means, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA] Navy Department 27th January 1800

Honble

ROBERT GOODLOE HARPER
Chairman Committee Ways & Means

Sir The appropriation of one million of Dollars was made to procure six vessels, to mount not exceeding 18 Guns each — and to commence the building of six Ships of 74 Guns. The six small vessels have been procured and are in service, and altho their A/cts have not yet been settled little doubt remains that they have cost by the time they were ready for sea nearly 300,000 Dr* the sum they were estimated to cost —

The frames of Live Oak for the 6 Seventy four gun Ships are now ready for delivery — they were estimated to cost delivered at the different places where the Ships are to be built 240,000 Dollars, but they will really cost 300,000 Dr* — They are cut to the moulds in Georgia, in order to save the expence of transporting useless timber in consequence of which the cost exceeds the estimate, but in this cost is included the labour of cutting them to the moulds, which is considerable & which will, it is presumed, produce a saving in the article of labour estimated at 510,000 [or 510,600] Dr* equal to the excess in the cost of the frames. —

The other timber for these Ships will all be delivered & paid for in the course of the present Winter — a great proportion of it has already been obtained, it was estimated at 180,000 Dr* — The Copper required for the 6 ships will cost 170,000 Dr* — and as we cannot be certain of getting it from other Countries when we shall want it and as it is of the utmost importance to obtain it in our own, it may be proper to expend the whole sum this year, whether the building of the Ships should go on rapidly, or otherwise — nearly 20,000 Dr* indeed has already been expended in procuring a part of the Copper.

I find that very large sums have been lost in erecting wharves &c for building the Frigates authorized in 1794 in places so confined as to be totally unfit for building even Frigates hereafter and in every instance where this mistake has occurred, the expenditure of money on objects at this time wholly useless has not amounted to less than 200,000 Dr* — an other expence has grown out of the circumstance of want of room at such places, the amount of which there is no calculating — I mean the labour of piling and unpiling timber heaped together in confusion, because there was not room to admit of its being placed away in any proper order. It would not be hazarding too much to say that the same piece of timber has been removed from this cause twenty times over in Philadelphia where economy in Ship building is pretty well understood — To avoid errors of this kind and that the money now to be laid out shall be useful hereafter, I have contemplated to purchase at the six different places where the Ships are to be built, ground enough for capacious building yards, and to have such wharves erected as would answer for future occasions as well as the present — Each wharf will probably cost 20,000 Dr* — the Ground Sheds, & Docks for the security of timber & other absolutely necessary expenditures may amount to as much more — in the whole to 240,000 Dr* and this sum must be expended before even the Keels can be laid to advantage amount to 190,000$ beyond the appropriation of one Million the whole except for the Copper will be expended in the course of the Winter and early in the Spring — a much larger proportion of it than 300,000 Dr. has already been expended, altho by the Treasury Books it does not appear to have been the case.

The Navy Agents are Agents for every purpose of the Navy — several of them have applied of money remitted them out of the appropriation for the maintenance of the Navy, considerable sums towards the Timber for the 74 Gun Ships which can only be charged to the appropriation for that object when their Accts are settled — Thus then it appears that an appropriation of 190,000 Dollars will be required to put us in a condition to lay the keels of the 74 Gun Ships. It may be essential that not only the Keels should be laid in the Spring but that such progress should be made in the Ship during the Summer & fall, and an appropriation of an additional 410,000 Dr. for this purpose seems no more than sufficient to pay for the labour, and to commence a provision for anchors, sails, rigging Guns — I do not believe it will be found necessary to go on with those Ships as fast as possible, but I have supposed that our present arrangements must be made upon the Idea that it will be necessary. — Six hundred thousand Dollars in addition to former appropriations will be sufficient to put the Ships in such a state in 1800, as to be got to sea — perhaps early in the summer of 1801.

I have the honor to be with great respect & Esteem

for procuring the Timber a Copy of which you will receive herewith — Each Account is to be headed with the name of the Ship the Frame is intended for, or the name of the place where each is to be built, Say Portsmouth (New Hampshire), Boston, New York, Philad., Washington, Norfolk — Each piece is to be thus marked, as well as with the name of the timber, both larboard & starboard. — You will observe by the Contract & instructions, in what manner the timber is to be got, and what latitude is given the procurers. — It is essential that all outside pieces shall be of the best quality clear of all defects whatever — Those for the frames generally should also be of sufficient quality but pieces may be admitted for the frames generally that would not do for outside work, tho none should be received that have large heart shakes large splits, or are rotten — Here you must exercise your judgment, taking care not to reject any pieces improperly, nor to receive any unfit for the Ships — It is expected that the frames will be delivered at a number of Landing places, and that there may be pieces for each Ship delivered at each place, and it is essential to avoid mistakes in sending the pieces intended for one Ship to a place where another is building, that the utmost care be observed in making as many piles at each place as there are to be Ships and that each pile contain only the timber designed for one ship and that the piles be placed at a distance from each other so as to prevent the Timbers of one Ship being mixed with those of another.

It is also essential that each piece of Timber be so conspicuously marked in a way not to be rubbed out with the name of the place to which it is to be sent, as to be at once distinguishable —

As soon as the season will permit Vessels will be sent for the Timber, and it is hoped that it can all be ready & taken away while you remain in Georgia & under your direction, or that of persons employed by you & to act under your orders in taking an account of the Timbers Shipt & receipts from the Vessels, by which means mistakes & confusion may be avoided —

For your services you will be allowed at the rate of 2000 Drs per Annun & your reasonable expences, of which you must keep an account, while employed in this service M’ Ebenezer Jackson Naval Agent at Savanah will render you every necessary assistance to facilitate your operations. —

Besides the foregoing there are the frames of two Ships contracted for to be cut by Thomas Shubrick Esq of South Carolina — You are appointed to inspect those also, under the same regulations & restrictions as are prescribed in respect to the frames in Georgia Wn Crafts Esq Naval Agent in Charleston will render you the requisite information and assistance — to him you will be pleased to present yourself on your arrival in Charleston & in concert with him arrange your plan of operations so as to effect the object of your appointment with the greatest facility of which it is susceptible keeping in view at same time the business you are to transact in Georgia & making your arrangements in such manner that the operations in one State shall not interfere with those to be performed in the other — If the two frames procuring in South Carolina will be ready before the whole six in Georgia, you will be pleased to designate those for two of the Ships now to be built, & let two of the frames in Georgia which shall be last completed be considered as extra, & whether two in Georgia, or those in South Carolina be so considered let one of them be marked GEORGIA & the other CAROLINA. A Copy of the Contract with Col Shubrick is herewith enclosed —

To defray your expenses $1000 is now advanced you on Account, and if more should be necessary before you return you may draw on me — your Bills shall be duly honored — I am Sir

Sir I am honored with your letter of the 8th Instant — With respect to Mr Shubrick I do not know where he got his information that the Stem pieces of the 74 Gun Ship were to be "of white oak", certainly no such thing is contained in the Instructions I forwarded to you on the 6th August last, nor must it be admitted. They must be of live oak, & of the very best quality being for outside work. — If they cannot be got in two pieces, they may in three, taking care to shift the scarfs of the apron, so as to make strong work — The stern post may also be got in two pieces, if it cannot be got in one — But the transom must be in one piece —

QUASI-WAR—UNITED STATES AND FRANCE

To Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 28th January 1800

Capt. Thomas Truxtun
of the Constellation, St Kitts

Sir Captain Brown in the Merrimack, is ordered to join Your Squadron and to act under your orders — his ship is a valuable cruiser, and I hope may be profitably employed — Not having heard from you since your arrival on your station I cannot be minute in my observations respecting the object of your command — It appears however that Porto Rico, is more within the range of Capt Talbots cruisers than yours, consequently his attention must be directed to that point — Captain Baker in the Delaware, & Lieut Fernald in the Scammel having been sometime cruising off Curraocoa with little effect, and Captain Bakers crew having become so sickly as to render it necessary for him to put into Port, it may be proper to Recall him, probably indeed to order him home — of this however you must be the Judge, and to order another Cruizer to that station but whether to continue on it altogether or to take a larger range of action & only to look into Curraocoa occasionally, is with you to determine, which you can much better do than myself —

It appears there are still some captures made about Saint Thom~s — I request your particular attention to this Island — I shall not add but relying on your Zeal & Abilities, I assure myself that the utmost protection will be afforded to our Commerce of which the force under Your command is capable —

Congress have not progressed Rapidly in public business since the commencement of the present Session — It appears that a reduction of the Army is pretty generally contemplated, and that a good disposition prevails in a large proportion of the Members to promote the progress of the Navy, and to authorize the appointment of Officers of higher grades than that of Captain

I send you some news papers, from which you may collect details —

Wishing you a successful & glorious cruise —

I have the honor to be
Sir Yr most obed Servt

Capt. Moses Brown of the Merrimack Boston

Sir With this you will receive circular instructions for your government on a cruise, which being full & particular, I have nothing to add but the Presidents command, that you proceed from Boston without delay to Saint Kitts with the Merrimack, at which place or in the vicinity of Guadeloupe, you will fall in with our Squadron on that Station, which you are to join under the command of the Senior Officer who will be Captain Truxtun, unless some accident has happened to him — The President desires me to express his confidence, that you will maintain the character you have already acquired —

Wishing you great success & Glory — I have the honor to be Sir Yr obed Servt

B[ENJAMIN] S[TO]DERT.

NB — Any vessels bound to the vicinity of St Kitts or Guadeloupe you will take under your Convoy, but wait for none that are not ready —

Extracts from log book of American Merchant Ship Carlisle, Captain Bryden, commanding

October 25, on our passage to Liverpool, fell in with a British man of war, of 74 guns, with a fleet under her convoy, consisting of 30 sail; we went under the lee of the man of war and hailed him; saw the English and French coasts the next day, about 7 o'clock, p. m. and a number of vessels in sight.

January 19, about 7 o'clock, p. m. saw an English sloop of war of 19 eighteen-pounders; at 7 A. M. he came up with us and fired two guns at us, which we returned with our stern chasers, and then we hailed him, asked where bound, answered to Jamaica; but he was bound to Newfoundland; he came on board of us with his boat, looked at our papers, and let us proceed.

January 28, at 2 A. M. saw a sail about one quarter of a mile distant; which kept on her course till she got right astern of us, then tacked about and gave chase to us, and came up with us; but squalls commencing at the time, she was obliged to heave to astern, and when she was coming the third time, we hoisted our colors and gave her a shot, then she came a little closer, hoisted French colors and gave us a shot; and at 10 minutes past 4 A. M. commenced a hot action on both sides till half past 5, A. M. when she bore away from along side of us, but chased us till dark, and then altered her course; she had upwards of 60 or 70 men on board, had three guns, and a great number of small arms; we only had one man wounded, though the shot flew like hail about our ears, and every broadside we gave her, we could perceive did great execution; we saw she would not venture again, and we made sail.

Left Liverpool the 7th of December in company with the ship Fabius, of Norfolk, captain Black; when we made Fayal, (one of the Western Islands) we left him. In lat. 24, 00, long. 66, 00, fell in with a French privateer, who engaged us an hour and 25 minutes, within pistol shot the whole time, and sometimes closer; I supposed her to be just come out, as she was quite clean and had not less than 60 men on board; she kept a constant firing on us with small arms under our quarter, so that we could only get our stern chasers to bear on her, until she came up with an intention to board us; but he met with too warm a reception, and thought proper to sheer off with the loss of about 20 or 30 of his men, and her fore gaff and rigging about their ears; I am happy to say that our officers and men behaved like brave Americans during the whole action, and I have only to lament the loss of one man who died of his wounds next day.

Curaçao Jan’ 29th 1800

Thomas Truxon Esq’

Sir In the Month of Sept’ last I wrote to our Gov’t & requested assistance & protection for the Reasons then stated; briefly a Vile combination against the Americans Persons & Property & a threatened Invasion from Toussaint of St’ Domingo. In consequence thereof the Sec’y at War directed the Commanding officer in the Windward’ Station to dispatch 2 Ships, the Delaware & Baltimore were mentioned — the latter, being then on some other service the Scammel was dispatch’d with the Delaware — many letters have been written home but we have no intercourse with St’ Kitts Capt[aker] will detail to you

The principal Commerce, carried on here is with American & the Spanish Settlements on Terrafirma & is by no means inconsiderable, & prior to the Delaware & Scammel’s coming here was entirely unprotected. —

Privateers frequently call in here to fitt out & clean &ca. but there are not any at present owned here they have lately been very troublesome about Guayra & Cumana Capt[aker] Baker made an attempt last Week to get up there but was not able to Stem the Current w’t runs at the rate of 4 to 5 Knots. —

I am sorry to tell you that the Crews of both vessels have been and are very sickly & for w’t reason it is not possible to send either of them up to you as soon as the Scammels Crew is sufficiently well she will go &c. — I recommend that such a Vessel as the Enterprize be sent here in her stead. — If we had, had her here last Week a Privateer formerly the Eleanor of Baltimore with the officers of the Trois Amis on board & bound to Guadaloup w’t not? have been taken. — It may happen that you come accross them one of these days & for w’t reason I give you the Names of the Off’rs who sign’d the Verbal Process. —

Sir I have this day sent on Lieutenant Heywards recruiting instructions — As he has never made any sort of return to this Office, I am ignorant whether he has his quota or not of Officers —

He is intitled to 2 Lieutenants, 1 Surgeon 1 Purser to act also as Clerk, 2 or 4 Midshipmen, 1 Boatswain & 1 Gunner, besides petty officers — The Steward & Cook — If he should not have his proportion of Lieut but should have only one Lieutenant & a Sailing Master, he can very well do without the other. — Those ought to be at Charleston, if not on board the Pin[c]kney, Joseph Pritchard Jacob S Motte & Alext Alexander Junr who have been sometime appointed Midshipmen & were originally intended for the John Adams but I find from the returns of that Ship, that she sailed without them — If they are at Charleston you will be good enough to order them on board the Pinkney — Captain Heywards Comm is sent on this day —

Extract from a letter from Lieutenant David Ross, formerly of the U. S. Frigate United States, now commanding the American private armed ship Belvedere

"London, January 30th, 1800.

"I have the pleasure of informing you of the safe arrival here of the ship Belvedere, after a very boisterous passage, and experiencing a succession of tremendous gales of wind.

"On the 23d December, in long. 43, lat. 45, 30, we were overtaken by a hurricane from the north-west quarter, and scuddled under it for some time, but the sea running extremely cross and a great number rolling over us, I thought it prudent at 10 A. M. to heave her too under a balance reefed mizen — On the 24th at 10 P. M. the vessel having been for a long time on her beam ends, I consulted my officers on the propriety of lightening the vessel for general safety; they agreed with me in opinion, & in consequence we cleared the lee side of the cabin by heaving 119 bags of coffee overboard, with our lee guns, 7 in number, and the shot in our lee shot lockers; the sea constantly breaking over us, one of them started all our bulwarks, and washed overboard a seaman named John Freeman, who was drowned.

"At 8 A. M. it began to moderate; we set the foresail and close reefed main-top sail, but still a violent sea running; it however subsided by degrees.

"On the 6th of Jan. in lat. 49, 42, long. 10, saw a lugger to leeward, with no sail set; we supposed her to be a French cruizer, that had brought to a Dutch dogger. — At 11 A. M. beat all hands to quarters and stood for her — At 2 P. M. came up with her, but found no person on board. I sent my second officer and three hands to take possession of her and conduct her to the Downs; but I am since informed she has got into Cowes. She proves to be the St. Seuveur, French lugger, of 33 tons burthen, loaded with wine.

"January 12th, at 7 A. M. saw a brig a stern coming up with us, beat to quarters and got all clear for action — At half past 7 A. M. she hailed us under National colours, within musket shot, and desired me to haul down mine, which was answered by a broadside, that must have raked him fore and aft; she returned us another, and we lay within pistol shot two hours, when she sheered off. She appeared to be a fine cutter built brig, and to mount 18 guns, and have about 150 men on board. Thank God we have lost none of our men, but have suffered much in our rigging and sails, and have about 50 shot, small and large, in our hull; our only wooden gun was dismounted. On the 14th got a pilot from Dover, and arrived in Standgate creek on the 18th, where I lay 8 days performing quarantine."

[Rec'd 25 March 1800 But filed in SDA under 31 January 1800]

To Secretary of State, from Turell Tufts, U. S. Consul, Paramaribo

Sir I have the honor to refer you to my Letter of the 1st Instant herewith transmitted. Since writing which I have rec'd a Letter from His Excellency the Govr in answer to mine, mentioned therein. You Sir, will observe, that He avoids remarking on that part of my Letter relating to the General: and that He confirms the credit He gave to my Commission before the Capitulation. — The Office is now of no importance to any body under any view. This appears even from our own Government; for, altho' The Honble Secretary of the Navy by Letter desired me to furnish Captain McNell with what necessaries he might want for the Portsmouth & take bills on him for payment; He has thought proper to instruct Capt McNell and Capt Rodgers in such a manner as to make them conceive it is their duty to provide for their Ships themselves at the lowest possible prices in the market. — The business is confided to the purser — and, he is running about Town to know who will supply the Ship and take bills on the U States for payment. When Capt McN. was watching the HUSSAR, he was exceedingly glad to receive Supplies from me. He, however, was not displeased with my account. When he came up to Town — he wanted a great number of articles — and undertook to purchase them himself by orders drawn on me. As He said it was more convenient for him, I assented to it — but I soon saw in it a great inconvenience. — Hourly some person was calling to know where articles were to be found. I therefore told him, it should be the last time I would supply him on that plan. — Capt Rodgers sent up his Purser — with instructions to purchase provisions — and to present the bills to me for payment: with a Letter, — promising to give me a draft for the Amount. — I answered — something to this effect; that [ ] I observed the instructions to the Purser were very particular, in order to get the articles at the lowest rate — for which purpose — He must go to all the Merchants: — that I was not disposed to become an under bidder of any cheating Jew or needy Merchant in the place — and therefore did not think proper to make any proposition for supply: — that if He or the Govr had more confidence in his Purser than in me — the bonds that I had given to render a faithful account of Public Monies &c were unnecessary, & might as well be cancelled. Nevertheless, rather than the service should be impeded — or delayed I would advance him money on his bill — altho' I did not want — having those I had taken of Capt McN. yet on hand — some of the money for which was advanced in August last". — The Purser addressed himself to an Englishman, (altho here are 2 Americans doing business) — got a dinner, got drunk, and made a bargain. — I assure you Sir, I should not have given you this detail — were it not a matter of some speculation among Americans now here; and were it not, an indication of a want of confidence. If this indication is just — it is my duty not to retain my Commission — and would not a moment longer had the intimation come from you. The respect which the Character, as well as Office of The President demands, — obliges me to defer a resignation, until an explanation is made. More particularly, as in a former Letter I intimated a desire to be appointed in some other Country.

Almost 5 months are elapsed, and but One English Ship has arrived here from Europe. Several Americans & Danes have kept up a full supply of European Goods. The British Custom House has lately demanded of these Vessells — and of Vessells direct from the U States — 5 per Cent, on all articles not of our Growth. This 5 Per Cc is put into the Pockets of the Officers, & is considered as a fee for permission to Land. — The Planters now feel the want of Fish (now at 10 D\(^a\) per Quintal) and other Negro provisions. — New Beef is worth 12 D\(^a\) — This, and the ill success of the expedition to Holland — occasions — wild & various speculations in Politics as well as in Commerce. Should France &\(^b\), have any success at sea — I should not be surprised if this place were attempted — and if Victor Hugues is in fact appointed at Cayenne — I should strongly suspect — the design. — I assure you many have expressed to me their fears.

Two Vessells under American Colours lately came in, laden with Slaves from the Coast of Africa. — Herman Smith, who says he was a passenger on board the Brig Eliza of Boston, gives me the following account. — That He sailed from Boston master of said Brig, with a Cargo for the Coast, where, He disposed of it — and also sold the Brig to an Englishman, who gave the Command of the Vessell to his mate, whose name was Henry Mayo: that She was laden with 99 slaves and ordered for this place: that in order to get home to Boston, he took passage in her, and on his arrival here having some business that detained him, and having it in contemplation to make a voyage to Europe — He sent home the papers of the Brig by the first Vessell that sailed after his arrival: at that time, Eight persons belonged to the Brig — 7 of whom — including Mayo — the master — are since dead — the other took passage in a Vessell to Salem, Brig Neptune Capt Flint: — that, when he sailed from Boston Timothy Gay — of that place — (who is since dead) was the owner. — In this story is readily discerned an attempt to evade the Law of the U States against the Slave Trade.

The Schooner Clarissa of Boston, Ellis Cook, master, is the other Slave Vessell. I understand she brought in 81 Slaves, and that Samuel Blake jun\(^t\) of Boston is an owner. — This Ellis Cook and J. Stookman mate having come before me to make Oath to the delivery of some [to] N England from the said Schooner, I asked him for His Vessells papers — who answered that he had delivered them to the owner now here — to be returned into the Office, the Vessell having been disposed of.—

It is very evident that the Laws should be thoroughly executed, or a new modification of them is necessary; for at present the penalties are so great — that the Slaves transported in this clandestine way, are more liable to bad treatment and to be crowded in large numbers on board small Vessells. I had written the foregoing observations before I saw there was a motion in Congress on this subject. — Slavery ought not to be known in Northern Countries, & blacks should not even be allowed to be transported there. In hot Countries blacks should live, & they are scarcely susceptible of the distinction between freeman & slaves. They know it only by the manner of treatment.

However excellent & praise-worthy the prohibition of the Slave trade may be considred by the Philosopher & Christian; the Merchant, Politician & Patriot, in my view, justly complain of the absolute prohibition by our Laws. It is well known that the Spanish Governors in the W. I. will admit any Neutral to land almost any Cargo in their Ports — if the Vessell brings 4 or 5 Slaves. The profits of their trade is so alluring, and the transportation of 5 Slaves from one State of Slavery to another & perhaps better, neither in the view of reason or humanity, producing any compunction to the mind — from the idea of being the real agent of their misery — few people in Trade would scruple or hesitate to adopt such a plan to gain admittance into a Spanish Port. Nothing but the penalties of the Law causes the least fear: and they are so easily evaded — or the transportation of so small a number being seldom or never noticed, — it is pretty generally practised; and those only who respect the Law are injured by it. I conceive therefore that, by a modification of the Law so as to allow of such practice in the W Indies — several important objects would be obtained, and as it would extend our own trade — we should reap the advantage of an Evil with some other nations until it is entirely removed, without deserving any odium or censure on account of the traffic. — In my view, and perhaps in the view of every one acquainted with the particulars of the Slave-Trade in Africa — the criminality of it consists exclusively in the inhuman treatment of the Slaves; for, arguments v's [versus] the mere transportation of them apply with equal force v's [versus] the transportation of an Irishman to the U States and selling him for a Season. — I would not despise any species of Creation, and am not ashamed of the sentiment, that our Species of man is of the first order, and deserves, as it has taken — the first rank and Command on the Globe: that the Blacks are of a lower degree & will from their constitution and nature of things forever remain so. — Reason & feelings dictate toward them good treatment more than toward a Horse — as they are of our form and possess the same faculties of communication, and Interest enforces it. — To raise them to our rank & importance in the scale of being by instruction & example is a magnanimous or rather liberal idea, and it is equally great, as it cannot be effected — when applied to Monkies. Is it therefore that Monkies should be taught to read & write? — To ameliorate the condition of Slaves & to make them Happy is all that can be done. It is not in the power of man to make them Great, unless formidable as a blind instrument of Power or force: — and as slaves they are instruments of good. I have tho’t it necessary to make these observations to justify myself in expressing the wish that our Laws might be modified as above. Otherwise, I should consider them impertinent as addressed to you. —

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy

at Sea, Feb. 3, 1800.

SIR, I had the honour to address you the day after my arrival at St. Christopher's, the twenty-first ult. as per copy annexed; after which I made every exertion in my power to get the squadron, as well as my own Ship, to sea, in the shortest time possible; and gave all the commanders of the different vessels orders, to cruise separately, in certain situations, agreeably to the copies inclosed.

On the thirtieth, I left St. Christopher's with the Constellation in excellent trim for sailing, and stood to windward, in order to occupy the station I had allotted for myself, before the road of the enemy, at Guadaloupe, where I was informed a very large and heavy frigate, of upwards of 50 guns, was then laying; and early on the next day I fell in with L'Insurgente, Captain Murray, and the prize brig, Conquest of Italy, that had been fitted out to cruise with him in those seas. After a short interview with Captain Murray, I requested him to proceed to St. Christopher's without loss of time, and call on our agent there Mr. Clarkson, for letters that I had lodged for him, which pointed out his further destination. On our parting, he immediately made sail to leeward, and I continued plying to windward. At half past seven A.M. of the following day, I discovered a sail to the S.E. to which I gave chase; and for the further particulars of that chase, and the action after it, I must beg leave to refer you to the extracts from my journal, which is also inclosed, as being the best mode of exhibiting a just, fair, and candid account of all our transactions in the late business, which has ended in the complete dismantlement of the Constellation, though, I trust, to the high reputation of the American flag.

I have just fell in with the Enterprize, Lieutenant Shaw, returning from Curracoa, who I send off to you with my dispatches, and I shall be obliged, by your sending him again to me at Port Royal, Jamaica, as early as possible, as I shall be impatient to hear from you, especially as we are now in want of every thing, being a mere wreck.

If I had met Captain [Richard V.] Morris, of the Adams, I should have taken the command of that Ship, and kept the station to windward, leaving him in charge of the Constellation, to be refitted at Jamaica; but I have not been so fortunate.

I have the honour to be,
With great respect and esteem,
Your very obedient humble servant,

(Signed) THOMAS TRUXTUN.

Throughout these 24 hours, very Unsettled weather. Kept on our tacks, beating up under Gaudaloupe.

At half past 7. A M. The Road of Bassateer Bearing East five Leagues distance, saw a sail in the S E standing to the S W which from her situation, I at first took for a large ship from Martinica, and hoisted English Colours on giving chase by way of inducement for her to come down and speak me, which would have saved a long chase to Leeward, off my intended cruising ground — but finding she did not attempt to alter her course, I examined her more minutely, as we approached her and discovered that she was a heavy French frigate mounting at least 54 Guns — I immediately gave orders; for the yards to be slung with chaines, top sail sheets &c stoppered, and the Ship cleared and every thing prepared for Action and hauled down the English colours. At Noon the wind became light and I observed the chase that we had before been gaining fast on, held way with us, but I was determined to continue the pursuit, tho' the running to Leeward, I was convinced, would be attended with many serious disadvantages, especially if the object of my wishes were not gratified.

Passed two Schooners Standing to the Northward one of them Showed American Colours, and was a Merchant Vessel, and the other I supposed to be of the same description.

Extract from Captain Thomas Truxtun's journal, U. S. Frigate Constellation, Sunday, 2 February 1800

At one P M. the wind being some what fresher than at the noon preceeding, and an appe[ar]ance of its continuance — and prospect of bringing the enemy to Action, began again to brighten, as I perceived we were coming up with the chase fast, and every inch of canvass being set, that could be of service, Except the Bag Reefs, which I kept in the top sails, in case of the chase finding an Escape from our thunder impracticable, should hawl on a wind, and give us fair Battle, but this did not prove to be her commanders intention, I however got within hail of him at 8 P M. hoisted our Ensign and had the candles in Battle Lantherns all lighted and the Large trumpet in the Lee gang way, ready to speake him, and to demand the surrender of his Ship, to the United States of America but he at that instant commenced a fire from his Stern and Quarter Guns, directed at our rigging and spars — No parly being then necessary, I sent my principal Aid De camp Mr Vandyke, to the Different officers commanding Divisions on the Main Battery, to repeat strictly my orders before given, not to throw away a single charge of powder and shot, but to take good aim, and fire directly into the Hull of the enemy, and load principally with two round shot, and now & then with a Round Shot and Stand of Grape &c. to Encourage the Men, at their Quarters, to cause or suffer no noise or confusion whatever; But to load and fire as fast as possible, when it could be done with certain effect. These orders being given, in a few Moments, I gained a position on his weather Quarter, that enabled us to return effectually his salute, and thus a close and as sharp an action, as ever was fought between two frigates commenced, and continued until within a few minutes of one A M. — when the Enemy's fire was compleatly silenced and he was again sheering off.

It was at this Moment, that I considered him as my prize, And was trimming in the best manner I could my much shattered sails — when I found the main mast was totally unsupported by rigging, every shroud being shot away and some of them in several places, that even stoppers were useless — and could not be applied with effect, I then gave orders for the Officers to send the men up from the Gun Deck, to endeavour to secure it, in order that we might get along side of the Enemy again as soon as Possible, but every effort was in Vain, for the main mast went over the side in a few minutes after, and carried with it the top Men, among whom was an amiable young Gentleman who commanded the Main top — Mr James Jarvis, Son of James Jarvis Esqr of New York. This young Gentleman it seems was apprized of the mast going in a few Minutes by an old Seaman, but he had already so much of the principle of an officer engrafted on his mind, not to leave his Quarters on any account, that he told the men if the mast went, they must go with it, which was the case, and only one of them were saved.

I Regret much his loss as a promising young Officer and amiable young Man, as well as on Account of a long intimacy that has subsisted between his father and myself — but have great satisfaction in finding, that I have lost no other, and only two or three slightly wounded out of 39 of the crew killed and wounded; 14 of the former and 25 of the latter.

As soon as the main mast went every effort was made to clear the wreck from the ship, as soon as possible, which was effected in about an hour — (it being impossible to pursue the Enemy) and as her Security was then the great object, I immediately bore away for Jamaica for repairs &c, finding it impracticable to reach a friendly port in any of the Islands to Windward.

I should be wanting in common Justice, was I to omit here to Journalize, the steady attention to order — and the great exertion and Bravery, shown by all my Officers, Seamen and Marines, in this Action, many of whom, I had sufficiently tried before, on a similar occasion, and all their names are recorded, in the Muster Roll I sent to the Secretary of the Navy, Dated the 19th of December last, signed by myself.

All hands employed at repairing the Damages sustained in the Action, so far as to get the Ship into Jamaica as soon as Possible. — Longitude Account 63°.26' W.

US. Ship Constellation 3d February 1800 —

My Dear Sir — On the 1st. Ins1 off Gaudaloupe, (about 7 oClock in the morning) — we fell in with a large Sail [La Vengeance] — which bore ahead about 2 leagues — we made sail and gave chase — she made sail & stood from us — about 8 oClock in the Evening — we got within gun shot — when she fired a stern chase at us — we continued the chase — she firing continually her stern chases — without a shot from us untill we got close along side — when a general action commenced — which continued incessantly for five Hours — unfortunately at the expiration of that time our Mainmast was shot away — our Mizen Topmast had gone early in the action just above the cap — she was running away from us when our Mainmast went — which prevented our following her — we are now Sir the most perfect wreck you ever Saw — scarcely any thing standing — we tore her all to pieces — but the Rascalls fought like cowards in firing at our Rigging to get away — now I have gone so far I will let you know her force — 58 Guns, and heavier metal than ours & suppose full of Men — My Dear Sir if we could have kept our Mainmast she would have been ours — We are now within 48 hours sail of Jamaica — and making the best of our way there — we fortunatly met with the Conveyance by which you get this — a few hours since —

The text is an extract from a letter from a Gentleman on board the U.S. Frigate Constellation, concerning her engagement with French Frigate La Vengeance. The letter is dated February 1800.

Dear Sir,

"I promised to write you whenever any circumstance should turn up worthy your attention. I flatter myself the following will be agreeable from me, notwithstanding you must have had the accounts in the papers before this comes to hand, as our worthy Commodore sent dispatches by the Enterprise state schooner, whom we fortunately fell in with next day after the action.

"Thursday, January 30th, at 4 P.M. weighed and got under way from Basseterre roads, St. Kitts, on a cruise, the commodore having intelligence of a national French ship, mounting 54 guns, 600 men. This to his undaunted soul was rare news, and not to be neglected, notwithstanding the superiority of the enemy.

"February 1, very squally weather. At half past 7, A.M. Bassaterre road bearing East, dist. 5 leagues, saw a sail in the S.E. We hoisted English colours, and gave chase, supposing her to be a large ship from Martinico, but coming nearer, it was observed she was a very heavy French Frigate, mounting 54 guns at least, and very heavy metal, which we soon experienced, though to their dishonour. Every thing being settled as to what she was, our honoured commander gave his orders accordingly, which were obeyed with a spirit beyond description by every person in the ship, each vying with the other who should do most. Every thing was prepared for action and all hands at quarters. At noon the wind fell calm for some time, which damped us much; the chase held way with us, which before we over-hauled, passed two schooners standing to the northward; one shewed American colours, and both supposed to be merchantmen.

"At 1, P.M. the wind freshening, the prospect of our bringing the enemy to action, brightened every face, as we were coming up with her fast, and every soul glowed with the approaching honor down to the meanest boy. Every inch of canvas set that could serve to bring us to the glorious issue. Oh! sir, it is not for my feeble pen to describe the ardor of Columbia’s sons of the waves on this great and solemn occasion, seated among the engines of death, some at their gambols, others combing out their hair like Spartan sons of old, their officers and themselves congenial. At 8, P. M. got within hail of the chase, hoisted our ensign, and battle lanterns ranged fore and aft, the great trumpet in the lee gangway to demand the surrender of his ship.
On viewing our colors he was heard to say in French, “she’s but a Yankee frigate, and we’ll board him;” he then commenced a fire from his stern chases and quarter guns, directed at our rigging and spars.
No parley then being necessary, the commodore sent down his aid to the officers of division, to direct their shot as much as possible into the enemy’s hull with two round shot and a round of grape occasionally. No confusion no noise was heard. At last the gallant [Lieutenant Andrew] Sterett got his bow gun to bear, and he played him well.— We soon got the weather gage of him, and returned the civility with the candor and integrity that the sons of Colombia will I hope ever be remarkable for, in defence of their country’s flag. And now commenced as close and obstinate an action as ever was fought between two ships of war, and continued until within a few minutes of 1, A. M. when the enemy’s fire was completely silenced; he then sheered off and fell into our wake.

This was a moment of expectation; our brave officers and men, flushed with victory, happy in executing the orders of their beloved commander, who was then trying to trim his shattered sails, that we might get along side our enemy and reap the fruits of our toil and courage, when it was observed there was not a shroud or stay to support our main mast, all being shot away and cut to pieces, that rendered stopping useless — the commodore had the officers and best men on board to endeavour to secure the mast, but every effort was in vain; it went over the side in a few minutes, carrying with it the unfortunate topmen, among whom was Mr. James Jarvis, mid-shipman, who commanded in the top: he was an amiable young gentleman and much regretted by his brother officers, and every person who knew his merits. Our mizen topmast being gone before, every effort was made to clear the wreck of the main mast, which was completed in a short time. The security of the ship being now the commodore’s only object, he is standing for Jamaica, being the only friendly port we can make in our shattered condition, there to repair; we hope to be in to-morrow. As to the enemy there is not a doubt of his being sunk. As we had the weather gage, he was completely hulled, and must have received many shot between wind and water;
he had three ports knocked in one; his bowsprit and fore and main topmasts carried away, and as he was double manned the carnage must have been great. They seemed in great distress at quitting us; their pumps were going, and at 4 o’clock signal guns were heard from them, and shortly after she disappeared. We have to regret the loss of 40 brave fellows, killed and wounded in this action; an action that must forever be recorded to the honor of our brave commander and the infant navy of the United States. Such an unequal task is not to be produced in history. A frigate of 38 guns to destroy a ship of 54 and full of men! To exhibit the greatness of soul displayed by the brave officers of the ship on this occasion is far above my ability; suffice to say, they were to a man actuated by the spirit of our commodore, whose example would make a coward brave; and our veterans, both sailors and marines followed the great example of their leaders. It is not my wish to discriminate, yet I must transgress in favor of the brave lieut. B. Clinch of marines his corps was raw and never experienced such a scene; but by his manly deportment, he made them equal to the bravest; for when the enemy had manned his rigging and quarters, to have boarded as a last refuge, the promising [Lieutenant John H.] Dent with his cannonades and Clinches' brave marines so well received them, that they fell back and damned the cause.”

“P. S. February 8th. This day we arrived safe, and in good health in Port Royal.”

Account of Captain F. M. Pitot, commanding the French Frigate La Vengeance during her engagement with U. S. Frigate Constellation

[Translation]

Account of the engagement which took place during the night from the 12th to the 13th Pluviose [1 Feb.–2 Feb.] between the frigate La Vengeance commanded by Citizen Pitot Captain and an enemy frigate.

I set sail from the roadstead of Fleur d’Epée, island of Guadeloupe, with the frigate La Vengeance on the 11th of this month about one o’clock in the afternoon. I had felt the necessity of trying out before starting on the voyage, the rate of sailing of the frigate and above all of exercising my crew composed in part of foreigners or of new hands and very weak in Seamen. I made short tacks beating to windward with the intention of returning to the anchorage in the evening, if I should encounter enemy forces or else of proceeding on the course if I did not sight anything.

The winds having veered aft about 5 o’clock in the evening I hoped to be able to pass out to windward of Dominica and I maneuvered in consequence, but they drew forward in the channel of Marie Galante and I was obliged to bear away in order to pass between Dominica and the Saintes. The night favored me, I wanted to get out of sight of these islands before daybreak and then seek my passage out between Porto rico and the island of Mona.

We ran therefore to the SW until half past six in the morning and at that time I gave orders to steer W by N. At a quarter past eight, we sighted a large ship which was following a southerly course on the port tack and which I judged to be a strong frigate. I was charged with a mission and I had been ordered to proceed to France as quickly as possible. I was besides convinced that the ship I saw was not alone in those parts and it was important for me to avoid any encounter at such a short distance from the English possessions and from the cruising grounds.

I had all sails set I had the ship bear to the SW in order to draw away from the ship sighted. He imitated my maneuver and being in my wake at noon he continued to give me chase. Wherefore being no longer in doubt as to his hostile intentions, I had everything prepared for battle, being determined not to attack, but to defend myself well in case of attack. I immediately hoisted the tricolor flag and pendant and gave orders to bear West. The enemy had hoisted a flag with a red tail and blue burgee at his main-mast and continued to give me chase. I had noticed during the morning that his speed was greater than ours. However as long as it was daylight he did not gain on us, but at nightfall he came up with us rapidly and at a quarter past eight being at 15°17' Lat. North by 66° 4' Longitude West of Paris he was on our starboard quarter on our weather side and within half-range. Perceiving that it was impossible to avoid an engagement I had two guns of my battery placed in the stern and had several shots fired at the enemy with a view to disabling him. However he continued to approach while keeping on my quarter. I then gave orders to bring the ship into the wind and I ordered our broadside to be fired as we discerned him. My order was carried out with success after a half hour battle during which our fire was very violent and that of the enemy was poorly sustained, we carried away his head sails and his fore-topgallant-sail. He then let himself fall astern and ceased firing and I proceeded on my course rigging my studding-sails and crowding on sail being well aware that another engagement could by damaging me, prevent me from fulfilling my mission and endanger the frigate in the locality in which we were.

However the enemy had effected very prompt repairs and had again entered our waters and his superior speed did not permit me to avoid him. When I perceived him again within half-range I gave orders to lower the studding sails and the spanker, to clew up my main sail and steer with the wind astern, every one being at his station and in the best frame of mind. The enemy crowded us in the same position as the first time, holding his fire in the hope of sending us his broadside at close quarters. At 10:10 I altered course to starboard and gave orders to open fire to which he replied. The engagement was renewed then within gun-shot and in a most violent manner. At 10½, the enemy, while subjecting us to a running fire from his battery, from his forecastle and quarter decks, and from his waists well supported by a numerous musketry, all of a sudden bore in on us probably with the intention of enfilading us from astern or of closing with us; I perceived his maneuver through the smoke, at once I ordered "Helm a-lee!" while shouting a warning to prepare for boarding. Our deck was on the instant covered with our men who were only waiting for the moment to hurl themselves onto the enemy ship, But intimidated by my maneuver he himself came again to windward and we were nearly board and board within pistol range. The enemy rained on us a hail of grape shot and of grenades to which we replied vigorously with heavy fire from our battery and from our upper decks. About 11:30 o'clock the enemy attempted a second time to overtake us forward and to enfilade us, but I rendered his maneuver useless by bearing away and by showing him my broadside. At that moment his poop caught on fire. At midnight the enemy fire began to slacken. At twelve thirty A. M. he altered his course to starboard and drew away from us by showing us his quarter and ceasing fire. I continued to cannonade him. The ruined state of my rigging, having neither slings nor bowlines did not permit me to [follow] him because having wanted to come to, my mizen-topsail, which was the only sail remaining, was caught aback and I necessarily remained in the same position, showing my broadside to the enemy and continuing to fire on him until he was entirely out of range. Thereupon I ordered the guns silenced and we noticed that his fore top was on fire, a few moments later he hoisted and lowered several times lanterns at his yards, etc.

I concluded therefrom that he had anchored and that he was asking for assistance; but the condition in which we ourselves were deprived us of all means of communicating with that ship, we could not trim any of our sails, our rigging was cut up, our main mast was unsteady, and at the same time I was occupied in having a studding-sail set forward, the main mast fell onto the bow, smashed a part of our boats got foul of the remainder and carried with it in its fall the fore-topmast and mizen-topmast. We had at that time 66 inches of water in the hold from ten to twelve shot at the water line and below the water line and the water was gaining on every side especially in the powder magazine. We had necessarily to renounce our desire to profit by our victory and the more imperious one to give assistance to our fellow men in order to think about our own safety. We worked without respite to plug the leaks, to secure what few masts we had left and at pumping. It took the pumps till about 5 o'clock in the morning to pump the ship dry with the help of two squads composed of the generals [and] officers of all ranks both civilian and military and other citizens passengers on board who continuously drew water in buckets and wooden bowls and emptied it through the large scuttle; my crew was engaged in repairing the rigging and in placing the battery in condition to stand another engagement if necessary. During that time the enemy had moved away, we had seen his light until three o'clock in the morning, but at that hour he disappeared and we have not seen him since.

The ship which we fought is a ship of the line, quite long and very high in the stern which seemed to us to carry a poop with nettings; she had two batteries like La Vengeance and at least as many guns as we. Her caliber was heavy 18 and 12. She had a very numerous crew and a well-served musketry.

The crew of La Vengeance was seventy-seven men below full strength, it had been assembled in haste, was not very experienced especially as regards the working of the ship and was so insufficient for the duties on the frigate that I had been obliged to station at each 18 [pound] gun two passengers supported by the colonels and majors. I had besides 35 American passengers [prisoners] on board; they had asked me to put in the hold in case of an engagement which I was not able to refuse them nor had I ought to have done so. However in spite of all these disadvantages and the fatigue of all my crew which had spent the two preceding days and nights in continuous work, we had the good fortune to bring victory to the flag of the Republic.

Everything transpired in the greatest order, the working of the ship was carried out with precision, the fire was constantly well sustained, every one gave full proof of zeal and courage, and in general officers, chief petty officers, gunners, helmsmen, soldiers, sailors and passengers conducted themselves in such manner as to merit the esteem and praise of all good Frenchmen.

We have to deplore the death in action of 14 men the death of 14 men after [the action] and 40 wounded some of them dangerously,
I attach hereto the complete list. Citizen Lavaud lieutenant in command of the battery had his leg broken. Citizen Marc[eu?] second lieutenant, had his right arm broken. Citizen Leclairne, second lieutenant had his left foot crushed. Citizens Boscur Colonel, Moreau captain of artillery, Aiguier lieutenant of infantry, assistant navy paymaster and Lapaire were wounded.

We have on board Citizens Schmitz commander, Benet de la Jaille C. F. Kieralff, officers of the Batavian navy and fontenille Batavian infantry officer [all of whom] conducted themselves very well during the action.

According to the report of the master gunner, we fired 742 rounds from our guns and 400 cartridges at the enemy.

Captain in command of the frigate _La Vengeance_ on Board the frigate _La Vengeance_ the 13th pluviose Year 8 [2nd February 1800] of the French Republic one and indivisible.

F. M. Pitot

[Ministry of Marine, via American Embassy, Paris, France.]

Account of James Howe, an American on board the French frigate _La Vengeance_ during her action with the U. S. frigate _Constellation_; also Captain F. M. Pitot's certificate concerning James Howe.

The readers of the New-York Gazette of yesterday morning were exclusively informed that the 54 with which the gallant Commodore Truxton had an engagement, was called the _Vengeance_, and had arrived at Curracoa, entirely dismasted, with the loss of 100 men killed, and 60 wounded.

We are this day enabled to give further interesting particulars of this almost unparalleled action, from the mouth of Mr. James Howe, who was on board of the _Vengeance_, before, during, and some days after the conflict.

Mr. Howe, who is sensible and intelligent, informs us, that the _Vengeance_ mounted on her gun deck 32 long 18's, including 2 that were used as stern chasers—on her quarter 12 36 pound brass carronade, with 4 long 12's—and on her forecastle 6 long 12's—That she had on board 400 men, including 80 passengers, who all assisted during the engagement; besides 36 American Seamen, who were taken out of the prison at Gaudaloupe to work on board this ship some weeks before she sailed, and who nobly refused to fight, and said they considered themselves as prisoners of war, and rather than act offensively against their country, or any nation at peace with them, they would DIE BY THE SWORD! They were then ordered below, where they remained till the firing ceased, as will appear by the subjoined Certificate from the Captain of the _Vengeance_—of which we have obtained a translation from the original now in the hands of Mr. Howe. A similar certificate was given to each of the prisoners, agreeably to promise, on condition that they would exert themselves in getting the wreck into port, which they effected on the fifth day after the engagement.
The Vengeance had 186 bullet holes in her hull above water, some of the balls having gone through and through. Most of the passengers were killed, and from three to five of the wounded died each day before she reached port, one of whom was the sailing master.

Capt. Pitot is said to be an old and a brave commander, having lost a hand, &c. in former battles. In the present one he had his trumpet knocked out of his hand by the same ball which took off the arm of a Lieutenant who was standing near him.

It was the number of passengers, with upwards of a million of dollars on board, that made the Vengeance unwilling to come to action. She had been out only 36 hours from Gaudaloupe, and was bound to Brest.

The particulars of the chase, &c. from Mr. Howe, correspond exactly with those of commodore Truxton, to the Secretary of the Navy.

[TRANSLATION].

I, the undersigned Capitaine de Vaisseau, commanding the frigate Vengeance, belonging to the French Republic, at present in the harbour of Curracoa, certify, to all whom it may concern, that James Howe, an American seaman, embarked on board the said frigate, at Port Liberty, as a passenger, by order of the Agents of the Consuls at Guadaloupe — and that he continued on board from the 8th Pluvoise to this day. — I also certify, that in consequence of a just demand made by the said James Howe, to me, not to serve in case of an engagement, he was put below during the combat which this frigate had from the 12th to the 13th of the present month; that he remained there throughout the whole of it; and that after the action, he wrought with all possible zeal and activity in repairing the damages which this frigate sustained.

In consequence of the services which he rendered on this occasion, I owe him the justice to request every officer commanding French ships of war or privateers not to give nor suffer to be given, to the said James Howe, any hindrance or molestation on his return from this port to the United States; but on the contrary to render him every assistance in their power, unless he should be found on board a vessel armed against France. In testimony whereof I have signed these presents on board the Vengeance, Curracoa, the 20th Pluvoise, 8th year, &c.

D. M. Pitot.

Certified by the Delegate of the Agents of the Consuls of the French Republic to the windward Islands Curracoa, 20th, Pluvoise, 8th year &c. Joubert.

Extract of a letter to Thomas Truxtun from Benjamin Stoddert dated Bladensburg, 13th September 1808

"I now send you a letter from R. T. Lownes, Esq. to me on your subject; he is my brother-in-law, and is a man well known in this State and elsewhere, to be of the highest respectability. You are at liberty to make any use of this letter you please."
DEAR SIR, The gentleman who commanded the French ship L'Eole, which lay so long at Annapolis, was first lieutenant of the Vengeance, at the time she was attacked by the Constellation, commanded by Commodore Truxtun. This gentleman had on all occasions, the magnanimity to speak in the highest terms of praise of his brave enemy Truxtun; and declared that the Vengeance struck twice; (I think it was three times) but perceiving that the fire from the Constellation continued, and concluding that it was the determination of the enemy to sink them, they renewed the combat from necessity, until, fortunately for them, the Constellation's mast went overboard, of which they took advantage and got off. This generous Frenchman frequently declared he had never met with an enemy so gallant as Truxtun, nor one more expert. This tribute from an enemy may be grateful to Commodore Truxtun, at a time when some of his own countrymen appear to have forgotten his distinguished services; and as you are in correspondence with him, I wish you would communicate it to him.

Yours truly,

(Signed) R. T. Lownes.

Extract from the answer of Thomas Truxtun to Benjamin Stoddert

"Nothing was necessary to convince me that the French ship of war La Vengeance had struck to me, and was my prize, when the mainmast of the Constellation went over the side, and that she took advantage of the darkness of the night (the moon having gone down at about 1 A.M.) and made off, knowing I could not pursue her from my disabled situation, and the wreck being along side. In the morning at day-light (having bore up for Jamaica when cleared of the wreck, knowing I could not make in our dismantled situation, a friendly port to windward) she was not to be seen, the weather being very hazy, I was of opinion that she had gone down; but her getting off under those circumstances was nothing uncommon. It was no more, nor indeed so much, as the escape of the Santa Anna, from Admiral Nelson's fleet off Trafalgar, after she had struck, and arriving safe at Cadiz; because Lord Nelson had look-out ships stationed to guard his prizes, whereas I was alone, and in a more than crippled state.

Among my official documents on this occasion which I had the honour to address to you as Secretary of the Navy under date third of February, 1800 (which documents I observe are printed in the British Naval Chronicle Vol. IV, pages 119 to 123) you will find in the circumstantial account, that I had no doubt but La Vengeance was my prize (as the captain of the French 74 L'Eole has declared) at the time my mainmast went over the side. The following are my own words officially given: "And thus as close and as sharp an action as ever was fought between two frigates, commenced and continued until within a few minutes of 1 A. M. when the enemy's fire was completely silenced, and he was again sheering off. It was at this moment that I considered him as my prize, and was trimming in the best manner I could my much-shattered sails, when I found the mainmast was totally unsupported by rigging, every shroud being shot away, and some of them in many places, so as to render stoppers useless, which, in fact, could not be applied with effect, I then gave orders for all the men to be sent up from the main gun deck, to endeavor to secure the mast, in order that we might get alongside of the enemy again as soon as possible. — But every effort was in vain, for it went over the side a few minutes after."

Lieutenant Robertson [Thomas Robinson Jr.], now Captain Robertson, who directed several of the carronades on the quarter deck, and whose station being near my person in this engagement, will remember that at the time the fire of La Vengeance was silenced, we were close on her weather quarter, not half pistol-shot off, he observed to me in these words: "I cannot, sir, bring the carronades to bear." I replied to him, Never mind, Robertson, she is our own, we have nothing to do but get alongside of her. In a moment after we became a wreck, and she took advantage of it, after having yielded to our close and persevered attack of fire hours, and after a previous chase of twelve hours.

Be good enough, Sir, to present my best acknowledgements to your friend Mr. Lownes, for his obliging communication, which he rightly judged was very acceptable to my feelings. And it is grateful to find a foreigner an enemy able to appreciate, and candid enough to declare my services."

Address of Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, to officers and crew of U. S. Frigate Constellation

"Public thanks, though but a small tribute, is nevertheless justly due, to seamen and soldiers, who have manifested their zeal, activity, and bravery so conspicuously, in support of the honor and dignity of their country's flag, as the crew of the Constellation, of thirty six guns, did last evening, in an engagement with a French national Frigate of fifty-four guns or upwards, (carrying much heavier metal,) in which the enemy was completely beaten, and would have become their prize, but the damages sustained in making the first effort to get along side of her, together with the loss of the mainmast, main-topmast, main-topgallantmast, mizen-topmast, and several other spars, which also went over the side, at the moment of her sheering off, together with the dismantled state of the ship otherwise, made a further pursuit impracticable.

"As the commander, therefore, I feel infinite satisfaction in returning my thanks to the officers of every description, seamen, marines, and others, for the gallantry they displayed on this occasion, which
GOLD MEDAL VOTED BY CONGRESS TO CAPTAIN THOMAS TRUXTUN, UNITED STATES NAVY.
under a beneficent Providence, has enabled me to add another laurel to the American character, on the records of the Navy; and you may be assured, gentlemen, seamen, and soldiers, that you shall be properly noticed to the President of the United States, and such of you as have been unfortunately wounded, and survive, will, no doubt, be put on the pension list, and while their misfortunes I regret, I shall state with pleasure their just claims to the government, in order that they may have that protection and care taken of them, which is provided by a grateful country, for those that the fortune of war has been unkind to.

THOS. TRUXTUN."

[1–2 February 1800]

To Commodore TRUXTUN
Sir, The Officers of every description, the Seamen, Marines and every other of the Crew belonging to the United States Ship Constellation cannot suppress their lively feelings at the kind tribute which you have paid to their respective meritorious Exertions—

They with one Voice proclaim, That under such a Commander whose Example would have made even Cowardice Brave, they must have been less than men, not to have Acted by the same Stimulus of Valour which they Exhibited in the late Engagement with the French National Ship of 54 Guns.

They have with sincere regret to lament the loss of some of their faithful Comrades who fell in the Lap of Victory. The Circumstance of losing the Prize is a secondary Consideration, which could only devolve pecuniary Advantages to the Survivors, the Glory and Honour of the Combat being diffused to the Whole—

A Resolution honoring Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, and Midshipman James Jarvis, U. S. Navy, of the U. S. Frigate Constellation

[United States Statutes at Large. Sixth Congress. Sess I]

RESOLVED by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States be requested to present to Captain Thomas Truxton, a golden medal, emblematical of the late action between the United States frigate Constellation, of thirty-eight guns, and the French ship of war La Vengeance, of fifty-four; in testimony of the high sense entertained by Congress of his gallantry and good conduct in the above engagement, wherein an example was exhibited by the captain, officers, sailors, and marines, honourable to the American name, and instructive to its rising navy.

And it is further resolved, That the conduct of James Jarvis, a midshipman in said frigate, who gloriously preferred certain death to an abandonment of his post, is deserving of the highest praise, and that the loss of so promising an officer is a subject of national regret.

Approved, March 29, 1800.

[Statutes II, p. 87.]

To Secretary of the Navy from President John Adams

31 March, 1800.

The President of the United States requests the Secretary of the Navy to take immediate measures for carrying into execution the resolution of Congress of the 29th, for presenting to Capt Thomas Truxton a gold medal, emblematical of the late action between the United States frigate Constellation, of thirty-eight guns, and the French ship of war La Vengeance, of fifty-four, in testimony of the high sense entertained by Congress of his gallantry and good conduct in the above engagement, wherein an example was exhibited by the captain, officers, sailors, and marines, honorable to the American name, and instructive to its rising navy.

[John Adams]

To Captain Thomas Truxton, U. S. Navy, from President John Adams

30th November 1802.

"Dear Sir, The copy you have done me the honour to present to me of the Medal voted by Congress, and executed according to my direction to the Secretary of the Navy, I accept with great pleasure, not only from a personal regard to the giver, but I esteem every laurel conferred upon you for the glorious action of the first of February, 1800, as an honour done to our beloved country. From both of those motives, I have been highly gratified with the honour the gentlemen of Lloyd's Coffee House [*] has done themselves in the handsome acknowledgement they have made of their obligation to you.

I regret that the artist had not completed the Medal in season, that I might have had the satisfaction of presenting it to an officer who had so greatly deserved it; and I lament still more that I had not the power of promoting merit to its just rank in the navy, that of an admiral. The council which Themistocles gave to Athens — Pompey to Rome — Cromwell to England — DeWitt to Holland — and Colbert to France, I have always given, and shall continue to give to my countrymen — That as the great questions of commerce between nations and empires must be decided by a military marine, and war or peace are determined by sea, all reasonable encouragement should be given to a navy. The trident of Neptune is the sceptre of the world.

With sincere esteem and affection, I have the honour to be,

Sir, your friend and servant,

JOHN ADAMS.”

Commodore TRUXTUN.

[*This has reference to the silver urn presented to Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, in honor of his capturing the French National Frigate L'Insurgente, while commanding the U. S. Frigate Constellation, on 9 February 1799. The following letter is quoted, but the correspondence referred to therein, has not been located:

“LONDON 4th February 1801

DEAR SIR, I have the pleasure of sending you annexed copies of a letter, which I sometime ago received from the Master of Lloyds Coffee House, and my answer: the piece of Plate [made by John Robins, Plateworker, of 13 Clerkenwell Green, in 1800, who was apprenticed in 1763, became a Freeman of the Goldsmiths' Company in 1771, and registered his mark at the Assay Office at Goldsmiths Hall in 1774.] referred to in this Correspondence, will be delivered to the particular care of the Master of the Ship Two Friends, which will sail in a day or two for New York.

As no one has been more persuaded of the importance of our little Navy, nor more gratified by its conduct, in every instance in which its gallantry has had opportunity to shew itself, I beg you to be assured, that no person could receive greater satisfaction than I do in transmitting to you this suffrage in its favour, from a Nation, familiar with naval talents, and capable of appreciating the merit it so honourably applauds.

With great Respect and Esteem,
I have the honor to be,
Dear Sir,
Your obedient and faithful servant

WASHINGTON Novem' 24th 1809

I do hereby certify that the following is a Declaration made by John Reese in the case of Seth Hibbard — who claims a Pension from the United States for an Injury received in their Service whilst doing duty as a Soldier — the said Reese states that Hibbard was a marine on board the Constellation Frigate Comodore Truxton Commander that on the 1st of February 1799 [1800] — in an Action with the French Frigate Le Vengeance the main mast of the Constellation being shot away Hibbard received his wound in the Back occasioned by the Fall of said Mast — that he lay on the Deck the whole night — & that he assisted him the next morning to his Hammock, where he was confined a considerable time, that he always after complained of violent pain & appeared to be so much affected that he at times was scarcely able to assist himself.

Sir I have just arrived here after a Sho[r]t Cruise of a fortnight, since I left English Harbour, mostly to windward of Deserada, & retook one American Schooner Aurora & the Prize Brig Conquest of Italy, an American Ship from Liverpool blown off the Coast & bound to Norfolk

I yesterday fell in with the Constellation under the lee of Guadaloupe by whom I received your favor of the 12th of Novem'r & shall sail tomorrow to comply with your wishes, Capt Truxton thinks it will be best to keep the Brig along — with me as she is well Mann'd & every way fitted for a Cruiser, & sails remarkably fast.

As I expect to be in New York by the time this will reach you, I do not think it necessary to trespass further upon you & shall not lose a moment but endeavour to be there in all this Month.

D: Sir I arrived here the evening I left you and received both your esteem'd favors, I shall attend particularly to the route you have been so kind as to assign to my trust, & be at Kingston without delay, tomorrow I shall sail from hence.

I very much approve of the Arrangements you have made with your Squadron, but in despite of all our Vigilance, the Enemy will continue to trespass upon our commerce. in addition to your plan, I would advise you to order one of your small vessels, to hover close about Pette terre where they may anchor without fear, & be ready at a moment to dash out whenever they see a Vessel. another eligible place is near Antigua Point, the N E part of Grandeterre, but the Major part of the Privateers, Cruise far to windward from the Longit° of 50° to 59 Degrees in the range from latit° 17°. 13° to 14°. 30' & they can seldom be taken by our large Frigates unless by chance they are discover'd to leeward. they lie there generally with all sails handed, till they see their prey, & are readily decoy'd by brigs, or schooners latterly we have found the small fry of Privateers take their stations under the lee of the Islands, Viz: Martinico, Dominico & Guadaloupe, in fact their art & ingenuity puzzles the imagination, for one would suppose the Vast number of our Cruisers, as well as those of the British would discourage them, but the fact is not so, they bid us defiance & feed themselves very handsomely at our expence for they are like Hydra's heads & multiply daily.

Your superior judgment, will give you a better insight into the eligibility of checking their depredations, but the most effectual method would be to delay any further exchange of Prisoners till they had paid off old scores, did not humanity call forth our feelings for those now in Captivity, for I fear such a plan would irritate & be a mean of severe treatment to those in their power for we are not to expect, Law or Justice on their part.

Wishing health happiness, honor & success

(Private)

LISBON, Feb. 1, 1800.

Dear Sir, Since my last we have received the very afflicting account of the death of our beloved fellow Citizen, Washington, the great & good whose memory must be ever dear to Amé — you who knew him so particularly must feel his death with uncommon anguish & I most sincerely condole with you. — Please to enclose & frank the letter to Mr. Izard which is of importance. —

Yesterday I heard from Spain that the Frig. U. S. after much bad weather had landed the Envoys at Corunna, from whence they'll proceed by land to Paris. Ad[d] Duckworth, just arriv'd here reports that he spoke the Frigate the 18th or 20th Ult. off Corunna, after leaving it, & that she had suffer'd much by storms: I hope in my next to send you a more particular report, which I have applied for.

The Frigate sailed from Lisbon 22d Dec'r.

The letter of Bonaparte to the K. of G.-B. was intended to have a double effect, one in France — the other in England — it will fail in the latter; the answer of L. Grenville will soon be confirm'd if we may judge from some of the late Paris gazettes, for it appears there is already a project of breaking the constitution, by setting aside the members named to the Legis. Body & Tribunate & naming a new Sett, to be approved by the people. —

Since writing the above I am inform'd that Ad. D[uckworth]. fell in with the U. S. the 21st Jan'y off Corunna, her topmasts struck, had been obliged from the violence of the weather to put into a Bay between Ferrol & C. where she was near being lost, that she had lost two Anchors & Cables in said bay — and had no communication with the shore but thru the means of a fishing boat & had thus landed the Envoys. — We have no late intelligence of any moment — The Paris papers to the 12th Ult. contain complaints of the composition of the Legis. Body & Tribunate & hints that the new government can't go on without some change. The Royalists were increasing in power & numbers; they are now regular supp'd by England.

With great respect Yr. ob't Serv't

W[illiam] S[mith]

It is remarkable that the new Monarch of France is a Corsican & the Chief of opposition in the Tribunate a Swiss; it seems these Swiss are to be the tormentors of all governments.

Result of court martial of Captain Barreaut, late commander of the French National Frigate L'Insurgente captured by the U. S. Frigate Constellation

BOSTON, Feb. 3. [1800]

Citizen Barreau, who commanded L'Insurgente frigate, captured in the West-Indies by the American frigate Constellation, has been tried at L'Orient, by a Court-Martial; and, after an investigation of 9 days, acquitted.

To Secretary of State, from Turrell Tufts, U. S. Consul, Paramaribo

SIR, I will just give you a sketch of the situation of this Trade — the details of which I have transmitted to Capt Rodgers of the Maryland to forward in one of the fleet he convoys.

Victor Hu es has arrived at Cayenne — left France with 2 Frigates, 2 Brigs & 2 Corvettes — & it is said with 600 Troops — all of which but one of the Frigates had arrived 25 days since — Accounts of which were brought in by the return of a Cartel to Cayenne. He is able to scour the Coast: and should any of the rest of the fleet escape out — as has been reported — they are undoubtedly destined & will make this Coast a very interesting scene. — Not a Ship has arrived from England, excepting one & which went away. We imagine, no force can be spared from Martinique, as Jeannet has arrived at Guadaloupe in force, & caused apprehensions.

In consequence of these events, the British Officers are perfectly accommodating to us — in regard to landing & taking away — if we will submit to a demanded douceur of 5 per Cent: — Instead of bringing provisions &c for this Colony, British Vessells have had scarcely any other employment — than taking it away to their Island: — The absurd policy of the Captors toward the Captured — particular events, & the present state of trade, have brought the parties to a state of wrangling — and should the Batavian Flag appear, I should not be surprised to see it in place of the one that now waves. — The necessity of admitting our intercourse on more liberal terms every moment impresses the minds of the Govt & Governed; and tho' mortifying in the extreme, will have its effect. — In respect to the protection of it — I have had but one opinion — that is to withdraw all protection from it. This is fact — if the present protection is not withdrawn or increased to Higher force — we shall loose the Maryland — and the trade also. Should the French desist from Plundering — this whole trade will probably be in our hands — unless the Brest Fleet is divided or destroyed — the Events in Europe will materially effect this trade. It is therefore essential only to inform you of the feelings of the people — and of the arrival of Hugues, to enable you to judge of the propriety of abandoning the trade to its fortune or not.

You Sir will be pleased to excuse the incorrectness of this Letter wth I have scrawled in haste deeming it of importance to send a duplicate statement of our situation. Capt Rodgers will have from this port under his Convoy 10 or 12 Vessels having on board about 1200 Hhds Mel* & 700 Hhds Sugar.

I am Sir with highest respect

To Secretary of State from Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General at St. Domingo

CAP FRANCOIS Feb 13th 1800. —

DEAR SIR I have the Honor of enclosing you Copy of a Letter which I have, this Day, received from Cap¹ W⁴ Maley, Commander of the U. States armed Schooner Experiment together with a Copy of my last to Cap¹ Talbot

The Schooner [Amphitheatre] which was captured by the Experiment, arrived in this Harbour Today. She was taken on the 4th, & was dispatched by Cap¹ Maley on the 7th Inst¹. He has also taken a Sloop & a Barge, under french Colours, carrying Troops from Aux Cayes to Jackmel. The Sloop was dismantled & Sunk; & the Barge, (after being disarmed,) was given to the Prisoners, who became so numerous on board of the Experiment that Cap¹ Maley did not deem it safe or prudent to keep them any longer. By several Papers found on board of these Vessels it appears, that Rigaud has given positive orders to evacuate Jackmel, & withdraw his Forces to Benet. It is, therefore, probable that, by this Time, that District has surrender'd to Gen¹ Toussaint.

If the Schooner Amphitheatre is tried by the Tribunal at the Cape she will be condemned without Hesitation, as the Fact of her coming from Jackmel can be clearly proved. But as I am ignorant whether the Ships of War of the U. States are authorized or not to capture neutral Vessels, even 'Tho' engaged in an illicit Trade, & do not know whether it comes within my Province to take Cognizance of any kind of Captures, I have sent the Papers of this Vessel to Cap'n Talbot. I shall wait his Decision, and be guided by his Advice. — I must, however, repeat my Wish, Sir, that you would be good enough to instruct me how to act in similar Cases, in future. —

The political State of this Colony is approaching rapidly towards a very important Crisis. Even the nominal Power of the Agent [Rigaud] & his Adherents is now nearly annihilated. The flying Artillery which has cost near half a Million of Dollars, & which was to have laid the flourishing Colony of Jamaica in Blood & Ashes, is disbanded. The Command of the Treasury & a control of the civil as well as military Departments has been openly assumed by the Gen'l in Chief & his subordinate Officers. Every Thing announces a speedy Dissolution of those Ties, which once connected this important Colony with the Mother Country. —

While I was uncertain of the real Intentions of Toussaint, I was loth to say any Thing to you about them. Now that I think I know them, it is my Duty to announce them to you. He is taking his measures slowly but securely. All connection with France will soon be broken off. If he is not disturbed he will preserve appearances a little longer. But as soon as France interferes with this colony he will throw off the mask, and declare it independent.[*] Of this very interesting Business I shall have the Honor of writing you at full Length by the first safe Conveyance. —

I remain with great Respect & Esteem

P. S. I must beg you to inform me whether it will be consistent w'th the Presidents Intentions to suffer Vessels to go to Jackamel or any of the other Ports of the South that may successively fall into the Hands of Gen'l T. If he should permit it some Arrangements must be made with the British to prevent them from interrupting our Commerce. —

CAP FRANCOIS Feb't 13th 1800. —

Sir I beg Leave to enclose you a Copy of a Letter I have received from Cap't Wm Maley of the U. States armed Schooner Experiment, together with one addressed to yourself. The Vessel [Schooner Amphitheatre] he has captured is now in this Harbour. I enclose you all the Papers that were found on board of her. After perusing them you will be able to determine what ought to be done with her, & whether she should be tried here, or sent to America. As soon as I know your Wish it shall be complied with. Until I hear from you no steps shall be taken respecting her. — Your last Favor has been handed me. I shall have the Honor of answering it when you send in your Boat. — With great Respect I remain

Thomas Gordon Midshipman on board the armed Schooner Experiment commanded by William Maley being duly sworn on his oath says, that on the fourth day of February last off the harbour of Benet in the Island of St Domingo about eleven OClock in the evening the said Schooner discovered a strange sail bearing towards her, that Captain Maley thereupon ordered the Bow Gun to be cleared in order to give her a Shot, Upon her approach nearly within Gun Shot of the Schooner aforesaid Captain Maley finding that she proved a larger vessel than was at first suspected ordered every thing to be made ready for action, that when she came within musket shot Captain Maley ordered the Bow Gun to be fired, that the Bow Gun was accordingly fired and that the strange vessel returned the fire with a volley of Musketry and (as the deponent & others supposed from the report) two four pounders, that Captain Maley immediately ordered a Broadside but on examination it was found that but three or four of the Experiment's Guns were ready for Action and but six or eight men could be found at their Quarters, that Captain Maley with the Assistance of one of the Carpenter's Crew (Philip Emerick) fired the aftermost Gun on the quarter Deck twice, repeatedly giving orders that the other Guns should be fired, that in the whole about five or six Guns were fired, that Captain Maley finding things were not in readiness for action and that his orders were not obeyed ordered his vessel to be hove about and to bear away from the enemy, that as the Experiment made sail from the enemy every thing was prepared for action in case she should be followed by the Enemy of which the deponent informed Captain Maley, the deponent during these transactions acting as the aid of Captain Maley, that Captain Maley said he would not fire another Gun until David Porter the first Lieutenant and Shubel Downs Sailing Master who with a number of Men were on board two prizes which had been recently captured by the Experiment & were at that time within three miles of her, that the strange sail did not pursue the Experiment and the deponent was then ordered to go on board the prize Schooner Amphitrite in the room of Lieutenant Porter and to request him to go on board the Experiment & also to hail the other prize & make a similar request of the Sailing Master Shubel Downs which orders the deponent complied [with] and the said Porter & Downs going on board the Experiment the deponent remained in the Amphitrite & knows nothing of any subsequent events — that Captain Maley appeared to the Deponent to act with great courage & good conduct on the occasion and in no wise agitated except at the circumstance of his Orders not being obeyed, and that the deponent has never seen in Captain Maley the least appearance of Cowardice, but directly the contrary on every occasion,—that the deponent well knows orders were always given by Captain Maley to have the powder horns cartridges and Matches in their proper places on Deck every night, but those orders were not obeyed on the night of the above Action, that orders were also given to the Captain of each Gun to report to the Officer of the Watch on Deck each night that the Gun was in order & also to see that it was so but on this occasion the guns were several of them out of order in the way above mentioned.

Statement of Thomas Tickner, boatswain, in U. S. Schooner Experiment

Thomas Tickner Boatswain of the Schooner Experiment commanded by William Maley being duly sworn on his oath says, that he was on board in the capacity aforesaid off the port of Benet in the Island of St. Domingo on the evening of the fourth day of February last when a strange sail hove in sight, that at this time a considerable part of the Officers and Crew were not on board the Experiment having been sent on board of prizes which had been previously captured by her and there were upwards of forty prisoners on board the Experiment in Irons, that the deponent being asleep below was awakened and ordered on Deck to call all hands to quarters which this deponent accordingly did, that Captain Maley called out to loose the flying Gib, on which the deponent called out for some person to come and do it but no one offering to come forward the deponent did it himself, that Captain Maley then ordered the bow gun to be cleared & fired to bring the strange sail to, which was done, that as the deponent came in from the flying Gib boom the strange sail returned the fire with a volley of Musketry and some great Guns, that the Captain repeated the call of all hands to stand to their Quarters, that the deponent observed there were no men at the Bow Gun on which he ran to it and on the order of Capt. Maley fired it that the Experiment then hove about that the deponent then loaded the Bow Gun and ordered the men to run it out but one of them was immediately wounded, that the peak of the enemy's mainsail dropped and a sound was then heard by the deponent which he thought to be a hale from her, that he informed Captain Maley that the enemy hailed and some of the people of the Experiment said they were calling for Quarter on which Captain Maley gave Orders to cease firing, that the enemy however returned another volley of great Guns & small arms and stood in for land, that Captain Maley then gave orders to about ship but as the deponent believes through the misconduct of the officers and people the Schooner mis[stayed], that Captain Maley then ordered to bear up after his prizes to get his other officers and people on board and he would then pursue her, that during the whole of these Transactions Captain Maley behaved with the greatest courage and intrepidity and was very much enraged at the misconduct of the people and officers calling them cowards and reproaching them for the loss of the vessel, that before the officers and people could be got on board from the prizes the enemy got into the harbour of Benet, that the deponent heard Nathan Sheredin Lieutenant of Maries say that if ever he caught that [two words illegible] Maley on shore he would make him beg his pardon, for what he had said of him.

Statement of George Diggs, Quarter-Master, in U. S. Schooner Experiment

George Diggs a free man of Color a quarter Master on board the armed Schooner Experiment commanded by Captain William Maley being sworn on his oath says that between ten and eleven OClock of the evening of the fourth of February last a sail hove in sight, that Captain Maley ordered all hands to their quarters and the bow gun to be cleared and fired, that the firing of the Bow Gun of the Experiment was followed by a volley of small arms and Cannon from the enemy, that Capt. Maley then ordered all hands to quarters for a broadside telling them to take good aim so as to strike her hull if possible and not overshoot her, that as many Guns as were manned were fired but that several Guns were not manned owing to the men being on board the prizes which had been captured by the Experiment, that three powder horns were wanting which the deponent found and handed out of the Skylight abaft, that Philip Emerick the Carpenters Mate went to the aftermost gun where he belonged but having no one to assist him Captain Maley with his left arm elevated the gun & told Emerick to clap the match to her which he did & she went off, that the fire of the Experiment was returned by a volley of Musketry & Cannon from the enemy, that it being a clear moonlight night the deponent saw Joshua Blake the second Lieutenant immediately as the enemy fired lay down on his belly between the two after guns behind the Shot Locker, that when the firing ceased he got up, that there was a report on board that the enemy called for quarter on which Captain Maley ordered the firing to cease that Captain Maley ordered the Experiment to heave about, but thro' the misconduct as the deponent believes of the other officers that the vessel mis[s]tayed, that Captain Maley then gave orders for bearing away for the prizes to get our people on board & then pursue the enemy but she made her Escape & got into Benet — That Captain Maley acted as bravely as any man could do in his situation & the deponent never saw him behave otherwise.

Statement of Carpenter's Mate Philip Emerich, U. S. Navy

Philip Emerich Carpenters Mate on board the Armed Schooner Experiment commanded by Captain William Maley that on or about the fourth day of Feb' last the Experiment about one OClock in the evening hove in sight of a strange sail on which the boatswain as the deponent supposes by the Captains orders called all hands to quarters, that the deponent was below it not being his Watch and on hearing the call came on Deck, that the deponent was ordered and immediately went to his Gun the aftermost of all, that no one who belonged to that Gun was on board but the deponent & he could not himself get it to bear, that Captain Maley told him to fire & on his telling him he could not get it to bear Captain Maley being lamed [in] his right hand which was in a Sling took hold of the Gun with his left and elevated it and told the deponent to fire which he did, that after the Gun was fired the deponent felt some thing against his foot and looking round saw Joshua Blake the Second Lieutenant lying flat on his belly below the Shot locker between the two after Guns, that when the firing had ceased said Blake jumped up and asked Captain Maley what he should do that he had no one to assist him, that Captain Maley then ordered the Schooner to bear down for the prize that we might get our people on board, which was done but the enemy bore away and got into the harbour of Benet, that Captain Maley acted with as much bravery and courage as any man could do in his situation as this deponent verily and truly believes.

Statement of Ordinary Seaman George Weaver, in U. S. Schooner Experiment

George Weaver ordinary Seaman on board the Armed Schooner Experiment commanded by William Maley being duly sworn on his oath says that he was on board said vessel during her action with a French Schooner near the harbour of Benet in February last, that it was about eleven OClock when she hove in sight — on which Captain Maley ordered all hands to be called to quarters, he then ordered the Bow Gun & the one next to her to be cleared away & the Bow Gun fired, that when the Bow Gun of the Experiment was fired the Schooner returned a volley small arms & a large Gun, that Captain Maley instantly ordered all the Guns to be cleared to give the enemy a broadside, that he called out to take our time, take good aim & be sure not to overshoot her, that the deponent saw Captain Maley assisting the Carpenters Mate at the aftermost Gun, that the deponent was at the Gun next to the aftermost and Lieutenant Blake was there also that the deponent went further aft for a match & on his return Lieutenant Blake ordered the deponent to fire, that the deponent asked him if he had elevated the gun to which he answered yes fire!
and laid himself down very close to the Deck between the two guns & behind the Shot Locker, that after the deponent had fired said Gun no one was at the Gun but himself M'. Blake still lying beside her and not offering to hand the deponent a wad tho' he asked him & they laid beside him or to give him any Assistance in loading, that about this time somebody called out to Captain Maley that the enemy hailed, that Captain Maley then hailed the Enemy but she bore from the Experiment after giving one more fire, that the Experiment was then ordered about but mistaid [misstayed], that Captain Maley then ordered the Experiment to bear off for the prizes to get the remainder of her men. — that as far as the deponent could observe Captain Maley behaved with great courage on the occasion.

To William Vans Murray, Envoy Extraordinary and Minister Plenipotentiary of the United States to France, from Secretary of State

WASHINGTON 16th June 1800

WILLIAM V. MURRAY Esq!

SIR, The ship Mary, belonging to M'. Jeremiah Yellott of Baltimore, and whereof Isaac Phillips was master, was captured on the 4th February last by the French privateer Renommée and carried to Curacao. She had on board a valuable property, consisting of Coffee and specie, also belonging to M'. Yellott and the Captain, and was bound from Batavia to Baltimore.

On his arrival at Curacao Capt Phillips demanded, in a petition to the Governor, the benefit of the 2nd article of the Proclamation of the Intermediate Executive Power of the Batavian Republic, dated Hague, 12th August 1798, which renders the Captors of any Dutch or neutral vessel bound from one Dutch Port to another, or to a neutral Port, who shall bring their prize within the Dutch jurisdiction, not only liable to restitution of the prize, but to a pecuniary penalty. Captain Phillips had the better right to expect the execution of this proclamation in his favor, since it had been officially published at Curacao about a year before. But notwithstanding these circumstances the Council decreed the sale of both vessel and cargo, and ordered the proceeds to be deposited in the hands of the government, to await the determination of the Batavian Executive Directory; the Council affecting to doubt whether the case was embraced by the article of the Proclamation cited by Capt Phillips

M'. Yellott will of course charge his friends in Holland with the solicitation of this business in his behalf, and I request you to be pleased to render them every official aid and countenance, which may be proper and necessary.

NAVY DEPARTMENT ACCOUNTANTS OFFICE

February 4th 1800

JOHN STEELE Esq

SIR I observe by remarks made by you, on accounts settled, and Admitted, in this office — by my predecessor — that you think it absolutely necessary, that Receipts, shou'd accompany all vouchers, for Expenditures on account of the Navy —

I must therefore beg leave to mention, that if that Determination, is adhered to, it will be impossible for me to settle scarcely an Account with this Department — I presume that determination was predicated, upon the Idea, that the United States, were responsible for the Transactions of the Navy Agents — this I apprehend is not the case — but that the agents always purchase on their Individual credit — Indeed it appears to me, that it wou'd be a Dangerous principle, to establish the Contrary — and if the United States are not Responsible, I cannot see the necessity of Requiring Receipts — it can then only be necessary to Establish that the articles have been purchased on account of the Navy, and of course the Bills unaccompanied by Receipts wou'd be deemed sufficient —

The Accounts with this Department, are very much behind hand, owing I beleive principally to the circumstance alluded to, and as I feel very anxious, that they shou'd be brought up, and settled, I am Induced to trouble you with these Remarks, and to request your answer thereto —

Schooner Enterprize and dispatched him for Amboy and to proceed himself from thence with them immediately for Philadelphia, at the same time I desired him to Stand towards the strange Sail, and make the private signal, and if she answered it, to fire a Gun to Leeward and make the best of his way he accordingly made the Signal &c &c and stood on his course — the strange sail proving to be the British frigate Unity of 44 Guns on a Cruize.

at 7 A M. Saw a Nother frigate bearing down and at 8 D° Exchanged Signals with her. She proved to be the U. S. Ship L'Insurgente Captain Murray who came on Board and I desired him to keep us Company down to Jamaica. Employed at doing the necessary duty of the Ship — and I gave directions to the Surgeon not to suffer the sick or wounded by any Means to want for any thing that I had on Board.

N York
Sir, I am honored with yours of the 3rd ins.
I have this day sent orders to Lieut² Wilson Jacobs & Zachariah Rhodes, to place themselves under your command, without delay — They are at present, I believe, at Newport, & ought to join you in ten or twelve days at farthest.
With respect to a Sailing Master, I know of none qualified for that station; but you will be pleased to select a suitable character, & let me know his name, and an appointment shall be forwarded him.
The two Lieutenants ordered to join you, are both older in Commission than Mr. Tibbitts. If he is a meritorious officer, I would not wish to hurt his feelings, by appointing Lieutenants to the prejudice of his present command. I believe, therefore, it will be better to give Mr. Tibbitts a Furlough, until again called into service by me, desiring him to inform me from time to time where he may be; unless indeed, he should have no objection to acting under the Lieutenants at present ordered to join you.

As to your other Officers who wish Furloughs, & mean to continue in the service, they must return to the Ship in three weeks from the date of their respective Furloughs.

It is a matter of mortification to me — uselessly expensive to the Public, & must be creative of discontent among the crew, that they are kept so long without being paid off & discharged. Be pleased, Sir, to instruct your Purser to prepare his accounts immediately that the crew may be paid off without further delay — and when this business is effected, he must come on to Phila* with his accounts & vouchers, for settlement, before he can receive a Furlough.

I have the honor to be &

Extract from a letter to Secretary of the Navy from Captain Thomas Baker, U. S. Navy, commanding the U. S. S. Delaware, concerning arrival of La Vengeance at Curacao

[U. S. S. Delaware] Curacao, 8th Feb, 1800.

On the 6th instant, appeared off this harbour, a French ship of 52 guns, called La Vengeance, and from what I can learn, she left Guada-loupe last Sunday, bound to France, with a great deal of money, &c. on board; and also two French Generals, and a number of other officers and passengers: but on Monday evening she was overtaken by an American or British frigate (but generally believed to be the former) and from her shattered condition, she must have had a very severe action, La Vengeance having left standing but her bowsprit, fore and mizen-mast; her fore and mizen shrouds, ratlings, &c. being cut up so, that you could scarce see any of them for stoppers. In short, there appears no place that has escaped a shot: her starboard side has been much hulled, and it is said, she had 140 killed and wounded, and when she parted she had 8 feet water in the hold. They say the other vessel was in a similar situation, and in fact, that neither of them had the command of their ships. The French ship is now hauled up in the harbour, and will require some months to refit, not having masts, cordage, &c. necessary for that purpose.

P.S. This moment arrived a schooner from St. Thomas's with an American gentleman on board. They were spoke by a British frigate this morning at 8 o'clock, who informed them that yesterday he spoke Commodore Truxtun going down to Jamaica, who informed them, that last Monday night he got alongside of a French 50 gun ship, and after a long and severe action, had the misfortune to lose his main-mast, fore and mizen top-mast; the ship became unmanageable, at which time the French ship made her escape, severely wounded.

Capt. Truxtun said, that if he could have kept along side 15 minutes longer, he would have taken her. This agrees with the French report, for they say they were in such a situation, they could not have defended the ship much longer.

THOMAS TRUXTON Esq.†

Sir, May I congratulate you, I hope I may on your safety and that of your gallant Crew

The French Ship of War Vengeance of 56 Guns arrived here last Week [6 February] in a most distress'd situation without a Mast standing except the lower Fore & Mizen Masts, & not original Rope to be seen except the fore & bobstay that was not knotted or spliced — they reported that the Engagement had been with a British 74 & when the action ended had 7 feet water in her hold. —

We have rece'd certain accounts from St. Thomas that instead of a British 74 it was the Constellation, the brilliant & glorious Constellation and that she had gone down in a distress'd situation to Jamaica I hope she may arrive there safe

If you get a sufficient repair at Jamaica & return to this W'dw. Station can you on your way take a look at us I shall be exceedingly happy to see you & I think your visit here may be conducive to the good of the service — I w'd say many things that I cannot write

I most sincerely wish you Health & safety & have the Honour to be

[SDA. French Spol. CA Curacao, 1797–1801.]
"I have the pleasure to inform you that I was in Curaçao when the French National frigate L'Yévengeance arrived at that place, very much disabled, and scarcely an original rope left. Her main-mast, foretop-mast, and mizen-top-mast gone with 66 French inches of water in her hold, agreeable to her commander's own account. You may conceive her situation in respect to equipment, when she was purposely run on shore to the windward of the port to secure her entrance into that place. She had 52 guns mounted, and supposed to have had nearly 600 men, including passengers amongst whom were Gens. Pellardie and La Grande, with a number of artillery officers which enabled the commander to station at least one of those to each gun, during the action. I was in the habit of conversing frequently with Capt. Pettot — He supposed on his first arrival in Curaçao, it was an English ship, of two complete batteries, he had engaged, and concluded from not seeing his adversary at day light, that she had sunk.* The report was 114 killed and wounded. But this must be incorrect as I am well assured there were more. Capt. Pettot spoke in high terms of the conduct and gallantry of his adversary and described in raptures the vivid fire from the Constellation as superior to any thing he had ever seen, his own words were 'Superbe et Grande' and mentioned when the flying jib boom of the Constellation run into his mizen shrouds, he supposed his adversary intended to board, and called all his men upon the upper deck, at which moment he received a shower of grape &c.

"When Truxton's official account came out, he said nothing. His main-mast went away in the act of setting studden sails, and about two hours after the action. There were 35 American prisoners on board, whom he said saved the ship by pumping after the combat, in which they took no active part, being below at their own request. He lamented much the blood that had been spilt between two nations that he said were probably then at peace and good friends, and said he avoided a battle by every exertion in his power.* On his mentioning this circumstance, I observed that the action could not have been well avoided by his adversary. Pettot felt as an officer on the observation, and acknowledged the propriety of Truxton's conduct. The sides of the Vengeance were lined with shot, and many of them from their direction, I suppose must have done great execution. The fore and mizen-masts were perforated with round and double headed shot in such a manner as to surprise a person how they could hold together without the top-mast an end."

(* He supposed it an English vessel, and yet attempted to avoid an action for fear of shedding American blood. A very good story indeed. His confession is a complete answer to what our Jacobins have said, as to the Frenchman's declining a combat.)

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 6th February 1800.

CHAUNCEY GOODRICH Esquire

Sir, I am sorry that your Connecticut Correspondent should have had so much reason to complain of the capture of any Vessel in the vicinity of Porto Rico — We have never for 12 months past been without Cruisers off Guadaloupe, and always in sufficient force and numbers to prevent much injury to our Commerce from the Privateers of that Island, except for about two months in the early part of last Summer — when from some circumstances not necessary to detail, only two Vessels were left on that station — But from August to the present time, there have never been less than five, and for nearly the whole of the time, seven, eight & Nine — nor is it contemplated that the number should be decreased —

Ever since the opening of the St Domingo Trade, we have had Cruisers at that Island — at this time, and for some months past the number has amounted to 8 or 9 — there never were less than three — and the Commanding Officer at this Island, as well as the one at Guadaloupe has constantly acted under Instructions to pay great attention to Porto Rico — to scour the coasts frequently, and to keep always one Cruiser out at least in this service — In addition to this I have sent from this Country in Septem’ Octo’ and November three Vessels to cruise each one month about Porto Rico. — These arrangements I had hoped would have secured our Trade from much injury in that quarter — but the fact has been otherwise — I know not how to account for it — It is more difficult to guard against Privateers from Spanish than from French Ports — and there is too much reason to suspect that our Vessels are sometimes with the consent of the Commanders of them [sic]. Your correspondent observes (I think) that if our public Vessels are to remain in Port during the Winter the Merchants should know it — If he had been a resident of a Seaport, he would have spared the observation, and would have known that no reason had been given for it. — has given permission to Neutral Vessels to be laden with any produce to any place. It is not true. No official declaration has, or will be made to that effect. Were an American Ship now here, permission most probably could be obtained to lade her with any produce, giving bond that her Cargo should be landed in England, and paying the Usual Colonial duty of 14½ per Cent, and a demanded douceur of 5 per Cent to the British Custom Officers. Should no Americans arrive in the Course of 2 or 3 M° with provisions — "Permission would then be given to do as we please"

Sir, In answer to your letter of the 4 instant, I have to observe that if it is the request of the Officers of the Trumbull, that their pay and subsistence should be adjusted & settled up to the time of sailing, there will be no impropriety in doing it: but in case it is done, you must take care to forward to this Office, previous to your sailing, an abstract of such settlement, and the amount paid to each Officer, as well as an abstract of the sums advanced. — The undrawn rations are to be settled at 28 cents, a price that has been established by this Department — Vinegar, must be considered as a part of the Hospital Stores, & distributed under the direction of the Surgeon in such quantities as he may think necessary — Candles are allow'd for the use of the Ship, & will of course be us'd under the direction of the Captain — There is no allowance of Soap, but I believe it is customary (and will be consider'd proper) for the pursers to lay in a supply on their own account, and to furnish the Crew with it — as they may want it, charging them therewith at a moderate advance on the Cost, and deduct the amount from their pay. —

Sir, The Live oak frames for the 6.74 Gun Ships will cost delivered at the building places 300,000 Drs.
The other timber will cost 180,000 "

The necessary preparations at each yard for building not only these but Ships that may be hereafter authorized, securing the timber for seasoning, purchasing sufficient ground for capacious building Yards where the Timber can be deposited in order so as to avoid considerable expense in piling & unpiling to get at the particular piece wanted will cost 200,000 Drs.

Drs 680,000

The greater part of these expences are already incurred and the whole must be incurred early in the Spring — This amount added to the cost of the 6, small vessels to be built out of the appropriation of One Million of Dollars being 300,000 D's will absorb nearly the Million of Dollars appropriated for these objects, the sums which have been advanced & which must be advanced for Copper will amount to more than the difference but there may be a saving in the expence of preparing the yards —

It is for the wisdom of Congress to determine whether we shall stop here, or go on rapidly in building the six Seventy four Gun Ships. — In the latter case, 600,000 D's appropriation will be wanted for these Ships in the present year. But if we may safely wait, until the timber for the Ships is properly seasoned, they will be infinitely better & more durable by many years than if they are now built with timber cut from the woods in the present winter & consequently in a very green state, and if we can so wait this 600,000 D's will not be wanted in the present year.

If we stop here, we shall always be in a situation to lay the Keels & to proceed with such rapidity in building the Ships as to afford grounds to hope that they may be sent to sea, in less than a year from the commencement of their building —

I have the honor to be &c

To the Secretary of State from Oliver Ellsworth & W. R. Davie, Envoys Extraordinary and Ministers Plenipotentiary of United States to France

BURGOS. Feb' 10. 1800.

SIR, We have the pleasure to inclose to you a copy of our letter N° 1. dated at Lisbon, and forwarded from St. Ubes. We were detained in the Tagus by contrary winds until the 21st of December, when we sailed for L'Orient, under the expectation of making that port in seven or eight days; but on the 24th we encountered a severe gale which blew with little intermission until the 29 of January, at which time it was ascertained, that we had drifted as far as Latitude 50, and to the West of Cape Clear. Observing that Captain Barry was extremely apprehensive of approaching any part of the French coast on the Bay of Biscay in bad weather and as so much time had been already lost, we directed him to land us in any port of France or Spain that he could make with safety and convenience. He thought proper to choose the port of Corunna, and anchored in the bay of Ares, a few leagues from that place on the 11th of January.

Being anxious to make the necessary preparations for our journey to Paris, and the wind continuing unfavorable for the sailing of the Frigate to Corunna, we landed at the village of Puentes d'Eume, and, immediately after our arrival at Corunna, dispatched a courier to Paris with a letter addressed to the Minister of foreign relations desiring the necessary passports a copy of which is inclosed, marked A, covering also a letter to Mr. Murray, a copy of which marked B you will receive under this inclosure. —

The necessary arrangements were made to meet the courier at Burgos or Vitoria, and he fortunately reached this place yesterday a few hours before our arrival, charged with the dispatch marked C. from Ch: Mau: Talleyrand, Minister of exterior relations, inclosing the passports requested in our letter written at Corunna.

We regret exceedingly the time that must be consumed in a long and painful journey by land, in the most rigorous and unfavorable season of the year; but after the ineffectual attempt to go to L'Orient by water, this measure appeared indispensable, notwithstanding any difficulties with which it might be connected.

We expect to leave this place tomorrow and flatter ourselves with the hope of arriving in Paris about the first of March.

With great respect and consideration, Sir,

We have the honor to be

"On the 26th Jan. we hove in sight of this river and got a pilot on board. Same day were driven to sea by a gale; and were 8 days before we got in. Immediately after we came to anchor. Gen. Wilkinson, with his officers and baggage, went on shore, and were received by some Spanish officers sent by the Spanish government, with a galley to take the general and suite to New Orleans. We can go no higher than the mouth of the river on account of the bar which has only 13 feet water.

"We have for 5 or 6 days been scarce of water — we have now enough (which we got brought by the pilots) to last us to Havanna, for which place we sail to-morrow."

Extract from letter from Gilbert Totten, Supercargo of the American ship Neptune of New Haven, Conn., concerning her encounter with, and release by, a French privateer

LONDON, March 1, 1800.

"On the 10th Feb. in lat. 49 30, N. long. 18 W. we were brought too by a French ship mounting 22 brass 12 lbs, who examined us very scrupulously, broke open and read nearly all our letters, and told us they should carry us to France, for having English property on board, part of which was contraband, (naval stores) and not having a roll d'Equipage, which they endeavoured to convince us was imperiously insisted on in their treaty with us. We could only say, that we knew the property to be American, and that our government considered our shipping bill the only roll d'Equipage necessary. After detaining us four hours, they gave us our papers, and told us we might go on board and make sail, wished us a pleasant passage and politely offered us any thing that we might want that their ship afforded — desired us to inform our friends in America, that American vessels loaded with American property, vested with all the papers prescribed by their treaty with us, particularly the roll d'Equipage, and legally navigated would in future be respected by French cruisers."

Dear Sir — I wrote you by the Enterprize the next Morning, after our Action — we arrived here a few days since — we have had no intelligence of our Combatant — it is supposed by us all that she sunk —

I have had I can assure you a most disagreeable time with the wounded — Six Amputations5 of Limbs with a number of very severe flesh wounds — some of them have died since we got in with Lock Jaw. All my amputations are doing as well as I could wish — and I am extremely anxious to get them to the Hospital — but we wait the permission of the Admiral — I am as well as you can expect after the fatigue of mind & Body — which I have endured I refer you to C. Letter from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy, to be made public for the information of the merchants of the United States

United States Frigate Constitution at Sea, near the Island of St. Domingo, 12th Feb. 1800.

Sir, I Request that it may be made known, throughout the United States, that in consequence of the increased number of Gen. Rigaud's arm'd boats up the Guanaha, or what is otherwise called the Bite of Leogane, I have directed a Frigate and a small armed Vessel of fourteen guns to continue cruising there, for the protection of the commerce of the United States to and from Port Republic. — This arrangement of a part of our force in these seas will afford a convoy to all American vessels that are on their homeward bound passage from Port Republic. But as our vessels, engaged in merchandize, go out directly and promiscuously to Port Republic, they cannot be immediately protected. They are consequently exposed to be attacked, captured, and their crews most probably massacred by the black pirates who infest this bay, and who but seldom spare the lives of any on board the vessels they subdue; to prevent this mischief as much as possible, I recommend it to the consideration of all those gentlemen that are concerned in commerce to Port Republic or its neighbourhood, whether it may not be best to direct all their vessels destined to this said port, to stop at Cape Francois and obtain permission to go into Cape Nicolas Mole, and there to wait a convoy, which probably may not be many days, as one of our public armed vessels will sail from thence to Port Republic every fourteen days, and will take under her convoy all such American vessels as may be disposed to profit thereby; by adopting this measure, it is likely that the length of their passage to Port Republic, will be increased from about three to twelve days, and that there will be also, an increase of expense of about three half-joes for a permit and harbour fees. I mention this, that gentlemen may be the better able to judge whether it will be more for their interest to adopt this plan, or continue to risque a direct passage to Port Republic without convoy. As far as my knowledge extends, not one American vessel has been captured by the French on the St. Domingo station since our armed ships have been on its coast, except in the bay before mentioned, along the shores of which, particularly near St. Mark's, those piratical boats are closely concealed in the creeks and among the bushes, that no one on board a vessel going along the channel can discover them, while from the look-outs on the hills the enemy can perfectly well observe every thing that passes by. If a vessel is becalmed, and which perhaps is more commonly the case in this bay than in any other part of the West-Indies, those boats will be sure to come out in all directions from their hiding places to attack such vessel; and it has been shown by the gallant defence lately made against them by Lieut. Maley, in the United States schooner Experiment, when attacked by eleven of those armed boats, that perfect protection cannot be extended to a whole convoy against those boats in such a long and flat calm as that which was then experienced. It is also shown, that though two out of this convoy was captured, notwithstanding the bravery and perfect good conduct of this officer, in an action of seven hours (with some intermissions) in which conflict two of the enemy's boats were sunk, that all the vessels then under convoy must have been taken, and the several crews butchered, was it not for the protection such convoy afforded.

Extract from a letter to Secretary of the Navy from Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy

"I arrived here the 8th inst, in company with the Insigne, capt. Murray, with whom I fell in, the day after I wrote you by Lieut. Shaw.
"Finding it impossible to get a main-mast here, I shall use every dispatch in my power to put the Constellation into a condition to proceed to the United States. I have met a kind and friendly reception from Admiral Parker: all the British post captains here have been on board the Constellation, and from seeing our situation, express every sentiment that could be wished by those true Americans who love their country and its honor, better than any thing else.

"I have heard nothing of the French 54 gun ship since the action. It is hard to conjecture whether she sunk, or whether she has got into St. Thomas's or Curraocoa. If she is still above water, she must be irreparable in the West-Indies. Her loss of men must have been prodigious in an action of five hours, with 600 men on board: My fire was directed principally at her hull.

"Several of my officers have told me that they thought they saw her go down — certain it is, that the ship and her lights disappeared of a sudden, and we ought to have seen her at day light. But I was so employed myself, in preserving our fore-mast and mizen-mast, after the main-mast went over the side, that I attended to nothing else."

[VA Navy Inv. 770.] (signed) ISAAC HENRY, Surgeon
To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Thomas Tingey, U. S. Navy

GEORGE TOWN 12th Feb' 1800

SIR, I had the honor to address You the 7th instant subsequent to which I have in company with Mr. Marbury visited the designed Navy yard — From the extreme depth of the Snow, which by drifting is in many places some feet deep — the consequent distortion of the face of the ground, and the small statues or stones designating the boundary, being hid from view; judgment cannot be form'd sufficient to detail it's particular advantages or the contrary — The Scite however appears to be eligibly chosen, and may ultimately become fully competent for all the purposes contemplated. — The depth of the Water, width and direction of the channel I can now know only from information, doubtless what you have received is minutely correct.

But the indispensible magnitude of the wharf, appears a Colossial and operose undertaking it will of necessity be expensive — a strict attention however to prevent injustice, and misapplied time of the workmen, aided by a laudable oeconomy, and avoiding superfluous appearances may effect much in reducing the account to narrow compass.

The first business that strikes me as most essential, will be to enclose the whole plot, and it appears full as necessary that a company of marines should be sent down to guard and protect the materials — wanting these the losses by pillage will no doubt be extreme — As soon as the weather will admit to make further observations I shall without delay transmit them to you in detail — In the interim I have the honor to submit to your consideration, some spontaneous ideas on Naval subject, thrown together hastily & undigested — without a hope (even if those more competent should think with me, that the service will be benefited thereby) that they will very speedily be adopted — Perhaps indeed at this juncture, when oeconomy by reduction of one part of the National defence, has become such a favorite theme, with the wise men of the West — it may not be the most apt period for bringing them forward. However having promis'd 'tis my duty to perform — You have also here-with a copy of the matter furnish'd Col[.] Parker to bring before Congress.

I have the honor &c &c

Commissioners of the City of Washington

GENTLEMEN I have laid before the President the ground plan of the House intended for his residence in the City. — He desires me to say, that there will be quite room enough for him without finishing the large room. — the other part of that floor he is very desirous should be plastered & painted as early as may be, that it may be perfectly dry when he takes possession. About one half the upper story he thinks will be enough, if you should not have time and money to compleat the whole of that Story — He requests me to add that he contemplates having his Furniture removed in June —

SIR With the three confidential letters herewith you will proceed to the Moro Castle & get permission to land at the Havannah you are then to make enquiries for the American Consul to whom you are to deliver them shewing him the Copies of the Contents, you will request the favor of him to convey them personally to those Gentlemen to avoid any suspicion, & beg him to get a speedy answer, if they are inclined to ship the money, I request him to fix upon the time when, & how it is to be done, limiting the period to three days, or as much sooner as possible, you will mind to give as the Ostenisible motive for our calling here to take American Vessels under our convoy bound to the Continent & as soon as the arrangements are made I wish you to be off to give me speedy notice, & leave orders for all the Vessels to join us without loss of time should there be any ready.

It may possibly be proper for you to wait on the Governor, this you must settle with the Consul, & should you do so you can tell him the reason of our calling at Jamaica that of carrying down the Constellation to refit after her action otherwise some suspicions may arise & finally must request you will get the Consul to have the inclosed memorandum executed for me.

Confiding in your prudence & judgment, I leave you to act agreeably to your own dictates

Extract from log book of the American private armed Brig Eliza, Captain Peterson commanding, 13 February to 11 April 1800

Feb. 13, sailed from Leghorn: left there about 30 sail of American vessels, laden with sugar, coffee, cocoa, and tobacco; amongst which are the Louisa, Hogard, Betsey, White, and Ariel, Griffith, all of and from Philadelphia: the Sphinx, Brantz, Diana, Furlong, Charlotte, Foster, Hunter, Wheeler, and Two Betseys, of Baltimore: the Caroline, Preble, of Boston, Mount Vernon, Derby, of Salem, Boston, Freeman, and several others, names not recollected.

Feb. 14, off the island of Gorgona, fell in with a French privateer, of 8 guns, and full of men, which we engaged for 3 glasses. It falling calm, she effected her escape by means of her sweeps and boat, after receiving considerable damage. — The above engagement reflects much honor on the crew of the Eliza, for their gallant behaviour.

Feb. 23, Between Cape de Gatt and Cape Pallos experienced a tremendous gale of wind, in which a sea struck the brig, that carried away her larboard bulwarks and stentions from the Forechains to the Companion, at the same time sweeping every thing off deck; had one man killed, and several much bruised by being washed under the guns. The gale continuing, and the vessel making much water, we were obliged to make the first port possible, to repair, and on the 26th arrived at Port Mahon, in the island of Minorca.

March 12, Arrived the Pearl frigate, with the Le Generrez, of 80 guns and 1300 men, which had been captured off Malta, having on board for that place, provisions for twelve months.

26th, sailed from Mahon, in company with the Success frigate.

April 4, off Almira, spoke a Danish brig cutter from Malaga, out 24 hours, bound for Leghorn, who informed us, that Gibraltar was blockaded by the French and Spanish gun boats.
6th, spoke the Danish ship Nancy, from Barcelona, bound to Malaga, who confirmed the blockade of Gibraltar; and off the island Ivica had been brought too by a frigate, with Lord Nelson on board, bound down the Streights.

7th, Passed the Streights of Gibraltar, in company with a Danish brig.

8th, off Cape Spartel, spoke the ship Caroline, capt. E. Preble, of Boston, in company with the Diana, of Baltimore, from Leghorn, bound home, who informed us, that the Queen Charlotte, Admiral Keith, was blown up in Leghorn roads, and upwards of 600 souls perished. The admiral was on shore.

8th, spoke the Leviathan, admiral Duckworth, who the day before in company with the Thalia frigate, captured two Spanish frigates, and seven sail of merchantmen, bound to Vera Cruz.

April 11, spoke the Swiftsure, of 74 guns, capt. Hallowell, with a prize in company, supposed to be worth 30,000l. The Swiftsure had spoken the Hunter and Charlotte, of Baltimore, from Leghorn, bound home.

Genoa still remains blockaded, as does all the coast of France in the Mediterranean — Lord Keith having issued his orders to that effect.

Oliver Ellsworth
Wm R. Davie
Wm V. Murray

Gentlemen In your commissions, containing your full powers, you are named "Envoys Extraordinary and Ministers Plenipotentiary of the United States to the French Republic;" and you are authorized "to meet and confer with the Minister or Ministers of the French Republic who shall be appointed and commissioned with equal powers, and with such Minister or Ministers to discuss and settle by a treaty all controversies between the United States and France." Consequently the circumstance of your letters of credence being addressed to the late "Executive Directory," need not prevent or impede the proposed negotiation provided the existing Government in France are inclined to enter upon it and to conclude a treaty. This is the President's opinion, and by his direction I now communicate it to you. — Indeed the idea must have occurred to you; it being obvious that a satisfactory treaty, however negotiated, which shall be approved and ratified by the President by and with the advice and consent of the Senate, will be alike valid as if conducted with the most minute attention to customary formalities. —

Brigantine Los Amigos | Decree.

The Papers found on board, shew the vessel to be the property of a subject of the King of Spain, with whom the United States are in Amity — No Proof is pretended much less brought forward, that the Papers are false & colourable, except as to No 6 & 7 — which it is said the Captain of the Brigantine acknowledged to be forged. This Circumstance however does not warrant the Capture — How the vessels of Spanish Subjects are employed, whether in fair or contraband Trade is not a matter with which we have any Concern — The Vessel having been an American Bottom, or American built does not subject her to capture, Seizure Condemnation and forfeiture unless it is clearly proved that she has been employed contrary to some law of the United States, authorizing capture & directing seizure & forfeiture — But no such Proof is before me. I find no ground for capture, or seizure under the Acts of Congress, mentioned in the Libel. The Allegations therein not being supported I dismiss the libel with costs, & order the vessel called the Los Amigos or Los A Myos therein mentioned with her Cargo & appurtenances to be restored to the lawful owner or owners or his or their Agent or Attorney.

William Crafts Esqre.

Charleston S. C.

Sir I am honored with your letter of the 29th Ult.— The steps you have taken with respect to the Brig General Pinckney are perfectly satisfactory, and I agree entirely in opinion with you that she is no longer fit to be retained as a Vessel of War. You will therefore be pleased to divest her of all her military equipments & Stores, and sell her for the best price that can be obtained, discharging at once all her Crew, excepting only a sufficient number to take care of her until she is sold — If you find she will sell to more advantage with any part of her military equipments included that is, if you can obtain ample value for such equipments so included you may dispose of her in that manner —
As I have never had a correct return of the Officers of the General Pinkney, I request that you will be pleased to direct Captain Heyward to make me such a return forthwith designating such as may prefer retiring from service, from those who wish to continue —

of the Portsmouth, N York

Sir The first thing to be done with respect to the Portsmouth is to pay off the Crew, which I hope is done, and if done the Purser should be sent on here directly to settle his Accts — All the men should be discharged and paid off, so that when she sails it may be with a new Crew.
After getting clear of the old crew, the Ship should be put in order with all possible expedition for another Voyage — Mess² James & E Watson will give all the necessary aid on this subject —
It is probable she will go to France, and in this case, less than a full crew will be sufficient — Until this is determined it will be improper to begin to recruit except a few men to keep on board the Ship overhauling the rigging &² But if you have enough whose times of service have not expired they will answer the same purpose —

To Lewis M. O'Brien, Vice Consul & Agent for United States at St. Andero, from David Humphreys, United States Minister to Madrid, Spain

MADRID, February 17, 1800.

Sir, I have received a letter, dated the 15th inst. from the acting first Minister of State of his Catholic Majesty, informing me that the King "desiring as much as possible to diminish the damages which result to the nations, from the scandalous traffic which many of his subjects have with the place of Gibraltar, by means of neutral vessels: and using just reprisals towards the enemies of his crown, who have declared the ports of Cadiz and St. Lucar de Barramedo to be blockaded; his Majesty has been pleased to declare, that from that day, he considered the place of Gibraltar to be blockaded, and that, under this view, all neutral vessels going to that place, would be held as lawful prizes."

In consequence of this declaration, I have to request that you will communicate, as extensively as may be, the necessary information to such citizens of the United States as may be concerned.
The ministers and Diplomatic Agents of the different neutral nations, at this court, are endeavouring to use all the means in their power to prevent the disastrous consequences which may be expected to result from so extraordinary a measure.

With sentiments of regard,
Yours, &c.

EBENEZER JACKSON Esqr

Sir I am honored with your letters of the 22d, 23d, 26th & 30 January —

Mr. Miller must get all the knees he has contracted for — they can be obtained by his own letter in which he gives notice they will fall short, and he should have considered the difficulty before he made the contract — Any other pieces had better be deficient than Knees — and I hope no knees will be deficient — On the subject of retribution for the delay of his hands waiting for the moulds, I cannot for the present say any thing further than that the Public, like an Individual, should do justice — Were all the trees cut down, and the work as forward as it could be, before the moulds were received? Moulds could not be necessary until he was ready to shape the timber — A great deal might have been done without moulds — I should be glad however to see his claim stated in the most particular manner on this subject —

As to the delivery of timber, Mr. Miller is bound to deliver one load at least at each landing — but the practice must be from the nature of things to deliver many loads at one landing — It cannot be otherwise from the scarcity of proper landings — the timber for each Ship must be piled at the landing by itself, and I conceive it will be better for the Vessels sent for it, to go two or more landings than to have the timber for each Ship removed so as to have it together — Mr Humphreys is fully instructed on this subject — You have done right as to the purchase of Lands —

Extract from a letter from on board the U. S. S. Baltimore, Master Commandant William Cowper, U. S. Navy, commanding

"Basseterre, St. Christophers, Feb. 18, 1800.

"Being just on the point of sailing with a convoy for the United States, I embrace the opportunity of informing you of what has transpired in these seas since we have arrived. Nothing material happened on the passage, and we had very pleasant weather. The Baltimore is generally employed in convoying our merchantmen out the reach of the French pirates; we have, however, after leaving the fleet a good opportunity of cruising.

"On the 19th December last, to windward of Redondo Rock and Montserat, we took a French copperbottomed brig loaded with fine sugar, from Guadaloupe bound to St. Thomas, and brought her in here, from whence she is to be sent to Norfolk with the present fleet. Since that time we disguised our ship, by concealing our guns, putting wooden ones on the upper deck, and painting her, so as to look like a letter of marque.

"On the 13th January, cruising to windward of Deseada, saw a schooner [Le Brilliant Jeunesse], which bore down upon the Baltimore; after taking a look at the ship a little distance off, she came along side, so near that her men were seen on deck with all their boarding implements in their hands. Capt. Cowper immediately opened his battery and gave her two broad sides, upon which she sheered off and endeavored to get away; but continuing to fire our bow guns, (one ball from which wounded her Lieutenant severely in the arm, passed through her companion and stuck in her mainmast) she struck." “Next day saw another French privateer, who came down in the same manner, within pistol shot, when he was received with round, grape and canister shot, so warmly, that his quarters were soon levelled with his deck; he being full of men, with 16 guns, returned gun for gun and a shower of musketry which killed one of the marines, (the shot passing through his left wrist and lodging in his heart at the instant he discharged his musket) and injured the Baltimore’s rigging considerably.

He was chased till night, but afraid of losing the prize, gave up the chase. We have since learned that she lost 35 men, and threw his boat, anchor, cables, &c. &c. overboard, before she got off. Her crew was 130 in number.

“Commodore Truxtun has arrived here, and commands the squadron on this station, consisting of the Constellation, Adams, John Adams, Connecticut, Baltimore, Eagle, Pickering, Enterprize, &c. The Connecticut, which is reckoned the fastest sailing vessel we have, has taken a French brig called D’Italie Conquise, of 16 nine pounders, and has been cruising four years, during which she took more than 150 prizes. She fired into the Connecticut, which was returned with several broad sides, which shot away her fore top mast and wounded the Captain in the forehead, upon which they all ran down into the hold, leaving two American Captains (prisoners) on deck, who put the helm up and hauled down her colours, just as the Connecticut was about firing another broad side. The French brig’s rigging was cut to pieces. She has since been fitted out here and manned from L’Insurgente, is now cruising, and recaptured the William and Mary, a Liverpool ship.

“The brig Eagle, a few days ago, chased two French privateers, but finding their force double his own, did not think prudent to engage, but continued his course; after receiving a number of shot from them.

“P. S. I forgot to mention a circumstance which occurred whilst I was on board the Adams. On the 24th Feb. about sun set saw a brig from the mast-head, to which we immediately gave chase; about 10 having gained on her considerably she continually made false fires. At 12 fired several shot at her, but she kept on her course. At 2 came up with her, when she fired her stern chases into us, which was immediately returned by two broad sides from the Adams. Hailed her and ordered the captain on board with his papers, which he immediately complied with; she proved to be the British privateer John Bull, of 4 thirty two pounders and 10 sixes.”

To Nehemiah Hubbard, Navy Agent, Middletown, Conn., from Accountant of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Nehemiah Hubbard Esq.
Middletown

Sir In the examination of the accounts & vouchers rendered by you to this Office, several errors have been discovered, & several charges made by you, are suspended for the want of the necessary and proper Vouchers to support them; the most material of which is considerable sums advanc’d to the Officers & Crew of the Connecticut.
All advances made to the Officers & Crews of ships, should always be made to or through the purser, it is necessary in all such cases that some responsible person on board, should be oblig’d to account at this Office, for all monies paid on account of the Ship or Crew, this Officer is generally the Purser, whose business it is to keep regular accounts of the pay, due to every person on board, and the sums paid to them — of course it is absolutely necessary, that the purser should have a knowledge of all sums advanc’d or paid, that he may make his entries — And wherever advances or payments are made by the Naval Agents, it is incumbent upon them, to render to the purser, an abstract, stating the particular sums advanc’d or paid, & to whom, and upon a duplicate of which, to get the Pursers acknowledgement — that the several sums therein mentioned amounting to —— have been so advanc’d or paid, and that he is to account at this Office for the amount thereof in the final settlement of his accounts. —

You have also charg’d to the amount of 149 95 1100 $ paid for expences of Music &c in recruiting — according to the regulations laid down by the Secretary of the Navy (and of which I presume all the recruiting Officers had knowledge) these charges cannot be allowed. — The Secretary has directed an allowance of 2 dollars for each man recruited, in lieu of all expenses of Music &c to be incurred on account of the Publick; where Officers are from extraordinary and unavoidable circumstances, subjected to extraordinary expenses, it is necessary they should render their account stating the particulars, for adjustment, to this Office only, such accounts can only be allow’d under very particular circumstances, and of which this departm’t alone must judge of the propriety — There are also charges to the amt of 154 $ (in 2 separate charges of 77 each) paid for stage passages for Seamen, for which it is necessary the proprietors or managers of the Stage, should give a receipt as no charge whatever, for any Kind of Expenditure can be allow’d without a receipt for payment. —

NEWPORT Feby 19 1800

SIR We received your favor inclosing two letters that for Zachariah Rhodes we forwarded to him at New York to which place he had gone too in conformity to your orders, the other for Wilson Jacobs we forwarded to him at Providence —

Mr Humphreys handed us your favor by him of ye 3 Ins; we were happy in the opportunity of aiding him to procure information of the situation of the harbour & bay — We got a person acquainted with the river to accompany him in his further examination — The George Washington proves more defective than appeared, on our last advice to you respecting her — it was natural to be expected, that she would have been sound below light-water mark; but it has turned out to the Contrary; her lower futtocks, and the plank on them being more defective than any part of her, and in other parts where the timber and plank are good, the trunnels are decayed; That the repairs will be much greater than we could have had an idea of. We requested Mr Humphreys to examine her, he coincides with us in opinion, that if Thirty thousand dollars could be had for her as she came from sea, it would be better to sell her, than to retain her for a cruising Ship; when repaired she will make a good store Ship or Indiaman —

Mr Robinson of the house of Franklin & Robinson is now here, and has applied to us to purchase, if at a price that would answer — As the state of her is so much worse than expected, the price contemplated cannot in our opinion be had for her — We therefore beg your advice by first Post that we may give Mr Robinson an answer The Boston Capt. Little captured the french Ship Two Angels, on her passage from Cape Francois to Bourdeaux — and ordered her for Boston, contrary winds and a storm obliged her to put in this Port — having about 50 prisoners on board, we have requested the Marshall to take charge of them, and have supplied the Ship with provisions The District Attorney & Collector expressed doubt, whether she could proceed to Boston, being in a Port of the United States, of Entry & where was admiralty Jurisdiction, and whether trial ought not to be had, soon — having no instructions from you respecting Prizes, that might come in here, in which the United States were interested we could not undertake to deside or direct — We however deemed it proper to state these doubts to the Officers who had charge of the Ship and to write the District Judge praying his opinion — but we conceived it improper to give an opinion on a question of prudence than of Law: whether there were any reasons founded on the difference of Markets or other causes which would justify the risk of sending the Ship to Boston, and of which we were the most competent to determine — But under these circumstances which this Ship came in here, that of contrary winds & a storm — and being ordered by the commander of the Boston to Boston — and the Officer having directions from Mr Higginson to proceed there, we could not undertake to deside — But as the Prize is valuable & the risk round to Boston at this season is great, and Insurances are here 3 per Cent for this passage now — We considered it our duty, from the Interest the United States had in this Ship to recommend Lieut Haswell who has charge of her, to wait your directions — He however thinks it his duty from the orders he has from his Commanding Officer & Mr. Higginson to embrace the first wind to proceed — We have afforded every assistance & supply required, and advice according to the best of our Judgement —

To Hon. Josiah Parker, Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 19th February 1800

Honble Josiah Parker Esquire

Sir I do myself the honor to submit to the consideration of the Committee of which you are Chairman the enclosed draft of a Bill for the government of the Marine Corps while on shore, and a draft of a bill for the government of the Navy, the present law being imperfect particularly in the distribution of prize money & the constitution & powers of Courts Martial —

To enable the Committee to perceive at once the difference between this bill, & the existing Law, figures of reference to the corresponding clauses in the old Law are made with a pencil in the margin of the bill, where there are no such figures, the articles are additional — Figures are also made in the enclosed copy of the old law. —

It will be perceived that the provision of half pay for disabled Officers & seamen is proposed to be materially changed. The present pay of Seamen is very high — Half pay would be right, Eight and an half dollars p'mth, or one hundred & two Dollars p'annum, would be a temptation almost sufficient to induce a worthless seaman to procure his own disability — The proposed alteration will put it in the power of Government to proportion the pension to the nature & degree of suffering sustained —

Great respect Sir

Mr. B. STOODART

Sir If you would cause the Cap° of the different Armed Vessels belonging to the United States to have two chests made, one for the Arms and one for the Cartridges, as they have in the British Service it would save expence, and enable the Marines to be sooner at Quarters and be in greater order.

A store room is absolutely necessary, not only to Keep the superflous Clothing for the Marines, but to take care of what they have. I believe there is not an Officer of the Navy that will not say, but what this room is proper, and yet without your Orders it will not be done. — In the first construction of the Vessel, this room is easily provided, The first thing usually done when the Marines are called to Quarters, I am informed is to throw the clothing of the Marines overboard, after which, it must be matter of amusement to see the poor Devils without a change of cloths: and it is not in the Power of the Marine Officer to help them. I spoke to one of the best of our Navy Officers on the subject, and he told me, it could not be avoided, and I know of no other mode, than following the British Regulations in this respect — I have the Honor to send you some Extracts from a British Book which is now in the Possession of Cap° Tingey.

James & Ebenezer Watson

New York

Gentlemen The Trumbull Cap Jewitt will be at New York in 8 or 10 days, perhaps sooner, and will proceed from thence to St' Domingo. I request the favor of you to charter a vessel to carry about 1500, to 1600 barrels, or as near to that size as possible, and load her with the articles hereto annexed to be addressed to Nathan Levi Esquire Navy Agent at Cape Francois. If the vessel will carry more, increase the bread — Please so to arrange this business that the Trumbull may not be delayed — Beef & Pork you have no doubt on hand from your purchase — the Bread must be of the best quality of Ship Bread — as indeed must every other article be. — There have been great complaints of the provisions generally sent to the West Indies & particularly of Bread — The Merchants should have notice of this vessel, that they may if they please avail themselves of Convoy

I have the honor to be

Gent Yr obed Servt

P. S —

In addition to the provisions list be pleased to procure & ship by the same vessel if practicable 1000 Charges of Grape Shot, for 6 pounders, with Iron Stools or Canisters or part of each, and 5000 muskit bullets — Let me know immediately whether this can be done by you.

BS

Articles to be shipped by Messrs James & E. Watson for the use of the Squadron on the Saint Domingo Station commanded by Capt Silas Talbot, to be addressed to Nathan Levy Esquire Navy Agent at Cape Francois —

[20 February 1800]

To the commanders of American vessels in Demerara from Turell Tufts, U. S. Consul at Paramaribo

GENTLEMEN, Captain Ro[d]gers, of the United States ship Maryland, desires me to inform you that he intends to return to this river [Surinam] about the first of March, for the purpose of taking under his protection those vessels that are then ready to depart for the United States; and will proceed directly for Berbice and Demerara for the same purpose. It behoves you, therefore, to be in perfect readiness, prior to the tenth of March.

I am your very humble servant,

(Signed) T. Tufts,
Consul of the United States at Surrinam — Paramaribo, 20th Feb. 1800.

[LC, "Claypoole's American Daily Advertiser", (Phila.), 12 April 1800.]

Extract from a letter from a Mercantile House in Lisbon, Portugal, to a gentleman in Baltimore, Md., concerning treatment of American ships at Malaga

"The following is an extract of a letter received by last post from Malaga: 'The Consul of the French Republic in this quarter seems to have changed his conduct very much of late, in consequence as I understand, of orders he has received from France respecting neutral vessels. An American vessel, unarmed, was brought in here a few days ago, from Philadelphia, by a French privateer, but the Consul immediately set her free. The last post but one brought 14 of his condemnation sentences of neutral vessels, from France, reversed, both vessels and cargoes being cleared: with heavy damages to be paid by the privateer owners for the detention.'

"We hope our foregoing letter may have induced you to send this way a cargo of wheat flour, Indian corn, rice or staves, all which articles are in uncommon demand, as you will see by the note below. Indeed, unless we receive considerable succours from your quarter, we shall be actually in want of bread before 3 months are past."

GENTLEMEN Your Letter of 31 Dec't was a long time on its passage, and I have delayed too long to reply to it, wishing to be certain of having a sufficient Vessel in my power for your object, at the moment you would want one —

I can now assure you & with great pleasure, that one of our Frigates will be at your service whenever you require it

There is now at Philad' the Frigate Philad' of 44
Guns — She will be ready to sail some time in March —
I wish I may hear before her sailing that you are ready for her, which case, she shall call at Charleston & proceed where you please, perhaps it may be a sufficient object with you to send a Pilot Boat to inform me if you want her—

To The Secretary of States

Sir My last was on the 9th Inst since then the Ship Mary I. Phillips M't [master] from Batavia loaded with Coffee & Indigo & the Sch Sally I. Osgood M't from Guayra for Salisbury both unarm'd have arrived here as prizes to a privateer of Guadaloupe

Amongst the papers w' I had the Honour to transmit on the 23rd Sep' are 3 Publications respecting Privateers one of w' orders that any Vessel going from a Batavian port to a Batavian or Neutral Port & carried into a Batavian Port shall be immediately given up &c &c

Cap' Phillips having been made acquainted that such a Law existed he availed himself of it & in address to the Gov't very properly demanded his Ship & Cargo but shameful to tell the Govrm't have decreed that the Cargo 600,000 lb's Coffee besides Indigo, shall be sold & the Money deposited in their Hands until an explanation of the Law arrives from Holland because they pretend not to understand it.

I have now a large number of disstres'd Americans here & I do not know how to dispose of them. Cap' Cable of N.Yk. carries 9 & has volunteered in a very handsome manner & has incomoded himself & Crew to relieve the disstres'd.

Captain Baker of the Delaware has ship'd about 16 Provisions are becoming alarmingly scarce & I cannot obtain either Beef or Pork for the Delaware or Scammel — I believe they will go in a few days for Guayra where the[y] can be supplied & get much better Water than the[y] can here. — Several of the Scammels officers & men remain sick Mt Winn is despaired of — I have the Honour to be Most respectfully

[21 February 1800]

Description of action of Court of Vice Admiralty concerning the American merchant ship Salem, captured by a French privateer and recaptured by the privateer Diana and taken into Port of Nevis for adjudication

From the St. Christopher's Advertiser, June 17. [1800]

To the commanders of his majesty's ships, and to the owners of privateers duly commissioned.

At a court of vice-admiralty, in the island of Nevis, on the 21st of February, 1800, came on the cause of the Salem, an American vessel, captured by a French privateer, and which remained in the custody of the enemy for eleven days; but before she could reach Guadaloupe, was seized and captured by the Diana privateer and brought into the port of Nevis for adjudication.

The master of the Salem, with agent for former owners, claimed, offering one third of the value of the vessel and cargo as salvage to the owners of the Diana. The captors claimed the whole: the Salem having been in possession of the enemy eleven days, which made the vessel and cargo the actual property of the enemy.

The advocate for the captors made use of strong though short arguments, declaring, "that there was no law of nations, treaty, or British act of parliament existing, that could afford a show of solid foundation for any claim being interposed — That from the moment of her capture she had become French property; and the claimants well knew that had the vessel reached Guadaloupe, they must have given up every pretension to the property in question — That fortunately, the Diana had fallen in with this quondam vessel and retook it from the enemy."

The arguments adduced by the claimant's advocate, were founded on the precedents of some courts of admiralty in these islands, where American laws and regulations respecting recaptures made by their commissioned ships of war were adopted and advanced to be a guide to a British court of admiralty, for political reasons.

The court gave judgment that the captors were entitled to the whole property — An appeal was prayed for touching two thirds of the vessel and cargo, which was granted. The proper officer of the court was then directed by the judge to sell the Salem, her tackle, apparel, and furniture, and the goods, wares, and merchandises therein laden, and to pay one third of their value to the captors, agreeably to the salvage offered by the American agent, and the remaining two thirds to be secured pending the appeal.

[OFFICIAL.]

LONDON, 21st February, 1800.

Sir, I have received a note, dated the 20th inst. from Lord Grenville, informing me that on the 5th of January last a proclamation was issued by the commander in chief of the British fleet in the Mediterranean, declaring the port of Genoa in a state of blockade, and adding that the blockade so instituted would be maintained and enforced in the strictest manner, according to the usages of war, acknowledged and observed in similar cases.

I request you to make this information known to our citizens within your consulate, and to transmit the same to the United States by the earliest opportunities.

With great respect,

I am, Sir,

Your obedient servant,

RUFUS KING.

To Secretary of State from Gibbs & Channing, Navy Agents, Newport, R. I.

Newport Feb' 22d 1800

We take the liberty to inclose the Protest of Edward Landers, Master of the Brig Greenwich of this Port lately captured by a Cruiser fitted out from Havannah under French Colours. The circumstances of which appear to be so flagrant a Violation of Treaty & neutral rights, by the Spanish Government at Havannah, as to justify (we suppose), a claim for the amount of property lost & damages. We were owners of the Goods as per Invoice inclosed which we freighted in said Brig —

Mess Archibald Crary & Son of this town were owners of the Brig they have handed us a Copy of the Invoice of Goods, they shipped in her which we inclose —

Capt Landers is not returned from the Havannah but is expected soon, when further investigations can be made into the circumstances of her capture & the conduct of the Spanish Government here respecting it —

Concerning encounter between U. S. Brig Norfolk and the pirate schooner Beauty

Baltimore, March 21.

Capt. Price, arrived yesterday from Havanna, informs that on the 4th instant the boat of the United States brig Norfolk was sent in there, dispatched with the intelligence, that on or about the 22d February, that brig had chased the noted pirate schooner Beauty on shore at Point Jaco, on Florida side. The Norfolk not being able to follow her into shoal water, brought her guns to bear in such a manner, that before her crew were able to abandon her, she battered the entire broadside of the Beauty to pieces. The merchants of the United States are sincerely congratulated on this intelligence, as the Beauty during her short career, had done immense damage to our commerce.

To John Brown from Thomas Lloyd Halsey of Providence, R. I.

Providence Feb 24th 1800

John Brown Esq

Sir The Letter pt Colv Humphry address'd to John J. Clark Esq & myself has been duly deliver'd by him; & all the attention has been paid Mr Humphry which the greatness of the Object demanded, & we have only to regret that the Shortness of his Stay was such as prevented our being more Civil to Him — He arriv'd here on Tuesday Evening last, & left us at Sun-rise on the Saturday following: On Wednesday a number were collected to wait on Him to Mr James Rhodes, & from thence to Gaspee Point & spent the remainder of the Day in Shewing him the advantages of the several Positions of the Land, the Ponds, Pawtuxet falls & & & left him at M's Rhodes for the Night in Company with Capv Updike, & Colv Talman: — The next Morning we sent down to Gaspee point a Yawl with Lead & Lines & to be there ready to sound every Part that was Necessary: & we went down with Three Sleighs & took with Us such Persons, as we thought the most Suitable for the Enterprize. The God of Nature furnish'd Us with a beautiful Day — & removed out of the River all the Ice, & so favorable was the Time that Colv Humphry remain'd in the Boat 4 Hours at least without Landing: a time sufficient to Effect his Purpose as to the Soundings, after which he review'd the Ground the second time, & we then went to Your Farm House to Dine at half Past Three, where we examined the Draft we had taken by Mr Harris before Colv Humphry arrived here; which was extremly well done & Accurate: On Frydag Morning We took a Packet Boat; & so very Favorable was the Wind & Weather that we began the Soundings from Fields Point, to within 5 Miles of Newport, going down the East Passage, & returning through the West; stretching from Side to Side as was Judg'd necessary, & arriv'd back to Providence before 7 O'Clock in the Evening much to the Satisfaction of Mr Humphrys — The Next Morning he left Us: & I beleive well pleas'd with our Situation & his Reception — And although he is that Prudent Man to give no Opinion as he Progresses in his Mission, still I think he is very favorably Impress'd that the Harbour of Rhode-Island, the Narragansett Waters, Gaspee Point with its Contiguous advantages are such, as would be Eligible for the Dry Dock, & Safety of the Ships — But perhaps I am too Sanguine to make you this declaration: And you know that our Feelings are alive to the Having it in this River: Consequently our Fears are great that the Dock may be Elsewhere — But if it is not Presumption to Haszard an Opinion I believe it will be either at New London, or in our River — I think he leans towards New London — This to Yourself: & be on your Guard — Our danger is there, or I am mistaken — You will therefore bring up Your artillery to Batter-Down this Prejudice — You have every thing to favor Your argument — You know that Ships can’t enter the Port of New London either with a North West, or a North East Wind — The former is the Cold Winter Wind, the latter is the Stormy Wind: from both of Which the Worn out Seaman dreads, & wishes to be Shelter’d from; and the Harbour of Rhode Island afford it — At New London, an Ennemy Can block it Up; not So at Newport. the British lost a Ship of the Line at Gardiner’s Bay, The Shores are Rocky, with Ledges of Rocks, & the Race, bad Navigation. Our Enterance good, a Perfect Haven, & the best Bottom for Ships; & so far as relates to other Conveniences for our National Dock Yard Unrivall’d by any — If Influence does not Out-weigh our Right.

Mr Rhodes has offer’d 50 Acres of his Land which he supposes the best of it, at the Price of 40 doll* p' Acre, being the Price that he gave for the Whole Farm; & if that Price does not suit the Government; any other price they will Affix; & I have no doubt so far as relates to Your own Land; That no difficulty will arise Your Public Spirit, is too well known, to admit a doubt, but you will do every thing in Your Power to Conduce to its being here.

Mr Humphry is really a worthy Candid Man, & appears to be a Man well calculated for this Employment, & no doubt will make a true Report — But You well know that the Great Fishes will devour the Small Ones: & Unless great Pains be taken we shall Loose it — I wish you would spend some time on the Subject with the President, & Impress M: Stoddarts Mind with all our Natural Positions, & advantages, touch upon the Defence we can make in Case of attack — Let him know during the War that New London was Surprisd in the Morning by an Ennemy, Their Fort taken, & their Town burnt — This cannot happen to Us —

Col Humphry acknowledged that what had been represented by Mr Rhodes to the Secretary of War were Candid, & that there were advantages not even mentiond. — Having wrote this in Haste, & put down Such Ideas as Occur'd while writing, that you will pardon its Incoherrance of Stile — Be perswaded Sir! that I am with Unfeigned Regard & Esteem —

Your most Obedient humb. Serv^1

KINGSTON JAMAICA Feb’ 26, 1800

Sir On the day of the date of my last, their was a Privy Council of this Island when it was recommended to the Governor to permit produce to be taken off in American Bottoms, to the amount of the Value of the Goods imported in the same Vessel, I have enclosed a true copy of the same & a further list of American Seamen impress’d & on board the British Squadron on this Station. —

As Comodore Truxtun has been here some days & has frequently seen Admiral Parker I beg leave to refer you to him for any Intelligence you may wish relative to the Impress service, I have very freely communicated my Sentiments to him [on] the Subject

The American Trade for some months past has been greatly distress’d in consequence of their men being so generally impress’d, in many instances the masters have been necessitated to take people of any Nation & pay the most extravagant Wages in advance or suffer their property to remain here —

If a Sloop of War & tender of about eight or twelve guns was order’d on this Station to cruize about this Island the Trade would be greatly benefitted & much property saved which frequently falls into the hands of a Bandit that Infest this Island.

With Great Respect
Your Most Ob Hum Serv’t

P S. I could wish to be informed whether Masters of American Vessels might not make their protest before me. If so be so good as to signify the same in due form under the Public Seal. —

BENJ. STODDERT Esq

SIR I avail myself of this present short notice, to acquaint you of my present situation my last respects of the 1st Ins from St Kitts inform'd you of my having received your instructions to go down to Jamaica. on my way thither, I fell in with the Constellation in a very shatter'd situation, two days after the Action she had which you are no doubt inform'd of before this. both Cap' Truxton & myself thought it prudent that I should continue with him till we got down to Jamaica, which I did do; consequently created three days delay on my part; after I arrived there, I found the money I went after was not to be had, only in part, which I received on board amounting to One hundred & twenty thousand dollars the residue three hundred thousand dollars more, I was prevailed upon by Messrs Atkinson & C, & in conjunction with Cap' Truxton's advice, to call at the Havannah for, which they in-form'd me would not create more than two or three days delay, as I thought it an object of magnitude to the Public, so large a sum being exported to our Banks; I made all the expedition in my power to effect the purpose. but unfortunately I have had such stormy weather, & head winds ever since I left Jamaica which was on the 14th Inst, that you will no doubt be anxious about our safety. I counted upon making the passage here in five days, & have been fourteen beating against heavy gales from the North, to W N W. most of the time under close reef'd topsails, but was happy to find the Ship made fine weather of it & stood the gale admirably.

As I hope to meet with quick dispatch here, I shall probably be with you before this gets to America.

I left the Constellation going on with her repairs & 'tis probable she might sail by this time for Norfolk under her Jury Main Mast.

As I shall be govern'd by the Winds & Weather when I get upon the Coast, I cannot tell you whether my destination will be as I shall aim for the Chesapeake, Delaware, or New York, which ever port I can get into most readily.

Be so good as to let M'r Murray know that I am well

Extract from a letter from an officer on board the U. S. S. General Greene, Captain Christopher B. Perry, U. S. Navy, commanding

[U. S. S. General Greene] CAPE FRANCOIS,
April 14. [1800]

"On our leaving this place in January last. we were ordered by Commodore Talbot to make a cruize round Hispaniola, from which we returned but a few days since; not that it would have required half that time to have performed the route, but for the purpose of aiding Gen. Toussaint in the capture of Jacmel. We cruised off that port a considerable time, to intercept supplies for Rigaud. This had the desired effect. Jacmel, closely besieged on the land side by Toussaint's army, and blockaded by the General Greene, was reduced to a state of starvation. As a last effort, they made a desperate sally in the night, with intention to force Toussaint's lines, but failing in the attempt, and the whole garrison, of more than 5000 men, fell into the hands of Toussaint.

The capture of Jacmel is of infinite consequence to Toussaint, and of high importance to the commerce of the United States to this island, as in the general opinion it will much facilitate the entire reduction of Rigaud's power. It is impossible for me to describe to you the manner in which Toussaint expressed his gratitude to Capt. Perry on the occasion. We engaged three of Rigaud’s forts warmly for 30 or 40 minutes; in which time we obliged the enemy to evacuate the town and two of the forts, and repair to their strongest hold; this fort however soon hauled down its colours. We had got our boats out ready to take possession of the place, and a number of Rigaud’s cruising vessels and barges in the harbour, when a large ship hove in sight, which from her appearance capt. Perry and his officers judged to be a French frigate; it was thereupon thought prudent to relinquish the enterprise, and go in pursuit of her; but on speaking her, found she was indeed a French built ship, but then in possession of the British, and cruising in their service. The damage we received was very inconsiderable; a few shot in our sides, and some of our rigging cut away. The enemy had several men killed and wounded."

Taking all the enumerated circumstances of your letter into my most minute consideration, I am clearly of your opinion, that it would now be the height of imprudence to contend longer with the untoward events of our passage, thus far through the Gulf altho’ at the same time it was my most anxious wish to call at Havannah which I did not think would create much delay, when I engaged so to do, but as the object of calling there was of an uncertain nature, & at the best construction, that could be put upon it, would have created a greater delay than I am justifiable to give into: I am perfectly disposed to shape our course for America without delay where I hope to justify my conduct to the Sec'y of the Navy

Accept of my best offers of services & friendly intentions towards you & be assured that I am with great esteem

To Secretary of State from U. S. Consul at Cadiz concerning Proclamation of Blockade of Gibraltar

(Official.)

A letter from the American Consul at Cadiz, dated the 5th of March, 1800, to the Secretary of State, announces a Proclamation of the king of Spain, declaring the port of Gibraltar in a state of blockade. The following is a translation of the Proclamation, as printed and published at Cadiz on the 28th of February last.

BLOCKADE OF GIBRALTAR.

HIS Catholic Majesty, desirous of lessening as far as possible the injuries resulting to the nation by the shameful trade carried on by many of his subjects with the Garrison of Gibraltar by means of neutral vessels, and availing himself of the right of making reprisals on the enemies of his crown, who have declared the ports of Cadiz and St. Lucar in a state of blockade: — His Majesty is therefore pleased to order, that from this day the Garrison of Gibraltar shall be considered as blockaded, and that in consequence thereof, all neutral vessels bound to that port shall be considered as lawful prizes.

To Captain George Little, U. S. Navy, from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Constitution 1 March 1800 —

Sir, I have the pleasure to forward to you, and your Officers: and I ought to apologise for breaking the seal of a letter directed to you, which is now enclosed, it was done thro' mistake your letter was put under cover of one to me; and thinking it was from some of my acquaintance, and not previously attending to it's direction it was broken; but at the same instant, and before one word was read, I discovered the mistake: and I give you my word, that neither myself, or any one else here, has the least knowledge of what it contains: after this statement, I trust that you will have the goodness to excuse the blunder — The Secretary of the Navy is pleas'd to observe, in a letter I had the honor to receive from him, dated the 23d of January, that letters had been published that was wrote by Officers on this Station to their friends in the United States, that has already done mischief; and directs me to inform all under my command, that the President disapproves of the practice, of writing private letters from our Ships, relative to public transactions and I am directed to enjoin it on all Officers to avoid this practice, which is sometimes injurious, not only to the public Interest, but to the Officers themselves; I have therefore to request that you will make it known to all on board the Boston, that they are forbid to write one word, to any one of their acquaintance, except to the Secretary of the Navy relative to the public service they are employ'd in.

The honorable the Secretary of the Navy is pleased further to observe that it appears from some letters, wrote by our Officers, and published, that some of the Captains on the S t Domingo station think themselves, authorized to Capture French property in Neutral Vessels — and he observes that mistakes of this kind, will lead us into quarrels with all the world, and that it is our Interest, and our policy to avoid them; at least not to provoke them, by acts of injustice. — and he directs me to check this disposition to make captures, which our Laws do not authorise. That the Commanders must be governed by the Laws, and by their instructions founded by the Laws —

The Secretary further adds "I understand from M t Higginson that the Brig sent in, by Capt t Little & Perry to Boston will not be condemned, and that the most expected, is a decree, that there was cause to justify the sending her in for trial" —

Ten days after the receipt of this letter you will appear off the harbor of Cape Nicha 4 Mole, and send your boat in to inform all American Vessels (if any are there) that you are off the Harbor, and ready to take under convoy, all such as are bound up to port Republic &c — And you must continue in like manner to appear off the Mole S t Nicholas every fourteen days, to Convoy all such American Vessels as may be bound up the bite; and also every fourteen days to sail from Port Republic, with such convoy as may choose to profit by your protection — When it is generally known in the United States; as I presume it will be soon; that this arrangement is made it is likely that our Merchant Vessels will stop at the Mole, and then wait a Convoy up the Bay —

Should Captain Perry relieve you, on your present Station; without first seeing me; You will please to communicate this Order to him; so that he may govern himself accordingly after the Boston has left that station.

I have the honor to be with great respect

[2 March 1800]

Account of the capture of the Merchant Ship Mary, Israel Charles Anthony, master, by three armed barges and subsequent barbarous treatment of the American prisoners

Be it known and manifest that on this 18th day of March in the Year of our Lord 1800 personally came and appear’d before me Robert Ritchie Consul of the United states of America resident in this City I. C. Anthony late Master of the Schooner Mary of Charleston of the burthen of Ninety Tons or thereabouts, who being duly sworn on his solemn Oath deposes and says, that he sailed from Charleston the 12th day of February last on board said Vessel bound on a voyage to this place, and that in the prosecution thereof experiencing various winds and weather, nothing happened remarkable or worth notice till on the 24 of the present Month, being then with his said Vessel in the Bite of Leogane (commonly so called) within four leagues of his destined port, at or about 8 O'Clock P. M. was boarded by the Crews of three Armed Barges, that had for some time given chase, and who immediately took possession of the Vessel of the Deponent, having no means of making any resistance. They then directed the course of the Vessel towards Petit Goave, saying it would afford a fine Market for the vending of the Cargo; but when they came abreast of the Island of Gonave they, bore away, run down, and anchored the Deponents Vessel at about 8 O'Clock A. M. of the next day, near the N. W. end of said Island. —

In the space of a few hours afterwards they launched out the Boat belonging to the Deponent's Vessel and ordered himself and his Crew therein with their baggage & some provisions — leading him to believe that himself & Shipmates would be left to pursue the route that to them Seemed fit. — But contrary to expectation, they manned a Barge with twenty five men all Negros, and put a double quantity of loaded muskets into her. This Barge took the boat, in which was the Deponent and his shipmates in tow, and landed them about ten miles below, where they left their Schooner — as soon as on shore, the Crew of the Barge commenced stripping them & pinionning their Arms behind them — which as soon as perceived by the Deponent, comprehending their diabolical Design, by a fortunate exertion, himself and the person who acted on board his vessel in capacity of Cook extricated themselves and fled up the Mountains —

Several Muskets were discharged at him, but he providentially escaped, and concealing himself avoided their pursuit. The frequent discharges of Musketry too lamentably forebode the fate of his Comrades, and the next day when satisfied of the departure of these pirates on returning to the Shore the dreadful catastrophe was realised, finding the bodies of six of his people naked & butchered in a shocking manner. The Chests that contained the wearing apparel broke & scattered on the beach — & fragments of the Ships papers distributed in every direction. — Turning from this horrid seen in the course of his day he discover'd the Cook who had fled at the same time with himself, laying in the bushes, nearly exhausted from the loss of blood from a wound received in his arm. The deponent after affording him every assistance that his own deplorable situation would admit of, having been severely wounded by the rocks he had travelled over, & much exhausted from the want of food after remaining six days, was necessitated to abandon him for his own preservation that he might seek the means of sustaining life and happily find a mode of quitting this desart. After having travelled as the deponent supposes nearly twenty miles towards the East end of the Island he discovered a Cave in which a great part of his vessels Cargo was deposited, and fortunately some provisions, a portion of which he supplied himself with, and while there, (having observed great caution concealing himself) Three barges came and took away every article that was deposited in the Cave. With his strength somewhat recovered he continued his journey partly over flinty rocks, & partly wading on the Sea shore when on the second day to his great joy he providentially discovered a small, boat in the Mangroves filled with mud and Water which with a courage inspired by hope, he soon prepared for embarking himself in, and found such facility in — providing a mast & other things necessary as deeply impressed him with an Idea that a Superintending providence interfered to terminate his distresses. On the 15th of the present Month he committed himself in this small boat to the Mercy of the Waves, but highly favoured by the winds, he safely arrived in this Port early the next Morning & has appeared before me the said Consul to receive this his declaration, deposing at the same time that, though he knows not the name of any of the Barges or the officers that commanded them, he has reason to believe they were fitted out from the ports, and sailing under the authority of Rigaud Commanding the Southern department of this Island now in a State of Rebellion. —

He further declares that he requires this Act from me the Said consul to serve when and where necessary for [word obliterated] every one concerned for the founding and supporting a claim (if necessary) for a total loss of both Vessel & Cargo. —

To Lieutenant David Porter, U. S. Navy, from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Constitution 3d of March 1800

Sir Having appointed you to the command of the armed tender Amphitheatre, it becomes necessary to point out generally the duties she will have to perform — In the first place it is intended that she should keep between the shore and the Constitution, so near that no small vessel can pass near the land undiscovered. for the present, and untill further orders you will keep cruising near Monte Christo, as the most likely place to prevent vessels from escaping you; it appears to me likely that you may anchor under the lee of Montichristo every night in safety. If that is practicable it will be best so to do; as in that case nothing can hardly escape being discovered by you, and it will prevent the risk there is in keeping under sail quite near the land in the night, and you will be in a good situation to cut any vessel off in the morning with the land wind, should any be in the offing or running along shore. All vessels with General Toussant Louvertures and the American Consul Generals passports on board, may be suffered to pass freely. But vessels without them, may be stop'd, and examined strictly, and brought to the Constitution if she is near to be found. But if suspicious they may be detained until you fall in with the Constitution.

To prevent any mistake that may arise in case any prizes should be taken by the Amphitheatre or the Constitution while you have the command of her. You are to understand, that the crew of the tender you command is to be considered as a part of the crew of the Constitution, and that if any prizes are taken by either in company or separately the effects is to be divided as if taken by the Constitution, and as if you and your crew was really on board her, yourself sharing in the class of my Lieutenants, and the other part of your crew to share as if on board the Constitution — You will be very attentive to sounding frequently, when near the shore, so as to discover the depth of water and shoal ground

Protest of Jeppe Didrickensen, Master of Danish Schooner William and Mary

St Croix Anno 1800 this 31st of May personally appeared before me Hans West, His Danish Majesty's Notary public of the island of Sainte Croix in America, Jeppe Didrickensen master of the danish Schooner William & Mary, & William Lambert Supercargo on board said Schooner, the property of William Ruan, Native, merchant & resident of this island, Who in Conformity with laws & ordinances had noted a protest in this island on the 18th May at eleven o'clock, the day after their arrival; in reference to which they now deposeth & saith, that they had been carried into St Domingo, where vessel & cargo had been condemned, witness the french declaration, protest & condemnation hereby produced, & that the Deponent Jeppe Didrickensen, who, by having been separated from the Supercargo & the crew of the vessel in the hands of the french, had been obliged singly to make his protest in the port republican, formerly port au prince, whereof he now produced as full a detail as necessary hereto annexed, which deposition the Deponent William Lambert declareth to be just and true as far as he ocularly had experienced till the moment, he was put in confinement. The Deponents moreover produced an account of expences incurred by this capture amounting to Dl'rs: 559, hereto annexed, and another account to amount of Dl'rs: 3934.20, being the amount of invoice of sundry merchandise belonging to the Deponent Jeppe Didrickensen himself — And whereas the Deponent William Lambert was obliged to leave this country today or to morrow morning, the judge being absent on business, he claimed jointly with the Deponent Jeppe Didrickensen master to be taken upon oath for the truth of the declaration & protest hereto annexed before me the said Notary public. —

Whereafter the said Deponents Jeppe Didrickensen & William Lambert, being duly sworn according to the laws of this country, declared the protest and accounts hereto annexed just and true as signed by the said Deponents before me —

Concerning capture of the Danish Schooner William & Mary by the U. S. Ship General Greene, Captain Christopher R. Perry, U. S. Navy, commanding

SAINT CROIX

I Left the west end of St Croix, on the 26th February, at ten o'Clock at night, Master of the Schooner, William and Mary, belonging to William Ruan, bound to Arquin in the Island of Hispaniola, with a Cargo of dry Goods, Provisions and Lumber. I proceeded on my voyage until the 1st March 1800. when I was brought to, and boarded by the British Schooner Boat Diana, William Collins Master; Tender to the British Brig Diligence, then off point Salinas: my papers were immediately examined by the said Collins; which he was well satisfied with and permitted me to proceed: But I requested a Letter or Certificate, from this Captain, to the Commander of the next British Cruiser to reward, in order to prevent further Detention; this Letter or Certificate, he immediately granted me; with which I pursued my Voyage, until the 3rd of March 1800. when I was fired at brought to, and boarded by the united States Frigate General Green, Captain Christopher Perry: my Schooner was immediately taken in possession, by the Frigates Crew, myself, my Supercargo, and my Crew, detained on board that Ship, until 5 oClock in the afternoon. While I was on board this Frigate, a Boat or Barge out of Bay Bagnott with armed Negroes, one white officer, and French Colours, came on board her. I was immediately informed, that this Barge was one of General Tousants Cruisers; Captain Perry of this Frigate informed me, that he was then, blockading the port of Jacmel, and cruising in behalf of General Tousant, that the English Ships were also cruising for Tousant; and that my Schooner and Cargo, were a good Prize to either him, or any of the English Frigates, as I was bound to Arquin; Myself, and Supercargo dined with Captain Thomas M Bladwell of a Danish Schooner (which was then brought to by the same Ship) and the officer of the aforementioned Barge. At about 5 oClock P. M. this Captain Bladwell was put on board of his Schooner. Myself, Supercargo, and Crew, were next put on board of my Vessel, by this Frigate's Boat, with every appearance of a perfect Acquittance from her. This French Barge, pushed off from the Frigate, at the same Time, I did, and was on board of my Schooner, as soon as myself, at about Musquit Shot, from the Frigate. This Barge after boarding me, immediately carried my vessel, to Bay Bagnott about six Miles, to the westward of Jacmel Harbour: (which this Frigate General Green in open Violation of all the Laws of Neutrality permitted to be done, directly under his Guns, after I had been thus long detained by her, principally as I now suppose of betraying me, in the Manner she did) my Schooner was the same Night anchored in that Bay. Previous to being put on board of my Schooner; Capt. Perry fired signal Guns; and I saw an other Schooner coming out of this Bay, but then apprehended no Danger from either the Barge, the Frigate, or this Schooner: but when I discovered this French Boat's officer on board of my Schooner. I requested the Officer in the Frigate's General Greene Boat (then along side) to inform Captain Perry of the Frigate, that I really expected his protection, that after being thus detained, I could not think that he would suffer neutral Property to be thus piratically captured under his Guns: however I heard nothing from Captain Perry in answer to this Request; but who immediately hauled his wind. This Evening being the 3d March after my vessel was anchored, my papers taken away, and Crew put on board of a French Privateer, belonging to General Tousant. — On the 4th March my vessel anchored as usual at this Bay, she was stripped and my Cargo plundered by the Prize Master, and others Frenchmen. On the 5th March I was invited to visit General Tousant, and immediately requested a passport from him, for Port Republicain, there to await the Decree of that commercial Tribunal respecting my Vessel and Cargo. I immediately proceeded to Port Republicain there made my necessary Protest; and with the very utmost Difficulty, and enormous Expences obtained a Copy of my vessel's Condemnation. Captain Christopher Perry took a Mulatto Man named Jim from on board the French Privateer Schooner; who was one of my Crew, a Native of this Island, and belonging to a Captain Benjamin Tatem of said place, (together with my Mate; pretending that he knew them to be both Americans. On the 13th March my Schooner was conducted to this Harbour of Jacmel, where the Remainder of her Cargo was landed, and taken into Store by the Administration, my vessel then fitted out as a privateer. Some Days after the Administration of Jacmel sent off to Captain Perry of the united States Frigate a Quantity of Coffee; I found on strict Enquiry; that this Coffee was as a Recompence to the said Captain Perry; for having daringly, and basely been instrumental in sending in my Vessel. The Six Sailor Negroes of my Schooner William and Mary (also the property of William Ruan) were Kept on board the French Privateer Schooner aforementioned from the Evening of my Capture until the 9th April: my Supercargo was held for some Time as a Prisoner also; but on the 9th April after great Difficulty; I had a Letter of Permission from the General in Chief; for these my people and accordingly I received them on shore, and provided necessary Shelter for them. Some few days following three out of the Six, were decoyed away by the military africans of Jacmel. I embarked on the 27th April from Jacmel to Currocoa, and I arrived at that Port on the 3d May, from thence I sailed on the 10th May, and arrived at this Port on the 17th Instant, with my Supercargo, and three Sailor Negroes, being attended with very heavy Expences. Wherefore duly observing and referring to my Protest, made in Port Republicain; dated the 17th Ventose [7 March 1800]; as well as holding a Copy of my Schooner's Condemnation. I do again now protest most solemnly, for and in Behalf, of my Owners, myself, or whomsoever concerned, First. Against Christopher Perry Commander of the aforesaid united States, Frigate General Greene his Ship and Crew. Secondly. Against the aforesaid French Barge her officer and Crew. Thirdly. Against the commercial Tribunal of Port Republicain. Fourthly. Against the Government of Jacmel. Lastly, Not only against these, but also against all Cruisers, Sea Rovers, or Pirates whatever, for all Damages, Losses &c. &c., that may hereafter accrue from such unwarrantable Conduct not only for Damages, Losses &c. &c. but for the Insult offered to the neutral Flag, of his most gracious Majesty. —

J. Didricksen.
W. Lambert
And I the said Notary public do hereby in behalf of the Deponents, their owner, crew & others concerned protest in the most ample manner against the above mentioned American frigate, whose partial Services to that party are publicly acknowledged by the Proclamation of the General in Chief Toussaint Louverture in the Gazette of St Domingue L'Observateur dated quarter’d [?] 14 Germinal Year 8th [4 April 1800] hereto annexed, as well as against the aforesaid barges, the commercial tribunal of Port Republicain, the Government of Jacmel, and against all pirates & unlawful cruisers for all damages, losses, costs expences, detention, interest & loss of profit, already sustained or hereafter to be sustained by the Deponents & their concernd for all such to be fully indemnified, & the said perpetrators to be deservedly punished for violating the right of nations & insulting the flag of His Danish Majesty —

CHARLES LEE Esquire
Attorney General of the United States

Sir A Court Martial of Marine Officers some of whom are Junior to the Officer to be tried has been ordered to sit on the trial of Lieut [S. W.] Geddes —

He objects to the legality of the Court on the ground that by the Act for the Government of the Navy, Officers are not to be tried by Junior Officers

The 4th Section of the Act for establishing the Marine Corps is I think explicit on this Subject — As I construe this section, offences on Land are to be governed by the rules for the Army — offences at sea by the rules of the Navy. The rules of the Navy do not admit of a Junior Officer to act as Judge on a Senior — the rules of the Army do — I request the favor of your opinion whether my opinion is a sound one —

I request the favor of your opinion also on this point — Can Army officers set with propriety on the trial of Marine Officers if there be enough of the latter to constitute a Court. In the present case I would wish to indulge the Officer with a Court composed partly of Marine & partly of Army Officers if I could

WILLIAM CRAFTS Esq
Charleston

SIR — In your last summary statement, there is a charge of $18 paid Jon* Robeson, as p† his receipt, for mustering the Crews of the two Gallies Charleston & South Carolina, for the last three months — This charge wants explanation, why the Crews were mustered by an Artillery Officer, and by whose authority: if there were Officers attached to the Gallies, it was certainly their duty to have mustered the men. — and not to have subjected the public to an additional expense by getting the aid of others: if they were not competent to the task, & wished information, they ought to have obtained it at their own expense. —

The charge must be suspended in the settlement of ye account, until I have the pleasure of hearing from you on the subject. — respectfully

I am Sir

Protest of Robert Patten, Junior, Master of the Schooner \textit{Fame}, Captured by French Privateer and retaken by Master

\textbf{Dominica}

By this Public Instrument of Protest, be it known to all whom it concerns, That on the Eighth day of March One thousand Eight Hundred Robert Patten Junior, Master of the Schooner \textit{Fame} of Kunebunck in the States of Massachusetts in America, owned by Edward Grant, Michael Wise, Richard Gillpatrick & Phineas Hemmenway Merchants of said Kunebunck, but then at Anchor in the road of Roseau, personally appeared before me Robert Browne Esqr Notary and Tabellion Public duly appointed sworn and admitted and dwelling in the Town of Roseau in this Island, and the said Appearer declaring that the said Schooner had been boarded & captured by a French privateer and afterwards retaken by himself and crew and brought into this road by them, he entered Notation thereof before me the said Notary, preparatory to his protest here following.

And now on this twenty second day of March One thousand Eight Hundred the said Robert Patten Junior being duly sworn before me on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God solemnly deposeth and on his Oath saith, that on the sixth day of March aforesaid at about half past Ten P. M. he was on board his said schooner \textit{Fame} and plying on and off among the shipping in \textit{St. Pierre's} Bay in the Island of Martinica when he was suddenly boarded whilst himself, his Mate, and two of his Hands were below, by seven Men, who securing the Two Men and the Cook upon Deck, fast'ned the Hatches down upon them and those that were below, and thus got full possession of the schooner \textit{Fame} and Cargo which consisted of Boards, Plank, Scantling, Staves, Shooks and Shingles with a few Boxes of Salt fish, a private Adventure.

That as soon as the Captors had secured all, they made sail and stood to the Northward in Company with a schooner which proved to be a French Privateer from on board of which the seven Men had been sent who took the \textit{Fame}. That after the Deponent and his people had been kept confined below about Nine Hours, three of them were permitted to come upon Deck, but the rest were ordered to remain below; some time after which one of the three, James Harding by Name, came down the Hatchway to the rest below, and told them that from what he had observed he really believed the schooner might be retaken, as the Privateer was then ought of sight; and they all determined to make the attempt, upon a Signal to be given by a stamping made on the Deck. Harding then returned on Deck, and at seven o'clock in the morning being then four leagues to the Southward from Dominica, the stamp was given; all the French were on Deck, where the Master, Mate & Crew of the \textit{Fame} attacked them with Hand spikes, Hatchets and such other Weapons as they could get hold of and after fighting desperately twelve minutes or thereabouts, during which one Frenchman being killed and thrown overboard and four others considerably wounded, the Deponent and his people, tho' his Mate and three of the Crew were badly wounded, drove the Enemy below and securing them recaptured the \textit{Fame} and her cargo and proceeded on for Dominica, before which the schooner privateer appeared in the weather quarter at about four Leagues distance in full chase of the Fame & evidently gaining upon her, as she was very deep, the Deponent was obliged to throw overboard part of his Deck load, nevertheless the privateer was not more than a Mile astern when the British Fort at Cacheroron fired four Guns at her & obliged her to give over the Chase and bear away, whilst the Fame steering into the road of Roseau got safe to Anchor the same day about Eight o'clock P. M. That since his said arrival, the state of the wounded people, and his Vessel, caused so much delay that he has been obliged to be at great Expence which he had no other means of supporting & of enabling him to return to America with expedition but by disposing of his Cargo, which he has done to the best possible advantage — against all which Casualties, Deficiencies, Injuries, Detentions, Losses & Expences and against the Capture of the schooner Fame and Cargo by the French privateer as the Cause thereof the Deponent claims and demands of me the said Notary to protest in due form.

ROBERT PATTEN JUN.

WHEREFORE I the said Notary on the aforesaid claim and Demand of the Deponent Robert Patten Jun. and in his Name and Behalf and in the Names and Behalves of all concerned in part or in all, do hereby solemnly protest against the Capture of the said Schooner Fame & Cargo by the French privateers people in the Bay of St. Pierres, and also against all the Expences, Losses and Damages which ensued in consequence of the same whether to the said Vessel's Cargo, to the Vessel herself or on account of the wounded Frenchmen and those of his own Crew and of the Detention of the said Schooner at Roseau & of the Sale of her Cargo there instead of Martinica and against all other Costs, Losses, Damages, Injuries, Deficiencies and Detentions which already have been or may hereafter be occasioned thereby.

This done protested and sworn to before me at my Notarial Office in Roseau aforesaid in presence of Benjamin Rhodes Mate and Abner Coussons and Joab Low Seamen of said Schooner Fame

MARTINIQUE

By this Public Act or Instrument of Protest be it made known and manifest unto all Persons to whom these Presents shall come or may in anywise concern that on the Day of the Date hereof before me John Willson Notary Public duly admitted and sworn and residing in the Town and Parish of Fort Royal in the said Island personally appeared Robert Patten late Master of the Schooner Fame and Abner Cousins Mariner who being duly sworn upon the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God did depose and declare as follows — That is to say

That they sailed in the said Schooner from Roseau Dominica on the twenty fourth Instant bound to Kennebunk with seven Puncheons of Rum on board and on the next Morning the said Schooner was captured by a French Republican Privateer Sloop belonging to Guadeloupe mounting three Guns That the Appearers and four Men were put on board the said Privateer and the remainder of the said Schooners Crew viz the Cook and the Mate remained on board and a Prize Master together with five Frenchmen were sent on board the said Schooner with Directions to take her to Guadeloupe That on the same Day about six P M the said Privateer was captured by His Britannic Majestys Ship Surinam and the Appearers with four of the Schooners Crew were taken on board the said Ship and arrived at this Port the thirtieth Instant when they made their Protest to me of all the before mentioned Circumstances —

WHEREUPON I the said Notary at the Request of the said Appearers do by these Presents publicly and solemnly protest against all the before mentioned Circumstances and against all Losses Damages Detriments Prejudices and Inconveniences occasioned in Consequence thereof Also against the Captain Officers and Crew of the said French Republican Privateer and every [one] with them concerned for capturing the said Schooner and Cargo and detaining two of her Crew and against the Owners and Freighters of the said Schooner and Cargo and the Insurers thereof and every [one] with them concerned and that no Part of such Losses do fall on the Appearers or any with them concerned —

The opinion of the Secretary of War corresponds with my own, that Lieutenant [S. W.] Geddes can be tried only by Marine officers, under the regulations for the Government of the Military Establishment of the United States — for offenses on Land.

The Attorney General, if I understand him, is of the same opinion — Indeed the case is so clear, that I am surprized, a different opinion should be entertained by Military gentlemen.
The Court convened for the trial of Lieut Geddes, is, I conceive legally constituted and competent to the trial —

Sir The Frigate Congress has returned to Norfolk, totally dismasted —

There are Masts at Norfolk, prepared for another Frigate and some for casualties of this kind but to leave nothing unattempted to prevent delay for want of Masts I take the liberty to request that you will be pleased to write to your Partner at Havre de Grace to send instantly to William Pennock at Norfolk, at Public expence the masts mentioned below — The Logs should be examined, & none but such as will certainly make good Masts should be sent — Some I understand are worm eaten —

Altho economy is at all times an object in Public transactions, dispatch in the present instance is of more importance than economy — I say nothing then about price of freight — Please to let me know by a line if you think your partner can have this business done & without delay —

Relying on your usual activity & the promptitude of Mr Pennock, I hope soon to hear that the Congress is fast progressing to a state to be again ready for sea —

Sir I have letters from Captn Sever at Hampton. His Frigate, I am sorry to find is totally dismasted. She wants almost every thing of the Mast kind as well as some sails. — I rely that you have with your usual activity, commenced on the arrival of the Frigate preparations for supplying her — I request that the utmost expedition be used in getting her masted & equipped with every thing wanted — If she or the Chesapeake must be delayed, let it be the Chesapeake as she can be delayed at less expence — The Masts for the Insurgent may if necessary be applied for this vessel — There are a large quantity of large Masts, of ninety odd feet at Havre de Grace — I shall instantly have some sent down, — but you will operate as if you did not expect them. — They are I believe larger than you have at Norfolk —

I shall tomorrow remit you 15000 D€ and Cap¹ Sever has money on board which you may receive. —

I hope to hear fully from you in a day or two, the steps you are taking —

Sir, Since my correspondence of 12th Ult. nothing worthy your notice has occurred respecting the contemplated Navy Yard — the weather having prevented any operations thereon — But the arrival of the wharf builder, and the present opening prospect of the season promises a more active scene — I have already suggested the necessity of enclosing the whole ground — it remains only to receive your sanction what sort of fence 'twill be proper to erect — My idea is, that a good tight board fence, too high to be easily climb'd & consequently not practicable to see over, will be most effectual, gates of sufficient magnitude to be placed near the extremities of the front on the Landside — and at convenient distance within; a frame building as lodgings for the Guard &c &c

This meeting your approbation — while the materials are providing, it may be the most apt time for me to proceed home, in order to arrange for moving my family — should I positively determine so to do — On my way (if you approve) a personal conference may effectuate more than the result of a tedious detail on paper

RUFUS KING ESQ.

Dear Sir, Mr. Liston has lately presented a demand for the restoration of three American vessels captured by the British, and recaptured, or rescued by the masters and parts of crews left on board. It is suggested that the law of nations warrants the demand: but no law is explicitly stated. It is conceived that it behoves captors to secure their prizes: and at any rate, that the Executive cannot order a restoration; but that resort must be had to the judiciary, by the captors, for remedy against the wrong-doers, if such they are.

The project a good while since presented by Mr. Liston, for exchanging seamen and soldiers who desert, has been under consideration: it is obviously objectionable: a counter project will very soon be presented.

The non-intercourse bill with France and its dominions has been renewed with amendments to secure a more strict observance of its regulations.

Toussaint sent six armed vessels laden with artillery and stores, round by Cape Tiberun for Jacmel: they were intercepted by a British frigate and carried to Jamaica, where they have all been condemned!!! They were destined for the siege of Jacmel, and to blockade the Port. The disappointment was grievous and vexatious to Toussaint; who has demanded the restoration. Lord Balcarres and Mr. Wigglesworth have endeavoured to pacify him — the former giving assurances of indemnity: but it was not indemnity that Toussaint wanted: the vessels and artillery and stores were essential to expedite and ensure success against Rigaud. Without complete satisfaction, he will not receive Wigglesworth. This bad policy of the British (ascribable to individual rapacity — perhaps to insidious views, that the two Chiefs may destroy each other,) I fear may prove injurious to the commerce of the United States.

The dispute with Georgia relative to territorial claims I think will be adjusted by the commissioners on both sides; Georgia relinquishing all the land west of the Chatahouchee, on practicable conditions.

I have the honor to be, &c &c

PHILAD# March 8th 1800 —

Lt B STROTHER

Sir — Your Letter of the 24th Feb? is just come to hand. I congratulate you & all of you on your Escape. Your account is really distressing & it is not often that Vessels of the Congress [class] are ever treated so roughly by the Elements — I fear the Essex must have suffered very materially —

On board of the British Frigates there is a Room purposely for keeping the Cloaths of the Marines, & the Officers & Marines always keeps the Key — Capt Decatur who is now going out, has promised, knowing the advantage of such a Room, to provide one — Without the Cap? of the Ship will aid them in some respect I know it is not possible for the Officer to do all the Justice to the Marines he wishes — All extra clothing purchased for the Marines must be charged to them & deducted from their pay — As to Llewellyn’s coming on at so considerable an expence to himself I think it will be improper. I have no Officer to put in your place, & should have no objection to Llewellyn’s Commanding the Detachment if you think him fit & he is agreeable to the Captain & the other Officers — Are you aware of the opinions that may be formed on your resigning this Command? Do you know that it is not in your Power to resign without the consent of myself & those above me — you do not ask leave to resign, but speak positively that you will resign. — As you say, you are always sick, it will be a good reason for my meeting your wishes, & therefore shall have no objection to your giving the Command to Lt Llewellyn & to your sending in your Commission, after you have settled your Accounts.

In consequence of Lt Geddes’s neglect of duty & a report being made to me of his being seen drunk in the Streets of New Port, I have arrested him & the Court martial is now sitting on him — You may make out two Pay Rolls & bring the Men up to the 1st Jan? & then another & bring them up to 1st March — you will then be able to cover all their expences for their Frocks &c — which you purchased for them. — The Navy Agent will purchase your Bill at 3 Days sight on me — You are to reimburse the Purser & deduct the 20 Cents pr Man, which, you know is for the Hospital Fund — You had better settle your own account finally with the Purser for your Rations, or altogether with me —

CAPE FRANCOIS 9th March 1800

Sir In my letter of the 7th February, which I had the honor of addressing you, I informed you, that a considerable, clandestine Trade, was carried on between S’ Thomas, & Jackmel, and that Several Privateers, were fitted out by Rigaud, in that quarter, which might annoy our Vessels, bound to Jamaica, and contribute to prolong, the present unhappy civil War, to the great detriment of the American Commerce. I at the same time submitted it to your consideration, whether it would not be prudent, to send some Vessels of force, to Cruize on the South Side of this Island —

Since then I have received positive information, that the number of these Privateers, has increased. In a letter I received last night, from the General in Chief of a recent date, he acquaints me that a Brig of Rigauds is now Cruizing before Jackmel — that it has blocked up his little Squadron, by which he had been enabled to cut off the Supplies of that place, and that while it continued there, he had little prospect of becoming master of the Town, & adjacent Country. —

I was some time ago informed, that you had dispatched the Frigate General Greene to that quarter. I accordingly told General Moyse, that the department of the South, would no longer be annoyed, by Rigouds Privateers. As the Frigate has however not yet made her appearance the General in Chief has become very anxious, and has sent an express to the Cape, with a request that I would solicit you to direct some of the Armed force under your Command, to that particular point. —

Will you be good enough Sir, to inform whether, the General Greene, has been actually sent to the neighbourhood of Jackmel & if she has not whether it would be consistent with your Instructions, or the Arrangements you have made, for the Squadron under your Command, to send a Vessel of Force, to that quarter? I shall take the liberty of communicating your answer to General Touissaint, as I am sure it will give him pleasure, should he be informed, that you find no inconvenience in ordering a Cruizer to that part of the Coast. — Perhaps Sir as the Boston is now at Jeremie, she might be usefully spared for a short time, to cruize before Aux Cayes & Jackmel. I shall be happy to hear from you on this subject, as soon as possible. —

I remain with respect,

Sir

CAP FRANCOIS March 19th 1800.

DEAR SIR I had the Honor of writing you, a few Days ago, by the Way of Baltimore. I now avail myself of the present Conveyance to transmit you a Copy, and, at the same Time, to confirm the News of the Capture of Jacmel.

In a Letter I received from the Genl in Chief yesterday, he writes me that this important Place was evacuated on the Night of the 10th Inst. His Letter on this Subject, together with several Papers relative to his late Arrangements with the British Government, I shall have the Honor of forwarding Tomorrow by the Way of Baltimore, not deeming the present Conveyance sufficiently safe. —

Mr Wigglesworth has return'd to Jamaica. He left l'Arcahaye on the 12th Inst after a Conference of three Days with Genl Toussaint, in which Things were left much in the same State as when I wrote you from Leogane. —

Genl Toussaint has been very urgent that I should send some American Vessels with Supplies to Jacmel, as his Troops were in the greatest Want. This I have refused on the Principle that the President's Proclamation does not permit it. He is much disappointed, & feels not a little dissatisfied at my Refusal. He thinks that as this Place is now in his Possession it ought to be consider'd as entitled to the same Privilege as the other Ports in his Jurisdiction. —

I have already had the Honor of writing you on this Subject, & now take the Liberty to repeat my Request, that you would instruct me, by the first opportunity, how to act in this embarrassing Situation. —

I have the Honor to remain with the highest Consideration —

Dear Sir

P. S. Since writing the above Genl T. has made several Applications to me for Supplies. His Adjutant General Ml D'Hebicourt arrived here last Night expressly on this Business. He paints the Situation of the Army at Jacmel as distressing beyond Idea and informs me that the Operations in the South will be much retarded if not entirely frustrated unless he obtains speedy Relief. I really do not know how to act in this embarrassing Situation. I wait with Impatience for your Instructions on the Subject.

To Hon. Josiah Parker, Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 10th March 1800

Honble Josiah Parker Esqr
Chairman of the Committee on Naval Affairs —

Sir Not having answered your enquiries respecting the Marine Corps, and the expediency of providing for a Grade in the Navy, higher than that of Captain, I now take the liberty to call your attention to these subjects —

The Marine Corps by the existing Laws, may consist of 1142, Officers and privates; The vessels in service, and those which will be at sea, in less than three months — in short, the whole authorized by Law, except the six Seventy four Gun Ships will require 1081. It will easily be perceived, that it is next to impossible that a Corps of 1142, officers & men should be able to furnish at all times, as promptly as the occasion should demand 1081 officers and men fit for duty. — Hence an augmentation of the Marine Corps, or the adoption of other means to supply the deficiency of Marines, seems indispensable. — With our present prospects a provision for furnishing occasionally, as the exigency of the service may require, small detachments, to serve as Marines, might answer the purpose, and would be more consistent with that spirit of economy which pervades every department of the Government, than an augmentation of the Corps. —

But altho I do not venture to suggest an augmentation of the Corps, — Justice to the Commanding Officer, compels me to observe that besides those duties common to other Commanders of Corps, this officer is obliged to reside at the Seat of Government, the nature of his command, requiring that he should have daily intercourse with the head of the Navy Department; — it is his duty to have detachments properly equipped, provided at all the sea ports where our Ships rendezvous, and at the moment they are wanted; to carry on a correspondence with the Commanders of these various detachments, which are as numerous as our vessels, & to know, that each Officer, dispersed as the Officers are, performs his duty to the Public and the Corps — otherwise the vessels would often be delayed for want of Marines, and a thousand disorders would arise which can only be prevented by laborious & increasing attention in the Commanding Officer — These duties cannot be executed to the Public advantage without great Industry, great promptitude and great knowledge of the details of the service — They have been executed well, and the pay and emoluments of a Lieut Col would certainly not be more than a just compensation to the Officer who performs them, residing as he must at the seat of Government.

It is not without reluctance that I enter on the subject of a higher grade in the Navy than that of Captain — I am well aware of the ridicule that may attach to the idea of making Admirals before we have such Ships as Admirals usually command, and when our whole Naval force amounts to no more than Eleven Frigates, or fifteen if we call every Ship carrying 32 Guns a Frigate & twenty smaller vessels But impressed with the conviction that by a Navy alone we can secure respect to our rights as a Sovereign Nation, that the best interests of the Country imperiously demand that this system of defence should be cherished, and that therefore it will be; and believing that Justice & Policy require that the brave & experienced Officer should be rewarded, & the young stimulated, by conferring on long & extraordinary skill & valor, the usual Naval honors & Distinctions, I am impelled by duty to suggest to the consideration of the Committee the propriety of authorizing the President to appoint, when he shall think the good of the service requires it

Two Admirals
Two Vice Admirals
Two Rear Admirals

The Admirals to be allowed while in actual service 140 D$r^2$ p\(^t\) m\(^q\) & 14 rations p\(^t\) day. — The Vice Admirals 120 D$r^2$ p\(^t\) m\(^q\) & 12 rations. — The Rear Admirals 110 D$r^2$ p\(^t\) m\(^q\) & 10 rations p\(^t\) day. — But in time of War when their services are not called for, to be allowed only one half their monthly pay & no rations. — In peace they will it is presumed share the fate of other Officers —

I have the honor to be

Messrs Jones & Clarke

GENTLEMEN The Law directs that all Vessels concerned in taking a prize, shall divide the prize money in proportion to the number of men and Guns belonging to each. The just construction of the Law, in my opinion, will be to give the same description of officers and men on board each Vessel, exactly the same sum. In the case under your management, the Crews of the Richmond & the Eagle, are entitled to the prize money. Instead of first dividing between the two vessels, the just rule will be, the vessels being nearly equal in force, to add the two Crews together, and to give to the two Commanders three twentieths of the whole amount to be divided equally between them, and so on, as to the Lieutenants & Masters, and all the other description of Officers and men —

Messrs Murray, Barnwell & others

Committee for building a Frigate New York —

GENTLEMEN I am honored with your letter of the 7th Instant respecting the progress of the Frigate.

Prompt measures shall be adopted to provide the articles which depend on me except the Cables which having been contracted for by you had better be furnished by you, and if necessary you can draw on me for the Amount
The practice in respect to coppering which obtains here is to place Flannel between the Ships bottom & the Copper in the manner described in the enclosed, whether the British practice is the same or better, I know not —

When you have completed your disbursements, your Accounts must be made up, and with proper vouchers transmitted to the Accountant of this Department, after passing his examination they shall be transmitted to the Treasury Department from whence the Stock will issue. The Navy Agents at New York will be instructed to receipt for the Vessel. — As this Frigate has not yet been designated by a name, I have to request that the Committee will be so good as to say what she shall be called — if not the New York — at 8 A M made three ships in the S E — coming down upon us at 9 cleared for Action & hoisted the British private Signal for the day, which was answered.

Moderate Breezes and much Rain in the evening.

at 11 Ditto Spoke the Amphion Frigate. Captain Bennet informed that he wished to Send an Officer on board, to pay his Respects to me — and to inquire into the convoy — Under my charge — I directed that he should be informed, (which was done) that I would heave my main top Sail to the mast.

The first Lieut accordingly came on board and behaved politely. after which the British Ships drew off — and we stood on our course by the wind. the other two Ships were the Queen & Castor.

at Noon the Dolphin's head bore South of us. Sloop Liberty has left the Convoy.

Thomas Turner Esqre

Accountant of the Navy

Sir As the Vessels captured and recaptured by our Public Ships generally bring in with them Prisoners and therefore requires a greater number of men to be put on board of them than would be sufficient to navigate them — There may be some propriety in considering the expence of bringing such Vessels into port a Public charge — But it appears to me to be reasonable and just that all expence from the moment of their arrival including pay & subsistence of the prize Master & men should be paid out of the prize or salvage money — If you perceive no more equitable rule for adjusting those expences, be pleased to adopt the one here suggested in your correspondence with the Navy Agents — If a better rule occurs to your mind be pleased to let me know —

SIR I am honored with your letter of yesterday, on the subject of the purchase of a site for a cannon foundery & of ore the best adapted for ordnance, and of a permanent National Establishment for the casting of Cannon & Shot.
I can have no doubt that the United States ought to possess one or more such establishments, and I believe the vicinity of Harpers Ferry on the Potomac a very proper place for one such Establishment, as it has an aspect toward the Western Country is near the centre from North to South of the United States and being on Navigation is sufficiently convenient to the Seaports. — I will therefore without hesitation consent, that in your communication to the President you shall make use of my name as joining you in opinion as to the propriety of the establishment if upon the trials you propose of the ore, you find it answers the expectations you have formed of it. — — I beg leave to observe that the Salisbury Ore, on a trial just made appears to be equal to that of Virginia — it has not however undergone all the proof which the other has sustained — —

Extract of a letter from Captain Codwise, commanding the Brig Ceres of New York, describing his encounter with French privateers

ST. CROIX, March 11, 1800.

"The fourth day after we left Sandy hook, we found ourselves, by observation, to the southward of Bermuda, going at the rate of 10 and 10½ knots, under the foresail and close reefed main top sail. In the lat. of 27 N. we were chased from the break of day until night, by three French pirates, two schooners and a brig.

"When we first descried them, the wind was very light, so that by the aid of their sweeps, they gained fast upon us, and came nearly within gun shot; but no sooner did kind Providence favor us with a stronger breeze, which counterbalanced their sweeps, than the Ceres quickly left them at a distance. Perceiving that we led them, they, in order to intimidate us, commenced a repeated firing; but finding that to be of no avail, they very wisely gave up the chace."
"Nothing, I am confident, contributed more to our escape from the fraternal hug, than the great number of our light and lofty sails. It appears that the Frenchmen, being compelled by the vigilance of our cruisers to quit their usual cruising station, have commenced their depredations in a more northerly quarter, where they meet with less molestation."

Sir The Sloop Non Pareil John Shepherd Junr Master, is to call on her return voyage from the West Indies, and take a load of Live oak for one of the 74 Gun Ships from Georgia to one of the places of building. She may be expected at the mouth of St Marys river the first week in April. Be pleased to make arrangements for Loading her as soon as may be after she arrives and order her for New York, taking Bills Lading or receipts specifying the number of Cubic feet contained in the Cargo for which freight is to be paid at the rate of 37½ Cents per foot, one of which bills enclose to this Office, one to Messrs J & E Watson at N York & retain one yourself — Another Sloop is intended soon to follow the Non Pareil for the same purpose, and will probably touch first at the same place — Be pleased to adopt equally prompt measures for dispatching her with a load of timber as the Non Pareil at the same rate of freight & for the same place — if you can, load her with timber for the same Ship, otherwise she must be ordered for Boston to address of Messrs Stephen Higginson & Co. Other vessels will in course follow these, & to enable me to give them the best directions the case will admit, as to the most proper place first to touch at, I have to request that you will as soon as practicable ascertain and forward to me the necessary information. It will be proper for you in the mean time to take steps for giving the necessary instructions at other places than the Saint Marys, where it is probable vessels may touch, to which places they are to proceed for their loads. — The Vessels now mentioned agree to take a less freight than I expected. They may however be obliged to call at several landings for their loads, for which you can agree if they require it, to make such allowance as you think just, exceeding however in no instance half a dollar per foot for the whole freight —

I think you must have a Book, & keep an account of the timber sent to each place, that we may be sure when all is sent, and I should be glad to receive an Invoice of each shipment specifying the particular pieces sent.

Capt. Thomas Truxtun
of the Constellation, Kingston, Jamaica

Sir I am honored with your letter of the 3rd Ultimo inclosing an extract from your Journal relative to your glorious action with a French Ship of force greatly superior to your own on the 2d. Both the letter & the Extract have been laid before the President who directs me to give you the strongest assurances of his high approbation of your own judicious and Gallant conduct, and to request that you will present to the Officers & Crew of the Constellation, his thanks for so nobly seconding your efforts to raise the character of their Country and to maintain the honor of its flag.

Judging that you will readily obtain every thing necessary for your compleat equipment at Jamaica, and that you will most probably have left that Island for your Station off Guadeloupe before the arrival of the Enterprise, I send nothing for the Constellation by that Vessel except 10,080 18th Shot & 1000 Grape. — Captain Murray fell in with you the 4th March. He is daily expected here — by him, I hope to receive full information from you of your wants, if you have any, and I will take immediate steps to supply them, by sending to Saint Kitts or Jamaica according to your letters by Murray —

I have not heard from St. Kitts since your action, nor has there been any accounts received respecting the Ship you engaged. — If it was the Ship stationed at Guadeloupe, the vessels you left on that station, will maintain the superiority, until she is again fit for service, and doubt not you will be ready as soon as she can be. — I wish however you were in one of the larger Frigates. — The President I believe will be ready for sea, by the first of July, before which time, you will either be relieved from the Constellation, or from the command off Guadeloupe, that you may take the President. The Congress having returned into Port completely dismasted, and the Insurgente wanting five or six weeks repairs, the Constellation cannot at present be spared from the West Indies, where I hope your future glory will equal, & your future success exceed the past.
Congress have as yet done nothing on the Navy Business — the Committee on Naval Affairs have under consideration propositions to create 2 Admirals, 2 Vice Admirals & 2 Rear Admirals, & to procure Timber for more Ships of seventy four Guns. The bundle of papers I send by Lieut Shaw will give you all the news. We have yet nothing from our Ministers to France —

Whatever engagements you make at Jamaica shall be punctually complied with — Perhaps you may be obliged to agree to replace the Mast & other things you obtain — & in this case the earliest attention shall be paid to your engagements. You can no doubt readily pass Bills on me for the greater part of your expenditures — At Saint Kitts I hope there are provisions enough in the hands of Mr Clarkson to last some time, and I shall take early measures for sending a further supply — But too much attention cannot be paid to the subject of sending on board the ships returning, all surplus provisions on board of any vessels which may from time to time return to the United States, from whatever cause. —

I have the honor to be with great respect & Esteem —

If you do not find Captain Truxtun at Jamaica, you will proceed to St Kitts, and if he should not be there, desire whoever may be the Commanding Officer on that Station to open the letters to Captain Truxtun.

To Secretary of the Navy, from Captain Edward Preble, U. S. Navy

[U. S. Frigate] Essex, at anchor in Table Bay, CAPE OF GOOD HOPE, 13th March, 1800.

Sir: — I have the honor to inform you I arrived here the 11th inst., with the U. S. Frigate Essex under my command. The manner in which I have been received by the Admiral, Sir Roger Curtis, and the Governor, Sir George Young, has been honorable to our flag, and highly flattering to me. The day after leaving Newport a snow storm came on, and we parted with the three merchant vessels under convoy, and on the 12th of January, in a heavy gale of wind, in Lat. 38° 23' N., and Long. 54° 9' W., I lost sight of the Congress, [*] not being able to carry sail to keep up with her without hazarding the loss of my masts, on account of the very bad quality of the rigging and iron work attached to them.

The 24th of Jan. in Lat. 16° 25' N., Long. 28° 30' W., our mainmast was discovered to be very badly sprung between decks. Every exertion was immediately made to secure it, and on the 26th that object was completed. On my passage out, much of the iron work has given way; the fore and main trestletrees, and fore and main cross-trees broken, owing to the bad quality of the wood, and their not having been properly secured at first. Nearly all the main shrouds, and all the topmast stays have been carried away. They were too small and their quality infamously bad. These disasters lengthened my passage considerably, and will detain me here at least ten days from the day of my arrival, as considerable iron and wood work is to be done to the masts, a complete gang of new shrouds to be fitted, and water to fill.

I begin to fear some accident has happened to the Congress, and if she does not arrive by the time I am ready for sea, I shall not wait a moment for her, but make the best of my way to the port of destination, and as the Essex is a remarkably fast sailer, I am in hopes to reach it in season to answer the object government had in view in sending me out.

I have not seen Mr. Elmslie, our Consul. He is in the country and expected in town to-morrow, when I shall deliver a letter which I have from the State Department for him, which was given me in charge by the navy agent at Newport.

The British have six men-of-war here, four of which are two-deckers, one frigate and a sloop-of-war, some of which have lately returned from a cruise off the Isle of France, after having chased on shore and burnt, La Pruneuse, a French frigate, the only one which the French had remaining in the Indian Seas.

After a fair trial of my ship's company at sea, I found many impositions had been practised on the recruiting officers at the time of their engagements, and on the ninth of February I had a muster on board, for the particular purpose of rating them according to merit, and to reduce the pay of a considerable number, a list of whose names I have enclosed.

The returns which accompany this letter, I think, are perfectly agreeable to the regulations established, and I hope will be satisfactory, as every error in the returns made from Newport, which were very imperfect, is corrected in these.
The officer-like conduct and exertions of Lieut. Beale, on every occasion, merit my warmest approbation, and I hope will entitle him to the notice of the President. Lieut. Phipps is a worthy man, but too infirm for the duties of his office. Lieut. Lee is a young officer of science, who promises to be an ornament to the navy. Mr. George Washington Tew, whom I appointed an Acting Lieutenant, is a young officer of merit, and has given me great satisfaction. Dr. Orr, my surgeon, is ever attentive to the health of the ship's company; they are now in perfect health, except one man sick with a cold. I shall be better able to speak of my other officers on my return.

The Essex is much admired for the beauty of her construction, by the officers of the British navy. The day after my arrival, one of the Captains of the men-of-war waited on me on board the Essex, with their compliments and congratulations, and I was invited to dine with the Admiral. On the day following I received the same attention from the Governor. They both appeared to be disposed to render me every service in their power, and to make my stay here as pleasant as possible. I have this day been presented with a paper from Bombay, which contains the order of the Governor of the Isle of France for the confiscation of all American property, which I enclose you. I am told here the French have several privateers about the Straits of Sunda, and I am in hopes the superior sailing of the Essex will enable me to pick up some of them; every exertion shall be made use of for that purpose.

I shall write you again by the next opportunity, which will be in a few days. I have the honor to be, with great respect, Sir,
Your most obedient, humble servant,

Edward Preble.

P. S. Mr. Elmslie has arrived, and has received the letter I brought for him.

E. P.

Hon. Sec'y of the Navy.

[NR&L, Nr: P922-14, Essex by G. H. Preble.]

To Secretary of the Navy, from Captain Alexander Murray, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Insurgente
Petapsaco River March 13th 1800

Benj Stoddert Esq

Sir The inclosed is a Copy of my respects to you [dated 27 February 1800] off Cuba & now have the honor to inform you of my arrival at [space] after one of the most blustering passages I ever had which has made us almost a wreck but the present subject shall be on the purpose of my late instructions.

The letters which I have now the honor to enclose, will inform you of my having brought $120,000 from Jamaica on account of A Baring & C$ & $14,000 for others.
As those Gentlemen will no doubt be disappointed in not receiving a larger sum, there are some explanatory circumstances necessary on my part.

When I arrived in Jamaica which was in a week after I received your orders, I found the above specified sum all ready & should not have been detained there more than three days, but Messrs Atkinson & C9 inform'd me that they were in hopes of being able to make up a much larger sum as they had been obliged to make use of what had been collected on their acct for Government purposes, Vizt: the purchasing of the suspicious Negros belonging to French Emigrants to be sent off the Island, but failing in their expectations and no money to be procured at Kingston, it occurr'd to them that some respectable Houses concern'd in Havannah transactions might accommodate them there; the Scheme was proposed to me to know if I would call there, after some consideration (altho' I had no orders to justify me) it appear'd to me to be an object of magnitude, the transportatian of so large a sum as they conjectured might be procured there Vizt $300,000, that I gave my consent, but upon the Proviso, that I was not to be detain'd there more than three days, & was very precise in my inquiries to know upon what foundation this business stood & found it a matter of uncertainty altogether, in the first place, it depended upon those Gentlemen the letters were directed to, whether they had the money by them, in the next place it depended upon their inclination to comply with their engagements however advantageous it might appear & finally the risk & difficulty in getting it on board, as I could not think of running any risk, on the part of the Ship, I say taking all these considerations in a collateral view the matter was couch'd in uncertainty tho' it was my firm intention to make the tryal, but from the most untoward events I found the thing at least impracticable, for in the evening after I had written you the inclosed letter we had a fine favorable Western Wind & we kept on our course for the Moro Castle but the weather being very Hazey we over-run our distance a few leagues which we thought of no consequence, counting upon the Usual trade Wind to run us down in an hour or two, but the spell it seems was not out, the Western Wind freshen'd up to a hard gale & a rapid current setting to the Eastward we the next day found ourselves almost up with the old Streights of Bahama & drifting upon a dangerous shore, Wrecking & tearing our sails & rigging to pieces, in our effort to hold our own that I at last determin'd to stand through the Gulf Homewards, & there appear'd to be no hopes of a change of Wind, & must have created the delay of a fortnight at least, again I consider'd, as this might be a Mer- cantile transaction that so long a delay to their expectations might create an inconvenience & that it was better to hand them the present sum than to risk the uncertainty.

Thus Sir have I given you a fair & candid detail of the business wishing to acquit myself with propriety to every individual, as well as in my public function, & herewith send you the three letters with the transactions respecting the negotiation which be so kind as to hand to Mr Baring who will of course inform their friends in Jamaica of the disappointment.

I wish much to have your permission to see my family & to let me know as soon as possible if I am to order the necessary outfit for the Ship, such as Masts Bowsprit & coppering her bottom with other matters which I shall give you an estimate of & tell me what I am to do with the Crew in the interval of her equipment, whether to discharge them & take our chance for their staying by us as we are almost a Wreck, since the late hard gales of wind we have had off Cape Hatteras it will be a work of time to do all that is required,

I have brought $5109 for Robinson & Hartshorne of New York, which I shall keep & beg you will pay that sum to those Gentlemen, & charge my Acc with it as we shall want Money for the Ships use —

With great respect

Yours &c

SIR M. M. Yellots muskets are shorter and lighter than those used in the Navy or Army, but their greatest defect is that they have not a sufficient caliber to receive an ounce ball. — His swords are inferior to those made in the United States. I have bought of the same kind for the Navy, but it has been under circumstances of urgencies & when better could not be obtained, a case not likely to happen again — Muskets and Swords are now made with facility & in great perfection in the United States, so that should the Militia want them there would be little difficulty in furnishing them of a better quality than those of M't Yellots — I can therefore see no good reason for denying M't Yellot the privilidge of exporting his arms —

Sir In answer to Mt Yuser's letter inclosed in yours of the 10th Inst, be pleased to inform that Gentleman that Mt Clarkson of Saint Kitts acts as Agent for the Navy in the Windward Islands — He has been so acting ever since our Vessels first cruised about those Islands, and tho I have no doubt of Mt Yuser's qualifications & fitness in all respects, yet there being no complaint against Mt Clarkson, it would be improper to appoint another Agent — Our Vessels rendezvous at Saint Kitts —

The notes of Thompson & Dickey received for the Montezuma, you will please to retain and receive payment for on Account of the Public when due — At your leisure I wish you would send a Statement of the sale, that the entries may be made by the Accountant of the Navy — I wish you would also send an account of whatever stores are in your hands received out of the Montezuma or otherwise. It would be best to hire a convenient Ware house capacious enough to receive these and other articles for the Navy which may [be] had at Balt?

To Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General at Santo Domingo from Toussaint L’Ouverture, General-in-Chief of the Army of Santo Domingo

[Translation]

TOUSSAINT L’OUVERTURE, General in chief of the Army of Santo Domingo.

To Mr. Edward Stevens, Consul General of the United States of America at Santo Domingo.

Mr. Consul General, I have been honored by your letter of the 9th March last in reply to mine of the 8th Ventose. It was accompanied by a copy of the one which Commodore Silas Talbot wrote you, under date of 6th March, in response to the one which you addressed to him on the 4th of the same month (of March) of this year.
I have read with great satisfaction your letter and his, and there was no need of your giving me greater proof of the interest which you take in me, in this circumstance than to assure me of it yourself, and you need not even assure me of it, since you have plainly demonstrated it to me by deeds. I could not be more grateful to you than I am for all the trouble to which you have gone with regard to Commodore Silas Talbot, in order to persuade him to give me succor with ships, in the waters around Jacmel. It affords me renewed pleasure in offering you my thanks, to tell you how glad I am and how I appreciate the signal and important services which the Commander of the United States frigate General Green, Mr. Christopher Raymond Perry, has rendered me; my praises and my appreciation to this officer; nothing could equal his kindness, his activity, his watchfulness and his zeal in protecting me, in unhappy circumstances, for this part of the colony. He has contributed not a little to the success by his cruise, every effort being made by him to aid me in the taking of Jacmel, as also in seeing order restored in this colony.

Please, Mr. Consul General, I pray you to convey to Commodore Silas Talbot my heartfelt gratitude for the service which he has done me by sending me the frigate General Green, for which I shall never cease to be grateful. Have the kindness to express to him my sentiments to that effect, and also to thank him for being pleased to send me other vessels, at your solicitation. I assure you, Mr. Consul General, that it is not without satisfaction and the most intense joy that I receive from you, Commodore Talbot, and all the other officers and citizens of the United States the evidence of your ardent desire and their ardent desire to cooperate in reestablishing order, prosperity and happiness in this colony so long unfortunate.

I have the honor to be with the highest esteem and the most cordial consideration,

Mr. Consul General,

Your very humble and obedient servant

Signed: TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE.

Secretary of State of the United States of America

Sir, Since my last of 7th of Dec respecting the proceedings of the Vice Admiralty Court in the Case of the Ship Pacific — I have had the Honour to receive Duplicate of your favour of 18th Dec — 99 — per the United States Frigate Essex, Cap' Preble who arrived here 10th Ins I am sorry to inform you that neither the Original nor Duplicates of my Commission of Consul have yet come to hand — But his Excellency the Governor on the strength of your Letter of the aforesaid date, politely ordered the Secretary of Government, to write me an Official Letter acknowledging me Consul for the United States of America, copy of which I now transmit you; Yesterday morning I waited on the Admiral Sir Roger Curtis, and exhibited the Documents respecting the nativity of Richd Butler, which fully satisfied the Admiral of Richd Butler being a native of the United States, and assured me that he would give orders for his immediate discharge. The Letter for M: Butler I sent on board the Tremendous yesterday but the weather has been so blowing ever since that I have not yet had an opportunity to hear from him — It was extremely pleasing to hear from Cap't Preble that he was received by the Governor & the Admiral with every mark of polite attention, it gives me pleasure also to inform you that the French Frigate Pruneuse which so anoyed the American Trade to the Eastward is destroyed by the Tremendous in a late cruise off the Mauritius, & the officers are now prisoners in the Cape —

With the highest Respect
I have the Honour to be

To Secretary of State from Edward Stevens, United States Consul General at St. Domingo

(Duplicate)

CAP FRANCOIS March 16th 1800.

DEAR SIR In a Letter which I lately had the Honor of writing you, I mentioned the unwarrantable Conduct of Cap't Thickeene, Commander of his Brittanick Majesty's armed Brig Pelican, & referred you for the Particulars of this Transaction to M: Ritchie, Consul of the U. States at Port au Prince. Not being in Possession of the Protest made by the Officers of the Schooner Buckskin, at that Time, I could not transmit it to you. M: Ritchie indeed promised to send it to me immediately, but by some unaccountable Delay, I did not receive it until Yesterday. In his Letter of the 3rd Ins', which accompanied it, he informs me that the French Schooner which was captured by the Pelican, proved to be the Adelaide, Cap't Pitre, bound to Port au Prince & furnished with a regular Passport. He adds that the Owner of the Schooner "had preferred a Complaint to Gen'l Toussaint against "the Schooner Buckskin, for the Aid & Assistance given in capturing "the Adelaide, praying that Process might commence against the "Captain of the Buckskin for an Indemnification of the Value of his "Vessel;" — that Gen'l Toussaint had written him on the Subject, & that he had given such an Explanation in Return as he hoped would prevent any disagreeable Consequences from taking Place. —

As soon as I received M: Ritchie's Letter I wrote Gen'l Toussaint on the Subject, & do not imagine there will be the slightest Difficulty in arranging this Business as it ought to be. — I now have the Honor of enclosing you the Declaration made by the Master & Mate of the Buckskin before M: Ritchie. —

Since my last Dispatches I have had the Pleasure of receiving your several Favors of Dec' 27th & 31st & Jan' 18. —
The first relates to the Schooner Polly of Marblehead, Knot Pedrick, Master. To this important Business I shall pay all the Attention it merits, & shall acquaint you with the Steps that may be taken to recover the Property which has been captured. M' Joseph La Grange the Gentleman you have recommended in the second, shall have every possible Attention paid to his Claims, & as soon as M' Duracineh (?) shall make Application to the Government in his Behalf, I shall give him all the Assistance that lays in my Power. —

With respect to your last Letter I deem it of so much Importance, that I cannot avoid giving it a full & separate Answer, which I shall have the Honor of transmitting you, together with all the necessary Documents, by the armed Brig Mary, Capt Tarvis (?) which, will sail in 4 or 5 Days. —

Every Thing continues tranquil in this Quarter, notwithstanding strong Symptoms of the Crisis I announced to you have taken Place. Within these few Days all the Adherents of the Agent have been seized, imprisoned, & the Seals put on their Effects & Papers. Among these are the Ordonnateur in Chief Dumaine Blanchard the receiver of the Revenues of the Colony &c &c &c The Agent & his Secretary are kept close Prisoners to the Government House. The Seals are also put on the Papers of the latter. No Persons are permitted either to enter or leave the House: nor are Papers, Money or any Kind of Effects suffer'd to be carried out. All this is by order of general Toussaint. He sent general Age here to carry the Agent to Port au Prince, but he refused to go. He immediately gave orders to take the Steps I have mentioned. I expect him here in 3 or 4 Days when I suppose the Business will be settled as I have long foreseen. He will not send away the Agent because he is afraid he may intrigue against him in France. He will I beleive keep him a close prisoner & take all power, civil & military into his own Hands. In other Respects Things are as usual. The Citizens of the U. States are respected & their Property secure. A due Degree of Harmony continues to subsist between our naval Commanders & the Chiefs of the Colony. The General Green is on the South Side near Jackmel, — the Boston & the Richmond in the Bite, & the Experiment & Augusta gone to join Cap't Perry. The Constitution is, I fancy, at the Mole as she has not been off this Harbor for 2 Days I write in great Haste, for which I must beg you excuse.

I do not suppose that off Cape Cannavarel the Stream is above five or six Leagues wide and off Hatteras not more than fifteen Leagues — & so its width increases as it Runs to the Northward.

If you make good arrangements at first, you will have but little trouble afterwards — I think you had better engage able master carpenters of reputation to conduct the repairs — Buy the best hemp for rigging & put it into the hands of the best rope makers — Masts, I suppose will be sent from Norfolk — of this Captain Murray can inform you — There are a number of large ones belonging to the public at Havre de Grace — Be very particular in taking vouchers for everything you pay, and supply every thing required by Captain Murray. — Cases will occur, not foreseen, requiring the exercise of judgement & discretion. — You must in such cases exercise your

Dear Sir I wrote you a few lines on Saturday. The Insurgente must now be put into compleat repair before she leaves Baltimore. I observe that she wants masts, sails, — I presume rigging, caulking & coppering. — I wish you to ascertain at once every thing necessary to be done to her — to give Mf Arch Campbell an account thereof in writing & another to me—Advise with Mf Campbell on the best most frugal & most expeditious manner of having the whole business done, — let every thing be begun before you leave Baltimore — and then leaving the Command of the Ship to that Lieutenant you think best qualified, with as many officers and men as you think will be necessary & usefull on board, furloughing all the other Officers & discharging all the other men — you may repair as soon as you please to Philad — By the time the Ship would be ready for sea, the men would not have above two or three months to serve—if so long — it is best therefore to discharge at once all who cannot be usefully employed about the Ship. — The Purser should have his Acts [accounts] against the men prepared for settlement without the least delay — I hope indeed he is already prepared —. If any powers of Attorney have been given by them for half their pay in their absence particular attention should be paid to that circumstance — I shall this day remit Mf Campbell 20,000 D° which I suppose will be sufficient to pay off the men who are to be discharged — The Major of Marines will give orders about the Marines pay —
I cannot be more particular nor is it necessary that I should be —
You know every thing to be done, & how it is best to be done and you will give all the advice & information in your power to Mr Campbell who tho a very good man may not be very well acquainted with a business in some measure new to him —

Sir Feeling something at a loss how to govern myself with respect to some recent Occurrences as well as Anterior ones in which delicacy is requisite to come to a full ecclairsissement I find no other method than this.
I have fond[ly] hoped to end my Cruise in perfect peace, harmony & mutual satisfaction with each other, which the first part of our route encouraged me to hope would have been the case, & sorry am I that I have been disappointed in my expectations, being under the strongest convictions that I have done every thing in my power to cement a friendly intercourse.
I candidly declare to you that till latterly you have ever had my confidence & esteem as an Officer in the U: S. Service, I acknowledge your good sense & experience as an Officer; but there is one insurmountable misfortune that I have but lately discover'd (& which I forbear to mention) that is quite incompatible to the dignity and value of an officer.
Far be it from me to prefer a complaint upon any trivial matter & I would wish the present one to rest in Oblivion, your own reflection will be your own Monitor
You have hinted to me that you should quit the service, I wish it for your own sake, but at the same time to save appearances, could wish you to continue in your station a while longer; & be assured that I have no personal Antipathy against you as a Gentleman, but I am bound to the Public, to serve with fidelity, & honor, & to controul every unfortunate propensity in those who have placed themselves under my command; & altho' the hint I have given you at present may appear of a trivial complexion yet I think it of too important a nature for me to overlook, & which costs me a very Poignant feeling in thus communicating it to you, in all other respects accept of my assurance of regard

17 March 1800.

Sir, Previous to paying off such of the Crew of the Insurgent as may be discharg'd by Captain Murray, you will take care to ascertain all charges against them, you I presume know whether any of them have authoris'd Attornies to draw any part of their pay & you must be responsible for charging it against their wages — $150 has been paid at this Office to the Attorney of Edw'd D. Burke, chaplain, Your pay rolls must contain columns for the names and stations of the ships company, also for the commencement and expiration of service, and others for the rates and amount of pay for that time, & such other columns as are necessary to exhibit the charges of money, slops, payments to Attornies &c as circumstances may require, and one for the balances due & remaining to be paid at the time the Roll is made up to, or time of discharge, death, or desertion of the individual: for the final payment a receipt roll will be proper, which must have columns for the names, stations and balances, together with a column for the signature of the person paid, and another for the witness to the final payment and signature; The witness should be a commissioned or warrant officer, one of whom, should always be present at the pay table while paying off — Deserters forfeit the wages due to them; but the Ex're or administr' of dead men, upon producing & leaving with you for your Voucher, the letters of Administration legally authenticated may be paid, such as do not apply while you are paying off may hereafter be paid at this office, for which purpose it will be necessary for you to make out an abstract of the balances due to dead and discharg'd men, or deserters which will be forwarded to this Office with your pay & receipt rolls. — In your Slop account, you will shew by appropriate columns, the quantities of each several kind of articles rec'd or purchas'd, & the amount and from whom, when and where, and on the contrary, you will shew the quantities disposed of, & remaining on hand, with their amounts respectively, so that your account will shew both the article and the amount. —

The regulations of the Navy, require every person belonging to a vessel of War to draw one ration p't day, and this it will be presumed is always done, unless the contrary is shewn, therefore in your subsistence abstracts a distinction must be made between the undrawn & extra rations, which the Officers will be entitled to pay for. — The undrawn adds a ration to your provision account, which must be accompanied by a statement, shewing the number of men who from time to time have drawn rations and the quantities of each several kinds of articles thereby expended — And in order to shew the statement of the Officers subsistence account, an abstract exhibiting what provisions each of them have drawn or have been supplied with, and what may be due to each of them, must accompany your provision account. —

Sir, I have the honor to acquaint you of my falling in with a French Armed schooner off Jackmel, on the 11th Instant from St Domingo. — She is not possessed with a passport from yourself, or from General Touissaint, or any other papers, by which it can be determined, to whom she belongs, but from every appearance, she was fitted out for the purpose of Cruizing against the United States, as well as all other Neutral Powers, therefore have determined to send her to Commodore Talbot. —

In compliance with a request from General Touissaint, I have been Cruizing off this place, for sometime past, for the purpose of intercepting any supplies which Rigaud might endeavor to throw into Jackmel, and as that place is now surrendered, shall proceed, on my intended Cruize —

Captain James Sever
of the Congress Norfolk

Sir, I am honored with your letter of the 3d instant [See letter under date of 11 January 1800.]—

Immediately on hearing of your arrival, I directed Mr. Pennock to put every thing in motion to refit the Congress with all possible expedition, and if necessary to delay the operations of the Chesapeake to accomplish this object — This course was so obviously dictated by common sense that I hope and trust, he did not wait for my instructions — The Men of the Congress have too long to serve to be discharged, and the expence of keeping them idle in port is not the worst consequence which will accrue — ill humour & insubordination must arise out of such a state of things —

With respect to your Officers, judge whether any of them can be spared, and how long — Such of them as you can do without may be furnished with furloughs, until you think they will be of service on board, which I hope will not be for more than 2 or 3 weeks, for surely the ship can be masted & rigged in 4 or 5 or 6 weeks at farthest from her arrival — Your first Lieutenant [J. B. Cordis] being in Commission must remain in service, be dismissed by a Court Martial or resign — I should be glad [if] he would do the latter — I presume however, he will not — If so, what can be done with him? — If he is not fit to act under a Commander who pays proper attention to the discipline of his Ship is it probable that he is calculated to act under any other? The right course is to keep him on board your Ship, & for you to make him do his duty, or to have him arrested, and tried for misconduct — Having been tried once already, it is not likely he will escape the second time so well as he did the first. I wish I could see any proper mode by which you could be gratified in his removal — If he has acted improperly, it is your duty to arrest him, & if he cannot be tried at Norfolk, he must remain on shore, until he can be tried — In the event of his detention or removal, Lieut. Blair will of course, Succeed to his Station —

In your recruiting instructions it is observed that "you must advance to Your Recruiting Officers, who must settle their Accounts with You" — I can hardly conceive that it can be necessary for the recruiting Officer to come here merely for the Settlement of his accounts — If however you find it indispensable, I suppose he must come on, tho it will be attended with so much delay, that it is not to be expected he can return in time to join the Ship at Norfolk —

I fear from Mr. Cockes a/c she may be delayed for Blocks — do not suffer this, but take those for the Chesapeake, and in every other instance give the Congress the preference in dispatch — Keep as many Carpenters about her as can work to advantage, even if every man is taken from the Chesapeake. — I know not when Capt. UNITED STATES FRIGATE Boston at Sea
March 19th 1800 —

SIR, On the 6th of February I received orders from Captain Talbot to cruise in the Bite of Leogan, after filling up my water in the Mole. while I lay there, I drew a bill on Nathan Levy Esquire for the sum of 400 Dollars, which was expended in provisions Wood, & other articles necessary for the ship. Since that time I have been employed in Convoying American merchantmen from the Mole to Port Republican, & from Port Republican to the Mole — after discharging my convoy at each place, I have generally cruised five or six day on the Coasts of Rigaud. On the 2d of March I ran ashore a small boat near Jeremie, the crew making their escape I took the boat & carried her to Port au Prince, where she was sold at Public Auction by our Consul, M' Ritchie; I inclose to you a copy of the sale. On the 4th of march fell in with a small French Merchant sloop, called the La, Fortune from Abricot, near Jeremie, bound to St Yago de Cuba; she was Armed with Muskets, Pistols, & Cutlasses. On a strict examination 3302 20/100 [or 3382 20/100] Dollars were found in her hole in the well of the pump, it consisted of light Joes and dollars; I had it taken aboard, together with her Arms; The Vessel being of 4 tons burthen only, and of little value; severally women & children, passengers also being aboard, I permitted her to proceed.

On the 11th of March being between Gonave & the Point of St Mark, with a Merchant brig in tow, bound to Port au Prince; I saw 9 Barges making towards us from the Island of Gonave; having about 20 Oars each & each carrying from 30 to 40 men. Their object was the Boston; On discovering them I ordered my guns instantly housed to decoy them if possible, which answered the intended effect in some measure; on approaching within shot they found their mistake & turned to row away from me. The Guns were immediately run out & a fire commenced which lasted two hours, during which time I destroyed three of the barges with their crews, the rest were so fortunate as to reach the Island, but in a most shattered condition, by this time it had become dark; had day light continued three hours longer I am apt to think I should have destroyed the whole fleet. The Powder & shot expended in firing at them, I fear, was of more value than their destruction. I parted with the Schooner Experiment, Lieut Maley yesterday, who has gone round the south side of the Island, to join the Gen'l Green, Captain Talbot, supposing her force alone inadequate to the purpose of cruising successfully against those pirates. Mr Ritchie has the appearance of Gentleman & true friend to the interests of his Country; bestowing the greatest attention both on public & private property.

My Officers and men having been from home 8 Months, requested a distribution of the proportion of Cash Accruing to them, from the prize La, Fortune; In consequence of which, I ordered a distribution according to the list accompanying this, which was made in presence of the Officers & Crew; A proportion of the light Joes mentioned above, was distributed to the Officers & crew, the remainder with the Silver I have placed to the Credit of the U. States. I laid out in Port au Prince 696 dollars for Provisions and Spirits & other necessaries for the ship. I shall be as prudent of the public property as in me lies, I shall suffer no waste of stores of any description on board the Boston, & I presume at the end of the cruise, you will find the disbursements for this ship less than for any other ship of her size on the station. Herewith I send you two muster Books for the months of January & February last, a List of the Distribution of the Cash taken out of the Sloop La Fortune, the Sloop La Fortune’s papers, & a list of Provisions now on board with the time in which they will be expended.

I have the honor to be Sir Your Most Ob't humble Serv't

Taken from the Accounts of Cap. Geo Little on file in the Office of the Accountant of the Navy — There is no account of sales — It appears from Cap' Little's relation of the business that it was money he took out of a small Sloop not worth retaining & which he gave up to the passengers on board —

To J. & W. Forbes, Agents for distribution of prize money, New York, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 19th March 1800

Mess'r J & W. Forbes

New York—

GENTLEMEN With respect to the distribution of the prize money resulting from the capture of Le Gourdi Le Pelican, between the crews of the Boston & Norfolk, the Law directs "that whenever one or more "Ships of the United States are in sight at the time of any one or more "other Ships as aforesaid are taking a prize or prizes, or being engaged "with an enemy & they shall all be so in Sight when the enemy shall "strike or surrender, they shall share equally according to the number "of Guns and men on board of each in sight."

The Boston mounts 24 — 12 pounders and 8 nines — The Norfolk 18 six pounders — The number of men on board of each you will ascertain by the Muster rolls of these ships which must be forwarded you from this Office before a distribution can take place — We have not yet received them —

To Captain Henry Geddes, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 19th March 1800

Captain Henry Geddes

of the Patapsco New Castle

SIR I am honored with your letter of the 17th. — I presume the Ship Patapsco being at New Castle it will be better to have her caulked there, than to bring her to Philadelphia — I shall therefore send down a parcel of Carpenters — more I suppose can be got at New Castle — Apply to Mess’ Riddle & Bird who will aid in having the necessary repairs done without the least delay, and will furnish fresh provisions. — There must be no delay, because the services of the Patapsco are greatly wanted in the West Indies — The sick you must dispose of in the best manner you can, to get them well — the people must have fresh provisions —

Please to send me immediately returns of what provisions & stores you want — calculating that you are to take as much provisions as you can find room for — The Merchants who have money on board, must adopt themselves the means of getting it to Philad* — You have a right by the regulations to charge ¼ per Cent Comm* for your Care of it —

I have the honor to be

JACOB SHEAFFE Esq

Portsmouth N H

Sir I am honored with your letters of the 5\(^th\) & 7\(^th\) instant —
It is no doubt proper that the staves for the Water Casks for the 74 Gun Ship to be built at Portsmouth should be procured at an early period that they may have time to be thoroughly Seasoned — Be pleased therefore to have them procured. —
It will be proper to have some casks large enough to contain 250 to 300 Gallons each, and others of smaller capacities, for the convenience of storage, the exact numbers of the different dimensions I cannot directly ascertain — this you must do — The whole must contain 58,000 G\(^m\) which, will be an ample supply for 650 men the complement of a 74 — 4 months. — The staves for the large Casks must be 5 feet 8 inches long not less than 4 1/2 inches wide, nor less than 1 3/4 inches thick in the thinnest part — The heading must be 3 feet 7 inches long not less than 7 inches wide & the same thickness with the staves — from this data, you may make your calculations of the staves & heading for the lesser casks — The whole must be of the best stuff, clear of sap & worm holes, straight & clean. — I will consult Mr Langdon respecting the sale of his Island & the price — A remittance of 18,000 D\(^z\) is ordered —
I have the honor to be

To the Speaker of the House of Representatives, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 20th March 1800 —

The Speaker of the House of Representatives

SIR In obedience to the order of the House of Representatives of the United States, of the 18th instant, the Secretary of the Navy has the honor to lay before the house a copy of Capt Truxtun's Letter of the 3d of February, together with a copy of the extract from his Journal, referred to in the 5th Letter, detailing the particulars of the engagement between the Frigate Constellation, under his command, and a heavy french Ship mounting as he supposed 54 Guns [La Vengeance]. —
The Secretary has received a number of Letters, too voluminous to trouble the house with, of dates both prior and subsequent to the action, leaving no doubt on his mind, that the French Ship, so gallantly defended against the bravery and superior skill of Cap't Truxtun, is the same that arrived at Gaudalupe from France, in the month of Decem' last, called La Vengeance, mounting 50 Guns or upwards.— In confirmation of this opinion the Secretary takes the liberty of stating the substance of Letters received from Cap't Baker of the Delaware Sloop of War — from B. H. Phillips Esq American Consul at Curacao, and from David M. Clarkson Esquire Navy Agent at St. Kitts. — Cap't Baker in a Letter dated Curacao 8th February, mentions, that a French Ship called La Vengeance of 54 Guns, had left Guadaloupe on her return to France about the 1st of February — had a very severe action with the Constellation the following night, and arrived at Curacao on the 6th in a most shattered condition — that he understood she had lost One hundred and forty Men in the action, and when she escaped from the Constellation, had eight feet water in the hold. — M' Phillips in a Letter dated Curacao the 9th of February, to the Secretary of State, announces the arrival there of the French Ship La Vengeance of 56 Guns bound from Guadaloupe to France with a valuable Cargo, and a large sum of Specie, in a very distresed situation, having lost 160 Men killed & wounded, and her Masts & Rigging nearly all shot away in an engagement of five hours within pistol shot, with the Frigate Constellation.

M' Clarkson at St. Kitts states in a Letter dated the 16th February, "We are certain Cap't Truxtun's gallant action was fought with La "Vengeance, a French Man of War, of 54 Guns, and five hundred "picked Men, from Guadaloupe, for France." —

As to the conduct of any particular Officer or other person on board the Constellation, the Sec' has no information except what is to be found in the communications from Cap't Truxtun, by which, but still more by the result of this Heroic Action, it appears that all the Officers and Men on board the Constellation must have nobly performed their duty — The praise of having pursued for many hours a Ship of force so greatly superior to his own, to bring her to action, and of conducting that action with so much skill as to compensate for his great inferiority of force, belongs exclusively to the gallant Commander. It cannot be necessary for the Secretary to add the Elogium bestowed by Cap't Truxtun, on the brave young Midshipman, James Jarvis, who gloriously preferred certain Death to an abandonment of his post —

I have the honor &

To Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General at St. Domingo, from Secretary of State

PHILADELPHIA]

EDWARD STEVENS ESQ

DEPARTMENT OF STATE March 20. 1800

DEAR SIR, I have to acknowledge the receipt of your letters of January 16, 27, and 29, and February 13: all of which have been laid before the President. Your proceedings are distinguished by that intelligence and attention to the interests of the United States which were expected when you accepted your appointment. — The arrangements with General Toussaint, stated in your letter of Jan\(^\text{st}.\) 16\(^\text{th}\) are very satisfactory.

Your answers to Mr Levy, the naval agent, are unquestionably correct; I am only surprised that he could not discern the opinion plainly expressed in your first letter, and that he troubled you for an explanation. Altho' some prizes to our armed ships have been adjudicated before British tribunals, yet the measure is deemed improper, and I suppose will not be repeated. Indeed private armed merchant vessels of the United States were allowed by their instructions to carry French armed vessels which they should capture, into British ports — Britain and France being in a state of war — and there to deliver the prisoners, and submit the prizes to adjudication — if the officers of the place so permitted: and they were allowed also to release American recaptured vessels, and aid their passages to their destined ports: lest otherwise such captures and recaptures should essentially injure the voyages of the capturing vessels. I do not know, however, that these indulgences have ever been adopted in practice: and if I mistake not the public armed vessels are now instructed to send all their prizes to the United States. — This is especially proper and necessary in the cases of American vessels seized and taken for offences against our own laws. — By your letter of Feb\(^\text{rd}.\) 13\(^\text{th}\) it appears that you have submitted the case of the schooner

\text{\textit{Amphithetre}}, captured by Captain Maley [commanding U. S. Schooner

\text{\textit{Experiment}}] and sent to the Cape, to the opinion and decision of Captain Talbot. If these should be for her trial at the Cape, the question will be determined before this letter can reach you; and there the matter must end. But should she remain untried, it is the Presidents opinion and direction that she should be sent to the United States for adjudication. For this purpose I expect the Secretary of the Navy will forward the requisite orders. —

We have recently received the New Constitution for the French Republic — as it is still called — tho' the first Consul is in reality a monarch with immense powers. — The 91\(^{st}\) article is worthy of particular notice. — "The regime of the French Colonies is determined by special laws." I inclose a copy as published in our new's papers.

I have the honor to be &c &c

Sir I am surprized that there should exist any difference in opinion on a point where Public Interest & common sense so obviously decide —
The Congress is full of men and of course lying at great Public expence—The Chesapeake not a seaman on board. — You will take every man from the Chesapeake, that can be in any measure useful in dispatching the Congress & pay no attention to any other object to the prejudice of this until it is accomplished—

Léogane, the 30th Ventose, Year 8 [21 March 1800] of the French Republic, one and indivisible.

To Mr. Stevens, Consul General of the United States of America at Santo Domingo.

Mr. Consul General, My faith in you has never wavered, and I again assure you that nothing will change this sentiment; this I earnestly pray you to believe. The accord which exists between your Government and Santo Domingo will likewise suffer no change on my part; on the contrary, I shall always use all the means in my power to cement it more closely, and to assure you that under all circumstances the citizens of the United States will always find safety and protection in the territories under my command.

The United States have rendered great services to Santo Domingo. I am partly indebted to you for the same. First let me assure you of the gratitude of the inhabitants; but, Mr. Consul, since you have rendered us great services, would you not be disposed to continue them? It is with the aid of one of your fregates that Jacmel has surrendered to my authority; I shall never forget such a great favor; it is easy of execution, do not refuse it to me. This service will increase my gratitude, if that is possible.

I have just ordered General Moyse to conclude the purchase of the armed brig, which you had almost concluded; but it is necessary, Mr. Consul, that she be safely brought to her destination without fear of the English. Now that I am in possession of Jacmel, through the aid of the cruise of the fregate General Green, kindly provide the garrison with supplies which you can convey there without risk. The place, reduced to the most terrible famine, is in great need. The hospital lacks the barest necessities. Could you not accede to my proposal, which is that you be so kind as to permit that the brig, loaded with supplies, as well as other small vessels, also loaded, be sent, as Americans and under the American flag, to Port Republican, in order to evade the English, with orders to go by way of Santo Domingo, and from thence to proceed to Jacmel, as if they had supplies to give in passing to the American brig Augusta which is cruising off Jacmel, in order from there to continue their route to their destination, and then, when they are off Jacmel, they will seize a favorable opportunity for entering that port. This means, Mr. Consul, is infallible. I beseech you to kindly adopt it. Have I no longer the right to hope for it?

I am also writing to the Commodore. I am addressing the same request to him as to you. If you adopt this course, the Commodore will not oppose it. Aided by your protection I am confident of success.

I am sending to you my Adjutant General, in order to ask this inestimable favor of you and of the Commodore. I am charging him to assure you of my inviolable attachment, and my entire devotion to the Government of the United States.

The Adjutant General D'Hébecoue [?] will give you an account of the reduction of Jacmel, of its evacuation and of the incalculable losses sustained by the enemy.

Mr. Consul General, please render me the service which I ask of your justice, and believe me with the most perfect consideration,

Mr. Consul,

Your very humble and very obedient servant

Signed: TOUSSAINT L'OUVERTURE.

Sir Captain Geddes of the Patapsco having returned to the United States without joining your Command as ordered His vessel it seems wanted caulking — The General Greene will be soon leaving you, her mens time being nearly out. — You will then have besides the Constitution only The Boston, Herald, Augusta, Experiment, Richmond, and the Trumbull Captain Jewitt just departing from New York to join you with a provision vessel under convoy. — As soon as I can I will send other vessels to join you, and will take the necessary steps to relieve you in time to return to the United States to discharge your men according to contract, until that time it is intended that you remain & keep all the vessels with you on your Station.—

You must have acquired such knowledge of the proper places for cruising, that I will suggest nothing on the subject — It is probable I understand, that the French Ship at Curacao was so damaged in her action with Captain Truxton, that she will not be able to refit in the West Indies. If so, I suppose three or four hundred Frenchmen will be let loose to man Privateers — Judge for yourself and pursue the measures you think necessary —

You will receive a bundle of papers containing the news. The Congress are still in Session — We have heard nothing from our Ministers to France. — Enclosed I send a Law lately passed respect—

To William Smith, U. S. Minister to Lisbon, Portugal, from Secretary of State

Philad* March 22. 1800

N°. 18.

WILLIAM SMITH Esq:

Dear Sir, I have received your letters in a complete series as far as No 30, dated the 14th of November last, and none later.

Unless Portugal would permit a commercial intercourse with her American Colony, the Brazils, a treaty would seem to be of no great moment: and your communications clearly indicate that she will avoid any treaty whatever. — The time however will rapidly advance, when she will think the United States entitled to more respect than her conduct now supposes. — I trust the information to be derived from the Chevalier de Freire will give that court juster ideas of the importance of this country; and the statements of its own minister will be duly appreciated.

I have informed you of the sailing of a large ship (the Hero) with a valuable cargo for Tunis: She was detained at New York a month longer than I expected, sailing the beginning of February instead of January. — The Sophia departed in January with a cargo of gunpowder and merchandise for Algiers, the latter to raise a small supply of money. — The residue of the stores stipulated for Tunis are preparing to be shipped this Spring, and another vessel with goods &c. will in about a month sail for Algiers. — I wrote fully to O Brien and Eaton, explaining the causes of the delays which had taken place:
and I persuade myself if the Hero and Sophia fortunately reach their destination, that all will be well. If however, O Brien shall have renewed a pressing call for mony, you will have answered his draughts on the arrangements made by Mr King with the House of Baring, in London, or Messrs* Bulkeley's in Lisbon, as you found one or the other most advantageous. — It will be desireable, considering the capricious characters of the Barbary Governments, that you should always exercise your discretion in judging and acting upon their demands, thro' our Consuls.
The expectation long since formed and so often repeated, of two of our frigates visiting the European seas and entering the Mediterranean, is again disappointed. — One stout frigate of 44 guns (the Philadelphia, Capt Decatur [Senior]) now nearly ready for sea was destined for that cruise, with another ship of the same size [U. S. frigate Chesapeake] fitting at Norfolk: But the Constellation, Truxtun, in a severe engagement of five hours with the French frigate Vengeance of 54 guns, lost his mainmast, and was otherwise so much damaged, as to be under the necessity (after going down to Jamaica and not finding the requisite materials) of returning home to refit: she may be daily expected. — This obliges Decatur to sail for the Station left by Truxtun, to command the cruisers in the vicinity of Guadaloupe. — And the Congress frigate, Captain Sever, has lately got back dismasted totally; which may require the Chesapeake (the frigate at Norfolk) to take her place. — The Congress (of the same force with the Constellation) was bound, with the Essex frigate, to the East Indies, to protect our rich commerce in those seas. — In about a week after their departure, early in January, in a gale of wind, the Congress lost her masts. — The Essex it is hoped escaped and proceeded. — But the latter is only of 32 guns, and the heaviest, 12 pounders.

The newspapers and public printed documents committed to the care of Mr. Izard will give you adequate information of our internal affairs. The Judiciary Bill will particularly interest you. — It is doubtful (to say the least) whether it will be so matured this session as to become a law: But that, or something like it, appears highly expedient to ensure a full execution of the laws of the Union, and in a manner acceptable to the people, by bringing the Courts nearer to every man's residence.

I am, Dear Sir, &c &c &c.

Sir, The Secretary of State has put into my hands some papers respecting a captured vessel sent into Cape Francois, about which Doctor Stevens was waiting to receive your directions.

Be pleased to cause it to be observed by the vessels under your command, that prizes are to be sent into the United States with all their papers and some part of the Crew in order to be tried in our Courts — That our Laws do not authorize the capture of even French vessel unarmed, nor of neutral under any circumstances — Some of the Commanders on the St. Domingo Station complain in their letters to me, that French Vessels carry on Trade under Danish colours — If they are certainly French Vessels & armed, they can be captured — but if not armed, we have no right to molest them.
With respect to American Vessels carrying on prohibited trade, they must be dealt with as the Law "for the suspension of Intercourse" directs.

To Secretary of the Navy, from Captain Edward Preble, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Essex,
Table Bay, Cape of Good Hope,
March 25, 1800.

Sir: — Enclosed is a duplicate of a letter I wrote you on the 13th inst., by the Ariel, Capt. Coats, since which nothing particular has taken place.

The conduct of the Army and Navy, and of every branch of this government, has been uniformly friendly and obliging. They have treated me with distinguished attention, and have uniformly tendered their best services.

The Essex is now completely equipped, and as I have heard nothing of the Congress, I shall proceed to sea tomorrow, to carry into effect the orders of the President.

Previous to my leaving Newport, Capt. Sever wrote me a letter, advising me, should I arrive first, to wait for him; but as I have been here fourteen days, and it is uncertain when he will arrive, I do not think it prudent to wait any longer. The frequent S. E. gales of wind I have experienced in this bay since my anchoring here, have prevented my being ready before now.

It is with great pleasure I inform you that my ship's company are in perfect health, which is an unusual circumstance, on board new ships built of unseasoned timber. Every exertion on my part shall be made to keep them so, and to promote on every occasion the honor and reputation of our infant navy.

As I have four boats, I shall leave my launch here. She takes up so much room on the gun-deck, as to exclude the fresh air from passing below, and is very much in the way of the guns on the main-deck. I have likewise left a spare main yard.

The returns forwarded by the Ariel, were the regular monthly returns; returns of commission and warrant officers, &c., &c.

With great respect, I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your most obedient, humble servant,

Edward Preble.

Hon. Secretary of the Navy,
Philadelphia.

[NR&L, Nr: P922-14, Essex by G. H. Preble.]
To Captain James Sever, U. S. Navy, from Captain Edward Preble, U. S. Navy

U. S. Ship Essex,
Table Bay, Cape of Good Hope,
March 25, 1800.

Dear Sir: — I beg leave to acquaint you that I arrived here the 11th inst., since which time my ship's company have been constantly employed in repairing the damages received at sea, and in watering.

Soon after I lost sight of your ship I carried away several lower shrouds, fore and main trestle-trees, topmast cross-trees, and sprung my mainmast, and at the time of our separation, I was expecting every moment to lose it, which made it impossible to keep up with you.

The treatment I have met with here by the Admiral, Sir Roger Curtis, Bart., and the Governor, Sir George Young, Bart., and by all the Captains and officers of the navy, as well as the officers of the army, has been honorable and extremely flattering.

At the moment of my arrival here I was not prepared to salute the Admiral's flag, or I should have done it. I hope on your arrival, that you will think proper to do it, in which case you will receive the same return that Captains of the British navy do, and if you send an officer on shore immediately on your anchoring, I think the Governor will give you assurance of an equal return, should you think proper to salute the Garrison.

I hope as I neglected doing either, you will make up for my neglect by doing both, as I know it is expected of you as the senior officer.

I leave a spare mainyard and my long boat here; either or both will be delivered to you should you want them.

My passage was much lengthened by disasters I met with at sea, and as it is now fourteen days since I arrived I have thought it advisable to proceed direct to Batavia, presuming that you have met with some damage, which perhaps may prevent your proceeding any farther than this place, should you reach here.

I flatter myself that my conduct in this particular will meet the approbation of the President, as it was expected we should both enter the Straits of Sunda by the first of May.

I beg leave to mention that it will be necessary that you send a Lieutenant immediately on your arrival on board the Admiral, and from thence on shore to the Governor, to acquaint them of your ship and the object of your touching here, and that you are cruising against the French. I mention this, as my neglecting it for an hour or two only, gave some dissatisfaction, but which was soon done away.

The recollection of my treatment here by the navy and army will ever afford me pleasure.

I shall cruise in the Straits of Sunda for fifteen days, and if you do not make your appearance in that time, I shall not expect you, and shall act accordingly.

With great regard, I have the honor to be,
Your obedient, humble servant,

Edward Preble.

CAP FRANCOIS March 26th 1800 —

Sir I have the Honor of enclosing you two Letters to your Address, which have been sent to me to be forwarded. One of them is from Gen Toussaint. He has sent his Adjutant Gen M D’Hebicourt to the Cape for the express Purpose of conversing with you and me respecting some Supplies for his Army at Jacmel. He writes me that they are in Want of the Necessaries of Life, and that the Sick & wounded in the Hospital will infallibly perish unless they receive speedy Assistance. From my Conversation with M D’Hebicourt I find that the Gen places great Reliance on the Succour he has demanded from us, & he seems to hint that if he is disappointed his Operations in the South will be much retarded, or perhaps entirely frustrated.

I confess that I feel very much embarased, and do not well know how to act. The plan he has proposed to me, and which, he says, he has also submitted to your Consideration, appears to be impracticable. Do me the Favor to give me your Opinion on the Subject, and if you can think up any Plan which will serve him, without committing me, I will cheerfully cooperate with you in putting it into Execution. It is of immense Consequence to our Commerce with this Colony that Rigaud should not get the upper Hand in the South. The Incursions of his Armed Barges in the Bite, have already been very injurious to our Trade in that Quarter, and should Genl Toussaint be unsuccessful, there is no knowing how far the Depredations of his Enemies may be carried.

I shall be glad to hear from you at your Leisure, and if you have any Letters to send to Genl Toussaint and will transmit them to me I will forward them. —

MARCH 26 1800

Capt Henry Geddes

Sir, I do myself the Honor of writing to you to request some Information, respecting the Marines, — as I sent — Lt Middleton on Board with orders to make Returns of his Detachment on his arrival at any Port. I fear he must be dead, or he could not be guilty of Such wilful neglect. — If he is with you be p'd to order him to leave his Detachment & Come to Head Quarters with his proper Returns. The present Regulation with respect to the payment of the Marines, is settled between the Navy officer & myself as follows. — The Marine officer, when he arrives in Port, makes out a Pay Roll, forward a Duplicate & draws on me at 3 days sight. He settles for all slops & advances with the Purser, and no acct must appear at the Navy office, from the Purser against the Marines. If there is no officer, the Purser follows the same mode as the officer is directed to do & settles the acct with the Pay Master of the Marine Corps — The officer exclusive of the Pay Roll, draws out his acct curr against the Marine Corps — & includes in it his Pay & Rations.

Every thing respecting the Marines must pass Solely under my Notice, and if I can add to their Comfort, or your Convenience I will cheerfully do it.

Extract from a letter from Captain George Stiles of the American Ship Samuel Smith, of Baltimore, concerning his encounter with the French privateer Mars. The Mars, previously captured the American Ship Perseverance, Captain Norman, commanding, of Baltimore

London, 5th April, 1800.

"On my passage from Lisbon, on the 27th March, off Scilly, I fell in with a French privateer of 26 guns, the wind was light; she made great use of her sweeps, and came along side, where she remained 36 minutes, within musket shot, during which time with the assistance of my brave officers and men, I was enabled to convince her that a longer stay was not advisable; she again had recourse to her sweeps, by which means she got about two miles off, when a light breeze began to freshen: I was induced to pursue her 28 hours, during which time I run 262 miles, never more than two miles and sometimes a little less off; the last 6 hours we went 11½ knots, when a dark night proved her protection. My ship suffered very much in her masts, spars, sails and rigging; my main topsail had 75 shot holes in it, my rigging all cut to pieces, but my ship's hull received little or no damage, and not one man hurt."
"My antagonist was taken two days after I left him; he had prior to the action with me taken the Perseverence, of Baltimore, captain Norman. The mate of the Perseverence was on board the privateer during the action, and he writes that they were much surprised to see the American ensign and pendant go up, and immediately to receive a broadside (which by the bye happened to be a raker); he likewise writes that they had the 1st lieutenant and between 30 and 40 of their men killed and wounded. Captain Norman says that the privateer was called the Mars of Bordeaux; that when she took him she had 24 long brass 12 pounders and two 36 pound carronades, with 220 men, but her complement appeared when she was captured to be 173 men. My force was 24 nine pounders and two 42 pound brass carronades, with 96 men."

To Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General at St. Domingo, from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy

FRIGATE Constitution 28th March 1800

SIR I have this moment had the honor of your favor of the 26th instant, covering one from the General in Chief Toussaint —

If I rightly understand the object of the Generals request, it is to cover an armed Brig of his, with number of the Smaller Vessels, laden with provisions for his Army in the South, under the pretence, that they are American public property particularly for the use of the Augusta. It appears to me, that such a disguise, would not avail if it be attempted: the quantity would be abundantly too great, to wear the appearance of being only for the Augusta &?: besides the kinds of provisions would probably be very different, from such as are used on board American Vessels, & consequently would be suspected. — I am willing to do all in my power consistently, to serve the General, & perhaps were I to see you, and the Adjutant General some better plan might be devised. If you and he can make it convenient to come onboard the Constitution the tender will bring you out, and take you back into port, the same day. But lest it may not be convenient, for you & the General to come to me, I will just suggest for your consideration, whether it may not be better to send out from the Cape the Brig, and the other Vessels, the General alludes to, in his letter to me, loaded as may be wished and when they are at sea, I will take possession of them as prize, for want of requisite papers. I shall of course put an Officer on board, & some Men, with orders to continue with the Constitution, who will go round to Jackmel with all such Vessels, and I will endeavor, to get them Safe, into such port, as the General may desire. This will give me some trouble: but I am willing to serve General Touissant. — I hardly think, that any British Armed Vessel will attempt to examine those Vessels, if accompanied by the Constitution. —

If this plan should be thought of adviseable, the larger the Vessels, & of course the fewer in number the more convenient will it be to me to convoy them to the South side, in which case, I must have, one or two pilots from the Cape, who know the land round the Island. —

I will not write to the General until something is determined on, & until I hear from you again, or have the honor of seeing you onboard the Constitution. I hope you can come out to me in the morning. — I have the honor to be with much respect

Yr most obe St

Navy Department Acct of Office 29 March 1800

Sir I have just rec'd your letter of the 18 instant, I wrote you on the 19. to which I refer you on the subject of rations. —

The practice of drawing parts of rations should be discouragd and when you have the Articles on board every person should draw one ration p' day. —

The Property of Seamen dieing in the service of the Navy not in debt to the Ship, is considered as the property of their relatives or administrators — of course the best care should be taken of it untill an Opportunity offers to deliver it over — And when there are no relatives known to the Officer of the Ship or no application for the delivery within a reasonable time, perhaps it will be best with the advice and consent of the Captain to sell the Property keeping a particular account [of] sales of the Articles and crediting the amount to the deceased in the Ships Books. —

GENTLEMEN The Frigate New York appears to be in such forwardness as to require the attention of this Department — The Committee who superintend the building inform me that they intend to rig her compleat & to furnish her with one suit of sails, that they have contracted for her Cables, but not certain whether their funds are adequate to this object together with this proceeding, I have authorized them to draw on me for the deficiency if any —

The following are among the articles which must first claim your attention. Vizt Gun Carriages, & every thing relative to the complete mounting & fixing the Cannon — Anchors, Cables, Boats, Water Casks, Pumps, Spare Sails, Sparrs, ballast, The Guns, Powder, Shot, Muskets & Bayonets Pistols, Boarding pikes, Axes & Swords I will provide —

Estimates of provisions, Military Stores Medicine, Instruments, Hospital Stores Utensils & Stationary, & Cabin furniture are enclosed also the dimensions of the Cannon by which you are to have the carriages made — I presume a considerable quantity of Spare Rigging may be wanted, as well for the President as the New York and having a considerable quantity on hand at the place more than will probably be wanting here before we may be again compelled to retire from the City on account of the Yellow Fever, I am desirous that it may be immediately made use of — Be pleased therefore to provide none but what you have already ordered for either of the Ships & let me know the deficiency that I may take order to supply it. —

It may be proper to substitute some of the 18 pounder Carronades in your possession in lieu of as many 9 pounder Guns for the New York. — Being on the spot you can ascertain the number, & have the carriages & equipments made accordingly.

The Estimate of Military Stores is withheld until I know the number of Carronades substituted for the 9 pounders —

Norfolk —

Sir I send a pilot boat to get information respecting the Congress & the Constellation. If the latter must remain at Norfolk, which I shall be sorry for, the rigging & sails must be sent from hence, and it will not be necessary for you to provide them — We have too large a stock of these articles in store at this place. I hope the return of the pilot Boat, will bring me advice that the Congress will be ready for sea as soon as orders can be sent to Norfolk —

Mr. Thomas Terrant
Master of the Pilot Boat Industry

Sir You will proceed from hence to Norfolk in Virginia with dispatches for Captain Thomas Truxtun, of the Constellation, Captain James Sever of the Congress, Captain Samuel Barron of the Chesapeake & William Pennock Esqre Navy Agent, all which you will deliver agreeably to the direction immediately on your arrival — You have also a packet for Messrs John Cowper & C? and a letter for Lieut Bartholemew Clinch of the Marines which you will also deliver —

If you meet the Constellation before you enter the Chesapeake bay, you will deliver to Captain Truxtun & Lieut Clinch their dispatches & imm? return to this port — For this Service you will be allowed Eighty Dollars if you go the whole distance & reasonable demurrage if detained more than two days at Norfolk by order of either of the Officers to whom you are sent —

If you do not go the whole distance, an allowance in proportion will be made —

commanding the Constellation —

Sir Hearing by a private express from Norfolk of your arrival there the 25th Inst I send down a pilot boat, the sooner to learn the situation of the Constellation, & for an account of such articles as can be best supplied from hence — The Shrouds prepared for the Constellation last summer are still in store as is every other kind of rigging & of the best quality none therefore should be got at Norfolk — nor sails, of which we can quickly send from hence all that you want, after knowing what you want — If however the Constellation can be safely removed to New York, that will be the best step that can be taken. — Norfolk had more to do before your arrival than could be accomplished there with the requisite dispatch — At New York too, you might give the necessary attention to the President now nearly ready for launching, & might at the same time direct the proceedings of the Constellation, until a successor if you preferred the President as no doubt you will do, could take charge of her — Supposing you would try to reach N Y, I directed some time since Masts to be prepared, which are now preparing — If however you should think it unsafe to proceed to New York, we must do as well as we can at Norfolk — In this case let me know if you please at what time (with the aid of rigging, Sails, Powder & Ball from hence) the Frigate can be prepared to go again to sea, before which time, I must send a Commander to succeed you — Until his arrival, I suppose you will find it necessary to remain yourself — I have the honor to be with Great Esteem.

PHILADELPHIA, 31 March, 1800.

The President of the United States requests the Secretary of the Navy to employ some of his clerks in preparing a catalogue of books for the use of his office. It ought to consist of all the best writings in Dutch, Spanish, French, and especially in English, upon the theory and practice of naval architecture, navigation, gunnery, hydraulics, hydrostatics, and all branches of mathematics subservient to the profession of the sea. The lives of all the admirals, English, French, Dutch, or any other nation, who have distinguished themselves by the boldness and success of their navigation, or their gallantry and skill in naval combats. If there are no funds which can be legally applied by the Secretary to the purchase of such a library, application ought to be made to Congress for assistance.

Protest of Wilkes Barber, Master, of the American Private Armed Ship Minerva, captured by French Privateer La Minerve, and afterwards captured by a British Frigate Consulate of the United States of America at Bordeaux.

By this public Instrument of Protest, be it known and made manifest to all whom it may Concern that on the twelfth day of April One thousand eight hundred, before me Isaac Cox Barnet, Agent of the United States of America & charged with the affairs of the Consulate for the Port and District of Bordeaux, duly authorised by the Authority & Government of the United States

Personnally appeared Wilkes Barber, Master & Commander, Abra- ham Walton, Second Mate & Boatswain, James Gibson Gunner, & Jonathan Ellis Seaman of the Ship Minerva of Boston and William Tudor Junr Edward Sharp & Oliver C Greenleaf Passengers; and said Wilkes Barber made before me on his Solemn Oath the following Declaration to which the said Abraham Walton, James Gibson, and Jonathan Ellis, & the above named Passengers have severally certified & signed.

I Wilkes Barber, Master of the ship Minerva of Boston in the United States of America, armed with fourteen carriage Guns, twelve of which were four pounders & two of six pound shot, & equipped with thirty men & Boys, besides the Passengers, sailed from the Port of London on the sixteenth day of March last, bound for Boston, came to anchor in the Downs on the Eighteenth, & on the twenty first following, sailed from thence in company with the ships Diana Captain Davis & Sarah Captain Brick of Boston, the Belvidere Captain Ross of Philadelphia & Halcyon Captain Wise of Baltimore, all bound for the different Ports of the United States, under a verbal agreement to keep company with each other untill clear of the English Channel, that on the twenty second day of March at night being off Beachy Head & thick weather, the ship Belvedere parted Company. — On the twenty third following at about five o’clock P. M. was brought to by his Britannic Majesty’s ship Babet, went aboard with Captain Wise of the Halcyon & were detained about two hours from pursuing our Voyage.

On the twenty fourth March spoke the other ships, Captain Davis of the Diana came on board the Minerva & left a letter for Boston, saying that he was going to Portsmouth, for that having engaged by his insurance to sail with ships, one of which had already left him, he feared the rest would do the same; that agreeing still with the Captains of the other ships to keep Company, all stood on together untill night, when at about twelve o’clock and thick Fogg, Capt. Davis of the Diana hailed and said the Minerva would be aboard him, upon which I ordered sail to be shortened to let him shoot a Head & continued making signals through the night, which were not answered — and the next morning twenty fifth of March, the Diana was out of sight; the Halcyon & Sarah being still in company at about five o’Clock P. M. saw the land which I supposed to be Portland, from which I took my departure, continued on our Course together untill about midnight — then being off of the Start, parted company from the Sarah. On the twenty seventh of March at Ten P. M. being very squally & a heavy sea, carried away the Main Top Mast — cleared the rigging & on the following morning got up another and was all compleat at Meridian.

On the twenty ninth of March at twelve o’Clock P. M. lost sight of the Halcyon, in consequence of the heavy Gales from the Northward & the very high sea running, being then in lon. 13 W. & lat. 48 some odd miles N. stood on our Course untill March thirty first being in the lat. 47.50 — lon. 14 & odd by account with the wind from N. N. W. to N. W. very squally and a heavy sea, being under short sail, every thing in good order & standing on my Course as near as possible. About four o’Clock in the Morning saw sail in the N. E. which tacked & wore ship several times; about ten o’clock A. M. the ship made sail & gave chace to the Minerva upon observing which, I made all the sail the Weather would permit by letting out the reefs from the Topsails & kept on the same Course to the S. W. and W. S. W. and immediately got all clear for Action, determined if possible to save my ship from Capture if the ship in chace should prove to be a Privateer, and in which resolution I was fully seconded by my Officers and Crew who shewed the greatest alacrity and good order — The sail in sight gained very fast on us by her Superior Sailing and at half past ten A. M. fired a Gun being distant about one and half Miles to Leeward & hoisted french Colours and appeared to be a Privateer ship of eighteen Guns. — I then ordered a Gun fired to Leeward and hoisted the American Colours & made ready for defence with all hands to their quarters; shortly after which the french ship hailed in English & ordered me to send my Boat on board, I answered that "if he wanted anything of me to send his own Boat on board and examine me", he then hailed a second time and said "Damn you send your Boat on board or I will fire into you", to which I answered "fire & be damned" he then fired a Gun, the shot of which cut away the Minerva's starboard Main, Clue Garnet, I then ordered a Gun fired with shot at the Privateer, which was returned by a Broadside and wounded one Man very badly, named Daniel Coffin; the Minerva then within Pistole shot fired her Larboard Broad-side twice, whilst the Privateer kept up a Continual fire from her Battery, Musketry & large blunderbusses fixed on the Tops, during the Action a Musket Ball killed the Man at Helm by name of Andrew Nannicks, a Dane by Birth & naturalized Citizen of the United States — finding very soon the great inferiority in Men & force of the Minerva & that a longer Contest would only be a Certain loss of all my men and ineffectual resistance, I struck my Colours after which the Men from the Privateer, continued to fire their Musketry to the number, I believe, of sixty or seventy rounds, contrary to the laws of nations, the well known rules of War and humanity & after they had ceased firing, I was ordered from the Privateer to lower my Boat, I then ordered it lowered down, & during the execution of my orders, I was threatened several times to be fired at; I then went on board the Privateer with my papers accompanied by M't Tudor Junr one of the Passengers; on going on board the Privateer, the Linguest talked to me in a very abused manner, calling me "a Damn'd Englishman Damned Liar" but M't Tudor speaking the french Language answered to the French Captain's Questions "that the Ship was the Minerva of Boston, bound from London to Boston & loaded with Bail & Dry Goods, belonging to American Merchants &C &C." The Captain of the Privateer took my papers, eighteen in number, among which were an attested list of my Crew or Role d'Equipage, Register, Meditera-nean Pass, Commission of Letter of Marque, Sea letter &C &C., the papers were then sealed up and delivered to a prize Master who was sent on board the Minerva with a Mate & twenty men; — & twenty two of the Minerva's Crew were brought on board the Privateer with two of the Passengers, M't Edward Sharp & M't Oliver C. Greenleaf who were forced into the Boat & from the great Sea & swell were in danger of their lives, they were moreover shamefully abused on their passage from the Minerva to the Privateer by an American Negro-man, one of her Crew.

I mentioned several times to the Captain of the Privateer the dangerous situation of the wounded man left on board the Minerva, & requested a Surgeon being sent on board, which was not attended to, it was objected that the sea was too rough, but the Captain of the Privateer told me a few days after that his non Compliance arose from the fear of meeting with English Cruizers — otherwise he would have sent on board to look after the Wounded man & bring off M't Tudor's & my Cloaths, there were left on board the Minerva my chief Mate, John Norwood, Robert Cleland Passenger and acting as Officer, three Seamen & four men, two women and two Children passengers.

After being a short time on board the Privateer, I learned that she was called La Minerve of Bordeaux commanded by Langlois, armed with eighteen carriage Guns of twelve & nine pounders & one hundred & fifty five men.

On the third day of April following, the wind being from the Westward and thick Weather, the Minerva close then in Company & close a board — at about nine o’clock in the Morning, a sail was discovered standing towards us, we were immediately ordered below with my Passengers, & the Minerva’s Crew confined in the hold under double guards — The Vessel in chase coming up fast, in about a hour after we were ordered below, I saw her fire a Gun at the Minerva & from the Cabbin windows of the Privateer, I could distinguish this ship to be an English Frigate, and soon understood that she had boarded & taken possession of the Minerva. — the Minerva then hauled away to the N. E. & the Frigate gave chace to the Privateer. — In order to lighten which & help her sailing, part of the Guns, spare spars, some shot & other heavy Articles were thrown overboard, and several Casks of water, stove & pumped out, the stanchions between Decks knaked away & stays slackened; in about an hour afterwards the Frigate gave over chace and the Privateer proceeded on for the Port of Bordeaux — On the fifth day of April arrived in the Gironde River & on the ninth following anchored off Bordeaux. I was kept on board the said Privateer during all the day of the tenth, with my Crew & the Passengers, and not allowed the liberty to communicate with the shore, and on the eleventh of this present month at about Ten o’clock in the morning three French men came on board the said Privateer, one of which having a tricoloured Riband about his neck with a silver Badge to it, I took to be a Civil Officer or Magistrate, I was requested to attend in the Cabbin — where I was questioned in English by one of the above mentioned three French-Men, on many points relative to my ship Minerva, her Cargo & my Capture, all which questions with my answers, were committed to paper & to which by their desire I suscribed my name after hearing them read to me in English & finding nothing stated contrary to the answers I had previously given — My examination took up about three hours & an half, and about half past one P. M. & as it was finished, Isaac Cox Barnet Esquire Agent of the United States & charged with the affairs of the Consulate, came on board & told me he had obtained liberty to me to go on shore, & upon his invitation I accordingly accompanied him, leaving my Passengers & men to be examined, who were thereafter & upon the said Isaac Cox Barnet Esquire’s Interference set at liberty in the Course of the Afternoon of the same day and this Morning the twelfth of April.

And I the said Wilkes Barber do by these presents solemnly protest & do request the said Isaac Cox Barnet to receive this, my declaration and to protest against the said Privateer ship La Minerve Cap. Langlois, her Officers & Crew, Owners & all interested therein for the capture of my said ship Minerva & for all Damages, Costs, Interests, Salvages, Detriments, Injury, loss & Consequences whatever which have arisen or may arise therefrom to the prejudice of the said ship Minerva, her Tackle, furniture, Apparel & Cargo, and all Interested therein

In Consequence whereof I the said Isaac Cox Barnet at the request afore said have protested & do by these presents solemnly protest against the said Privateer La Minerve, her Captain, Officers, Crew &
Owners & all Interested or Concerned in the same for all acts of hostility commenced on their part for all Damages accrued by the Capture & recapture of the said ship Minerva, her Tackle, Apparel & Cargo &c. &c. and generally against all Damages whatsoever that may or can arise by reason thereof, signed on the Book of Records Wilkes Barber, Abraham Walton, James Gibson, Jonathan Ellis, William Tudor Junr, Edward Sharp & Oliver C. Greenleaf

Done at Bordeaux the day, Month & year afore mentioned in presence of the said Wilkes Barber Captain, Abraham Walton Second Mate & Boatswain, James Gibson Gunner & Jonathan Ellis Sailor, & William Tudor Junior, Edward Sharp & Oliver C. Greenleaf Passengers, who have each & severally made solemn Oath to the truth of the aforesaid Declaration & protest by them suscribed, In testimony whereof I have hereunto set my hand and affixed the seal of office of the United States signed I Cox Barnet

Recorded at the request of said Captain Wilkes Barber at the office of the Agent & charged of the affairs of the Consulate of the United States of America in Book A folio 58, — 59 — 60 & 61 by me, signed Jnº P. Lahautiere Secretary to the Agent & Charged of the Affairs of the Consulate of the United States of America.

I, Isaac Cox Barnet Agent of the United States of America and charged with the affairs of the Consulate for the Port & District of Bordeaux do hereby Certify that the foregoing Instrument of writing is a true Copy taken from the Original Record duly signed in my Books of Records entitled A, and that the same has been carefully collationed by me

In Witness whereof I have hereunto set my hand & affixed my Seal of office. Done at the City of Bordeaux, this fifteen day of April in the year One thousand Eight hundred and of the Independence of the United States of America the twenty fourth.

[Extract from a letter from a Captain of one of the U. S. Ships of War]

OFF PORTO RICO,
March 31st. [1800]

"Privateering seems nearly at an end; I am informed by good authority that there have not been as many captures by the French lately, as will enable the owners of privateers to fit them out for a second expedition.

"A few days since I fell in with the U. S. brig Augusta, and I think her one of the finest brigs in the service, remarkably stiff, and sails uncommonly fast — with a very stiff breeze, and with single-reef'd topsails and top-gallant sails over them, going by the wind, her lee ports were two feet clear of the water."

(This is the same brig Augusta that some folks wanted condemned as unfit for service. Our friends to the East might not have intended any attack upon the reputation of southern Ship-building, but there was something very much like it.)

To Isaac Cox Barnet, U. S. Commercial Agent, Bourdeaux, France, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Philadelphia, 31 March 1800

ISAAC COX BARNET Esqr

Sir, I have received your several letters of 16th July, 14th August, 3, 12, 15th Sept' and 3rd Oct' last. —

With respect to your advances on account of American captured vessels, I shall write to Mr Murray, authorizing him to examine and settle them, and for that purpose will supply him with funds. But you will in all cases, wherein it is practicable, obtain reimbursement from the individuals, and never pledge yourself to pay except in cases wherein from the utter want of funds or credit of the master or other person representing the claimants of a vessel or property captured you are constrained to do so. — In future you will never incur any charge on behalf of the public in a case the circumstances of which bring it within the rule of a condemnation pronounced by the Court in the last resort, unless a change in the principles and conduct of the rulers of France towards the United States, or other encouraging circumstance should warrant it. — This last direction is however given without a knowledge of what may have happened in consequence of our mission to France. — If it should have terminated favourably you will doubtless have had such information from Mr Murray or the other envoys as will serve to regulate your conduct in this business, and you will follow the advice of Mr Murray in the further prosecution of it.

The charge of two per cent, made by your correspondents on the amount of vessels and cargoes claimed, appears enormous. It is better to authorize some trustworthy Advocate to manage the claim in co-operation with the person representing the claimant, in each case, and to make him compensation accordingly. Whenever it is absolutely necessary to employ an Agent distinctively from the Advocate you should agree for a per centage on his disbursements, and if in special cases that may not be found a sufficient compensation, allow in addition to it a gross sum, which with the commissions may be equal to the services rendered. — The per centage on the entire amount of the property in litigation is unreasonable and inequitable, because, it has no relation to the services rendered, and I suppose generally far exceeds a just retribution for them. — You will state this idea to those who entertain the expectation of receiving this arbitrary compensation, and use your endeavours to have it reduced.

You should be very cautious of giving certificates to vessels purchased of the belligerent powers, for such purchases are often very suspicious, and when they are fair they tend to embarrass the purchaser. — In this you will be guided by a prudent discretion. — Where the vessel has been a prize you should always require the exhibition of a condemnation in a legal tribunal, and a bill of sale or what is equivalent to it. — If the vessel is purchased by an Agent, he should produce to you the authority he has from his principal to make such a purchase on his behalf: and the operation of your certificate to any such vessel should be limited to her voyage to the United States, where she may get regular papers. — Much inconvenience has arisen from the indefinite terms of Consular certificates to such condemned vessels.

I have noticed your suggestions on the defects of the Consular system. One of them admits of a remedy under the existing laws: it is that which relates to masters of vessels refusing to exhibit their shipping articles on the hearing of disputes between them and their seamen about wages. — By the 6th section of the “Act for the government and regulation of seamen in the merchants service,” it is provided, that, “it shall be incumbent on the master or commander to produce the contract and log-book if required, to ascertain any matters in dispute; otherwise it shall be permitted to the complainants to state the contents thereof and the proof of the contrary shall lie on the master or commander.” This regulation is prescribed for cases depending in the District Courts; but supposing our Consuls in Foreign countries to have the right to settle disputes about seamen’s wages, which is I believe the general practice, the same regulation may well be taken for a guide by them.

You inform me that you attended the fête of the 18th Fructidor, by invitation, with the other foreign agents. — We take no interest in the celebrations decreed by the French government in remembrance of the victory of one faction over another: and in particular we consider that of the 18th fructidor as being commemorative of a breach not only of the French Constitution, but also of the laws of natural justice in condemning to banishment citizens who were never permitted to be heard in their own defence. —

I have received and paid the bill drawn by you in favor of Mrs Elizabeth Barnet for 650 dollars. —

I am, Sir, very respectfully &c &c

NEWBURYPORT, April 22.

(The U. S. sloops of war Warren and Norfolk have been very active and serviceable on the Havana station. Although no captures have been made, they have effectually cleared the coast of privateers; and convoyed several valuable fleets. A letter from on board the Warren of the 1st April, says,) "we see nothing but the stripes, and occasionally St. George's cross, and are convinced there is not a French cruiser on the north side of the Island.

"Our crew is very healthy, but to day Elijah Williams, a worthy sailor, fell from the fore top sail yard — broke his scull all to pieces, and fractured his lower jaw. He lived about three hours."

To Isaac Cox Barnet, U. S. Commercial Agent, Bourdeaux, France, from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE

Philad 1 April 1800

ISAAC COX BARNET Esq

Sir, The President has given permission to Mr Nathaniel Prime of New York to enter his ship Titus, now lying at Bourdeaux, in any port of the United States, with American passengers from France, provided she does not take on board nor bring hither any cargo or lading whatever other than necessary sea-stores. I have contracted with him to bring home such distressed seamen as you may put on board, at the rate of $45 dollars per man, he supplying them with provisions, water and fuel, during the voyage. The contract does not include such as may be employed by him to navigate the vessel. You may furnish them with such few articles of light clothing as may be necessary to health or cleanliness, should the voyage be entered upon in season to be performed during the warm weather; otherwise with whatever may be absolutely necessary for their comfort in the winter, paying the strictest attention to economy. I hardly suppose the voyage can be delayed so long as to require provision for a winter’s passage.

I request you to communicate to Mr Dobfée at Nantz such parts of my letter of yesterday’s date, as may be necessary for his government in relation to claims for captured property.

I am, Sir &c. &c.

Complaint of Captain Charles Henderson, commanding the American Brig Sally, against the Sloop Bermuda Packet, George Wiseman, commanding

The following was handed for publication by capt. Henderson:

Whereas, the American brig Sally, Charles Henderson, master, sailed from Jamaica on the 31st March bound to the Bay of Honduras, and on the first day of April, being then fifty leagues west of Jamaica, at 2 P. M. saw a sloop to the N. W. standing to the Southward, with an English ensign down, we then took in sail and bore down upon him under our topsails in order to give him assistance, and hoisted the American Colours; at 3 P. M. the said sloop hailed us from whence we came, we answered from Jamaica, we likewise hailed him, but he gave me no answer. She appeared to have about 60 blacks, had a teer of ports and shewed some guns; we filled our topsails in order to go round his stern and take a good sight of him, when he hailed us, and said he would fire a broadside into us if we did not heave too immediately, he accordingly fired about twenty muskets unto us, being then within half pistol shot, the balls fell alongside but fortunately did no mischief; he then hauled down the English colours and fired another volley of small arms into us, but done no damage, only making the people dodge and putting them in fear of their lives; we then made sail we could in order to get away from him, when he took a position to lay across our stern, and fired one of his great guns at us, in order to rake us. We can all hands declare the said sloop was full nigh when he spoke us to ask any assistance he could wish; and absolutely (according to our opinions) fired into us with an intent to kill the ships company. As the said sloop is now in port, we the subscribers wish to seek redress for the mal-treatment we have received, and can swear our lives against the said master with propriety.

NORFOLK 24 April 1800

SIR You come to me and make a complaint that Capt's Sever wished your men all employed on the Congress's Spars & c — and a few minutes after — produce me a letter from the Sec'y of the Navy — desiring that no Object should interfere with the dispatch of that ship — I am not pleased with this sort of proceeding — I have to desire therefore, that you comply with the Sec'y orders, and as far as in your power lies — mine also & if you cannot do the business of the Constellation, without interfering with that of the Congress inform me — in order that another Shipwright be employed — for the Constellation cannot be detained here with a full compliment of men on board.

NORFOLK 24 April 1800

SIR You will proceed with all the dispatch that is in your power — to make the main mast for the Constellation and other Spars — as I intend that ship shall be ready for sea in a very short time.
I do not mean by this, that you are to take any hands off from other work particularly ordered by the Sec'y of the Navy — but that you should procure a proper gang for to make the Constellations Spars — as there are men in abundance. Again I desire that you proceed to obey this order — And that I hear no excuse in future.

RICHARD HARRISON Esq

Auditor of the Treasury

I have the honor to enclose you a list of the names of all the Revenue Cutters which have been employed under orders from this Department —

This list exhibits the periods at which they respectively received their first orders to do duty in the Navy, and the times at which those dismissed were returned to the Revenue Service. — Three of these Vessels are permanently placed on the Navy establishment, — Viz. the Eagle, the Pickering and the Scammel. — To this list I have annexed amo$ of the sums which have been paid on accounts finally adjusted, and also the amounts of the respective sums with which each Vessel stands charged which yet remain to be settled, on the books of the Accountant of the Navy. —

New York —

GENTLEMEN In my letter of the 29th Ult. I informed you that the Guns for the Frigate New York should be sent from hence — Since which I am advised that it will be proper to have some of the nine pounders longer than those made at this place, and as you have some of the proper length, you will be pleased to furnish all the 9 pounders agreeably to Captain Robinson's directions. — The 18 pounders are already ordered to be shipped. — In addition to the articles mentioned to be sent from hence, a camboose is ordered — Pistols, Boarding pikes, & cutlasses you may furnish — Be so good as to ascertain whether one pair of 32 pounders Carronades can be had in New York — One pair of those you sent here for the Philadelphia are left and may be returned, if you can find others to match them — Enclosed is the copy of a letter to the Committee for building the Frigate. You will be pleased to confer with those Gentlemen — Assuring myself that you will facilitate by every means in your power the completing the ship —
I have the honor

Protest of Lewis Young, Master of the Brig Nancy boarded by French Privateer. After being plundered, she escaped

COMMONWEALTH OF MASSACHUSETTS. Boston ss.

By this public Instrument of Protest be it known and made manifest, that on this twenty second day of April, in the year of our Lord One thousand Eight hundred, before me William Stevenson Notary Public, by legal authority admitted & sworn and dwelling in Boston aforesaid, personally came and appeared Lewis Young and on Oath declared that he sailed from Acrā, on the Coast of Africa, on the twenty third day of January last, in and with the Brigantine Nancy laden with sundry articles of merchandise and bound for Boston, said Vessel being then tight and staunch & every way equipped and provided for such a Voyage. — That he proceeded on said voyage without any remarkable occurrence until the twenty ninth day of March following, being then in Latt: 17.42 N. and Long: 52 West when he fell in with a French Privateer Schooner of eight Guns, & engaged her for four Glasses, after which she sheered off and the deponent kept on his course; nothing more material happening until the 2nd day of April in Latt: 21.50 N & Long: 55 West he fell in with an armed french Brigantine, mounting 16 Guns, name unknown, that after receiving three shot from the said Privateer he hove to, and was boarded by an Officer and several men, who took the deponent, with all his papers on board the Privateer, after examining his papers they sent him on board the Nancy, together with a prize-master and several men, who broke open the hatches of said Brig Nancy and plundered therefrom two hundred and twenty five and one half Ounces of Gold Dust — and a quantity of Ivory and Wax, and hove overboard the Guns, Boat & considerable rigging &c. The Privateer being at a considerable distance and night coming on, and the Frenchmen having gone in a Boat loaded with Ivory &c for the Privateer, the deponent taking advantage of a squall, made sail and was soon out of sight of the said Privateer, & stood on his course for the Port of Boston — That on the passage he met several heavy Gales of Wind, and arrived this day — He now desires a protest reserving to himself the right of extending this protest for such cause and in such manner as he may find necessary.

(Signed) LEWIS YOUNG.

Attested by CHRISTOPHER BEETLE
JESSE INGLEE

Wherefore I the said Notary have protested and by these Presents Do solemnly Protest against the aforementioned french armed Brigantine, her Owners, Officers & Crew for all things plundered from said
Brigantine Nancy, & for all Losses, costs, damages & expenses which has arisen, or which may arise and accrue to the said Brigantine Nancy and her Cargo, or any part thereof, or to any person or persons concerned therein — and also against the Winds & Seas for all loss & damage that may have happened in consequence of the several heavy Gales of Wind as mentioned in the preceding Declaration. —

Thus done & protested at Boston aforesaid & my Notarial Seal affixed this twenty second day of April A. D. 1800. in presence of Christopher Beetle first mate & Jesse Inglee 2nd mate on board said Brig in & upon the Voyage aforesaid who severally made solemn Oath to the truth of the foregoing declaration & subscribed the same. —

To Captain Stephen Decatur (senior), U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

Captain Stephen Decatur of the Frigate Philad

SIR Having already given you all the instructions necessary for the general government of your conduct on a cruise it only remains for me in this letter to direct your particular destination, and to add such observations as may result from the nature of the service in which you are to be employed.

You will as soon after the receipt of this as practicable proceed with the Philadelphia to join our Squadron on the Guadeloupe Station, rendezvousing at St. Kitts. — Our Squadron at present consists of the

Frigate Adams — Morris
Jnº Adams — Cross
Ship Merrimack — Brown
Connecticut — Tryon Delaware — Baker
Brig Eagle — Campbell
Ship Baltimore — Cowper
Schº Enterprize — Shaw
Brig Pickering — Hiller
Schº Scammell — Fernald

You are to assume the command of these vessels & use your utmost efforts to keep them constantly cruising, and in the same manner you will employ your Frigate for the protection of our Commerce which will be best effected, by capturing or destroying the Enemy Vessels which issue out of Guadeloupe & other places in the vicinity of that Island — Still you are to grant convoy to American Vessels when you judge it to be essential, but by no means to employ your whole force in this kind of Service for that would be to protect only a part of the Trade, at the certain expense of the residue — nor are you to grant convoy to the importunity of Captains or owners of vessels, when opposed to your own Judgement which ought alone to govern you in this particular — for every individual Captain or Merchant will wish security to his own property, although a much greater amount belonging to others may be exposed from the circumstance of the very partial aid given to him. — But in all cases where any vessel belonging to your Squadron is returning to the United States, you should be pointed in your endeavors to get as many Merchant vessels as possible under her Convoy, & whenever the Merchant vessels collect in Fleets, you should afford them Convoy to a safe Latitude — In short you are to render them all the service in your power consistent with the greater object of protecting the whole of the Trade, by capturing or destroying the Enemy Vessels which annoy it —

Our Commerce is often infested by Privateers issuing from Porto Rico, and they will now be increased to prey upon our Trade to Saint Domingo. — It will be necessary that you frequently send one or more cruisers to scour the whole coast of that Island — but your great attention must be given to Guadeloupe & the small neighboring neutral Islands, from whence our trade is much distressed.

If your force should admit it, you should sometimes send a cruiser to Curracao. — You cannot well be too adventurous — We have nothing to fear but from want of enterprize, and it almost amounts to a reflection on our Navy that not a single small vessel has yet been seriously engaged, which shews too great a degree of caution — it has not I am sure proceeded from a want of Spirit — Let it be your endeavor to wipe off this seeming reproach from our smaller Vessels by encouraging a spirit of enterprize and by giving every Commander opportunities of distinguishing himself by daring at least if they are still so unfortunate as not to meet an Enemy, with force & courage to fight them, we cannot help it.

The French privateers never cruise in company, nor should we in company pursue them. — By dispersing our vessels the chances will be greater of meeting them and the rest may be safely trusted to the superiority of American Valor & Skill

Should it so happen that you are driven from the Station assigned you, by a superior force, which however is far from being probable, you will endeavor to join our Squadron at St Domingo, where the force with the addition of yours will be too powerfull for any thing the French can have to spare for the Islands — Captain Talbot will be on that Station with several other strong vessels — On the subject of supplies — provisions have heretofore been sent to D. ki Clarkson of Bassaterre St Kitts, and it is meant to continue sending to this same place, so as to prevent the return of any vessels for want of provisions — They should return only, (unforeseen events excepted) when justice to the Crews who engage only for 12 months renders their return necessary — No vessel should return with more provisions than necessary to bring her home — the residue should always be left with the vessels most in want, and no Vessel should return without prisoners — if there should be any on hand — Every prudent means should be taken to avoid the expence of supporting them in the Islands where you should procure no supplies of any kind, on account of the expense, but absolute necessaries.

Every vessel returning, should come by way, and along our Southern Coast, calling at the Havana, as long as they continue to receive our Trade, to convoy any American Vessels returning & should cruise along our Southern Coast from Georgia to their place of destination. Shewing themselves if practicable at Charleston unless in cases where powerful reasons, make a different rout necessary — Whenever a prize vessel is sent in, some of the persons taken on board of her, and all her papers should be sent with her — Every person belonging to the Navy sent home with a prize should bring the Pursers Certificate of the balance due him the day of his leaving his own Ship — Pray attend to this —

Although I have already said so much on the subject, I cannot conclude without again attempting to impress upon your mind the disadvantages of suffering our vessels to cruise in company — Cruising in Squadrons for small privateers seems of all means the best to avoid Capturing them. It teaches the Commanders of the small vessels a reliance on force — not their own, for their protection. — It is enough to make them Cowards. It prevents all means of knowing who are brave among them — because none are exposed to danger.

I pray you not to fall into this error. — It is better to have our vessels sometimes beat, than to let them cruise for months without meeting or beating an Enemy — Even the smallest vessel we have should cruise by herself — at least this should be the practice until the Enemy cruise more in squadrons, than singly — Your Command will be distinguished or otherwise as you avoid the too common error we have fallen into and which must be remedied — Should any casualty compel your return, earlier than you receive orders to that effect, you will deliver these Instructions to the officer next in Command who will in that case assume the Command of all the vessels that may remain on the Station, & consider these Instructions as his own.

The Delaware & the Scammel have been a long time at Curaçao to very little purpose — Should they be still there on your arrival at your Station, it will be proper for you to dispatch a vessel to order them to join you — after which you can occasionally send a single cruiser to that Island, to cruise about it for a few days — but with positive orders never to lay a single day in port. — The Delawares must be discharged the middle of July — the Eagle, the middle of August, before which time you will send these vessels in that good faith may be kept with the men.

The Patapsco will soon join you, and will take under her convoy, a vessel with provisions. — Mr Clarkson the Agent at St Kitts has already some provisions on hand & you must keep me advised when more will be wanted. — I have it in command from the President to communicate to you his entire confidence that every thing which can be effected by great zeal, vigilance, Enterprize & bravery for the protection of our Trade & to raise high the character of our Navy, will be effected by you & his best wishes for your Success & Glory, to which I cordially join my own.

Duplicate

CAP FRANCOIS April 4th 1800.

Dear Sir Having some Reason to believe that my Dispatches of the 9th Decr 1799, which I transmitted you by the Ship Spy, Captn West, have never been delivered, I now have the Honor to send you a Duplicate of the Documents they contained, together with some additional Papers. —
1: They consist of my Correspondence with Cap't Little of the U. States Frigate Boston.
2: Duplicate of Papers respecting the Capture of Dulucq's Lugger.—
3: Protest of Cap't Anthony of the Schooner Mary of Charleston. —
4: Copies of Letters from Gen'l Toussaint.

In addition to what I wrote Cap't Little respecting the Passport I granted to the French Corvette La Diligente, it may not be amiss to observe, that before this Vessel obtained such a Protection she had pass'd from the State of a National Ship to that of a Batiment D'Etat, which she has continued to be ever since. The Fact is, that Gen'l Toussaint being in absolute Want of such a Vessel, put her into Requisition, contrary to the Wish & Consent of the particular Agent, who was very desirous of sending her back to France. As soon as she got into his Possession, he determined to retain her altogether, as a Reprihal for a Corvette given to him by the English at the Surrender of Port au Prince, which he had sent with Dispatches to France, & which had never been returned him. — This Circumstance being fully explained to me, and being strongly solicited to give her a Protection I complied. Such a Compliance I did not deem inconsistent with the Regulations made with this Colony & might, I thought, tend to preserve the Harmony that subsisted between it and the U. States.

Ever since the Diligente has been sent to the Bight she has been employed in cruising between Petit Goave & Port au Prince; & has, I am convinced, render'd essential Service to our Trade, by keeping that Quarter free from Barges. She has shewn the utmost Respect to the American Flag, & has cooperated with our armed Vessels whenever they have accidentally met together in the same cruising Ground.

Of all these Circumstances I gave you the earliest Information, and am sorry that my Letter was not handed you as securely as I expected. —

The Agent having made an Attempt to give a Commission privately to Dulucq, by which he might be authorised to cruize against the Rebels of the South, (or in other Terms to attack an unarmed Merchantmen, whenever he could do it with Impunity) I opposed it. This drew from him a long Letter, of which I send you a Copy. Knowing that he had recommenced this Business for no other Reason than to persuade the Public that his Powers were still undiminished, I thought it best to avoid a written Altercation with him. I had an amicable, verbal Conference on the Subject with him, which satisfied him, and so the Matter dropt. I, however, thought it prudent to write to Gen'l Toussaint and advise him to take effectual Measures to prevent such Commissions from being granted in future, or, if the Agent would amuse himself in giving them privately, to direct his military Commanders not to suffer the Vessels furnished with them, to arm in his Ports. — I have no doubt that he will immediately issue his Directions accordingly. —

Cap't Anthony's Protest, & the Letters which M't Ritchie has, no doubt, already written you on the Subject, will sufficiently acquaint you with the unfortunate Capture of his Schooner, and the Murder of his Crew. These frequent, melancholy Occurrences are much to be deplored. But I hope, for the future, they will be more rare, as Cap't Talbot has very judiciously established a Convoy between Port au Prince and the Mole, which will pass & repass every 14 Days. —
The Letters of Gen'l Toussaint are expressive of his Impatience and Anxiety to be furnished with Provisions at Jacmel. As I have inform'd him that American Vessels cannot yet be permitted to go there, he has purchased a large Vessel & loaded her with Provisions from the Administration Stores. She has already sail'd, & he means to use her for the double Purpose of a Cruizer & Transport, until our Vessels can be authorised to supply him. —

I had the Pleasure of spending a Day on board of the Constitution, as I hinted to you in my Last. In a Conference I had with Cap't Talbot on the best Mode of answering Gen'l Toussaint's Views, until the southern Ports were legally open'd, he thought the Plan he mentioned to me in his Letter, (a Copy of which I have already sent you) would be the most prudent & least liable to Censure. — I expect Gen'l Toussaint in Town every Moment. When he arrives it is probable Cap't Talbot may come into the Harbor, & that some Plan may be then adopted, which may not be inconsistent with the Laws of the U. States. —

In two or three of my last Letters I acquainted you with the Capture of Jacmel, & informed you of Gen'l Toussaint's Wish that the Port might be open'd, & indeed all the others as they might successively fall into his Hands. If it meets the President's Approbation, Sir, I think a Measure of that Kind would be advantageous to our Commerce, and would tend to advance the Interests of the U. States. —

Since the Surrender of Jacmel two strong Camps of Rigaud have been taken in the Neighbourhood of Benet, & his Army is rapidly losing Ground and retreating to the Westward. Toussaint's first Plan was to establish a strong Cordon of Ports from Jacmel to Leogane, & suspend his military Operations for a short Time, until he could establish some order in the civil Administration of the Colony. He has, however, changed his Intentions. He is now determined to push on with Vigour, until he meets with some Check. This will probably shorten the War, 'tho' it will retard that Reformation of Abuses which I have been so long and so ardently wishing to see effected. —

The Herald join'd the Constitution on the 30th Ult. There are none of our armed Vessels in this Port, at present. The General Green is momentes expected from the Southward. The Augusta & Experiment are cruizing off Jacmel, — the Boston & Richmond in the Bite. —

Things are very tranquil here. A french Frigate is expected with two Commissioners, but she will not be permitted to enter the Harbour; & if the Constitution meets with her, she will probably change her Destination for the U. States. Such an Event would give infinite Pleasure to all those in whose Hands the real Power is lodged at present. —

I have the Honor to be with the highest Esteem & Respect,

D' Sir

Your most obed't Serv't

Sir I have not received a line from you since the action between Captain Truxtun & La Vengeance, — nor have I received any information from the other Commanders of vessels on the Guadeloupe Station — of course I am under great anxiety to hear from you —

This will be delivered to you by Capt. Decatur, who being your Senior Officer will assume the command on the Guadeloupe Station — Your men or at least a considerable number of them being [due] to be discharged in August it will be proper for you to arrive at New York in that month. — You will please to give such orders to your Purser, as shall make him have all his Accounts against the Officers & men prepared for settlement on the day of his arrival. — This indeed should always be done. — If there should be but little to do in the West Indies, you may as well arrive at New York, the beginning of August, but if there is any harvest to be reaped in the Islands you will then delay returning as long as you can with justice to the men —

It is not determined whether you are to have the command of the Frigate New York — indeed at present small vessels are more usefull than larger ones — but I do not think the New York will be ready to sail before your return —

I have the honor to be with Great respect

Sir

Capture of American Schooner \textit{John} by four barges, in the Bite of Leogane

Mr. W.M. Ridg., late supercargo of the schooner \textit{John}, of Philadelphia, furnished the following information:

On the 5th of April 1800, the schr. \textit{John} from Philadelphia, John Prior, master, was captured in the Bite of Leogane, opposite the east end of the island Gonaives, by four barges, which came from said island and boarded the schooner between 8 and 9 o'clock, A. M. It being calm, they immediately began towing us towards the said island. — There was on board one of these barges a mulatto man, an inferior officer, who spoke English, he informed me that he resided some years in Philadelphia, and was taken about 5 months ago by those barges, with five French gentlemen, on their passage from Cape Francois to Port Republican; that all except himself were murdered, that his color saved his life; he has ever since remained prisoner to them. I enquired of him what they could do with us after we arrived at their port, and informed him at the same time I was determined not to desert the schooner before she was condemned; he replied "we never take the crews of any vessel we capture, into port, but generally \textsc{put them to death}. — That they were undetermined with respect to our fate — their officers being divided in opinion; that part were for murdering us, and part for preserving us, that their commander in chief was with the latter. We remained in this horrible suspense until about 4 o'clock, when it was decided in our favor, and we were ordered to hoist our boat out and prepare for departure. They searched our trunks, and took the best of our clothes, the remainder we were permitted to take, with some provisions. We arrived at Port Republican in 24 hours after we left the schooner contrary to our expectations as our boat leaked so much that it was difficult to prevent her from sinking. I am confident that had it not been for their chief commander, we should all have been murdered, for the mulatto from whom I received the foregoing information, also informed me, that the day before, they had taken an American schooner with 4 guns, from New-York, and that every soul was put to death — he could not inform me of the vessel's name, or captain.

WM. RIDG.

In this manner I wish to communicate to the public my most sincere and grateful acknowledgments to captains James, and Helms, for their polite and attentive treatment to me while on board the schooner \textit{Buckskin}.

News item regarding arrival of Captain John Barry, U. S. Navy, at New York, from France, the U. S. Frigate United States being in the Delaware AMERICAN ENVOYS.

Captain Barry, in the frigate United States, is arrived in the Delaware; and yesterday afternoon he came himself to this city [New York].

He has brought dispatches from Messrs. Ellsworth and Davie, our Envoys to the French Republic, dated the 10th of February, at Burgos, in Spain. They had received, the day before, a letter from M. Talleyrand, the Minister of Foreign Affairs, covering their passports; expressing impatience for their arrival at Paris, and informing them, that the form of their letters of credence (which were addressed to the Executive Directory) would be no obstacle to the opening of negotiations.

The Envoys arrived at Lisbon the 27th of November, and after some detention in the Tagus by contrary winds, sailed from thence for L'Orient on the 21st Dec. but encountering, for three weeks, violent and adverse winds in their attempts to gain that place, they were at last constrained to make the first safe port in Spain: and they arrived on the 11th of January, at Corunna, whence they dispatched a courier to Paris, for their passports; and at Burgos received an answer, as above-mentioned.

Extract from a letter from James F. Ledlie, Supercargo of the American private armed schooner Triton, Daniel Kenney, Commanding, concerning her capture by the Schooner Enterprize a British Privateer manned by Frenchmen and commanded by Captain L. Jaile

Dated Kingston, Jam.

12th April, 1800.

On the 5th inst. we [Schooner Triton, mounting six 4 pounders, and a crew of 14 men] were becalmed between the capes Dona Maria and Tiburon; in the evening we observed a schooner bearing for us from the land. Capt. Kenney finding she gained upon us by the help of her sweeps, ordered every thing in readiness to receive her, supposing her to be a French privateer, at 9 o'clock she was a-breast of us, when she fired on us, which we immediately returned — the action commenced and continued until near twelve, when she sheered off, without having sustained any injury. Next morning we were again becalmed off Dona Maria, when we saw the same schooner toeward, but by one P. M. she was along side within pistol shot, when we found her to be an English privateer of twelve guns, four, nine, and twelve pounders, and 50 men, the captain officers and most of the crew Frenchmen. She is called the Enterprize, Capt. L. Jaile. — On examining our papers, the captain said we were a good prize, sent a prizemaster on board with 7 men, took us all out except the mate and cook, and ordered the vessel for Kingston, where both vessels arrived in the evening of the 8th inst. On the 10th, after having unstowed and examined the hold, the owner of the Enterprize returned Capt. Kenny his papers, and told him he was at liberty to proceed on his voyage.

To Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy from Toussaint L'Ouverture, General in Chief of the Army of St. Domingo

Liberty. Equality.

Eighth year of the French Republic, one and indivisible.

Toussaint L'Ouverture,

General in chief of the Army of St. Domingo, to Silas Talbot, Esq., Commander of the United States Frigate Constitution.

Sir, — I have the honor to acknowledge the receipt of two letters, which you have been so good as to write me, one under date of the first, and the other of the seventh of April inst. I shall, in the first instance, answer the first. What I have said of the services rendered to me by the frigate General Greene, during the siege of Jaquemel, is very sincere, and it is again agreeable to me to repeat it. I pay with thankfulness as well you, sir, as Captain Perry. Your good intentions for the prosperity of this colony and that of your government, loads me with satisfaction. I beg of you to continue them, and to be convinced of my zeal in keeping the harmony which so happily exists between the two nations. I should have been desirous that the Adjutant-general D'Hebecourt should not have come away so soon, and that he might have seen you, and conversed a moment with you;
but having seen the Consul-general, Stevens, the object of his mission was in the same way fulfilled. I should have seen you with pleasure cruising with the Constitution on the station of the south; since you have reasons of such a nature as to prevent you coming that way, I depend upon your promise that you will consult the Consul-general, Stevens, in order that means may be taken to get succor to our army.
On my part, I will communicate to him my plan on the subject, and point him out my want. Your prudence and loyalty will crown the undertaking.

You write me, sir, that you will render me all the service in your power. I feel all the value of your generous offers, on which I have founded all my hopes. At this moment the army of Jaquemel is in motion, and surely it is in want. I am going to write to Mr. Stevens, who no doubt will communicate to you my letter and what I want.
I can but invite to continue your good offers.

I will pass over, sir, to your letter of the 7th of April. You inform me, and I learn it with joy, that you have given orders to the ship Herald, of twenty guns, to join the brig Augusta and the schooner Experiment. I am infinitely obliged for so much honorable proceeding from you, and I shall never forget it.

Lieutenant Russell may be assured, although I may not be present, he will obtain from the general and commandant what he may ask, either coasting pilots or any thing else. I have already given orders in consequence of it. You flatter me with the hope that you are going shortly to send the Boston frigate of thirty-two guns; may you soon be able to realize it; God grant, likewise, to favor my expectation. It remains, sir, to beg of you to recommend to the captains of vessels of your nation, that are going to cruise on the south side, to let pass freely the French vessels that have a passport signed by the Consul-general, Stevens, or by me; and that until we have taken such new measures with the President of the United States, on my part I have already given the most strict orders, that the most perfect understanding and intelligence may exist amongst all the cruising vessels, both schooners and barges. Good harmony is necessary, and I flatter myself that our effects shall be mutual in the maintenance of it. I am penetrated, sir, with the affection and esteem that your good and generous conduct has inspired me towards you, and beg you to believe me, with the utmost consideration,

Your very obd't servant,

TOUISSAINT L'OuVERTURE.

Sir, In the execution of the business confided to you by the President of the United States, respecting the valuation of Gosport, you will be pleased to observe that there is no specific appropriation made by Congress for the purchase of this Ground that the only money I can direct to this object is part of the appropriation made for building the 74 Gun Ships — You will at once see the propriety indeed the absolute necessity of a strict regard to economy, in the valuation of the ground, and I hope the Gentlemen appointed on the part of the State of Virginia will so far coincide with the views of Government in this particular, as not to consider the Soil of higher value on account of its being laid off in Town lotts, but will be content at estimating it at a fair & adequate price for the Ground, independent of that consideration. —

You will also please to take into consideration that the less money we pay for the Land, the more we shall be able to lay out in improvements on it. —

If the price demanded on the part of the State should be very high, the United States cannot buy, without an Act of Congress to authorize it which cannot be obtained —

[U. S. Ship] General Greene
Cape Francois Ap® 8th 1800

Sir, I am duly honored with your letter of the 6th Instant, and shall immediately on my taking in my water &c® proceed according to your directions —
I beg leave Sir, to represent to you the Risk there will be in those invalids remaining on board my ship — The unhealthy climate, together with the probability of my remaining for some time at the mouth of the Massasippa makes it absolutely necessary that they should be removed.
You are well acquainted Sir, with Ye® Sickness that so fatally prevail'd on board the General Greene, on her last cruise, which was then Occasioned by the Ballast.
During the present cruise unwryed attention has been paid to every thing that might tend, to preserve the health of my crew — My endeavors thus far have been attended with success, and should be extremely sorry at this late period to have my endeavors frustrated — And indeed should they remain on board, I cannot be able to answer for the consequences: many of my crew’s time of service will be expired before I leave this place & I should not be able to prevail on one of them to remain on board the Ship.

Both Yr Surgeon, and his Mates have represented to me, their situation in a very candid manner, and stated their Opinion as to the Consequences naturally to be expected from such a number of sick remaining on board.

Another very strong Objection to those men remaining in the ship, in my Opinion is the Impropriety there would be in making a Hospital of the Ship that is to receive General Wilkinson, and his Family on board.

Under those Considerations I presume Sir, my Conduct would be warrantable, in either leaving them in the Care of the navy agent at the Cape; Or if the Schooner, Prize to the General Greene, should go to America, to send them home in her — One or the Other I shall do.

I have the honor to be

Sir,

With great respect Yr

Sir Your orders will be sent tomorrow to proceed in the Portsmouth to France, to bring back our Ministers who will probably have finished their business by the time you arrive at Havre, which is to be your port of destination. — It is proper that you should carry provisions enough to bring you back Six months I suppose will be sufficient. It will be proper too that you should carry about 2,000 Dl’s in specie with you for your Ships supplies in France — In port your men should have fresh meat for your crew. — Should not this money, with which Messrs J & E Watson will supply you, be sufficient, you can immediately obtain a credit at Havre, and sell bills on me for the amount. The Ministers & their Suite will be well accommodated in the Portsmouth. The President desires that great attention should be paid to them, and that such Sea Stores be laid in for them, as shall be suitable for Gentlemen of their high character — But there must not be the slightest appearance of any thing like extravagance — This indeed would only serve to give the Gentlemen themselves a very bad opinion of our management — There is a just medium between profusion and meanness, and this you must observe, in laying in the Stores —
I am so particular on this subject now, because I shall not advert to it tomorrow. —

Extract from letter from Captain Asa Bodwell, commanding the American Ship Industry, of Portsmouth, N. H., to her owner, concerning encounter with the French National Frigate Berceau, Captain André Senès, commanding, from Guadeloupe

"In lat. 20, long. 55, 6 o'clock, A. M. a French National frigate, Berceau, commanded by Capt. Jenies, from Guadaloupe, mounting 24 guns, came up with us, and ordered our colors down — then came on board, took me and all my crew except two, and put us on board the frigate, and then put a prize master on board, took out two oxen, and some provisions, and ordered the ship for Guadaloupe, — the sloop of war had captured (the evening before) brig Delight, captain Glazier from Philadelphia, loaded with dry goods, it being fine weather they unloaded her in about 4 hours, and delivered her to us, and took the principal part of our clothing, instruments, charts, &c. then sent us on board the brig, which we found in a miserable situation, her rigging cut, cabin windows and camboose, stove to pieces. The next day we spoke the schooner Peggy Capt. Montgomery, from Norfolk who supplied us with water and provisions for the French had left us but very little of either (except flower,) but no small stores, in six hours after, we were chased by the privateer schooner Patriot, capt. Rough, from Guadaloupe, mounting 14 guns, boarded us, took some flour, clothing, spars, sails, &c. then put on board the crew of the ship Commerce, from Portland, and the crew of the brig Mary from Middleton, both of which were captured on the 15th May, on the next day we spoke the brig Drake, of Portsmouth, from N. Carolina, bound to St. Thomas's who supplied us with provisions. On the 18th a privateer schooner from Guadaloupe, mounting 14 guns, hove in sight, and after hailing, boarded us, and took out some flour, then put on board us the crews of the schooner Thomas from Philadelphia, capt. Hasty, and schooner Betsey, capt. Sillick from New York, then left us with upwards of forty people on board, and very short of provisions and water: we were then obliged to go upon a short allowance and endeavor to make the first port in America.

The aforementioned sloop of war brought out Buonaparte's Commissioners to Guadaloupe — The commander also informed us twelve privateers had lately sailed from Guadaloupe together, and three of them bound to the American coast.

To Oliver Ellsworth, William R. Davis & William Vans Murray, Envoys Extraordinary to the French Republic from Secretary of State

DEPARTMENT OF STATE. —
Philadelphia April 9th 1800
Gentlemen On the 3⁴d instant Captain Barry arrived here with your letter dated at Burgos the 10⁴th of February, covering copies of your letters of December 7⁴th from Lisbon, and January 17⁴th from Coruna, and your correspondence with M. Talleyrand. These are the first and only dispatches received from you, since you left the United States. We are happy that you escaped the perils of the sea in your attempting a voyage from Lisbon to L'Orient.
The answer of M. Talleyrand confirms the opinion expressed in your letter to him, that the circumstance of your letters of credence being addressed to the Directory of the French Republic, could be viewed merely as a formality, of no moment to the object of your mission. Your powers are full to negotiate and settle by treaty all differences between the United States and the French Republic, and to make commercial arrangements. The person or persons vested with the Executive power of the nation, if really desirous of such an adjustment, could not possibly make any serious objection to the address of your letters of credence, which was perfectly correct at their date. For these reasons, and because no official notice has been received of any change in the form of the Government of France, or in the persons administering it. The President does not think it necessary to send any new letters of credence. M. Talleyrand having said, that "the form of your letters of credence would be no obstacle to the opening of negotiations, of which he ventured to foresee the happy success," must indeed be considered as removing all doubt on the subject.

The Ship Portsmouth, Captain McNiell goes with this letter to Havre de Grace, whence he will send one of his officers to Paris, and receive your orders. The President supposes that by the time of her arrival, your negotiations will be concluded, and that Judge Ellsworth and Governor Davie will take their passage in her to America. Should your negotiations be still pending, and any reasons satisfactory to yourselves (according to the latitude given in your instructions) determine you to wait longer in France, you will, at your discretion, either detain or send back the Portsmouth, as you shall think expedient for the public good.

I have the honor to be with great respect,

Gentlemen,

Your obedient Servant

Judge Washington's Opinion in the case of the Hamburg Ship Amelia, captured by a French Privateer, and re-captured by U. S. Frigate Constitution, Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy, commanding

New York, April 9. [1800]

This morning Judge Washington delivered his opinion in the case of the Amelia.

The Amelia was a Hamburg ship and taken in September last, in going from Calcutta to Europe by a French privateer — after remaining about ten days in her possession, she was recaptured by the Constitution frigate, commanded by Capt. Talbot. The ship and cargo were libelled in the District Court, one half of the nett proceeds given to the recaptors as salvage. From this decree the owners appealed to the Circuit Court of the United States. The appeal was argued on Saturday last. Mr. Burr and Mr. B. Livingston contended that the decree of the District Court should be reversed in toto, or that a much smaller salvage should be allowed. Gen. Hamilton and Mr. Harrison, argued in favour of the decree.

Judge Washington, after taking notice of the arguments on both sides, gave his decided opinion that no salvage was due, and therefore reversed the decree of the district court.

It is but justice to Judge Washington to say, that we have never heard an opinion delivered in a manner more amiable, elegant, or perspicuous.

We understand the Amelia and her cargo sold for about 200,000 dollars the whole of which will now be paid to the owners, a circumstance which reflects the greatest honor on the administration of justice in the U. States.

[10 April 1800]

Extract of a letter from an officer on board U. S. frigate Adams, published with a view to correct an inaccurate statement

"We have lately been somewhat mortified on board, to see an extract of a letter from captain Tryon, of the Connecticut, to his friend at home, in which he mentioned his having fell in with the Adams and fairly outsailed her. We are sorry to find captain Tryon so ready to decide without having had a fair trial. At the time we fell in with her (the Connecticut) our fore and main top gallant cross-trees were both carried away, the topmasts, both fore and aft, 5 feet 9 inches shorter than common; our ship very much out of trim, having been out nearly a month, and our bowsprit sprung in three places (since carried away entirely) and we absolutely incapacitated to carry a press of sail. This was the fair trial of speed which Capt. Tryon speaks of with such emphasis. However, we have had the pleasure (after waiting and wishing a long time) of seeing this fast sailing Connecticut: we fell in with her under the lee of Guadaloupe, wind fresh, when we were in good condition every way, and she only 2 days out. — I believe in hard chasing we could run her hull down in 6 hours. — She is an uncommon looking thing, no ways warlike, and as to her sailing faster than the Adams or any frigate in the West Indies, as Capt. Tryon said, it is all fudge."

(Statements from various authorities have been received which uniformly concur in their testimonies, that in point of sailing the Adams frigate, capt. Morris, has scarcely a competitor. And the several captures and recaptures made by this vessel are at once a proof of her speed, and of the resolution and vigilance of her commander. It may likewise be added, and with a strict adherence to truth, that hardly a ship in our navy, in so short a space of time, has rendered more services to the country in the protection of its trade, or that has kept pirates more at bay, than the Adams. We trust she will long remain a terror to evil doers.)

"We left Bassatere, the 8th March, last, and cruised for many days from E to W and from N to S and chased several vessels, which proved to be friends. On the 3d inst. we chased and overhauled a brig deeply loaded with live stock, provisions, &c. which had been taken a few days before by a French privateer, We shall leave this place in a few days, to cruise off Guadaloupe, where there is an immense number of French privateers, constantly taking our vessels; and it is no more than probable we shall take our share of them.

Passport issued by President John Adams to the U. S. Ship Portsmouth commanded by Captain Daniel McNeill, U. S. Navy

By John Adams, President of the United States of America

The armed ship Portsmouth belonging to the United States of America, & commanded by Daniel McNeil Esqr being under order to proceed from the port of New-York to Havre de Grace or other port in France, on the service of the United States; We desire all who shall see these presents not only to allow the said ship to pursue her destined voyage, but to afford to her any assistance which she may need, as well in going to France as in returning to the United States: for which we shall be willingly indebted.

Given under my hand and the Seal of the United States at Philadelphia; the tenth day of April, in the year of our Lord 1800, and of the Independence of the sd States the twenty fourth.

John Adams
By the President
Timothy Pickering
Secretary of State

To Captain Daniel McNeill, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

Capt² Danl McNeill of the Portsmouth
New York

Sir: It is the Presidents desire that you proceed immediately with the Portsmouth to Havre de Grace in France.

Enclosed you will receive a passport for your voyage to France. — As you go as a Flag [of Truce], you are not to molest the vessels of any Nation, on your passage to or from France.

You have also enclosed two letters for our Ministers at Paris, which on your arrival at Havre, you will send by one of your Lieutenants with orders to deliver them to our Ministers, & to no other person or persons — You will employ on this service, the Officer you think best qualified to execute it with diligence & address — You must furnish him with money to pay his necessary expenses & on his return take his account of the same, as your voucher in the settlement of your accounts. — No doubt you can obtain for him from the municipality at Havre de Grace a passport to Paris —

You will remain at Havre de Grace until the Ministers are ready to take their passage in the Portsmouth — or until you are informed by them, that you may return to the United States without them. — As it is probable the President will be at Quincy about the time of your return, it may be proper that you should land the Ministers at Boston — or Rhode Island. On this point however, you will follow any directions they may give you — Having in another letter mentioned the Presidents directions as to the respect to be paid these Gentlemen, I shall not say anything on the subject in this. — The President has selected you for this service, from his knowledge of your abilities to perform it with judgment & address

In the French ports it will be highly essential that your Officers & Crew should exhibit examples of discipline & propriety — lest we disgrace ourselves in the eyes of foreigners — I need not say more to a Commander of your experience & knowledge of the World —

Wishing you a pleasant voyage, I have the honor to be with Great respect

NEW-YORK, April 11.

THE FRIGATE PRESIDENT,

Was launched yesterday morning, at ten o'clock, in the presence of perhaps as great a concourse of people as ever assembled in this city on any occasion. At nine, captain Ten-Eyck's company of artillery, with 4 six-pounders, accompanied by the uniform volunteer companies of the sixth regiment and the corps of riflemen, marched in procession from the Battery to Corlaer's Hook, and took their station along-side the frigate.—Every thing being prepared, and the most profound silence prevailing, not only amongst the spectators, but amongst the workmen employed in conducting the ceremony, at a given signal she glided into the waters, a sublime spectacle of gracefulness and grandeur. Immediately on touching the water federal salutes were fired from the sloop of war Portsmouth, the revenue cutter Jay, (which on this occasion was decorated with the flags of all nations) and the Aspasia, Indiaman. These were returned by the uniform companies on shore, who fired a a feu-de-joye, and marched off the ground to the battery, where they performed various military evolutions in a correct manner, and were dismissed.

Notwithstanding the immense crowd of witnesses, we are happy to announce that no accident happened at the launch: the whole business was conducted with the greatest propriety under the direction of Mr. Cheessman the builder.
The frigate President is rated at 44 guns, but pierced for 64; and is represented, by those who are best qualified to give their judgment on the subject, to be one of the finest pieces of naval architecture ever exhibited.

Design of the head and stern ornaments of this Frigate.

Head—The Bust of our late President Washington, supported by two female figures, Truth and Justice, standing on a Rock, an emblem of strength, an oak growing out of the fertile part thereof, representing the strength and fertility of his Genius; the right hand of justice supporting the bust; in the left a medallion, on which are the scales balanced; she wreathed with laurel, the emblem of victory; the figure of truth holding in her right hand the mirror of prudence, and the left resting on the fasces, the emblem of union; on her head a wreath of palm, an emblem of virtue; both figures cloathed in light flowing drapery. At the back of the bust the standard of America, representing him as commander in chief of the army and navy of the United States; in the trail boards the American Eagle, one claw resting on the American Scutcheon, with the other darting thunder and lightning at the Hydra, the emblem of anarchy and confusion.

Stern — In the center of the taff[r]ail, the figure of America, the right arm resting on the base of a monument, and three books representing the three branches of government; in the right hand a pen, to record the heroic actions of her sons; in her left, the constitution of the United States; at her feet the American fasces, erect, supported by the standards of the army and navy; on her right the figure of wisdom, and the left the figure of strength, both inclined, and looking to the centre; in the right hand of wisdom a spear, the left resting against the Port, and the bira of vigilance at her feet: the left hand of strength resting on a Herculean club; the right hand resting against the port, as the grand supporters of America. In the quarter pieces Liberty and Union, supporting the general design as the basis of a Republican government. The figure of Liberty on the starboard quarter, and Union on the larboard, both figures inclining to the centre; in the right hand of Liberty the staff and cap, in the left the rights of man; the figure of Union or concord, the right hand resting on the emblem of union, and in the left the olive branch of peace.

Tunis, April 10, 1800.

"Sir — Having at length amicably adjusted the affairs of the United States with the Bey and Regency of Tunis, I desire you would communicate this agreeable intelligence to the masters of American vessels, who may come within the limits of your Consulate.

"The principal Minister of the Bey, has pledged himself that the last clause of the 12th article of our treaty with this Regency, inserted by Joseph Etienne Famin shall have the same effect with respect to American merchant vessels as the custom of all other nations at peace with Tunis, has established with their respect to their own, and no other. — There is therefore no danger to be apprehended from American vessels visiting this coast. Perfect health prevails here.

JAMES & EBENEZER WATSON

GENTLEMEN In making the Estimates of Military Stores for the Frigate New York in haste to enclose it by the mail of the day, I did not take time to examine it, consequently some inaccuracies have occurred. — It had not been customary till lately, to estimate Lanthorns with the Military Stores — however the practice is now adopted and 1 Top, & 1 poop Lanthorn were inserted, as well for the New York as the President, at least my Copy of the Estimate has it so, and I believe it is correct. — I do not find that they are twice inserted in the President's estimate, if they are 'tis once too often. — Besides the top and poop Lanthorns, the following which I believe were not contained in either Estimate, should be provided Vizt — 1 Magazine Lanthorn, 12 Ship Ditto, 12 signal ditto — 36 side ditto for each Ship. — Spermaceti Candles may be provided for both now, or omitted until Indents for the outfits are handed in as you please — The same in respect to the Ships Drum & fire Screens, Aprons, Tompions Cartridge Boxes of Wood, Crow bars, Hand spikes, are articles of which a spare number should always be provided — therefore it was that I mentioned as many for the New York as for the President there being but 4 Guns difference between them The Musket Cartridge paper is in both Estimates in my Copies which are press ones —
Thanking you for making the communication without troubling the Secretary on the subject & assuring you that although I do not make a practice of committing blunders, yet when I do commit them that it will afford me pleasure to correct them without an application to him I have the honor to be Gent

To Willings & Francis, Merchants, Philadelphia, Pa., from Captain Richard Dale, U. S. Navy, commanding the merchant ship Canton

Messes WILLINGS & FRANCIS

GENTLEMEN, Notwithstanding there is full 200 Tons of Stone in the Ship, and every precaution taken in stowing the cargo to make the Ship stiff — still on the contrary she is very crank, I always thought she would be crank, but had not the Idea that she would be so crank, as she was when we sailed on the passage and is at present, (but not som much as she was). I am fearfull some of the cargo is dammaged. She has layed a long very much at times, and particuarly in a very heavy Gale of wind off[fl] the Cape of Good Hope — in fact our situation has often been very alarming, in Squally weather. I could never be below with ease

When I sailed from China it was my intention to have gone through the Straits of Alass, but the Ship being so very crank I thought it most prudent to keep company with Capt. Sims in the America and go through the Straits of Malaca — after I got to Sea the ship being so very crank, was under the necessity to git down the fore & Mizen top Gal. Yards, Masts and Rigging — notwithstanding I was able to keep way with the America in Moderate breezes, and beat her from the wind — We put into Mallaca to fill up our water which detained us one day, There I sold the Kedge Anchor for 86 dollars (which will replace it again) not having money enough to answer our Expences, I made use of my own money that I intended to take with [me] incase of accidents, to pay the ship Compradore at Wampo, the Anchor was no use on board, as the hawser belonging to it was lost in transporting the Ship below the Shiping at Wampo —

After I got clear of the Straits of Mallaca, I thought it prudent to put the Long boat over board, she being very heavy and high on deck, likewise every thing els that I could prud' spare that tended to make the Ship Crank — That I might be able to carry the Fore and Mizen top Gal: Masts Yards &c &c aloft to expedite the passage, also make the Ship look more war like in case I should fall in with an Enimy — Hearing at Mallaca there was a number of privateers in the Indian Ocean, I thought it prudent to agree with Cap' Sims to keep company as far as the Cape of Good Hope, there not being much difference in the Ships sailing, (of the two the Canton has it) but not so much, as the Security, the two ships gave each other in case of meeting with an Enimy — Laying too in a heavy Gale of wind off the Cape of Good Hope, the sea stove in the Starboard Quarter Gallery, and shipt much water in the Cabin, I was under the necessity to put the Ship before the wind to secure the Galleries which we did in three hours, then hove the ship too a gain, the America was laying too at the same time, she was out of sight some Time before I got the Galleries secured —

Had the Canton fortunatly been stiff, and I have gone through the Straits of Aliss (which I certainly should ) I think we should have been the first ship home, which no dout would have been much advantage to the concerned — I under stand the New Jersey & Jane has been in but a few days —

It has been my wish, and constant studdy through this Voyage, to do eve[r]y thing that I thought was most to your advantage —
I remain Gentlemen with much respect your Ob' S:

Captain James Sever
of the Congress Norfolk

Sir Enclosed you will receive the copy of a letter from Lieut Cordis to me, which has been communicated to the President —
Your reputation, no less than Justice to the Public, requires that there should be an enquiry into the causes of the loss of the Masts &c of the Congress — and the President has therefore constituted Captain Truxtun, and the other Naval Commanders at Norfolk, a Court for the purpose of making this enquiry, and to report to him the result — It is hoped that this affair will not impede the preparations of the Congress for sea. — It is not meant that you should be considered under arrest, or that there should be any interference with your command, at least until the result of this enquiry be known. — I cannot conclude without adding my Since[re] wishes, and I am sure I might also add those of the President that the investigation now ordered may remove every prejudice from the Public mind respecting your conduct in this unfortunate business — I have the honor to be with great respect.

Sir The President has appointed you to be President of a Court of enquiry to investigate the causes of the loss of the Masts &c of the Frigate Congress, with power to call to your aid Captain S. Barron, & Captain J. Barron, or any other Commanders who may be at Norfolk but the Court is not to consist of more than 3 Members, including the President. —
The Public mind has been & continues to be a good deal dissatisfied on account of the misfortune which occasions you this trouble. — Opinions are entertained injurious to the reputation of Captain Sever. — It will be your task, and that of the other members of the Court, by strict and impartial investigation to shield this officer from censure, or if indeed he should have proved himself unqualified for his important command, to give the President such information as shall enable him to pursue the course which duty to the Public shall prescribe.

I send this by a pilot boat, which may be detained four days, if you find you can in that time, send the result of this enquiry, as it is extremely important that the delay of the mail should be avoided — You will judge whether it will be best to hold the Court on board of the Congress — or elsewhere. — I enclose the copy of a letter from Lieutenant Cordis to me — another copy has been sent to Captain Sever —

You are the Commanding Officer in the Chesapeake, and should there appear danger of disorder on board of the Congress, — You must apply the proper remedy —

He cannot leave this before next monday — You must have patience. — The President is launched, and has a very well qualified Lieutenant attending to her rigging &c —

As to removing all your officers with you, you must not think of it — if you have made these, you can make others — the men will be enough dissatisfied to change their Commander — an entire Sett of new Officers would produce a mutiny. — You may go as far as one — or if you are very desirous, two of your Junior Lieutenants — and a few midshipmen — all the other officers must remain in the Constellation — until the time comes to discharge the present crew — Perhaps the President will not be ready for sea until this period, & in this case you can get as many as you want of the officers.

I wish the Constellation to go to sea as early as possible — the change of officers if in other respects it was proper, would delay the Ship, God knows how long — Such things are unprecedented in any Service —
I have the honor to be with great Esteem

I told the Bey this transport of the government saidl with convoy till she was out of danger. The latitude this phrase will bear may exculpate me from misrepresentation — I told him also that the stores now shipping for Tunis at New York, would Sail with a Squadron —

One apology must fit both cases — Hope it will occur that all the beneficence of the Jehovah of the Jews would never have rendered him respectable among that horde of Savages, if he had not thundered from Mount Sinai! [Enclosure]

New-Haven, April 15. [1800]

Capt. James Stewart, of Chatham, in the brig Sally, arrived at New London on the 4th instant from Jamaica, brings the most unpleasant accounts from that quarter. He states that the British capture all American vessel that afford the slightest pretext for condemnation, and impress all their seamen without discrimination. Capt. Stewart was taken by his majesty ship Acasto, of 44 guns, the commander of which, Edward Fellows, came on board the Sally himself, ordered capt. Stewart’s chest open, and with his own hands took out 4250 dollars, besides plundering the capt. of other articles. On the arrival of the brig at Kingston, every man on board except the captain and boy, all natives of Connecticut, were impressed, and are left there. Capt. Nathan Allyn, of Groton, had all his people impressed, with their protections in their hands. Capt. Waterman of New-York, was treated in the same manner, with many others. — And Mr. Savage the American agent in Kingston informed capt. Stewart, that he had forwarded to the secretary of State, by commodore Truxton, an attested list of the names of one thousand and one bona fide American seamen who have lately been impressed by the British in that single port. American vessels and cargoes were constantly condemned in that place, a full account of which must soon be made public. Several masters and supercargoes of condemned vessels came home with capt. Stewart, who, besides the general usage, was himself treated with personal incivilities and contempt.

Sir I did not see Lieut. Robinson until this morning — nor receive your letters by him until I had sent off the pilot Boat — You must assume all the authority belonging to your rank, at Norfolk, which is as much as if you were already an Admiral, as I hope you will quickly be — or as if you had the Command of the whole Navy — and apply the proper remedies to the disorders on board of the Congress, and any other disorders. — You have full powers to order Courts Martial for the trial of the offenders on board the Congress — Lieut. Robinson tells me the whole officers of that Ship are at variance with the Captain. — No wonder that the men are disorderly — I will send down as quickly as possible, two or three Lieutenants. Lieut. Boush & Ballard are already at Norfolk. You must assist in arranging a proper Sett of officers for that Ship — aid the Captain, if you find him worthy, in restoring order and discipline. — If in the enquiry ordered by the President, you find the Captain must be tried by a Court Martial, in that case it will be best for you at once to suspend him from command, and put one of the Barrons — both of whom are prudent men — on board of that Ship — Perhaps you may find it useful to speak to the men yourself — What you say will have weight — It will not do for you to leave Norfolk, after Murray arrives, until perfect order is restored — indeed not I think before the Congress sails — I am with perfect Esteem

[16 April 1800]

Extract from a letter to Bedient, Kimberly and Company, Merchants of New York, from Henry Warning, Master of the American Brig Delia, concerning her capture by a French Privateer and subsequent experiences

St. Bartholomews, May 20.

"On the 16th of April, within one day's sail of Turks Island, I was captured by a French privateer of eight guns from Porto-Rico, who took out my mate and four men, but permitted myself and two boys to remain on board the brig. They put on board of us a prize master, and four men, and ordered us for Porto-Rico, the privateer keeping company with us for four days. On the 5th finding her out of sight, I laid a plan to retake the brig, which I accordingly effected; but have since seen trouble and hardship in consequence of it. — The plan I formed was as follows: — Knowing the prize master to be entirely unacquainted with a vessel, I persuaded him to set the fore top mast studding-sails, and whilst they were all forward, except one Frenchman at the helm, I went into the cabin and bro't up a pair of pistols, which I had secreted there, and gave one of them to one of the boys, who I shipped in New York, as cook, by the name of Isaac Marley. I then got possession of the Frenchmen's arms, and drove the man from the helm. On seeing this, they all ran aft, but when I met them with the boy armed, they retreated and we drove them all into the forecastle, without any injury, except to the man at the helm who made some resistance, for which I cut him with a sword; he soon yielded, & was not materially hurt. Charles Cook was the other boy I had on board; but, he being forward to assist them in setting the sail, he had no chance to give us any assistance, nor did he even know what we were going to undertake. But the misfortune of all was, that after we had them in confinement for 13 hours, and I was endeavouring to make the nearest port, which I judged to be Tortola, we fell in with a Spanish armed brig of 16 guns, from Bilboa, in Spain, who immediately let the Frenchmen out of confinement, hauled down the American colours, took me on board the Spanish brig, and there detained me two hours; broke open my chest, took out some money with considerable clothing, and plundering the vessel, took her papers from me and gave them to the French prize master together with possession of the brig Delia, and the arms. They then forced me on board the Delia again, where I was confined in the forecastle, together with the cook, who assisted me in taking the Frenchmen. I was there kept the most of the time for five days, when we arrived in St. Eustatia. I was there kept in prison for ten days, and was then sent over to this place, where I have been waiting these two weeks for a copy of condemnation, but it has not yet arrived. I expect it in a few days from Gaudaloupe. With respect to the Spaniards, I hope this will be made public, as I conceive they had no right to meddle with me, as I had complete possession of the vessel, and knowing we were not at war with them. I hope this business will be taken notice of.

To Secretary of the Navy, from Captain Alexander Murray, U. S. Navy

PHILADELPHIA

April 18th 1800

BENJ. STODDART, Esq.

SIR, Impress'd with the strongest conviction, that any Ideas suggested for the improvement of our Naval service, will at all times call forth your serious attention. I have taken the liberty to recommend an increase of our Marine Corps —

The experience that I have had during the time of my Command in the Navy; justifies me in giving an opinion, that the greater part of that description of Men called Landsmen would be more beneficially applied as Marines, for several reasons, Marines are procured on cheaper terms than Landsmen, & are healthier Men, they are generally well dril'd before they go on Shipboard, & before their time expires are well inured to the sea service, they become compleat at the Musket, & may be made tolerable seamen and at all times they do the laborious part of Ship duty under this impression. I think the greater part of my Brother Officers will concur with me, in thinking it a public good if the Marine Corps was increased to double the present number for exclusive of their service at Sea, they can supply the place of Artillerist or Infantry when on shore, and the great advantage arising from having more of them raised, is, that if by sickness, desertion, or Death, we are deprived of them on Ship board the moment we make a port, we can be supplied with fresh healthy Men, at present we have no reserve —

Wishing your concurrence with me in promoting these Ideas —

To Uriah Tracy, Chairman of Committee, United States Senate, from Secretary of the Navy

PHILADELPHIA

Navy Department 18th April 1800

HON. URIAH TRACY, Esq.

of the Senate.

SIR The appropriations in this Bill are agreeable to the Estimate of the expense of maintaining the Navy for the present year.

In line 25th the words "while employed in the Navy service", should be added, after the word "Cutter" — The Revenue Cutters are paid in the Treasury Department to which they appertain; but it was supposed there might be occasion to employ one or more, as Dispatch Boats, for a few months, and that whilst so employed, they should be paid by the Navy — hence this appropriation of 10000 Dollars.

In a report which I long ago, did myself the honor to make to the Committee of the House of Representatives, on naval affairs, I suggested the propriety of an appropriation, — for the purchase of Timber — If we are to have a Navy, on the best terms, there certainly should be an annual appropriation for this purpose — and the public faith should be at once pledged, that there should be such an approprietion — Two Hundred thousand Dollars annually expended, would in a few years fill half a dozen Docks with Timber enough to build as many Ships as would be necessary for our defence — The timber would always be ready — it would daily become better by being better seasoned — and the cost of safe keeping would be very trifling —

I have the honor to be &c

[Answer]
The following proceedings appear to be necessary in regard to the money mentioned within.

1. The precise amount should be in the first place ascertained by some kind of settlement in the Accountant's office.

2. A warrant must be drawn at the Treasury on Craft's the Agent, in favor of the Treasurer of the United States.

3. Another warrant may be drawn at the same time on the Treasurer of the United States, for the same amount, in favor of Samuel Meredith as Agent for the Naval Department. —

4. A warrant for the same amount will be drawn by the Secretary of the Navy in favor of Crafts who will be debited in the Accountant's Books.

Decree of Condemnation pronounced against the French armed Ship Les Deux Anges, prize to the U. S. Ship Boston

A Decree of Condemnation was pronounced yesterday, by his Honor Judge Lowell, against the French armed ship Les Deux Anges, Prize to the United States Frigate Boston. The Deux Anges is a Letter of Marque, captured by Capt. Little, in January last, on her passage from Cape Francois to Bordeaux, and is laden with a valuable cargo, consisting of Sugar, Coffee, Cocoa, Tobacco and Cam- peachy Wood.

There is an appeal from the decree of Condemnation to the next Circuit Court.

W. Rawle's opinion relative to Schooner Anna, captured by the U. S. Schooner Experiment

The Schooner Anna appears to have sailed from Baltimore since the operation of the act of 9th feb. 1799. suspending intercourse with the French.
Whose property she then was I am not instructed. But I find that on the 14th Dec. 1799 — Richard M. Bell, described as a “mercht of St. Croix”, executes a bill of sale of her to “Benjamin Dutton of Baltimore a citizen of the United States”.

If she belonged to a person resident out of the United States at the time of her sailing from Baltimore, the case is not within the Act: altho’ a resident of the U. S. purchased her afterwards & employed her in the forbidden traffic.

If she belonged to a resident within the U. S. at the time of her sailing from thence — and also at the time of her carrying on — or endeavoring to carry on the traffic prohibited by the act, she is liable to forfeiture.

Should this turn out to be the case the next thing to be proved is that when seized she was in truth bound to a prohibited port.

On this head the affidavits are very unsatisfactory. It may have been an artifice of the Captain to conceal her real destination but the artifice will prevail unless strong & clear evidence can be adduced of her being otherwise bound.

The affidavits produced will not be sufficient to go into court with—some of the people who were on board should have been sent in with her — From a view therefore of the whole matter, as it now stands; I think it would be unadvisable to file an information against her.

To Secretary of the Navy from William Rawle, Attorney for District of Pennsylvania

PHILADELPHIA April 21, 1800.

Sir I have carefully perused the papers which I had the honor to receive from you this morning and I cannot from any of them discover the cause of capturing the Spanish brig Los Amigos
Perhaps Capt. Maley's letter may state his reasons and if you will favor me with a copy of it I shall be better enabled to judge
But whatever those reasons may be nothing can be judicially done with her till some of her crew or some of the captors attend. It may however be expedient to retain possession till the arrival of some of the captors unless Capt. Maley's letter should disclose facts manifestly inconsistent with the idea of a legal capture

"On the 13th I fell in with the U. S. brig Augusta and schooner Experiment — nothing particular occured until the the 23d October [April], 2 P. M. saw a sail to the S. E. stand to the S. IT. made all sail and gave chase: found her to be a brig of 18 guns and well manned — made every necessary preparation to engage her if a Frenchman, and showed my colours; but when under her guns, she hoisted the Spanish flag at the main and commenced a smart fire from her quarter and stern guns on me; still kept raining on her, and took a position, 150 yards, on her larboard quarter, when I thought it was full time to return her salute; a warm and brisk fire ensued; and I gained the wind on her. I should not have delayed so long bringing her to close action had I not conceived her to belong to a nation not at war with us, and that carrying her by force, might be the means of involving us in some national dispute hereafter, I consulted my officers respecting her, and one of them recognized her to be a Spanish Packet from the Havannah, I therefore discontinued the action."

An Act to make further provision for the removal and accommodation of the Government of the United States

SECTION 1. Be it enacted by the Senate and House of Representatives of the United States of America in Congress assembled, That the President of the United States shall be, and hereby is authorized and empowered, to direct the various offices belonging to the several executive departments of the United States, to be removed to the city of Washington, at any time that he shall judge proper, after the adjournment of the present session of Congress, and before the time heretofore appointed by law for such removal.

SEC. 2. And be it further enacted, That for the purpose of providing furniture for the house erected in the city of Washington, for the accommodation of the President of the United States, a sum not exceeding fifteen thousand dollars be expended, under the direction of the heads of the several departments of the treasury, of war, and of the navy.

SEC. 3. And be it further enacted, That for the suitable accommodation of Congress at the city of Washington, the secretaries of the four executive departments, or any three of them, shall be, and hereby are authorized and directed to cause suitable furniture to be forthwith provided for the apartments, which are to be occupied in the capitol at the said city, by the two houses respectively, and for the offices and committee rooms of each; and to cause the said apartments, offices and committee rooms to be furnished in a suitable manner, so as to be ready for the reception of Congress on the day fixed by law for the removal of the government to the said city; and that for defraying the expenses incident to the furnishing of the said apartments, offices, and committee rooms, and to the removal of the books, papers, and records belonging to the said offices respectively, there shall be, and hereby is appropriated a sum not exceeding nine thousand dollars.

SEC. 4. And be it further enacted, That for the greater convenience of the members of both houses of Congress in attending their duty in the said city of Washington, and the greater facility of communication between the various departments and offices of the government, there shall be made foot-ways in the said city in suitable places and directions; and that the said foot-ways shall be made by the commissioners of the said city, under the direction of the secretaries of the four executive departments of the United States, who, or any three of whom, shall forthwith take order therefor, and in such manner, at such places, and in such directions as they or any three of them shall judge most proper for the purposes aforesaid, and shall appoint; and that if the said secretaries, or any three of them, shall find on examination, that there is not in the hands of the said commissioners a sum sufficient for making the said foot-ways, over and above what may have been destined by the said commissioners, or may, in the opinion of the said secretaries, or any three of them, be necessary for the accomplishment of other objects necessary for the accommodation of the government, or its removal as aforesaid, then the said secretaries, or any three of them, shall be, and hereby are authorized and required to draw out of the treasury of the United States, and apply to the purpose of making the said foot-ways, any sum which may be necessary therefor, not exceeding ten thousand dollars; which sum is hereby appropriated for the said purpose. And all the lots in the city of Washington, now vested in the said commissioners, or in trustees in any manner for the use of the United States, and now remaining unsold, excepting those set apart for public purposes, shall be, and are hereby declared and made chargeable with the repayment of the said sum of ten thousand dollars, which shall be advanced in pursuance of this act, and the interest accruing thereon.

Sec. 5. And be it further enacted, That for the purchase of such books as may be necessary for the use of Congress at the said city of Washington, and for fitting up a suitable apartment for containing them and for placing them therein, the sum of five thousand dollars shall be, and hereby is appropriated; and that the said purchase shall be made by the Secretary of the Senate and Clerk of the House of Representatives, pursuant to such directions as shall be given, and such catalogue as shall be furnished by a joint committee of both houses of Congress to be appointed for that purpose; and that the said books shall be placed in one suitable apartment in the capitol in the said city, for the use of both houses of Congress and the members thereof, according to such regulations as the committee aforesaid shall devise and establish.

Sec. 6. And be it further enacted, That the several appropriations aforesaid shall be paid out of any monies in the treasury of the United States not otherwise appropriated.

Approved, April 24, 1800.

U. S. Frigate Constitution, at Sea

April 24th 1800.

Captain Christopher Raymond Perry,

Sir, Lieut Porter in the tender Amphitheatre, who left the Cape this morning, handed me your letter of the 8th Instant. He apologizes for not delivering it sooner, by stating that he never knew that such letter were on board untill within a few days, when he found it in his birth under his bed.

I observe what you are pleased to say with regard to the seventeen Invalids I put on board the General Greene to be taken to the United States for the purpose of being there discharged as unfit for duty. It appears to me that your fears & apprehensions are totally groundless as to those men occasioning any additional sickness to your crew. — I stated to you when those men went on board, that their complaints were generally of a long standing & some of them from the day of the ship's sailing from Boston. That old age, broken bones & long debility were the causes of their being unfit for service, and I then gave you my word that not one of those men were seized with any fever or other complaint of a contagious nature. In fact, there never has been one case of that nature on board the Constitution, except the one that was brought out in my boat from the Cape, where he had been confined in prison for desertion from the General Greene. This man was sick with the yellow fever when he came on board the Constitution, and he died in seventeen hours after. But no one on board this ship was affected by that circumstance. If you will please to look at my Surgeon's return of those men where their cases are stated, you will then find that not one of those invalids had a complaint which would make it dangerous for him to be received on board any ship.

What, Sir, can detain you so long in port? I much fear the Secretary of the Navy will be dissatisfied, & that probably General Wilkinson will despair of your arrival, and embrace some other means of making a passage.

I send the tender back into port, on this occasion, to inform you in this way, that it is my wish that you will, at all events, leave port immediately and pursue your passage to the United States by the rout which has been already pointed out to you.

Enclosed are the french papers you asked for.

I have the honor to be

Sir, your obedient servt

NORFOLK 24th April 1800 —

Sir In consequence of orders received from the Secretary of the Navy — to arrest and bring to trial all Offenders against the Marine rules and regulations of the United States. I do hereby appoint you President of a Court Martial to be held on board the Frigate Chesapeake (on Saturday the third Day of May next at 10 OClock in the forenoon) on a Midshipman and eight Men belonging to the United States Ship Congress. — You will accordingly pay the strictest attention to this Notice — and I do hereby direct you to summons Captain James Barron to Attend as a Member, together with such other Captain or Captains: Junior to yourself, as may arrive between this time, and the day appointed as above, for holding the said Court — as also any Sea Lieutenants now here (those of the frigate Congress excepted) or that may arrive in time — Provided that the said Court, do not consist of more than Thirteen Members, nor less than five, and I do hereby appoint Robert Taylor Esq' to Officiate as the Judge Advocate of the said Court. —

Captain Sever being the Prosecutor, I have given him regular Notice, to appear with the evidence he may have against the Prisoners and I have also directed that Officer to inform them immediately and with regularity of the Day fixt for their trial — in order that Each one may bring forward such evidence as he may have in his favour, and you will also give them the like Notice in form. I have only to add — that it is my desire — that you proceed in this Business with the greatest Regularity agreeable to the Act of Congress provided to meet the several charges, which I here enclose you from under the hand of the Prosecutor, with the Names of the Offenders, and that you will furnish me with a Copy of the proceedings of the Court &c&c— agreeable to Law, and another Copy you will forward to the Secretary of the Navy.

I have the honor to be Sir with great respect — your very Obi humble Servant.

NORFOLK 24th April 1800

Sir I have the honor to enclose you, copy of an Order issued by me this day, for holding a court martial — on the midshipmen and Eight men — charged by you, with various offences against the marine Laws of the U S.

You will be pleased to attend to its contents, and give the prisoners notice by having the order read to them.

The greater the regularity and the more solemn a business of this sort is conducted — the greater the effect will be among the crews of ships. In fact it is but right, that a prosecutor should inform a Prisoner, of his intention of Brin[g]jing him to a Court Martial, previous to the Notice going from the Court.—

I am with great Respect

To President John Adams from Secretary of the Navy

NAVY DEPARTMENT
25th April 1800

The Secretary of the Navy, has the honor to submit, for the consideration of the President, the following observations.

No express provision was made by Congress, for establishing Navy Yards, for building the first six Frigates directed by Law; but as Vessels so large could not be built without first erecting Wharves, or extending Wharves before erected, both these things were done — and in every instance on private property:—so that the Public have now little or no advantage from the expenditure of sums to a considerable amount. The evil, however, did not stop here. The Yards, connected with the Wharves, were, in almost every instance, too confined to admit of the convenience of piling away the timber, in a manner to prevent the necessity of frequent removals of one piece to get at another — which happened to be first wanted. The expence of this unnecessary kind of labour, arising solely from the want of sufficient room in the yard, amounted to serveral thousand dollars in building the Frigate United States, at Philadelphia. At Boston & at Baltimore, there is reason to believe this expence was still more considerable. It would not perhaps be hazarding too much to say, that the sums lost in improving private property, & in piling & unpiling of timber, from the want of yards sufficiently capacious, would have been nearly sufficient to have procured them for the Public, & to have erected Wharves & other essential improvements.

But when the building of these Frigates commenced, it was not foreseen that the United States would so soon want more — nor was the Public mind prepared to consider the establishment of a Navy, as necessary to the honor and safety of the Country.

All the timber, except the Frames, for the six 74 gun-ships authorized to be built, has been ordered to be procured at Portsmouth in New Hampshire — Boston — N York — Phila* — Norfolk — and the City of Washington; & the greater part, if not the whole, has been already collected at these different places.

Contracts have been long made, and are in part executed, for the Frames for these ships, of the live oak of Georgia and South Carolina — and measures are in operation to transport, as soon as may be, these Frames to the different building places. — At Norfolk, the yard where the Frigate was built, belonging to the State of Virginia, has been lately ceded to the United States, on the condition of being paid the value of the ground, which it is presumed will not exceed two thousand dollars, and this will include the wharf heretofore built by the United States. At the City of Washington, a sufficient quantity of ground, selected for a Navy Yard, belonged to the Public. At Philadelphia, the old, and very inconvenient, confined yard, heretofore used, must be again rented — considerable additions be made to the Wharf at the Public expence — and the unnecessary loss of constant removal of timber be again sustained — or ground, sufficient for a proper Navy Yard, must be purchased, at an expence, equal perhaps, to 30,000 Dollars — At New York, there have been already two wharves, built by the Public, for the Frigate President — the first wharf was discovered to be placed where there was not sufficient water, to launch the ship. It is not yet ascertained, for what sum, a quantity of ground adequate to the purpose can be obtained at a place, said to be extremely proper, near N York, for a Building-Yard; but it is believed, the price will not exceed a few Thousand dollars — At Boston, the old Yard; besides being private property, & too confined to contain the timber for a 74 gun ship, is so much surrounded by Wooden Houses, as to be thought too dangerous a situation, for building a valuable ship — especially a ship that might remain long on the Stocks. At this place, or rather at Charleston, there is a very proper situation for a Building Yard; but the ground, necessary for the purpose, cannot be obtained for less than 18,000, or 20,000 Dollars. At Portsmouth, the yard of Mr Langdon, hired for the Frigate, might be used for the 74 gun ship; — but an Island, at this place, quite convenient for all the Purposes of a large establishment, can be procured for 6000 D$ —

In this view of the subject — and believing that it is the truest economy to provide at once permanent Yards, which shall be the Public Property, and which will always be worth to the Public, the money expended thereon, instead of pursuing the system at first adopted, which, with the experience before us, could only be justified, on the ground, that the ships, now ordered, are the last to be built by the United States: The Secretary of the Navy, has had but little difficulty in making up his opinion, that the proper course to be pursued, is to make the Building Yards at Norfolk, Washington, New York & Portsmouth, Public Property and to commence them on a scale as if they were meant to be permanent; and also, the Building Yards at Philadelphia and at Boston, notwithstanding the high prices which must be given for the ground.

Mr Humphreys, whose report accompanies this, was sent to the Eastward, to view the situations about Boston & Portsmouth, proper for building Yards — He could nowhere find, within a convenient distance of Boston, a situation, so eligible in all respects, as Charleston [Charlestown].

Mr Humphreys was also instructed to examine, the different Ports & Harbours, Eastward of New York, with a view to the selection of a situation for one of the Docks, for repairing of ships, directed by Act of Congress — His report on that subject, corresponds with the opinion, the Secretary of the Navy has long entertained, from the best lights in his power, that Newport, Rhode Island, affords advantages which give it a superiority over every other place — It is of easy access, and can be gained under circumstances which would render it almost impossible for a ship in a crippled state, to reach any other port, to the Eastward of Chesapeake Bay — It has a capacious & a very safe harbour in all kinds of weather — and is the very point, of which a Maritime Enemy would endeavour to get possession, for the purpose of annoying on our own Coasts, our own Trade, & of cutting off one half the Maritime Strength of our Country, from the other half.

The objection to this place, is the expense of Fortifying it. In a War with England — or in a war with France, if France had only the United States to contend with, either Nation would take possession of Rhode Island, & would make it a second Gibraltar — indeed it would be much more injurious to the United States, in the hands of either Nation, than Gibraltar is to Spain. Half a dozen Hostile Ships would do more mischief to our commerce, from Rhode Island, from the celerity with which they could move in & out of port, than double the number from Boston, or most other Ports. It is a National object then, to keep possession of Rhode Island, too important to be neglected — let the expence of Fortification, be what it may —

Boston, from the natural strength of its situation, the great number, of Ship Carpenters in its vicinity, and of its Seamen, must always remain, a Building place & a place of Rendezvous, for our Navy, of the first importance. At Boston, too, the tides rise so high, as to lessen greatly the expence of emptying a Dock; but the danger of the Coast, Eastward of Cape Cod, & the difficulty of access to Boston harbour, seem to forbid a reliance on that place, as the principal rendezvous of our Navy, in a war on our Coasts, and as an asylum for ships damaged in action, & seeking a port for repairs.

New London has many advantages for a Dock — At this place, the Machine for pumping the Dock, might be worked by water, instead of using for that purpose, a steam engine of more expence — It is capable of being fortified at an expence considerably less than Rhode Island — but it is not so easy of access as Rhode Island — indeed a ship cannot enter the harbour with a N:W wind, nor is the Harbour very capacious. But a Judicious Enemy, able to make an establishment on our Eastern Coast, would not hesitate a moment between New London and Rhode Island — nor indeed between Rhode Island and any other place, on account of the great facility with which they could carry on their operations from Rhode Island.

There are several fine Harbours East of Boston. — Portsmouth — Portland — & Wiscasset, will all become important, in a Naval view, as the country advances in population; but it is conceived, that it is yet too early, to put them in competition with Boston, Rhode Island or New London — They are, indeed, all subject to one of the disadvantages, which is made an objection to Boston, & in a greater degree — The Fogs, which so frequently prevail, & continue so long, on all the Eastern Coast from Cape Cod, particularly in the Spring season.

Together with the report of Mr. Humphreys, the Secretary of the Navy has the honor to lay before the President, Sundry plans & observations, relative to the Harbors of New London — Newport — Providence — Boston — Charleston — Portsmouth — Portland & Wiscasset. All which is respectfully submitted.

A Copy

Sir, I am duly honored with yours of the 24th Instant, and beg leave to observe, that my Observations in regard to the Invalids put on board the General Greene, from the Constitution, were founded, on the Joint Opinion's of the Surgeon of the Hospital in Cape Francois, and of Doct' Turner Surgeon of the General Greene.
You can easily conceive Sir, I presume, that it is not necessary that such men should be affected with contagious diseases, to make their presence on board of a Vessel, dangerous to the health of a crew. The impure atmosphere occasioned by the frequently respired air of such persons, being in itself sufficient to dispose to various diseases, in a warm, and unhealthy climate (and especially those of a putrid kind) without having recourse to a specific contagion — I had scarce a sick man when they came on board, now I have twelve, On leaving New Port I took nearly thirty men out of the Hospital, and in a short time by care they recovered their health's. My Ship has been in port a much longer time, than at present, and not any sickness whatever prevail'd. I have been cruising upon the south side of this Island, which is generally acknowledged to be the most sickly part of the West Indies, and not a single man sick, and when I arrived off the Cape, my whole crew were in perfect health — I am perfectly satisfied on my own part of the propriety of sending these men home, and had the General Greene been bound directly there, should with pleasure have convey'd them. But she is bound to an unhealthy place for the purpose of taking on board, and Conveying to America, a Gentleman (with his family) of the first respectibility in the United States. —

My delay in port has been Occasioned by several circumstances — The first was from an application made to me, by a number of American Gentlemen, to remain in Port, that I might secure to their persons, and the most valuable part of their property a retreat, The Second was from my not being able to procure a passport, from the circumstance of General Moyes being at l. Haut. du. Cap. until the day before Yesterday; since which I have not been able to obtain even the promise of having a Pilot, before tomorrow morning. And Genl Toussaint, who arrived here this afternoon, importunes me to wait forty eight hours, to take two Colonels to America, who he sends there on Public business — I am at a loss how to act. I wish to oblige, and accomodate General Toussaint — which I also know to be the wish of the Secretary of the Navy, and I likewise wish to be on my way to America, particularly on account of the Situation of my crew; the time for which my people enlisted has Expired, and nothing but absolute necessity, or a desire to do something, which might be usefull to my Country could prevail on me to stay.

I have the honor to be

Sir, with great respect

[1799-1805.]

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Constitution, off Cape Francois, April 25. 1800.

Sir, I had the honour to state in my last, dated 12th instant, that it was my expectation that the General Greene was then on her way to New Orleans. From the date of that letter, the Constitution kept cruising between Monte Christo & Port Plate, until yesterday, when we appeared off the Cape again to look after the Herald which I had been expecting out from the Cape for many days before, & was to have brought out a little wood, which was much wanted on board. On running in near the Cape, I found to my great surprise, that not only the Herald remained yet in port, but that the General Greene was there also.

Captain Perry went into the Cape on the 6th inst; & he received my orders to proceed to the United States, by the way of New Orleans, on the day following. It was my belief when the General Greene went into port, and I am still of the same opinion, that she might have been ready to sail again in one day, or at least in two days; for there was nothing to detain her, but to land a little surplus provisions, & to take in water to last the ship to New Orleans. She has however been in port, nineteen days, & when Captain Perry will leave port is not in my power to say. I wrote him a letter yesterday in answer to one I had received from him and closed the subject of it with an order for him to put to sea immediately, & at all events. I sent this letter to him by the pilot boat, tender, which went in last night and came out again this morning, with a letter from Captain Perry offering some reasons for his remaining still in port, and also for not continuing some invalids on board, which I had placed there to be taken to America, as they were useless in service. To my mind, not one of the reasons offered by Captain Perry for so great delay, has any weight; & the sickness he mentions as beginning to encrease on board his ship is doubtless owing to his continuing so long in a sickly port, & not to any men that were received from the Constitution, as he seems to insinuate. I shall take the liberty to enclose the papers relative to the subject of this letter, as I wish to convince you of what is really true, that the delay which has taken place in the sailing of the General Greene has not been with my consent or approbation. If the Captain can justify himself to you, I shall be glad, as it will be, doubtless, greatly to his honour. His log-book will explain the time that ship has been in port, while on this station.

I have the honour to be
with great respect,

Court of Inquiry as to Cause of the Loss of the Masts of the U. S. Frigate Congress, Captain James Sever, U. S. Navy, commanding

To Secretary of the Navy from Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy

NORFOLK 27th April 1800

Dear Sir Yesterday the Court of inquiry — as to the Cause of the loss of the masts of the frigate Congress met on board of the Chesapeake and was Opened — but for want of M' Blair — late a Lieutenant in that Ship, and who was expected from North Carolina — The Court adjourned to tuesday next — when that unpleasant business I expect will be finished — In the mean time, I have ordered the Crew of the Congress — or rather the most of that Crew, to be turned over to the Chesapeake with L¹ Cordis &c. The Chesapeake by some little aid of small articles from the Congress, may be ready to sail in May, and perhaps by the time you furnish Captain [Samuel] Barron's destination — for be assured I shall get him ready for sea in the shortest time that is possible. The Congress having lost all her masts — Rigging — Blocks &c, and being in a very disordered and Unforward State — It will be the month of June, before she can get to Sea, with the greatest Exertions that can be made here — I have therefore thought it best to push the Constellation & Chesapeake, and then to turn all the force of the Yard &c upon the Congress, and by this means she can be got ready by the middle of June. —

I have directed a Court Martial to be held the 3º of May on a midshipman and Eight men belonging to the Congress — for Charges Contained in three Letters from Captº Sever Nº 1 — the papers Nº 2 and Nº 3 contain notice to Captº Barron that he is to set as President and to Severe to appear as Prosecutor before the Court &c &c &c and I have appointed Robert Taylor Esquire Attorney at Law to officiate as Judge Advocate of the said Court — M' Taylor is a member of the Legislature of this State — he is a good Federalist and has talents necessary for the Occasion in question. —

The Proceedings Above mentioned shall be forwarded as soon as the inquiry is Compleat. — If nothing unexpectedly turns up, we shall wait I fear the Sailing Instructions of Murray & Barron.— In order to put an End to such Conduct as the officers of the Congress, have exhibited here & with as little noise & trouble to the Public as possible — I have thought it best to wave an arrest of any Lieutenant at present — but have written a Letter to Lieutenant Cordis of which the enclosed No 4 is a Copy: It may have some effect — for he appears alarm'd. — Had we kept on pushing the three frigates together — it would have been the middle of June before either would have Sailed,

I have the honor to be Sir with

Very great Respect — Your Ob't humble S't

Hon'ble Benj'a Stoddert Esq

Sec'y of Navy

Tuesday 29 April 1800. Court met According to adjournment.

Lieu't Cordis the 1st Lt of the Congress being unwell and not able to attend — A letter was read from him address'd to the President of the Court. dated this day — wherein he states (among other things that correspond in part with a letter he wrote to the Secretary of the Navy 2nd Ins') that the Gale was excessive hard, which is in direct Contradiction to a paragraph in his letter to the Sec'y aforesaid. wherein he sets forth — that. "It perhaps may have been mentioned to you that the Gale was uncommonly Boisterous; but rest assured it was not the Case, the Sea was very irregular but, the Wind by no means so high, as seamen in general encounter in most Voyages" —

A Messenger having been sent with following questions from the Court for Lieut Cordis to answer he replied in Writing as underneath to those questions. —

— Question 1st —

Have you any reasons to beleive that Mr: Little the Sailing Master of the Congress is incorrect in Keeping the Log Book [Enclosure No. 1] of that Ship. —

Answer. I have no reason to beleive Mr: Little incorrect in his Keeping the Ships log Book — but being confined by Sickness at the time the Swifter parted, wa}s the cause it was not Mentioned in the log.—

— Question 2nd —

Did Cap't Sever consult any of his Officers respecting the Situation of the Rigging and Masts previous to that Ships being dismasted —

Answer. at Newport he did, but from leaving that place 'till being dismasted to the best of my Knowledge he did not —
If there was a consultation was there any difference of Opinion between the Cap¹ and Officers, with respect to the possibility and practicability of Securing the Masts of the Congress and of Setting up the rigging &c, on the day of the gale —

Answer, There was a Consultation respecting the Cutting away the Main Top Mast, but none farther to my Knowledge. the Idea of setting up the rigging on the day of being dismantled was not Realized on the 10th or 11th, I am not certain which, I mentioned I thought the Rigging to be Slack — but no difference or Questions were asked. —

The Court next proceeded to examine Lieut⁵ Blair and Saunders being first and second Lieuⁿ of the Congress when the following Questions were put and Answers given. —

— Question 1⁴ —

Have you any reason to believe. that M⁵ Little. Sailing Master of the Congress is incorrect. in Keeping of the Log Book of that Frigate —

Answer of Both. No. —

— Question 2⁴ —

Was the rigging of the Congress so Slack as to make it Necessary in Your Opinion to set it up on the 3⁴ day at Noon After the Ship left New Port. —

Answer of both. No —

— Question 3⁴ —

Did Cap¹ Sever consult any of his Officers respecting the setting up of the rigging and of the better securing of the Masts of the Congress, previous to her being dismantled. —

Answer of M⁵ Blair, who said — that Cap¹ Sever asked him, if he thought the Masts were in any danger, and that he told him he thought not — M⁵ Saunders observed only that he did not know of any other consultation —

— Question 4¹⁴ —

Was there any difference of Opinion between the Cap¹ & Officers, with respect to setting up the rigging and of the better securing of the Masts — and if there was a difference of opinions in what particular was that difference —

Answer, that M⁵ Cordis had only said — that he had mentioned to Cap¹ Sever that the rigging was slack but neither of them heard him — M⁵ Blair observing at the time to M⁵ Cordis that in a day or two they would be in warm Weather and could set it up better —

A Question to M⁵ Saunders did you on the 11 of Jan⁷ at 3 A. M., then having Charge of Deck, as stated by Lieu¹ Cordis in his letter to the Sec⁷ of the Navy inform Cap¹ Sever that the situation of the rigging was dangerous, and if you did what was his reply —

Answer — I did not inform the Cap¹ at 3. AM. that the rigging was Slack, nor did I go down to him untill the Watch was out, I then told him it was Slack but not more so than at 12 OClock — the Cap't made no particular reply that I recollect —

A Question to Mr Blair — what was your Opinion of the State of the Rigging — when Mr Saunders's watch was out and after that officer had seen the Cap't —

Answer — I had been up several times between 11 & 12 oclock, in the first watch and was of Opinion that the Rigging was not so Slack as to make it necessary to attempt setting it up in such a Gale nor do I think it wou'd have been prudent to have done so —

The Gentlemen examined were then desired to withdraw, when the court considered all the Circumstances of the Case and the President — put this Question to the Junior Member Cap't James Barron of the Navy. Do you think there is any cause to arrest Cap't James Sever in Order that he be tried by a Court Martial for his conduct in or previous to the Gale of wind in which the Congress lost her Masts — Answer. I do not think that there is the smallest cause whatever — the President, next put the same question to Cap't Sam'l Barron, who made the same reply — Thus the Court of enquiry after a very particular examination of the conduct of Cap't James Sever of the U. S. Frigate Congress, and of the causes that led to the loss of the Masts of that Ship — Do unanimously Aquit with honor that Officer of any Charge of Negligence, and are of the Opinion that he used all his skill and endeavours to prevent the Accident, and they further add it appears to them, that this Unfortunate disaster, which all Ships are liable to at Sea, was occasioned more by the Badness & insufficiency of the Masts as stated in Certificate No 2 than to any other Cause — all of which however is submitted to the President of the U. S., with their recommendation of Cap't Sever as a very Attentive Modest and firm officer, and a gentleman who possesses materials well worth cultivating in the Navy of the United States. Given from Under our hands on board the U. S. Frigate Chesapeake at Anchor in the River Elizabeth near the Borough of Norfolk this 29th Day of April 1800 —

I do hereby certify that the Aforegoing proceedings of the Court of Enquiry held (on board the U. S. Ship Chesapeake) in consequence of Orders from the President of the U. S. to investigate the cause of the loss of the Masts of that Frigate [Congress] are Just and True.

6th [January] Ship Sail'd from New Port

11th Saturday. The Wind Veering to the Southward and came on to Blow very fresh. Attended with warm Rain and a heavy Sea, this Weather produced an astonishing effect on my rigging which had previously been in good order, it stretched so much as to induce apprehensions for the Safety of the Masts, the Weather being such as to preclude the Practibility of setting it up, I caus'd tackles to be got up to succour the Masts and the Rigging to be Swifter'd, but Unfortunately every Step taken to secure the Masts proved futile —

Sunday 12th (Morn) it blowing hard and a heavy Sea Running, At half past 6 the Main Mast Sprung about 8 feet above the Upper deck. I immediately caus'd the Main Yard to be lowered down (the top Galliard Yard having been previously sent down, and the top Galliard Mast hows'd) on Consultation of the Officers it was decided as affording the only probable means of saving the Main Mast, I endeavoured to cut away the Maintop Mast this was immediately attempted, Mr. [Nathaniel] Bosworth my 4th Lieut and 4 or 5 smart active men going into the top to perform that Service, while in its execution the Mast Unfortunately gave way and in its fall involved the loss of that Active and deserving Officer, the other men who were aloft and engaged in the same Service were all happily saved, the fall of Main Mast carried away the Mizzen top Mast with the head of the Mizzen Mast. being under Apprehensions from the roughness of the Sea the Hull of the Ship might be essentially injured, by the Action of the Wreck, was induc'd to clear it from the Ship with all possible expedition, by which means a very small part only of the Rigging and Sails, attached to those Masts were Saved. I now turned all my Attention to, and made use of every practicable exertion to preserve the fore Mast, the Wind still continueing to blow hard, with a very heavy Sea, and the Ship from the loss of her after Masts laying in the trough of the Sea, Labouring very much, at half past 12 She roll'd away her fore top Mast, soon after which it was discovered that the Bowsprit was very badly sprung Just without the Gammoning, Immediately caus'd the Jib boom to be rigged in & endeavoured to secure the Bowsprit by strong lashings around the heel of the Jib Boom at the same time getting up tackles to the fore Mast head to secure the Mast, which was already sprung, and to releive in some measure the stress upon the Bowsprit caus'd by the fore & fore preventer stays, it is with great regret I am to add that all my endeavours proved of no greater Consequence than probably for to retard for a very little time what eventuallly took place, as at half past 3 P. M. the Bowsprit gave way & at the same instant the fore Mast went over the side leaving us totally dismasted, & with the loss of the principal part of the Sails and Rigging, which in our then-Situation — was not Practicable to preserve —
[Taken from the Log Book]

7th [January] Sea Day Ship sailed from New Port, Mizen top Sail Yard lost.

11th fresh Breeses and cloudy weather, Wind N. Westerly, Top Gallant Yards sent down — a cross sea and squally — at 9 close reef’d top sails, At 11 handed the fore and Mizen topsails a sudden alteration of Weather from Cold to warm, found the rigging to slacken, but the Sea running so high found it impossible to set it up the risk being too great to cast off the Lanyards, at Noon thick weather the Essex in Company —

Sunday 12th P. M. Strong gales and a high Sea, Struck the Top Gallant Mast, At 6 lost sight of the Essex, In Main topsail, lay too under fore sail, and Mizen stay sail, Burnt Several false fires, Signals for the Essex which were not answered — A. M. the Gale increasing, More Violent with a Cross Sea, at ¾ before seven found the Main Mast Sprung, turned all hands up, Lower’d down the Main Yard, the Captain and Officers thought best to cut away the Main top Mast to save the Main Mast, Lieu’t Bosworth and five Men went into the Main top to execute that duty, At 8 the Main Mast went over the sides, carried away the Mizen Mast, lost Yards, Sails & Most of the Rigging, Lieu’t Bosworth lost although every exertion made to save him, the Men all saved, several wounded by the Wreck, at 10. A. M. found the M’ Sprung, Swifter’d in the Rigging and took all possible means to save the Mast, At Noon Still a Violent Gale with a high Sea —

U S. Frigate Constitution at Sea near Monte Christo April 26th 1800

Sir, I did myself the honor to address a letter to you Yesterday, and enclosed copies of Orders given, and letters that had pass'd between Captain Perry of the General Greene, & myself on the subject of his remaining in port, instead of making the best of his way to America, agreeably to my Orders to him of the 6th instant, founded on those I had been favored with from you.

As Captain Perry still continues at the Cape, Notwithstanding he received my Orders two days ago, directing him to proceed immediately to Sea, and as I could not discover any appearance of his moving soon, I this day dispatch'd the little Tender, with another letter to him, in which I directed him to put to Sea early tomorrow morning. Whether the Captain will please to respect this last Order I am yet to learn; A copy of this letter to Captain Perry, shall be enclosed.

I am afraid the Captain will not be able to reconcile such tardiness to your satisfaction, for sure I am, that it cannot be satisfactorily explain'd to my mind — When the General Greene went into port, there was not, (as I conceive) any occasion for her to remain there, longer than one, or two days. But she has been there Twenty days, a period nearly sufficient to have made her passage to America —

But still the ship is in port, and what detains her there, I am not able to conjecture. The Ship wanted no repairs, at least none were reported to me. She wanted no provisions, at least none of consequence, and if any at all, a few hours might have been sufficient to obtain them from the shore, and a few hours might also have been sufficient time to have landed all his surplus stores on hand. There was nothing therefore wanted for the Ship but water sufficient to serve her crew to New Orleans, where it can be pump'd on board from along side, as in the Delaware
It is therefore clear to me, that he could have easily obtained enough on board, to have answered all his present purposes in the course of one day, and night, or in two days at most. —

What good excuse then can be offered, why the Ship has been delay’d twenty days in port, and still remaining quietly at Anchor? — The Captain in his letter to me says “some Americans requested him to tarry, that they might have a place of safety, to retreat to”, alluding as I suppose to some disturbances, among the Negroes in the Country. But had he left port as expeditiously as I presume he might, and ought to have done, he would have been on his way to New Orleans, before any application of this kind was made to him, or thought of. Beside the Herald was then, and is still in port. The next difficulty seems to have been (from his own statement) that the Commandant was out of Town, at Au de Cap. & therefore he could not Obtain a pass for the ship to go out by the fort. This, Sir, is not the first time I have heard a Similar Story from him, as an excuse for his remaining in port longer than was expected. — Captain Perry has therefore been unfortunate in that respect. — I' Captain Perry had been desirous of leaving port; I cannot but suppose that he might have easily obtain’d a pass, if any at all was necessary, especially if he had gone personally to Au de Cap, which is but three miles, to apply for it. Captain Perry seems not to have recollected, all this while, that he had my Orders in his pocket to proceed to Sea, as soon as he could land his supurfluous provisions, and to take in water, sufficient to last the crew to the next port. It is observable however, that though Captain Perry could not obtain a pass to come out of Port our Merchant Vessels, were going in, and coming out, every day. & in the mean time the Tender Amphitheatre, went into port twice, with Orders to Captain Perry, and she was not detained: nor was any attempts made to detain her. — Another reason equally futile (in my Opinion) is offered by the Captain; he seems to state that about the time he could obtain a Pilot to take the Ship out, General Toussaint requested him to tarry two days longer, in order to take on board two French passengers to America. It is not Sir, incompatible with good discipline that in a case like the present, that a request from Toussaint should be listened too and obey’d, in preference to my Orders then in his possession, to proceed to Sea immediately & at all events! Or, is it not strange that Captain Perry could not find an ample apology, to offer to General Toussaint for not complying with his request, which would Occasion such delay; by Observing to the General, he had received my Orders to put to Sea immediately, and adding that he could not Justify so great a breach of Orders from his commanding Officer? But no such excuse seems to have occurr’d to him; nor does he seem to recollect that the rules of the Navy, strictly forbids a Captain taking any passengers on board in a foreign port, unless so directed by a Minister, or Consul of the United States, which Orders he does not pretend to me, to have received from our Consul at the Cape. But he seems to consider the thing as a matter purely discretionary with himself Only.

I observed some days ago that the General Greene was dress’d out, and decorated greatly with Colours. The same thing is repeated again this day, with the Addition of a number of Salutes fired from her. The Occasion of this parade and waste of powder I know not. But it is to be hoped, there is a good reason to be given for it.

Being under strong conviction that you will have cause to be dissatisfied with regard to the delay, which has been occasioned in the sailing of the General Greene, I have thought it, a duty to myself, to explain the matter candidly, so that, if any censure was likely to be reflected on any one, it might light on him who merited the blame.

I have the honor to be with great respect,

Sir,

U. S. Frigate Constitution at Sea

Capt. Christopher Raymond Perry
Commanding U. S. Frigate General Greene

Sir, I am not a little surprized that the General Greene still remains in Port, Notwithstanding my Orders, delivered to you on the 24th instant to put to Sea immediately, and at all events; since which you have suffer'd two mornings to escape, with fair opportunities to come out with the Ship. When you went into port I did not expect you would have remained there, longer than one day, or two at most — Nineteen, or Twenty days have since elapsed, and Yet the Ship is at anchor, and no appearances of her Coming Out.

I consider it my indispensable duty, to repeat to you my Orders, and to direct, that you get the General Greene under weigh, early tomorrow morning, and proceed with as much dispatch, as practicable to the U States, by way of New Orleans, and the Havanna, agreeable to your Orders from me, on the 6th instant, as I am confident, that blame will attach to me, if not explained, on account of your detention.

With a view therefore to prevent any Stigma, on my Conduct I shall represent the matter, to the Hon[orable]ble, the Secretary of the Navy — To him you must explain the Cause of your detention, if he should please to require it, and I hope you will have the honor to do it, to his Satisfaction.
I send the Tender into port a second time, for no other purpose, but to urge your Sailing.

CAPE FRANCOIS Ap 26 1800

Sir I am duly Honourd with yours of the 26 Instant, and in reply beg leave to observe that I have not detained the Genl Greene in Port from choice but from necessity — it most certainly was impossible for any Ship to take in 15000 Gallons of water in one day, and I had many other Articles to Procure, and when I applied for a Passport I could not obtain one — since which through the solicitation of Genl Toussaint and M'r Stevens, I have been prevailed upon to wait for[t]y eight hours, for the purpose of taking to America two Gentlemen whom Genl Toussaints sends to the Executive of the United States — This I should not have done, had I not been persuaded that you would have approved of the Measure — from the state of affairs a few days since the Americans had every thing to fear — every body under arms — the streets continually Patroll'd every night by four or five hundred men, and 12 or 14 thousand men under arms, Collected at Haut Du Cap a Village within three miles of the Town — Those Circumstances Joined had very disagreeable appearances, American Sitizens could have no other Asylum than the Genl Greene and Herald I shall Sail in the Morning with all M'r Steven's dispatches, and the [MS mutilated] mentioned Genl Greene

Concerning Prize Money due the U. S. brig Pickering, and U. S. S. Delaware

The Atalanta was captured by the Pickering, Captain Hiller, in company with the Delaware, Capt Baker. She was sold at St Kitts by D. M. Clarkson & netted as per acco Sales herewith. | £. 2,559:16:1
---|---
One half p't to Capt Hiller Ap 26. 1800 | 1.279:18.1
One half carried to C't U. States p't a/c | 1.279:18.1

2,559:16.1.
The above sum, therefore, of 1279:18:1, equal to 3,101 78/100 Dollars left in the Hands of the Navy Agent, properly or improperly, for Navy purposes, should be paid by the Navy Depart\textsuperscript{i} to the Commissioners of the Navy Pension Fund by a Warrant to be charged to D. M. Clarkson. The Ocean, captured by the Delaware, Capt Baker, was likewise sold by Clarkson and the whole amount of net proceeds £ 617:16.0 equal to 3921:93 carried to the credit of the Captors. Clarkson however charges the Captors with two accots (herewith 1 & 2) of supplies to the Delaware amounting to 2,312 Dollars 24 cents. The amount due to the Fund on account of the Ocean being but 1960:96 would, if that accot were correct, leave a balance in favour of Capt Baker of 351 28/100 Drs. But on examination it appears that only 826:03 thereof can be admitted as chargeable to the Delaware: the balance being for Slops, Money & private Stores for the purser and other Officers. The Purser, Edw\textsuperscript{4} I. Peyton, has not accounted for any of them at this Office; but he may have done so to Capt Baker. — Captain Baker is certainly accountable to the Navy Department for one half of the proceeds of this prize viz. 1,960.96. deduct Supplies to the Delaware, admitted 826.03 would be due N. Dept by Capt Baker 1,134.93

If an account should be settled as above the Navy Department would be the creditor of Capt Baker for 1134:93. As the Affair now Stands the Pension Fund is the Creditor to the amount of 1960.96. — The question is which is most proper? Gurney & Smith have repeatedly demanded payment of the whole am\textsuperscript{4} of supplies 2,312:24 — instead of complying the Department has required them to pay 1960:96 to which request they have returned no answer; but they certainly will not do it without compulsion is used. — Would it not do to inform them that on their paying 1134.93 they should be released? And on their refusal suit should be brought? —

SIR, I have the honor to inform you, that yesterday, in company with the Connecticut (Passage Island bearing S.E. distance 5 leagues) I fell in with and recaptured the Ship Thomas Chalkley of and from Philadelphia, with a valuable cargo bound from St. Thomas; she had been 50 hours in possession of the French, and was in company of the privateer bound for St. Johns. — Captain Tryon gave chase to the privateer whilst we were after the ship, but although he was in sight of her hull from his deck for six hours, could gain nothing, and she got into St. Johns. — She had captured and ordered for St. Johns, four American vessels, one of which was the schooner Chance, which I recaptured last week, and dispatched for New-York, agreeable to what I had the honor to write to you, under the date of the 22d inst. I am fearful the other two vessels have got into St. Johns. Captain Tryon has the Thomas Chalkley now in tow, and 'tis probable will be in St. Thomas's to-morrow.

To Robert Liston, British Envoy Extraordinary & Minister Plenipotentiary, from Secretary of State

Philadelphia May 3 1800

SIR, In reference to your letter of the 2d of February last, I soon after took occasion to intimate to you what appeared to be the President's way of thinking on the subject. I have now the honor to state to you, that while by the law of nations, the right of a belligerent power to capture and detain the merchant vessels of neutrals, on just suspicion of having on board enemy's property, or of carrying to such enemy any of the articles which are contraband of war, is unquestionable, — no precedent is recollected, nor does any reason occur, which should require the neutral to exert its power in aid of the right of the belligerent nation in such captures and detentions. It is conceived that after warning its Citizens or subjects of the legal consequences of carrying enemy's property or contraband goods, nothing can be demanded of the sovereign of the neutral nation, but to remain passive. If, however, in the present case, the British captors of the brigantine Experience, Hewit, master, the ship Lucy, James Conolly master, & the brigantine Fair Columbia, Edw Carey, master, have any right to the possession of those American vessels, or their cargoes, in consequence of their capture and detention, but which you state to have been rescued by their masters from the captors, and carried into ports of the United States — The question is of a nature cognizable before the tribunals of Justice, which are open to hear the captor's complaints, and the proper officer will execute their decrees.—
You suggest that these rescues are an infringement of the law of Nations. Permit me to assure you that any arguments which you shall offer to that point will receive a just attention.

With regard to the British Seamen and deserters who have assisted in the rescues, with great truth I am authorized to assure you, that the Government have no desire to retain them: but besides that the many months elapsed since those events, and the consequent dispersion of the men, would probably render their delivery impracticable, it is not known to be authorized by any law. This has brought into view your project of stipulations for the mutual delivery of deserters, whether seamen or soldiers: and I have now the honor to inclose a counter project, by which you will see the objections which have occurred to your propositions. The President has been pleased to direct and empower me to negociate with you on this subject & it will afford him great pleasure if we can make a satisfactory arrangement.

I have the honor to be with great respect,

Sir, Your obt' Serv'

BENJ' STODDERT Esq'

Sir, I have now the honor to address you from on board this frigate which you have done me the honor to place under my Command; but as Cap' Truxtun informs me that he gives you a regular detail of the progress of our outfit I have only to assure you of my steady cooperation with him to arrive [at] the desirable moment when we can announce to you that we are ready for our departure, but I find he has counted upon the abilities of the Mechanicks & other operators here on falacious grounds — the work has not progressed as fast as he had a right to expect and it is my firm belief that we shall not be ready for Sea till the 15 Inst if then.

I hope we shall not be detained for want of our sails, as we depend upon those that are to come on from Phil —

We have discharged all those Men whose times have nearly expired & replaced them with others shipped at Baltimore, & Norfolk so that there will be no delay on that head & shall be able to make a full four Months Cruise from the time of our departure unless you think it advisable to order us back sooner

To Secretary of State from Robert Ritchie, U. S. Consul, Fort Republican

OFFICIAL.

FORT REPUBLICAN, May 3, 1800. [*]

TIMOTHY PICKERING, Esq.

For the information of Merchants of the United States, I have to announce to you, that the army of Gen. Touissaint, after effecting the capture of Bennet, performed a rapid march across the country, and by its sudden appearance, and the judicious positions that detachment of it were placed in, caused an immediate evacuation of Grand and Petit Gauve by the troops of Rigaud. The troops of Gen. Touissaint have been in quiet possession of both these places for somedays past, and a commercial intercourse has already commenced with the port of Petit-Gauve, which has considerably augmented the prices of American provisions in this market.

As this success has opened to us a communication with a rich country, I flatter myself our trade will be greatly benefitted thereby. One certain advantage resulting from this event, and which is highly to be prized, is, the stop it will put to the career of those piratical barges, which have infested the Bite, as they are now deprived of a port in the vicinity of Gonaive to fit out and resort to.

I have the honour to be, &c.

ROBERT RITCHIE.

Extract from a letter from St. Kitts, commenting on conditions at that place

ST. KITTS, May 3d, 1800.

"Nothing material has occurred since I wrote you last — we have just returned from a cruise off St. John's, Porto Rico, in which we had very bad weather, and met with no success. At St. Thomas's we saw some of the crew of the French ship [La Vengeance] which engaged the Constellation; she was condemned at Curraocoa, as unfit for sea, and lost 120 men killed with a great number wounded; it was with the greatest difficulty she could be kept afloat till they got in, so roughly did Truxtun handle her. We are now preparing to go on another cruise off Grandterre, Guadaloupe, where we have great hopes of taking some more of the pirates, and making some valuable recaptures. There is a French ship of war there of 24 guns, and a great number of privateers of different sizes, amounting to 170 sail.

"The British May fleet sails from hence to-morrow, under convoy of the Prince of Wales of 98 guns, Lord Hugh Seymour, and several frigates; it will consist of near 400 sail of the largest ships I ever saw, all richly laden with the produce of these islands. The French and British privateers are all swarming, the former to capture, and the latter to recapture.

"Last night we heard a considerable noise with the reports of pistols, &c. on board a British transport which lay alongside of us — She has about 200 French prisoners on board who rose upon the crew, 30 in number; the combat lasted but a short time, and ended in the death of three of the prisoners, and ten wounded."

Extract from letter to Secretary of State from U. S. Consul at Surinam

SURINAM, May 4, 1800.

"I have the honor to inform you, that his Excellency the Governor has this day communicated to me, that vessels of the United States are no longer permitted to take in produce on freight, or otherwise, for England — and allowed to land only Lumber, Fish, and Flour — and to take away in payment therefor Molasses only.

"Also, in consequence of the Governor's Proclamation of the — allowing neutral vessels to take away any produce, giving Bonds to land the same in England, letters were written to Merchants in the United States, advising to send vessels here to take freight — it seems necessary that the revocation of this privilege should be generally known. This moment his Excellency's proclamation on the subject is shewn to me; but there is no time to procure a copy to transmit to you by this conveyance. Officers of the British Customs are appointed to supercede those appointed by the Commander in Chief at the Surrender of the Colony. — Instructions from his Majesty's Ministers have been lately received concerning the navigation and trade to this colony — I have seen them — They are written in a pressing, censuring style, against the admission of Neutrals to a participation in the trade any further than absolute necessity will justify and require. The admission of European Neutrals is positively forbidden, and American vessels are limited to the landing of Lumber, Fish and Flour — unless the Governor, by Proclamation, declares that the Colony are in want of beef and pork. In regard to the taking away produce, Molasses and Rum are only allowed — but the language is not so positive in regard to this restriction, as they appear to understand that neither rum nor molasses are here to be found — The Proclamation of the Governor, nevertheless intimates, that at present he shall execute these instruments strictly."

[4 May 1800]

Extract from a letter from an officer on board the American private armed brig Ariel, Captain Coates, concerning her encounter with two French privateers, while on route from Canton to Philadelphia

At St. Kitts, June 2.

"This will, I expect, inform you, that I have had the misfortune of being again taken by the French."

"On the morning of the 5th of May, being then within 10 days sail of home, we saw two sail; and as the day broke, we discovered they were privateers. They both bore down on us, and hoisted French colours, and we hoisted American colours and cleared the ship for action. At half past six they were within gun shot, when we began our fire, which they returned, until a quarter past seven, when they layed us along side, within pistol shot. We continued firing on both sides with great guns and small arms, until eight o'clock, when finding our masts much injured, and our sails and rigging cut to pieces, with two men killed, captain Coates and two others badly wounded; two vessels along side, one of 12 guns, the other of 10, and 100 men each; we having only 10 guns and 30 men; finding it was impossible for us to fight two vessels of superior force, and that they were on the point of boarding us on each quarter; we were under the distressing necessity of striking our colours.

"I think every credit is due to our captain, officers and men, as we fought as long as there was a hope remaining.

"I shall get my passage home as soon as possible, when I hope to be able to give you further particulars verbally."

[The Decree of Condemnation states the Captain's name was Griffie; See log of U. S. Frigate Essex, 11 March 1800.]

[4 May 1800]

Extract from a letter from David Walker, Supercargo of the American private armed Brig Ariel, of Philadelphia, concerning her Capture by the French Privateer L'Egypie Conquise

POINT-PETRE, GUADALOUPE, May 14.

"We sailed from Leghorn the 20th March, in company with the armed vessels the Two Betseys and the Diana; from whom we separated in the Mediterranean in bad weather. Having a long passage in the Mediterranean, we found it necessary to call at Madeira for wood and water, where we stopped but a few hours and sailed from thence the 15th April.

"We were within three days sail of St. Thomas on the 3d [14th Floreal year 9] May, when we discovered a schooner on our weather quarter bearing down on us. On approaching us she fired a gun, and hoisted the national flag. We immediately hoisted ours, and fired a shot at her, giving three cheers. As soon as she came within short gun shot, she gave us a broadside, and continued still on the same tack: but at the same time sheered towards us, fired three or four more: and while loading their guns pleyed us with their musketry. We were not backward in returning their fire. We could not, however, prevent her from coming alongside us; which she did, shouting Vive la Republique."
"After this, the vessels being closely grappled, we continued a desperate conflict, and repulsed several attempts to board us; but at length, having our colours shot away, our nettings cut down, some of their men being aboard of us supported by others, and half our number being killed and wounded, we were obliged to strike to a much superior force. He proved to be l'Egypte Conquise,[*] of fourteen guns (ten French fours and four twelves) and between 90 and 100 men, of whom 45 had muskets, who always covered their attempts to board us. We had two killed and eleven wounded, myself included; but two of our wounded since dead, and a third I think cannot live. On their part they acknowledged only two killed and four badly wounded; one of the former was their captain of marines. It does not however, appear to me possible they could escape with so little loss, our guns being pointed down on them to their utmost depression while they lay along side. The captain, Mr. Casson, the mate, and sixteen of our people, including three of the wounded, were put on board the privateer, and myself and seven others, all wounded, were permitted to remain on board the brig. We separated from the privateer a few days after our capture, and arrived here the eleventh. The wounded are in the hospital, where they themselves assure me they are well taken care of.

"In justice to capt. Lyhlaman of the privateer, and our prize-master (Dominique) I ought to add, that after our capture, all our wounded received every attention the nature of our situation would permit.

"To say anything in favor of capit. Griffis, his officers and men, after the above narrative, would be a work of supererogation."

[4 May 1800]

From typewritten copy of translation of the Decree of Condemnation of the Brig Ariel, captured by French Privateer L'Egypte Conquise*

Prize [capture] of the American brig Ariel, by the Privateer Egypte Conquise.

In the name of the French Republic: —

The tribunal of commerce and prizes established in the island of Guadeloupe, sitting at Basseterre in the said island, in its ordinary session of the second of Prairial, year ninth of the French Republic, one and indivisible [22 May 1800].

Having seen the proces-verbal of the seizure made at sea on the fourteenth Floreal (3d [4th] May) of the American brig Ariel, of Philadelphia, Captain Griffis [another account states the Captain's name was Coates; See log of U. S. Frigate Essex, 11 March 1800.], by the privateer Egypte Conquise, captain Lyclama, outfitted by citizen Garique: the report made on the circumstances of the said prize by the Justice of the Peace of the canton of Port de la Liberte, and dated the 22d and 23d of the same month; the analysis of the papers of the said brig by citizen Charles Brun, sworn interpreter of the English language, all of which documents, as well as those analysed, being deposited in the Court, the assistant interpreter, citizen Menaid, present at the hearing.

Having heard the president in his statement and the commissioner of the government in his argument, the matter is taken under consideration.

Considering that from the said analyzed documents and from the report above mentioned, it is certain that the jurat at the bottom of the sea letter, of which the said captain is the bearer, is not signed by the officers of Marine, as prescribed by article 21 of the treaty of Amity and Commerce between France and the United States, dated February 6, 1778, and that he has consequently infringed his passport.

Considering that he has a commission to capture French vessels and conduct them to the ports of the United States of America, which is contrary to the treaty of the above date.

Considering that the said captain, instead of obeying the summons which was made to him to haul down his sails (heave to) has fought with stubborness, and had to be boarded, after a combat of three quarters of an hour.

In applying, First, Article 7 of the regulations concerning prizes of the 21st of October, 1744, as follows: No regard will be paid to passports of neutral sovereigns, when those who have obtained them are found to have infringed them, and vessels that are navigated under the said passports will be declared good prize.

Second, Article 12 of the ordinance of Marine, Book 3, chapter 9, relating to prizes, of the month of August, 1681, expressed thus: Every vessel which refuses to haul down her sails (heave to) after the summons which will have been made to her, by our vessels, or those of our subjects armed in war, can be compelled to do so by cannon or otherwise, and in case of resistance and of combat will be good prize.

The tribunal approving the argument of the commissioner of the government, declares good prize the American brig Ariel, together with her rigging, appurtenances and cargo, and orders the sale thereof in the customary form to the profit of the captors, outfitters and those interested in the privateer Egypte Conquise, inventory of the whole being first made in the presence of those entitled.

Ordered, etc.

Done and decreed by the said tribunal at the said session at which assisted the citizens Joseph Tholezan, president, Jean Pierre Bernard Delrieu, Gabriel Capoul, judges and Guerin, secretary, the said day, month and year.

G. CAPOUL, J. DELRIEU, JOSEPH THOLEZAN, GUERIN, secretary.

M' Barton

Sir. I have this day received your favor of the 2 Instant and am very sorry that I cannot reply to it to your satisfaction.

Previous to my leaving Phila the whole business of your unfortunate forgetfulness of your station in the Navy (at Jamaica, and on ship board there, as well as on our passage) had reached the Sec'y of the Navy, my duty required me to be candid with him as to his interrogatories respecting the conduct of my Officers in general, finding him well acquainted with every transaction that has pass'd I could make use of no disguise, & further he was well acquainted with the repeated declarations that you have publickly made, that you would never fight against your Country, consequently you could not be deem'd an American even by naturalization, that alone was sufficient for him to say you must not be considered as an Officer in our Navy, for tho' upon friendly terms with Great Brittain at present, we know not how long we may be so, all these circumstances considered I give you my candid opinion that your chance of promotion is but slender, & that you had better retire from the service, besides if you look over the list of Lieu* you will find your rank of a much Junior date than you suppose —

Thus far I have addressed you as an Officer in the Navy. give me leave to offer you any personal services & to assure you I feel for your situation, for as I have before observed to you, I esteem you as [a] Gentleman of good sense and manners & hope you will be able to turn your pursuits to a better purpose in a private line —

I shall be happy to see you at all times & am very sincerely

U. S. Frigate Constitution 5th May 1800 —

Sir, General Toussaint has represented to me, that he has occasion at times to fit out a Vessel to sail from a Port, where it is almost impossible to procure passports signed by the American Consul General, and the British agent and he requests that such of his Vessels, as have his passports, may be allowed to pass freely, as they will all be under the strictest Orders to respect the American Flag — You will not therefore detain any Vessels, sailing with a passport from General Toussaint, tho' not accompanied with that of the American Consul, unless you find that such Vessels have disturbed the Commerce of the United States, or offered some insult to Vessels sailing under their flag.

I have the honor to be

Sir

Sir I am honored with your letter of the 3rd Inst enclosing your accounts of the stores wanted for the Ganges, which I confess surprizes me —

You will immediately bring up the Ship to Philadelphia, and be so good as to have made out by the different officers who have made returns, an account of the articles on hand and of what have been expended during the last cruise. —

At the fort you will comply with every thing required by the health laws — of which you will get information from the Health Officer — I understand you will not be detained at the Fort — But you must be governed by the directions you receive there from the proper Officer —

SECRETARY AT WAR

Sir I have examined the Papers you gave me, respecting a purchase of property from Potts & Lee near Harpers Ferry. As to Lee's Estate, the ore, the object of most importance that certainly ought to be purchased, if Pott's estate is purchased. Indeed I cannot but think, that this estate even without Pott's might answer the public purpose, if a Furnace could be erected at Harpers Ferry, which is doubtful. But when establishments are made for the United States, they ought to be made on a Scale as if the union was to be durable. And as if the establishment were intended for a great Nation — and under this Idea which I believe is a correct one, both estates should be purchased. Lee receives $1000 p. ann. from Potts. He reserves the right of leasing his ore to others. I suppose as his ore is stated to be inexhaustible he might sell to another company for another $1000 p. ann. and perhaps to a third for a third 1000 doll's p. ann, admitting however that his estate is worth 2000 dollars p. ann. a fair price for the fee simple would be somewhere about 24000 or 25000 doll's or even 26000 which I think you might give.

I presume it will be necessary to take the Att'y Gen's opinion as to the title of the Property —

I am Yr &

To David Humphreys, U. S. Minister to Madrid, Spain, from Secretary of State

[Philadelphia] Department of State May 7th 1800

David Humphreys Esq’

Dear Sir, I have felt much anxiety on account of the delays which have taken place in the Barbary affairs: but nevertheless I have reason to believe that all will be well. Letters from Consul Eaton at Tunis to Feb 1st received three or four days since, warrant the expectation. — You will be informed that the Sophia, with a very valuable cargo, sailed in January for Algiers, and a large ship with timber and naval stores for Tunis in February: I was assured she would be ready to sail early in January. — By these vessels I write fully to Consuls O’Brien & Eaton. — Instead of a common ship intended for Algiers this Spring, with merchandise for re-establishing our funds there, one of our frigates is getting ready to take in timber and naval and military stores, as well as merchandize. — This frigate was originally an East Indiaman, a burthenous vessel of seven or eight hundred tons. She will of course leave on shore some of her guns and men: but she will remain well armed and manned. Her cargo will all be ready by the time she comes round here from Newport, which will be in ten days or two weeks. —

Other timber, plank, naval and military stores are preparing for Tunis, and will shortly be ready for loading. — The timber and plank were growing in the woods when we received the definitive arrangements, last autumn, with that regency.

You will have the goodness to communicate this information to the Consuls Eaton & O Brien, by the earliest opportunities. — I have given the like information, and made the same request to Mr Smith.

Congress have resolved to rise the 12th instant. The law prohibiting commercial intercourse with France has been renewed. A Bankrupt law has at length been passed. A bill for an entire new arrangement of the judiciary system has been considered; but many objections have been offered; and it will not at present be adopted. The northwestern territory has a population of about 50,000 souls. A bill for dividing it into two governments, by a line running north from a point opposite the mouth of Kentucky river, has passed both houses. The eastern half is to retain its old name: The New Territory is to be called Indiana. —

At the late circuit court for this district, three of the Northampton Insurgents have been convicted of treason, and sentenced to be executed the 23rd instant. Many others have been convicted of conspiracy and misdemeanours, and sentenced to pay fines from 50 to 1000 dollars, and to be imprisoned from six months to two years.

After many essays in former sessions, Congress have now accepted the cession of Connecticut of western lands, with the reservation to that state of a tract of 120 miles long, and a degree and some minutes of latitude in breadth, next westward of Pennsylvania. — This tract so reserved, Connecticut sold a few years since, to a company, for a million of dollars, which were appropriated for the maintenance of schools in the state.

I have the honor to be, &c.

To Smith & Ridgway of New York, from John Estes concerning capture by the French privateer Schooner La Union

HAMPTON ROADS, May 15, 1800.

Messrs. Smith & Ridgway,

GENTLEMEN, I am sorry to inform you that on the 7th of May in. 30, 51, 11, long. 70, 40, W, we were captured by a French privateer, took all hands out except capt. Cook and Robert Asty[?], after plundering the vessel of every thing they could get handy — manned her with 3 Frenchmen, sent her to Guadaloupe, the privateer stood to the northward. On the 9th fell in with an English Letter of Marque mounting 5 guns and 15 men on board, they engaged us three quarters of an hour and then struck to the privateer. The French boarded her, plundered her and hove her guns overboard — The captain of the privateer gave up the brig to the captain, on condition that he should take all the American prisoners on board and land them in the most convenient port in the United States. Sent us on board 15 in number. The 13th in lat. 35, 38, in 25 fathom water, fell in with the sloop Nancy, capt. Carlson, of New York bound to Norfolk, who agreed to take us all on board and land us in Norfolk. The 15th arrived here and expect to get to town before night. It is uncertain when I shall come on, for they have robbed me of every thing, money and clothes. I shall get on board of some vessel and work my passage.

The privateer that captured us, was a schooner of 12 guns, and 60 men, she is called La Union, after we left her she steered to the Northward — we expect she will cruize on our coast.

To Uriah Tracy, Chairman of Committee, United States Senate, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA] Navy Department 8th May 1800

The Hon: Uriah Tracy Esq Chairman of a Committee of the Senate.

Sir Col? Parker taught me to expect that a Bill would originate in the House of Representatives for the purchase of Timber, or I should have troubled you before on the subject — It is I believe the practice of all Nations that have Navies, to procure timber every year, in peace as well as in War — and to have it deposited in proper places for seasoning, by which means they secure the power of building Ships when they please, and with timber sufficiently seasoned. — This practice is so obviously right, that no arguments can be necessary to recommend it to the adoption of the United States. — Two Hundred thousand Dollars annually appropriated for the purchase of timber would at all times secure to the United States the means of building with expedition, and with well seasoned materials, four times as many Ships of the line, or five times as many Frigates, as years had elapsed between the commencement of the appropriation, and the commencement of the building of the Ships. —

If no timber should be provided, we shall on the first occasion that may arise to make an augmentation of the Navy find ourselves under the necessity of building ships with green timber: and at a time when every hour may be important, be obliged to wait for Months to have the Trees cut from the woods and hauled to the building places, before we can begin the Ships. — After the Ships are built of such materials, it cannot reasonably be expected that they will last more than three or four years, instead of 15, or 20, as should be the case, and would with Ships made out of timber sufficiently seasoned. — I have the honor to enclose an extract of my report to the Chairman of the Naval Committee in January last, which will show the application of the 20000 Dollars appropriated for timber the last year — It will require about 50000 Dollars to procure all the timber necessary for the frame of a 74 Gun Ship — and about 40000 Dollars for the frame of a Frigate — The appropriation for the support of the Navy for 1800, will probably not be all expended on that object — I have little doubt that 200000 Dollars might be saved out of that appropriation, for the purchase of timber, if it be too late in the Session, as I presume it is, to provide other means. —

Should it be the opinion then of the Senate, that money should be laid out in this object, a short Bill would be sufficient, saying that the President might direct the purchase of suitable timber for Frigates and Ships of the line to the amount of 150000, or 200000 Dollars, out of the appropriation of ———— Dollars for the maintenance of the Navy for the Year 1800 — or a bill might pass, authorizing the purchase of timber to this amount, out of any monies in the Treasury unappropriated. —

It is to be understood, that in calculating the value of the timber for Ships of 74 Guns to amount to 50000 Dollars — that the Idea of live oak frames is excluded. — The frame alone of live oak will cost 50000 Dollars — but live oak is not to be had for more than the Ships already authorized — except a few of the most material pieces — and it is not doubted, that the white Oak timber of every part of the Country will answer well, if well seasoned — and will not exceed half the cost of live oak. —

I am &c &c

CAP FRANCOIS May 8th 1800 —

Dear Sir, I have the Honor to enclose you Copy of a Letter I have just received from the National Agent at St. Domingo, accompanied by Copies of Letters from M. Letombe of Philadelphia and M. Giraud of Boston, respecting the Capture and Detention of the French ship Les Deux Anges which was lately taken by the U. States Frigate Boston, and sent to America for Adjudication.

I should not trouble you with these papers were it not to rectify some errors committed by M'r Giraud in his translation of a Letter I wrote the Agent previous to the Departure of this Ship, and by M'r Letombe in his reference to that Letter.

Much Clamour having been excited among the French Captains at the Cape, against our Cruizers on the Station, and great Apprehension being entertained by them that their Vessels would be Captured, they applied to General Toussaint and the Agent, who wrote to me on the Subject. The former requested me to quiet their uneasiness if possible, and the latter offered even to give security for their good behaviour provided they could be suffered to leave the Harbour in safety. — I answered them both in a manner which I thought was best calculated to preserve the Harmony that subsisted, without doing any thing that was Contrary either to the Honor or interest of the U. States. In my Letter to the Agent (a Copy of which I now enclose you) I mentioned to him that when the necessary Securities were given that our Commerce should not be Annoyed by their Vessels, Passports should be furnished to them. But I well knew, at the time, that no sufficient Security could be given, and was previously determined to Accept of none that could be offered. I wrote him in this Manner merely to quiet his apprehensions, until I could see General Toussaint and convince him that no such Passports could legally be given. This was effectually done during my Visit to Leogane, and such Arrangements were made as prevented our Commerce from being injured by the mischivous Intrigues of the French Captains at the Cape. The Agent himself seemed well convinced that no Adequate security could be given for Armed Vessels belonging to France, as he never renewed his Offers, nor repeated his solicitations for Passports. That Captain Chevret and his Friends might not plead Ignorance of our Laws on this Subject, I repeatedly shewed him the Act of Congress respecting French armed Vessels, & told him that they would be taken, should they be met by our Ships of War. In conformation of this I beg Leave to refer you to the Papers I have already transmitted you on this Subject, & particularly to the Petition of the French Captains to the Agent.

I have thought it necessary to give you this Explanation of my Letter, in order to do away [with] any improper Inferences which M'r Giraud or M'r Letombe may draw from it. — I also enclose you Copies of some Letters & Documents lately sent to me by Gen'l Toussaint relative to the Capture of the French Schooner Peggy, by the U. States Ship of War Trumbull. — The Gen'l complains that this Vessel was taken while at Anchor in one of his Ports, & having his dispatches on board, I know not whither she is sent to the U. States, or whether Capt. Jewet has order'd the Prize Master to take Capt. Talbot's orders previous to his Departure. I have written to Capt. Talbot on the Subject, but, for fear the Schooner may have sailed for America before any Letter can reach him I have thought it best to send you a Duplicate of these Papers.

I enclose you also an Answer from Gen'l Toussaint to a Remonstrance I made against the Agent's granting Commissions to private Persons to arm their Vessels.
Since my last very little has occurred worth relating. Baynet on the South side, and Grand and Petit Gouve in the West, have been taken by the Troops of General Toussaint.

The Africaine, a French forty four Gun Frigate, has lately arrived at Santo Domingo, in a short Passage from France. She brings out Raymond, the former Commissary; Pascal his Secretary, Generals Michel, Pageot, Vincent, and others who have been Appointed to Places by the New Government. They have not yet come to the Cape, and I hardly believe they will be received. Genl Toussaint is still in Town. The Agent is also here, but tho' confirm'd by the Consuls, is only used occasionally to serve the purposes of the Military Government.

I have the Honor to remain with great Respect and esteem

Dear Sir —

Capt James Sever of the Congress
Norfolk Virginia

Sir The President has seen the proceedings of the Court of enquiry respecting the loss of the Masts of the Congress and desires me to express his very great satisfaction in the result — I beg leave to add my assurance that I never doubted the result would be honorable to you —

The principal part of the Officers & men of the Congress being turned over to the Chesapeake, it will be better to let, all go, except just enough to take care of the Congress — the repairs of the Congress can then go on without the expence of keeping many men idle — also with less hurry — Pray take every means to have the accounts of the Officers & men kept from confusion — Your Purser should deliver to the Purser of the Constellation an exact statement of the money due the men turned over, as well as officers — Please to send young Rutledge on board of the Constellation or the Chesapeake — I shall write you again in a day or two being at this time too much hurried to say all I intended —

I have the honor to be

To Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department 9th May 1800

Capt Thomas Truxtun
Norfolk Virginia

Sir Your letters & the proceedings of the Court of enquiry respecting Captain Sever have been laid before the President, who desires me to express to you his high approbation of your able & judicious conduct in the whole of this transaction, & of your arrangements respecting the Frigates — His own expressions indeed were, that you had conducted this business in a manner to do yourself as much honor as you had so well merited by your gallantry and skill on the ocean —

I will send off tomorrow — or Monday, instructions for both Murray & Barron

As to the Congress, you will please to have all the men who can be spared from her — leaving only enough on board to take care of her, placed on the Chesapeake — The Constellation will want some men, but it will be better that the crew of the Congress, being all from New England should be together —

You must make the necessary arrangements about Officers — some of thos destined for Barron must go on board of the Congress, as Barron will have some of the Officers of that Ship — It is not desirable in the present posture of our affairs, that the repairs of the Congress should be hastened more than will consist with entire economy — We want to keep some Frigates in port, until certain events are determined. — I must leave it with you to give such orders as will best avoid the confusion in accounts, so likely to arise out of the changes of Officers & men, from one Ship to another —

When all these things are done, you will have nothing further to detain you at Norfolk but may indulge your anxiety to see your family — but before you do leave Norfolk I wish you would take a full view of the management of the Navy business there, to aid me in endeavoring to introduce some reform —

I have the honor

P S — pray remove young Rutledge out of the Congress & into one of the other Frigates — unless you take him with you for the President — tho as he wants seamanship, I believe it will be best for him to go in the Constellation which Ship will soon have to return, on A/C of the mens time being nearly out —

To Secretary of State from David Humphreys, U. S. Minister to Madrid, Spain

N° 239. Madrid May 9th 1800

Sir In compliance with your recommendation I have made myself fully acquainted with the circumstances attending the great losses & aggravated injuries that have been experienced by the Captain & Supercargo of the Ship Cerf or Stag. It is only within a few days past, that the Advocate employed by M' Tombarel has finished the perusal & examination of the voluminous Autos in such manner as to be enabled to prepare a Memorial to H. C. M. [His Catholic Majesty] in the name of the Captain & Supercargo. This Memorial, which has reduced the substance to a moderate compass, states the facts in alluding to the Documents, insists on the responsibility of this Government to make good the damages & points out the mode of indemnification. I am about to enclose it to the acting first Secretary of the State accompanied by strong recommendations to his favorable attention, and shall seek an occasion of still farther enforcing the justice of the claim by verbal representations. For this purpose M' Tombarel will go with me to the Sitio [?] next week. I hope to find a favorable conjuncture for conferring with the acting first Secretary of State on this & several other important subjects of business at the same time.

M' Young, who went Passenger from Lisbon to London on board the Ship Samuel Smith of Baltimore; has given an account of an action fought between that Ship & a frigate-built French Privateer. In which, it appears, the latter escaped being taken only by superiority of sailing. I enclose an Extract of a letter from M' Young. This simple narration reflects great credit on Captain Stiles & the Crew of the American Ship.

Yesterday I received letters from Santander, advising me that the Brig Eliza of & from Norfolk, with a valuable cargo, bound to S
Sebastian, had been captured & carried into Santander by a French Privateer. The only pretext for this capture, as far as I can learn, is the want of a Role d'Equipage — tho' the vessel was provided with a regular printed Shipping Paper. I have sent to our Envoys at Paris the Representation made to me by the Supercargo, M' Peter R. Beverly — who is recommended to me in very strong terms by M' Francis Corbin of Virginia. It was to have been hoped that the French Privateers would not have continued their piracies against our Commerce at the very moment when our Envoys were treating with the French Government. — No direct intelligence has been received from our Envoys since their conferences commenced. But private letters from Paris say, that the French Commission has pretended to find almost insurmountable obstacles to the progress of the negotiations in our demands of compensation for the depredations committed on our commerce.

You will see by the public Gazettes that hostilities have commenced in Italy, and that the campaign appears to be on the point of being opened on the Rhine.

With great respect & esteem,

I have the honour to be,

Sir

Your m'o ob: & m'o hblt Servf

D. HUMPHREYS.

The Secretary of State

[Enclosure 1]

Narrative of fight between the Samuel Smith & a French Privateer. Extract from a letter to D. Humphreys from a Mr. Young

After M' Murgatroyd & I had taken passage in the King George, we learnt that the well-armed Ship Samuel Smith Cap. Geo. Stiles of Baltimore was ready to sail for London; and being invited, & even pressed by her hospitable Commander to go with him, we could not resist the prospect of the pleasure of sailing under our own flag, and accepted; — Off Scilly we were chased by a frigate-built ship, and finding he would catch us, we prepared for action and lay to to receive him. when he came within shot he hoisted French colours and gave us his whole broad side gun after gun: our Ship refusing the helm, we could not wear to return his fire untill after we had rec'd the one half of his second broadside, when the two vessels being within pistol shot of each other at a quarter before two OClock in the afternoon, commenced a pretty sharp action, which lasted untill Six minutes past two: at this time he sherd off, and we saw his mizen topmast go over the side. The Samuel Smith pursued him twenty eight hours or 240 odd miles, going for the last three hours at the rate of 72 [?] knots. The night being dark we lost sight of the Frenchman and were obliged to give over the chase. Captain Stiles had twenty six 9 pounders and 95 men. The Privateer was a very beautiful new Ship, had 24 or 26 brass guns supposed to be the Mars of Bordeaux of 22 twelve pounders & two eighteens. what seems a little extraordinary in this affair, is, that Capt. Stiles had not a man either killed or wounded, and that during the whole chase the Privateer was within gun shot — the Samuel Smith had no bow chasers and the enemy it appeared had no stern ones.

That privateer is perhaps one of the fastest sailing ships in the world, but having lost his mizen topmast in the action & being probably otherwise disabled, Captain Stiles thought there was a great prospect of capturing him, until as we visibly gained upon him he quickened his pace enabled so to do by throwing from time to time his guns overboard. These circumstances, added to that of the Samuel Smith being full of goods is the only way of accounting for the inability of so fast sailing a ship as Capt. Stiles' to catch the Frenchman besides our mainmast and main topmast are badly wounded, the Sails & rigging very much cut. there are 75 shots thro' the maintop sail, & the mainsail all in fritters — Altho' Captain Stiles and his officers are much mortified at not gaining the prize, our action in its consequences may have saved the bacon of some Americans not so well armed as the Samuel Smith, as the Frenchman's cruise is most certainly broken up. He has probably made for a port in Spain.

To Secretary of the Navy, from Captain Edward Preble, U. S. Navy

U. S. Frigate Essex,
STRAITS OF SUNDA, May 10, 1800.

Sir: — I have the honor to acquaint you of my arrival at the entrance of these Straits the 5th inst., since which I have completely watered the ship at New Island, with excellent water, and am now on my way to Batavia. I am informed there are very few French privateers in these seas at present, but that many are expected soon from the Isle of France. I wrote you from the Cape of Good Hope, and enclosed you particular returns by two different vessels, which I hope have safe arrived.

I have heard nothing of the Congress, but hope she will arrive soon. I am now writing by a ship from Batavia bound to Boston, which I have brought to, and as it is 10 o'clock at night, and stormy weather, I cannot detain her to be more particular at present. I have not one sick man on board.

This morning I was in company with an English ship of 74 guns and a frigate, which are cruising here, and have the pleasure to inform you, the Essex sails infinitely faster than either of them, and I sincerely believe faster than any ship in our service.

With respect, I have the honor to be, Sir,
Your obedient servant,

EDWARD PREBLE.

Extract from a letter from an Officer on board the U. S. Frigate Constitution, to his friend in Philadelphia, concerning her enterprize against the French armed ship which was formerly the British Packet Sandwich

Captain Talbot has put his plan into execution respecting the cutting out the ship. I performed my part with very little trouble the only disagreeable part of the business was being cooped up in a small vessel for 12 hours — for we fortunately took a small American vessel that had been in the port a few days before, and was to return there in a short time. By this means it was easy to take the vessel by surprize; it put me in mind of the wooden horse at Troy. We all remained below until we received orders from the officer, the only one of us who remained on the deck of the sloop, whose business it was to lay us on board, which he did on the starboard bow. The men went on board like devils, and it was as much as the first lieutenant and myself could do to prevent blood being spilt. I believe it was not half an hour before the ship was taken, that I had possession of the fort and all the cannon spiked, and returned again on board the prize before they could get any succours from the city. I presume they were rather surprized when they found the cannon spiked; we had then possession of the harbor, we took our time to rig the ship, as she had her topmasts down and all her sails unbent. By 6 o’clock the lieutenant had every thing in order, and the men stationed at the cannon, ready with my marines to oppose all their force, which we understood was about five hundred men — they sent several flags of truce, making different requests, to which we answered that we had only executed the orders of our commander. On shore they were not ignorant, that it was impossible for us to get out until the land breeze came off which you know is in the morning; he concluded we must have been pretty determined before we undertook the business as we had no other alternative than to die or succeed; he however remained very quiet, and we came out in the morning and joined our commodore.

The night before we performed this business, in going to Porto Plate, we were met at 12 o’clock at night by an English frigate, who fired two shot and brought us too; we went on board and after examining us we proceeded; we suspected he was going on the same business we were upon — he will peep into the harbour La Plate to day and find his plan frustrated. The English Captain informed us, that he was cruising to intercept a French frigate arrived at St. Domingo from France, and was to proceed round to Cape Francois.

Deposition of Captain Thomas Sanford, of the American Sloop Sally, concerning her part in the cutting-out enterprize of the U. S. Frigate Constitution, Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy commanding, against the French armed Ship, formerly the British Packet Sandwich.

(TRANSLATION.)

Extract from the minutes of the Tribunal of Peace, of the Town of Cape Francois.

On the 29th Floreal, 8th year of the French Republic, one and indivisible (19th May, 1800) at 10 o’clock, A. M.

At the request of Citizen Nicholas Ferdinand Viau, captain of the ship Sandwich, of Nantes, now in the town of Cape Francois. Before me, Charles Telemaque, justice of the peace for the town of the Cape, assisted by the clerk of the tribunal, appeared Thomas Sandford, master of the American sloop Sally, of Providence, assisted by citizen Polomy, interpreter to the government for the English language.

Who having been duly sworn, declare and say as follows, to wit:

That his name is Thomas Sandford, born in the state of Massachusetts, aged 28 years, a mariner by profession, and master of the American sloop called the Sally, of Providence, in the state of Rhode Island, of the burthen of 58 tons, or thereabouts, manned with six men, which went from Turk’s Island to Port Plate* where she remained six days, and from thence went to Bay Chouchoux, at the distance of about three leagues from Port Plate; that on the 9th of May, inst. O. S. at about two o’clock in the morning, the barge of the U. S. frigate Constitution, capt. Talbot, came, with 25 men, to Bay Chouchoux, aforesaid, who went on board the said sloop, cut off the cables, and carried her off — That the appearer was then on board, and exerted every effort to prevent them from so doing, but in vain, two thirds of his cargo then being on shore; that the barge's people having then taken possession of his vessel, remained at Chouchoux until 4 o'clock of the same day, when they left it to go to the frigate, which was at sea, at the distance of about 30 miles from Chouchoux, and came up with her the next day, at noon; that Capt. Talbot then filled the said sloop with men, and gave them orders to go and take possession of the French ship Sandwich, then anchored at Port Plate, and in case they could not succeed in carrying her off, then to sink or burn her; that those men then set sail for Port Plate, where they arrived the next day (11th of May) at about 10 o'clock in the forenoon; that Capt. Talbot had ordered this deponent to remain on the deck of his vessel, in order to prevent the inhabitants of Port Plate, who had already seen him there, from having any suspicion of the intended capture of the ship, while the people from the frigate could keep themselves concealed in the hold, which they, in fact, did, and as soon as they arrived, they boarded the Sandwich, and fired six musket shots, which did no harm; that the French who were on board, not finding themselves sufficiently strong to resist, withdrew into the hold, and suffered the others to take possession of the vessel, who afterwards tied up the Frenchmen with ropes, and took possession of the boats belonging to her; they then went ashore and spiked up the guns of the fort; that afterwards they returned to the vessel, made every necessary preparation to carry her off, and set sail with her the next day, at two o'clock in the morning, to join the frigate, which was then in sight, which they effected at 10 o'clock of the same day; that on the same day Capt. Talbot gave orders to carry the said French ship and the said American sloop to New-York, and would not permit this deponent to follow his own vessel but detained him a whole day on board the frigate, and he was put next day on board the brig Nymph, of Newburyport, Joseph Woodman, master, which was going to the Cape.

Of all which, &c.

From Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy, to Secretary of the Navy

EXPLANATORY:

Extract of a letter from Commodore Silas Talbot, addressed to Mr Secretary Stoddert, dated May 12th, 1800:

"I have now to acquaint you, Sir, that I have been for some time meditating an enterprize against a French armed ship, lying at Port Plate, protected by her own guns and a fort of three heavy cannon. It was my first intention to have gone in with the Constitution, and to have silenced the fort and ship, which has all her guns on one side to co-operate with the fort in defending against any hostile force; but after the best information I could gain, I found it to be somewhat dangerous to approach the entrance of the harbor, with a ship of the draft of water of the Constitution."

"Having detained the sloop Sally, which had left Port Plate but a few days before, and was to have returned there previous to her sailing for the United States, I conceived that this sloop would be a suitable vessel for a disguise. I therefore manned her at sea from the Constitution, with about ninety brave seamen and marines, the latter to be commanded by captain Carmick and lieutenant Amory, when on shore; but the entire command I gave to Mr. Isaac Hull, my first lieutenant, who entered the harbor of Port Plate yesterday, in open day, with his men in the hold of the sloop, except five or six to work her in. They ran alongside the ship, and boarded her, sword in hand, without the loss of a man, killed or wounded. At the moment the ship was boarded, agreeably to my plan, captain Carmick and lieutenant Amory landed with the marines, up to their necks in water, and spiked all the cannon in the fort, before the commanding officer had time to recollect and prepare himself for defence."

"Perhaps no enterprize of the same moment was ever better executed; and I feel myself under great obligations to lieutenant Hull, captain Carmick, and lieutenant Amory, for their avidity in undertaking the scheme I had planned, and for the handsome manner and great address with which they performed this dashing adventure."

"The ship, I understand, mounts four sixes and two nines; she was formerly the British packet Sandwich, and from the boasting publications at the cape, and the declaration of the officers, she is one of the fastest sailers that swims. She ran three or four years, (if I forget not,) as a privateer out of France, and with greater success than any other that ever sailed out of their ports. She is a beautiful copperbottomed ship; her cargo consists principally of sugar and coffee.

"I am, &c.

"SILAS TALBOT."

This capture was made about twelve o'clock. When taken, the ship was stripped, having only her lower masts in; her rigging was coiled and stowed below. Before sun-set Lieutenant Hull had her completely rigged, royal yards athwart, guns scaled, men quartered, and in every respect ready for service.

Account of the Expedition of U. S. Frigate Constitution, in Harbour of Porto Plata

Whilst the Frigate Constitution, under the command of Captain Talbot was cruising in the neighbourhood of St. Domingo an Expedition was determined upon, to cut out a French Corvette of 14 Guns then in the harbour of Porta Plate in that Island, for this purpose a small Sloop belonging to Providence R. I. was made use of & the Expedition placed under the direction of Isaac Hull, then first Lieutenant of the Constitution, who with the Officers & men selected left the Constitution & went on board the Sloop about sun down being at that time a long distance from the land; In standing in the Sloop was fired at by a British Frigate and a boat was sent from the Frigate to ascertain the destination of the Sloop, The British officer was much surprised on getting on board the Sloop to find the Hatch ways filled with American Officers and seamen — Lieut Hull informed him that under disguise he intended to run into Port Plata and endeavour to cut out the French Corvette there loading with Coffee for France, the British Officer intimated that the British Frigate had been watching the movements of the French Vessel with the same intention, Lieutenant Hull replied that it must be effected before the next morning or the Frigate would be too late, as he (Lt H.) should certainly take her out if he found [her] there in the morning, the British Officer left the Sloop wishing success to the Expedition.

In the morning, the Sloop was still a long distance from the Port, but the sea breeze springing up early, the Sloop succeeded in entering the Port about twelve O'clock, the Pilot who was at the helm of the Sloop was directed to lay the Corvette aboard on the Starboard bow, whilst Lieut Hull stood ready to let go an Anchor from the Stern of the Sloop the moment she came in contact with the Corvette — Not a man was to be seen on board the Sloop & the object was not discovered until the pre-concerted signal was given to board — immediately on the Signal being given the men sprang from the hold of the Sloop the Officers from the Cabin, and boarded in handsome style, carrying all before them and taking possession of the Corvette without the loss of a man, Orders had been given to the men to discharge their pistols in the air if but little resistance was offered — As soon as possession was obtained a Boat, manned with Marines under the charge of Captain Carmack & Lieut Amory was sent to the Fort to spike the Guns, which was effected in a very short time; All this was done at noon day within musket shot of the Fort, the broad side of the Corvette bearing upon the Sloop as she entered the Port, & the wind blowing directly into the harbour.

The Corvette was dismantled having nothing but her lower Masts standing, and not a Rope over the Mast heads — By sundown she was completely Rigged sails bent, Royal yards aloft ready for Sea, in the mean Time the Guns of the Corvette had been scaled, re-loaded & brought to bear on the Town, the men ready for any emergency, at about twelve o’clock at night the Wind came off the land & the Corvette was got underway & stood out the most perfect & complete success having attended the Expedition & without the loss of an individual.

To William Smith, U. S. Minister to Lisbon, Portugal, from Secretary of State ad interim

(Nº 20)

Philad. 22 May 1800

WILLIAM SMITH Esq

SIR: Your letter of the 2d March Nº 33, with a copy of Consul O'Brien's letter was received at this office on the 12th instant, the day on which Colonel Pickering ceased to execute the duties of Secretary of State.

I have the honor to commit to your care the answer of the President to the letter of his Royal Highness the Prince Regent, announcing the devolution of the government of Portugal upon his Royal Highness, which you are requested to deliver.

The credentials of the Chevalier de Friere, as Minister Plenipotentiary from the Prince Regent to the United States, have been received. His appointment gives pleasure to the President, who hopes again to see the Chevalier in America, where he so long, and so agreeably to the American government, has resided.

The Ann Maria is chartered at New York to take a cargo to Tunis. She will begin to take in her lading about the first of June: and the [George] Washington here is preparing to take in a cargo for Algiers. At this moment I am not sufficiently informed as to say when either will sail, but I can assure you all unnecessary delay will be avoided.
Colr Pickering in his letter to you dated the 22d of March informed you that early in January the Sophia had sailed for Algiers with a cargo of gun powder; and that the ship Hero had sailed in the beginning of February with a large cargo for Tunis. These vessels it is hoped have arrived safe and that all is well with the Barbary governments.

It is proper that I should mention to you that your letters of 28th Novr and 21st January last have been received, so that your file is complete to No. 33 inclusive.

Congress closed their session on the 14th. The defensive measures in regard to France continue as heretofore, except that the 12 additional regiments are to be disbanded by the 15th of June. — A loan of 3,500,000 dollars is authorized by law, which sum will not be necessary I believe, but only a part of it, in consequence of the reduction of the army. — No letters have been received from our envoys since their arrival in Paris, and the latest news from London is to the 24th of March.

With great respect &c &c

CHARLES LEE.

To Captain Silas Talbot, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 13th May 1800 —

Silas Talbot Esquire

Commander of the Constitution

Cape Francois —

Sir This will be delivered to you by Captain Murray of the Constellation who will place himself under your command & when you leave the Station to return to the United States, he will be the Superior Officer remaining, and will assume the Command.

You will please when this time arrives turn over to Captain Murray, the Instructions you have received, which relate immediately to your command on the Station, and I have written him that you will give him all the information which your long experience in this command will enable you to do.

It will be proper that you should arrive at Boston in time to keep good faith with your men — and if you call at the Havanah on your return, it may be useful — as there may be many American Vessels at that port wishing the benefit of Convoy — I understand there is a good deal of Specie at that place belonging to Citizens of the United States, which it will be very proper for you to bring if offered in a way not to offend the Laws of Spain — It will be useful too & agreeable to the people of Charleston if you appear for a day off that harbour — You will yourself judge of the time you should commence your return — The Purser should have all his accounts prepared for settlement with the men on the very day of your arrival at Boston, that they may not be unnecessarily detained on board.

Pray give positive orders on this head. I expect to write you more fully by the Ganges to sail from hence in a week & probably to arrive at Cape Francois before Murray —

I have only now to add, that your temperate & judicious conduct on your Station has given great satisfaction to the President & your Country —

I enclose a late act for the Government of the Navy — By the construction of the Attorney General of the old Act, Commanders on Stations, are entitled to 1/20th of the prizes taken by vessels acting under this direction — I also enclose an act further to suspend Commercial Intercourse &c and a late proclamation of the President.

I have the honor to be of the Constellation

Sir Presuming that the Constellation will be ready for Sea, by the time this reaches you it is the command of the President that you proceed immediately to Cape Francois in St Domingo and place yourself under the Command of Captain Talbot of the Constitution during the time he remains on that station, which will be but short after your arrival, and on his departure, you will assume the Command, receiving from Captain Talbot his instructions, and all the information which his experience on that Station will enable him to give you —

Referring you to these instructions & this information I will only add that you must remain on this station until the 1st September, if not sooner relieved, altho the times of part of the Crew will be out before that day. This you can easily manage, I have no doubt — even then you must not depart until relieved — that the vessels under your command must be sent home so as to keep good faith with the men — that when a vessel departs she should turn over to those which remain, all the provisions over what may be necessary to bring her home — that all prizes should be sent into the United States, & at least three or four of the Crew, without which they cannot be condemned — and that you must pay particular attention to the two Acts enclosed & the Presidents Proclamation, and give the proper directions to the vessels under your Command, in relation to American Vessels, Scarcely one of which sent in under the first Act can be condemned, and in most cases the owners may have their action of damages against the Captors —

You cannot be too attentive to the cultivation of a good understanding, between Gen¹ Touissant & the people under his command — nor in getting all necessary information from Dr Stevens — but interfere no further than the safety of the American Commerce requires, in the civil war, raging in the Island —

I presume Capt² Talbot will return also imm² after your arrival —

Wishing you health, Success & honor, I remain with great Esteem

Valued on you for as well as to Enable me to send a small sum to the relief of those who are now detained at Gaudeloupe and Saint Martins, and who have been longer so then was avoidable by me and of M't David M. Clarkisons refusing to Respect (upon a very recent occasion) a receipt given by me to the French Consul here for a Certain number of my Captive Countrymen, to entitle him to the Libration of an equal Number of Frenchmen detained at Basseterre St Kitts; this Interruption to a Mode adopted for the Mutual Relief of the unfortunate on both sides and in which I had been lead and sanctioned by several Commanding officers of our Ships and Vessels on this Station will no doubt have the effect of irritating the french Agents to windward and their Delegates in the Neighbour Islands of Saint Martin and Staticus to treat our prisoners with a Severity not heretofore practised. No effort is Wanting on my side to relieve and Ameliorate the Condition of such of my Countrymen as by the fater of war are rendered unfortunate, whenever they present themselves to me, and it would Guard me against a Similar Conduct on the part of M't Clarkison if you Sir by a few lines would define what is properly the Situation in which he stands or the functions which he Exercises; You'll please find the declaration of Cap't Samuel Stephenson: I am sorry to inform you of the Capture of two American Vessels which sailed from this port the 17th last month & carried into Potirico — the Ship Thomas Chalkly from Philadelphia was Captured by a french privateer & recaptured by the United States Ship Connecticut & the Brig Richmond & Conducted to the Port of Saint Thomas. [Cesed executing duties of Secretary of State, 12 May 1800.]

Extract of letter to Secretary of State from the U. S. Consul at Surinam

[Surinam] 14th May, 1800.

"I Have the honor to inform you that his Excellency the Governor has this day communicated to me, that vessels of the United States are no longer permitted to take in produce on freight, or otherwise, for England, and allowed to land only lumber, fish and flour — and to take away in payment therefor, molasses only. As, in consequence of the Governor's proclamation of the ——— allowing neutral vessels to take away any produce, giving bonds to land the same in England, letters were written to merchants in the United States, advising to send vessels here to take freights, it seems necessary that the revocation of this privilege should be generally known. This moment his excellency's proclamation on the subject is shewn to me; but there is no time to procure a copy to transmit to you by this conveyance. Officers of the British customs are appointed to succeed those appointed by the Commander in Chief at the surrender of the colony. Instructions from his majesty’s ministers have been lately received concerning the navigation and trade to this colony: I have seen them. They are written in a pressing, censuring style, against the admission of neutrals to a participation in the trade, any farther than absolute necessity will justify and require. The admission of European neutrals is positively forbidden, and American vessels are limited to the landing of lumber, fish and flour, unless the Governor by proclamation declares that the colony is in want of Beef and Pork. In regard to the taking away produce, molasses and rum are only allowed, but the language is not so positive in regard to this restriction, as they appear to understand that neither rum or money are here to be found. The proclamation of the Governor nevertheless intimates, that, at present, he shall execute these instructions strictly.”

To Commissioners of the City of Washington, from the Secretaries of the Treasury, War, and the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]

Navy Department 15th May 1800

Commissioners of the City of Washington

GENTLEMEN The Act of Congress herein enclosed, making it our duty to concur with you respecting footways or pavements directed to be made in the City of Washington, we beg leave to suggest our Ideas on the subject —

We understand there may be had about 3 miles from Washington up the river, and probably also on Rock Creek, great quantities of flat, smooth, broad & thin stone, with joints so even that they may be laid sufficiently close with little or no hammering, and that this stone can be delivered at the places where it is to be used at about 8½ or 10/ perch — that from the thinness of the stone, two perch of it will make a footway 6 feet wide & 16½ feet in length — and that the expense of preparing the ground, and laying the stone, will not much exceed if it should equal the cost of the stone —

This Estimate may be too sanguine, but if the whole expense of making the pavement with this stone, should not exceed 3, 4, 5 or even 6 Dollars for 16½ feet in length and 6 feet in width, it will probably be cheaper than any other kind of pavement, & without it, will be better. —

As the time is but short before the Congress will assemble in Washington, there should be no unnecessary delay in beginning the pavement. — Unless you find that we are very erroneous in our calculations, we would advise that you take the most prompt measures for having delivered along Pennsylvania Avenue, a sufficient quantity of this stone, for a footway between the two great Buildings — there may be other footways necessary, but this is the first that requires attention — and it can be seen when the expense of this can be ascertained, what other ways can be made out of the sum appropriated — Should a better plan occur to you, it ought to be adopted, & without delay. — We shall cheerfully concur in whatever plan you find upon full investigation, and a view of all Circumstances, to be the best.

It may be proper too for you to loose no time in having the ground prepared for laying the stone. — Being on the spot, you can better judge than we can, how this is best to be done. — We should suppose that a small Ditch, on each side of the footway will be necessary, and that the Earth from each ditch should be thrown into the middle, we beg leave to observe however, that the object of this expense is the convenience of the Members of Congress — that the pavement is not to be considered as intended to be permanent, and reducing the Ground to the level which may have been contemplated in the plan of the City — Where the ground is level enough, or where the ascent or descent is sufficiently gradual for agreeable walking there should be no removing, or filling in of earth —

The Expence of laying the stone and indeed the goodness of the footway will depend in a great degree upon the quality of the stone — Every precaution should therefore be used to get the very best for the purpose although the price may be considerably higher than common stone —

We have the honor to be

Gentlemen

P S The Perch of Stone as herein calculated, is taken from an Idea that in Washington the selling quantity for a perch, will make a Wall 16½ feet long, 18 Inches broad and one foot high —

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department, 15th May 1800 —

SECRETARIES OF TREASURY, WAR & STATE

The Secretary of the Navy has corresponded with the Commissioners of Washington, on the subject of the pavement, or foot way, to be made under the direction of the heads of Departments. — But the subject seems to be little understood in that quarter, that no useful information has been obtained from them — as will appear by the Papers herewith — There are great quantities and varieties of Stone within 3 miles of the City on navigation — There is one kind, broad, thin and with joints so even, that they will require little or no hammering — These Stone can be delivered along the Street to be paved at 8/4 — 10/ or at most 15/pf perch — upon an average the Stone will not exceed 6 Inches in thickness, so that one perch of Stone will pave 16½ feet in length, and 3 feet in width — 2 Perch will pave 16½ feet, and of sufficient width for the foot way — The cost of the stone will not exceed four Dollars for 16½ feet in length — and all other expenses will hardly amount to as much more. — If this calculation be tolerably accurate, and it is probably full high enough, the Street between the Presidents House and the Capitol, being less than 500 Perches, will not cost 4000 Dollars — But if the cost should be 50 p. Cent more, it will be cheaper than brick, and probably cheaper than a pebble pavement — The Stone will always be worth its cost, and there will be nothing lost but the labour — a foot way of Pebble and sand would be disagreeable to walk upon — would produce corns, and would not be dry in bad weather —

Believing therefore that a way made of the kind of Stone contemplated, will not only be better, but cheaper than any other — and as the work ought to be begun, the Secretary of the Navy has the honor to propose for consideration, a draft of a Letter to the Commissioners of Washington. —

Sentence of Court Martial in the case of the Mutineers on board
U. S. Frigate Congress

The Court having been cleared, the members proceeded to consider the charges the evidence and the defence of the several prisoners and after maturely weighing the same are unanimously of opinion that Benj. Davis is not guilty of the crime wherewith he is charged; and do therefore acquit him of the same: That Andrew Robb, Wm Brown, John Davis, and John Wilson are guilty in part of the crime wherewith they are charged and do therefore award and order that they and each of them do receive seventy two lashes with a cat of nine tails on board the Frigate Congress. And the Court regretting that circumstances compel them to discriminate are of opinion that Ansel Robinson and John Carter are each of them guilty as ringleaders in exciting a mutiny on board the United States Frigate Congress; they therefore coming completely under the 24th Article of the Act for the Government of the Navy of the United States do sentence and order that the said Ansel Robinson and John Carter and each be hung by the neck until they are dead at the fore Yard Arm of the Frigate Congress; but these judgements are not to be put in execution until they be Confirmed by the Commander in Chief of the Fleet. And the Court deploring the sentence they have by the law been compelled to pass on Ansel Robinson and John Carter from all the circumstances and a full hope that a sense of their errors will be a future warning to them do from every true principle of Justice tempered with mercy recommend them to the Commander in Chief as fit objects of his clemency and this they pray & request may be extended to them. The prisoners were severally led into court when the Court proceeded to pass sentence on each of them. And Andrew Robb, Wm Brown, John Davis, John Wilson, Ansel Robinson and John Carter were again remanded into Custody.

Ordered that Copies of those proceedings be sent to the Commander in Chief of the fleet without delay. Ordered that the Court be adjourned without delay. —

"I am sorry to inform you that the schr. Victor was taken and brought into this place, last night, by the schr. They are landing and selling the cargo without condemnation; they have all the papers, and say the schooner is to be tried at Guadaloupe; but I suppose she will have none at all. I have noted a protest but am not able to extend it, for want of money, as I have been robbed of every thing, and am a prisoner on shore. The people are all in prison, and when I shall be liberated I know not. Here I am without money or friends. The privateer is a small schooner, with one six pounder and sixty men of all nations. They fired several shot at us, one of which went through our mainsail, they then ran along side, boarded us, and ordered all hands below instantly."

To Don Ramon de Castro, Governor of Puerto Rico, from Charles Lee, Secretary of State ad interim

PHILAD May 16th 1800

His Excellency

Sr Dña Ramon de Castro

(Governor of the Island of Puerto Rico)

Sir I have the honor in obedience to the President’s directions to solicit your attention to the case of Moses Armstead a citizen of the United States; who is believed to be confined at Cagada under an accusation of murder upon the high seas: and in whose behalf, it is deemed the duty of the American Government to interpose, that he may receive in Porto Rico that treatment, which according to the laws of nations and the friendship now happily subsisting between His Catholic Majesty and the United States ought reasonably to be expected.

It is represented that a French privateer in the month of November last, having taken the American brigantine Betsies, on board of which Moses Armstead served as a seaman, all the crew except him, were removed, and a prize Master and five men from the Privateer were put on board with orders to proceed to Guadaloupe. — That a few days afterwards Moses considering himself a prisoner of war, and authorized by the rules of war to use force to obtain his liberty attacked the whole crew with success and put them to death: — That he was afterwards met by an American brig who sent to his assistance her Mate and two hands, and as she was returning home the brig Betsie’s was again taken by another French privateer and carried into the island under your government: — where at Cagada Moses is said to be confined in irons, and in danger of being tried and punished as a criminal by the loss of his life or liberty.

The unhappy state of hostilities in which France and the United States have been for some time engaged, and which it is hoped will not much longer continue, cannot be unknown to you. — Under the sovereign authority of each nation, the citizens of the French Republic in armed ships at sea, and the citizens of the United States have been each liable to be made prisoners of war by the other. — Moses Armstead at the time of his capture by the French privateer, became a prisoner of war, and entitled to use all the means which one Enemy may use against another. He had a right to subdue his enemy — and the singular courage which he showed in attacking so superior a force, affords no reason for depriving him of the right of being considered and treated as a prisoner of war.

In this point of view it is confidently expected by the President he will be considered by you; and that you will not permit him any longer to be confined at any place within your jurisdiction, or tried as a criminal by any tribunal under your authority. — In this expectation he is the more encouraged from the faithful regard which has been usually paid to the laws of nations by His Catholic Majesty.

A particular description of the person of Moses Armstead is thought necessary, and is therefore herein also inclosed in regular form.

With great consideration
I have the honor to be &c &c

Notes on Arrival of U. S. Brig Pickering, at Boston, and lift of vessels under her convoy

Boston, May 18.

Yesterday arrived in this port, the U. States brig Pickering, Lt. Benjamin Hillar, esq. Commander. On anchoring she fired a federal salute. We are happy in announcing the safe arrival of this Vessel and her numerous convoy who have principally arrived in this, and the other ports of the U. States. The greatest praise is due to this enterprising commander, both for his vigilance in protecting the convoys under his care, in scourging the spoliators of our Commerce, and in the excellent management and discipline of the ship and crew under his command. The crew without the exception of an individual, are all returned in perfect health.

A French privateer, of 10 guns, captured some time since by this fortunate vessel, sailed in co. and was parted with by the Pickering a few days since.

The Commander of the Pickering, has politely handed us a list of the vessels, which sailed under his convoy. The No. is 70 and the list particularly mentions the captains and owners names, the destinations, cargoes, number of men guns, and tonnage. We have room only to mention the captain's and vessels names, and destination. By this Public Instrument and Declaration of Protest Be it known to all Persons whom it shall or may Concern That on Wednesday the twenty-fifth Day of June in the year of Our Lord One Thousand Eight hundred Before me Thomas Risdon Howe Notary Public duly commissioned and Authorised residing and practising in the Town of Basseterre within the said Island Personally came George Hastie Master of the Schooner Betsey belonging to the port of Philadelphia and noted his Protest against Stephen Decatur [senior] Esquire Commander of the United States Ship Philadelphia and David Matthias Clarkson, Esquire, Agent for the said United States in the said Island of Saint Christopher and the said George Hastie being duly sworn on the Holy Evangelists of Almighty God made Oath to the following purport and Effect

(That is to say)

That the said Schooner called the Betsey being tight, staunch and strong; well found in all necessary Tackle, Apparel and Furniture and in every other respect well furnished and provided; Burthen Ninety four 25/95 Tons or thereabouts; manned with Eight Mariners inclusively and Mr Charles Watt as SuperCargo of said Schooner and having on board a valuable cargo of Provisions, Muslins &c &c sailed on or about Tuesday the twenty ninth day of April last being bound for Cape Francois: That in the morning of Saturday the Twenty second of said Month fell in with and was recaptured by the United States said Ship Philadelphia of which the said Stephen Decatur Esquire is Commander, who, taking out the Prisoners put a Prize Master and Crew on board said Schooner Betsey and ordered her for Saint Kitts where she arrived on or about Monday the twentieth of the same Month: That on his arrival at Saint Kitts as aforesaid the said Captain Decatur put the said Schooner Betsey and the Cargo remaining on board thereof into the Hands of the said David Matthias Clarkson, Esquire, (as Agent of the said United States as aforesaid) to be disposed of for the Salvage thereof; and told the said Appearant that his reason for doing so was "That he (the said Captain Decatur) could not perceive by any of the Papers found on board said Schooner at the Time of her Re-capture, that the said Appearant had any Right of Interference in the Cargo or acting by, or appointing, any other Agent to act for those Concerned in the same in the Absence of the said SuperCargo taken out as beforementioned by the said privateer": That in Consequence thereof Appearant was deprived of the Means of doing any Thing for or on the part and Behalf of the Owners and others interested therein and the Cargo of the said Schooner was accordingly sold by the said Agent for the payment of the said Salvage and other incidental Expences attending the Recapture thereof: That Appearant has since repeatedly applied to the said Mr Clarkson for the Account of Sales for the Information of his Owners, as well as for the Remainder of the Net proceeds of said Cargo, having only received Twenty-five tuncheons of Rum and about one Thousand and Forty-seven bushels Salt, and the said Mr Clarkson told the said Appearant that he could not or 'twas out of his power to give any such Account Sales but that he would forward them by the next Convoy: And therefore the said Appearant in order to avoid all Censure or any Imputation of Neglect in not obtaining the fullest Information he could get (for his Owners and others Concerned) with respect to the Sales of his said Cargo and any Deficiencies that may appear arising therefrom deems it prudent to adopt the measure of protesting as well against the said Stephen Decatur Esquire as against the said David Matthias Clarkson Esquire's withholding from him the Account of Sales and the Net proceeds of the Sale of his said Cargo both of which he thought it incumbent on him to demand.

GEORGE HASTIE

Witness

ISAAC SOLIS

Wherefore the said Master, for and on his own part and Behalf as well as for and on the part and Behalf of the Owners and all others interested or concerned in said Schooner Betsey and Cargo doth hereby publicly and solemnly Protest not only as he hath already Protested (in the above referred-to protest) against the Capture of his said Schooner and Cargo and the plunder made thereof by the said French Privateer but also against the said Stephen Decatur Esquire Commander of the United States' said Ship Philadelphia and the said David Matthias Clarkson Agent for the said United States for depriving the said Appearant of any Interference in the disposal of the Cargo of his said Schooner under pretence of his not being entitled thereto in Consequence of the said Super Cargo's being taken out of her as above described as Also and more especially against the said David Matthias Clarkson for withholding from said Appearant the Account of Sales for the Information of his Owners as well as the Net proceeds of the Sales of his said Cargo whereby he may incur the Censure of, and be charged with Neglect by, his said Owners for not bringing the same for all Costs, Losses, Hurts, Detriments, Inconveniences, Deviations, Damages, Prejudices, Inconveniences, Hindrances and Expences whatsoever which he the said Master, his Owners or any other with him or them concerned in either already have incurred or may hereafter pay sustain or be put unto in Consequence of such Refusal on the part of the said David Matthias Clarkson Esquire Agent as aforesaid to deliver him the Account of Sales and the Net Proceeds of his said Cargo as above stated and described. And I said Notary at the Request of the said Master do Protest against the Same in Manner and Form aforesaid in the Presence of Isaac Solis Witness hereto requested at Basseterre Saint Christopher aforesaid

In Testimony of the Truth whereof as well the said Appearant as I Notary have hereto set our Hands and to confirm these Presents I have also affixed my Notarial Seal and Firm hereto the Day and Year first above written —

M' THOMAS CLAXTON

SIR, Annexed hereto, you will find the 3rd section of the Act "to make further provision for the removal of & accommodation of the Government of the United States"

In pursuance of the powers therein given us, and confiding in your qualifications to execute the trust to the satisfaction of Congress, We request you will proceed to the City of Washington & provide in due time, suitable furniture for the apartments in the Capitol to be occupied by the two Houses of Congress, & for the offices and Committee rooms appertaining to each —

You will keep in mind that the Congress meet in the City of Washington on the third Monday in November next —

As to the style of the Furniture we leave that to your own taste & Judgement — observing however that it should not be inferior to that, which has been used in Philadelphia — We request you will call on M' Otis, the Secr. of the Senate, before your departure from Philad. & consult him on the subject of the Furniture for the Senate — You will please to observe that the appropriation of 9,000 D$. comprehends the removal of the Books, Papers, & records, as well as the purchase of the Furniture, and govern yourself accordingly in your contracts

We are Sir

Extract from a letter to the Editor of “Connecticut Journal” from Captain Joseph Woodman of the American Brig Ceres (or Ceres) captured by the privateer schooner L'Hazard, and retaken by the U. S. S. Merrimack

FORT MIFFLIN, June 30th, 1800.

I sailed from St. Kitts on the 4th May; under an English convoy; stopped at Tortola the 7th, and on the 9th made sail with a fleet of 300 sail. On the 16th I found myself astern of the fleet and alone. On the 18th, in lat 27, 50, long. 67, 30, I was brot too by the schr. Hazard, captain Branrinilb [Blandinier], of 6 guns and 40 men, from Porto Rico. He ordered me and all my people on board the schooner, with all my papers, sent six or seven men on board the brig who broke open all the chests, trunks, and state room, robbed me of 320 dollars, and every thing valuable they could lay their hands on. After being on board the schr. two hours I was sent on board my own vessel with 7 Spaniards. At my earnest request, my cook was permitted to accompany me. The sloop kept in company 3 days, when the captain spoke us, and told me that he had sent my mate and people to Boston, and that he was bound to Guadaloupe, and ordered us to make the best of our way for Porto Rico. Every night myself and cook were fastened below until sunrise. On the 6th June, we were retaken by the U. S. sloop of war Merrimack, who took on board five of the Spaniards, sent a midshipman and 5 men on board the brig and ordered us for Philadelphia.

To Naval Constructor Josiah Fox, U. S. Navy, from Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy

NAVY YARD 19 May 1800 —

SIR, I conceive that the following arrangements ought to be made, for the Completion of the Navy Yard at Gosport, you will therefore be pleas'd to fix them on your plan of the Publick Grounds, in or near the places named this day for each purpose.

1st A Mast House, with a sail loft above, 150 by 100 feet long to comprehend Mast Making, Tops, Caps, Cross and Tressel trees, and all other things belonging to the Masts of a Man of War.

2nd A Joiners Shop, two stories High 100 by 40 feet, to comprehend all sorts of Joiners Work, & carve Work, wanted for a Man of War, as also the making of Gun Carriages, Oars, Handspicks, Capstan bars, &c &c &c —

3rd A rigging loft 180 by 40 feet, with Block room above sufficiently Spacious for strapping and keeping assorted the Various Blocks for several Ships.

4th A Blacksmiths Shop in addition to the one now in the Yard 100 by 40 feet which will contain 14 fires &c —

A store house three story high 100 feet long by 40 feet wide, and a spacious Coopers Shop and Shed.

The Bason for the Deposit of Timber, shou'd be completed (with a Wharf Gate & Crane) of the size of the Creek or nearly so, and there shou'd be two pumps in the Yard; six Necessary Houses on a Wharf on the lower side of the Yard, these with the Buildings now Erected are sufficiently sufficient for every purpose, but what is indispensable in a Yard of this sort, is a Master Attendant, who shou'd appoint his own clerk, receive and Issue all articles and Superintend and direct the Various Work, in all its Branches, this shou'd be an honest, decent man, who ought to possess a competent knowledge of Ship business in all its parts and wou'd attend constantly to it, and if such an officer is appointed, no clerk of the Yard will be necessary, I see with regret that much money has been wasted for want of this sort of Officer, who no doubt cou'd be procured if the Secretary or Agent was to look round, for a mere trifle more than what the clerks of the Navy Yards receive at present, To every branch there shou'd be a head (to prevent confusion, and remedy the evils I have seen in this Yard) to Wit — A Master Builder a Master Joiner — a master Smith A Master Mast Maker a Master Block Maker, a Master Rigger, a master Cooper, rope may be made by contract and brought into the Yard for many Years, at a lower rate, than it cou'd be made by the Publick, when the Erecting a Walk and hiring the hands to Manufacture Cordage is considered with the Waste of hemp &c &c —
General rules and regulations for the Yard should be established & under each branch there must be a foreman to see that there is a proper division of Labour and work is allotted to the men employ'd according to their Number. In these regulations there should be a prohibition to all people visiting the Yard excepting they have permission from the Officer of the Guard, or from the officer of the guard at the request of one of the principal heads of a branch employ'd in the said Yard, for much time is lost by idle conversation which I have repeatedly noticed and spoken of. It will be proper that the rules and regulations be read to the men employ'd and to be govern'd thereby, previous to their commencing Labor after engaging, and they should also be hung up in every house or appartment in the Yard, and pasted on the outside of the Buildings in several places.

I have the honor to be Sir with very great Respect

Your very Ob' humble Servant

ST. VINCENTS.

On Monday May 19, 3 o'clock, P. M. saw two sail standing to the eastward, we being then in lat. 28, 4, long. 66, 31, west; one of which immediately bore away for us, and soon gave us a shot. Thinking it of no use to strive to get away, and being unarmed hove too — she then came up and boarded us, and proved to be a French privateer schooner, called L'Hazard, Citizen Capt. Blandinier, from Port Rico, mounting 6 guns, and about 60 men, having in company a brig, as a prize, which she had taken the day before, called the Ceres, of Philadelphia, capt. Joseph Woodman, who sailed in company in the fleet with us from Tortola. She sent on board us one lieutenant, one prize-master, and two men, who after examining the papers, politely gave her up to the captain on condition of our taking the crew of the brig Ceres, consisting of the mate, a passenger, and five hands, which we accepted of with pleasure, finding ourselves happy to get off on those conditions. Being short of provisions, we mentioned it to Citizen Blandinier, who politely gave us beef, pork and bread, and wished us a good voyage; expressing much regret that any difference should have taken place between the two republics, but hoped all will soon be amicably settled between the two nations, as they had heard the Commissioners were well received at Paris.

Sir, We are now about to dismiss our Pilot having been detained 4 Days for want of a fair Wind & much interrupted by continual bad weather for some time past, notwithstanding we have been very fortunate in our Equipment, much to the credit and Zeal of our Worthy Commodore who has been indefatigable & had an immensity of trouble and vexation among the Workmen on Shore.

We are now in perfect good order & having rec'd my instructions from Capt Truxtun which I presume he has advised you of I shall endeavour to render every service in my power to the U S should you think it necessary at any time to give me further orders, I shall have frequent communications with St Christophers or Martinique where they will be rec'd and due attention paid to them.

As Capt Truxtun has had the chief superintendance of our Equipment, I have nothing further to add at present than to assure you of my personal esteem and Zeal for the Naval service — I herewith inclose you all the necessary papers required and am

My dear friend After a tedious delay by contrary winds we are at last about to dismiss our pilot & herewith send you my dispatches to the Secretary of the Navy which contains all the Vouchers required — I must beg your particular attention to their being safely forwarded.

I wrote up to Lieut Watson as you desired me, and be assured that I will pay particular attention to your Son should I fall in with the Enterprise and I have no doubt but you will find that my Nephew will merit your attention to him, by his assiduity to his duty.

Independent of the obligation that I know you feel yourself under at all times to serve your Country with Zeal, I cannot but express my personal obligation to you for the indefatigable attention you have paid towards our Equipments wherein I have been rid of much trouble & vexation, which you have had on your part, be assured I seldom forget any friendly acts, and whenever it shall be in my power to render you like services — I shall embrace the opportunity with pleasure.

May you speedily enjoy a happy meeting in the bosom of your family & friends & that you may ever enjoy the high esteem of a greateful Country for your meritorious services, is the fervent wish of

Sir

Extract from a Paris Newspaper concerning the arrival in France of the U. S. S. Portsmouth, Captain Daniel McNeil, U. S. Navy commanding

June 1st. [1800]

On the 20th May, arrived in the Road of Havre, the American frigate Portsmouth, Capt. M'Neil, of 26 twelve pounders, in 36 days from New York — Two officers came ashore near the Battery de la Heve, & were escorted to the City by the soldiers of the post. They went to inform the commander, that this frigate had been sent to Havre, to wait there for the Commissioners, who were negotiating with our government. They received assurances that the French nation, and particularly the inhabitants of Havre would give them an honourable and hospitable reception. — They returned on board with a French officer, an interpreter and a pilot, who were doubtless charged to offer the captain any assistance he might stand in need of and to make the necessary arrangements for the entry of the frigate. On the officer's going ashore, the Portsmouth fired 15 guns. The batteries returned the salute with nine guns, which was answered by the Portsmouth with 15 more.— The negotiation is near being honorably terminated for both parties; and, it is expected, the American Commissioners will leave this city, the latter end of June.

Messrs JAMES & E WATSON

GENTLEMEN The five men belonging to the Constellation brought into N York should be taken care of, & their wounds healed at the Public Expence — When they are cured they should be paid off & discharged, but if they have not with them their Accounts from the Purser it will be impossible to ascertain what is due them, — The Captains & Pursers have positive instructions never to send a man from his Ship under any circumstances without giving to him a state of his Account — still it is more than these men have no such documents — In this case they can only be paid from the time they were left at Jamaica or rather from the 1st Febr', the day of the action between the Constellation & L Vengeance

It is desirable that both the Frigates at New York should be put into a condition to receive their men — but when this is done it may turn out that they may remain in that state for some time —

Captain S. Barron

Sir, I have the honour to enclose a letter from the department of State, to his Excellency St Don Ramon de Castro, Governor of the Island of Porto Rico [dated 16 May 1800]. You will be pleased to call at Porto Rico on your passage to the Windward Islands, and deliver this letter personally, or convey it by some trusty person.

It respects a Black Man, Moses Armested [?], who was in the Brigantine Betsy's, captured by a French Privateer in month of November last. All the Crew of the Betsy's were removed except him, and a Prize Master and five Men from the Privateer were put on board, with orders to proceed to Guadeloupe. Moses, a few days after the capture, gallantly rose upon the whole crew, and put them to death. The Brigantine however was again taken, and carried into Porto Rico; and Moses it is said, is confined in Irons at Cuyado, [or Cugado] and in danger of being tried and punished as a criminal.

It is possible the Governor of Porto Rico will deliver up this Gallant Man to you. — at any rate, it is expected the letter to the Governor written by the direction of the President, will have an influence on his treatment.

Extract of log book of the American Ship, Iphigenia, of New York, Captain Thomas H. Merry, commanding, from Belfast bound to Norfolk, concerning her experience with the French National Ship La Sophie Sailed 20th April, in company with the ship Mermaid, capt. Tilton, with passengers for New-York. 12 May, in lat. 35, N. and long. 33, E. of Philadelphia, spoke schr. Cameron, capt. Folger, 18 days from Lisbon, bound to Boston, all well. 20th, at meridian, in lat. 37, 30, N. and long. 21, E. saw a large ship to leeward, standing under a press of sail; got in our wake and hove about with English colours out. At 3 P. M. plainly perceived her to be a French National ship, and in chase of us. Made sail to W. N. W. At 7 P. M. seeing she would inevitably overtake us, (then being within gun shot) rounded too. She then came up with national colours out, after a chase of 7 hours, and proved to be La Sophie, of 44 guns, capt. Demotte, 2 months from Brest, on a cruise. Sent her boat and took the captain on board; and after examining his papers and finding them to be genuine American, treated him in the most friendly and polite manner, permitted him to return to his vessel, wishing him a prosperous voyage.

During capt. M.'s stay on board the frigate, the captain and officers expressed themselves in the most friendly manner towards the United States, assuring him had they known the brig to have been American, they would not have given chase.

They repeatedly spoke of the Constellation's late action with La Vengeance, finally hoping it might be the last between two nations who they said naturally ought to be friends.
The officer and party left on board the Iphigenia during capt. M.'s stay in the frigate, behaved in the most friendly manner. They have taken 6 prizes in their cruise, all English, and chiefly out of one fleet, but capt. M. saw no prisoners; perhaps they were concealed.

To Edward Stevens, U. S. Consul General at St. Domingo, from Secretary of State ad interim

Department of State

Philad 21st May 1800.

Edward Stevens Esq!

Sir, Your two letters of the 19th and 24th April to the Secretary of State, were this day received. The political change which they mention to have taken place in S' Domingo is considered greatly important in its consequences. It gives the President much satisfaction to learn that General Toussaint continues in his friendly dispositions to the United States, and from the proofs you have given of your ability, diligence and prudence in attending to the interest of the American commerce with the Colony of S\textsuperscript{t} Domingo, he has no doubt you will do every thing in your power for its greater security and advantage.

The President has deemed it expedient to remove Jacob Mayer from the office of Consul at Cape Francois, and to appoint Henry Hammond in his place, whose commission is inclosed in a letter to him now transmitted to your care.

With great respect &c &c.

CHARLES LEE.

Extract from letter to Secretary of State from John Morton, U. S. Consul at Havana

HAVANNA 21st of May, 1800.

"It is with much concern I announce to you, sir, that since my last, the yellow fever has commenced its ravages among our countrymen at this place. A number of seamen, and several persons, who resided on shore, have already fallen victims to that dreadful disease; and several are now under the hands of the physician."

Mess\textsuperscript{r}r STEPHEN HIGGINSON & Co
Boston

GENTLEMEN I have to request that you will be pleased to purchase the copper mentioned in your letter of the 29 April and 5\textsuperscript{th} Inst if to be obtained on reasonable terms, and engage Mr [Paul] Revere to manufacture it into Bolts Spikes & sheathing Copper suitable for a 74 Gun Ship —

As copper enough can be procured in our own Country for all the purposes of the Navy on very good terms, it is expected that you will not make this purchase unless it can be done on such terms as are really moderate — With respect to Mr Revere, you will please engage him on such terms as may be considered liberal; tho the Spikes, Bolts & sheathing must not cost more than 50 cents p\textsuperscript{t} Lb

Sheathing will be the last thing wanted, & it is more important that some should be made by Mr Revere to ascertain that we can make it, than on account of any immediate demand for it —

I have the honor to be &

B[ENJAMIN S[TOODERT]

I will send in a few days the dimensions of the Bolts & Spikes, & the proper weight of the sheathing copper to be manufactured

JAMES & EBENEZER WATSON
New York

GENTLEMEN My letter to you of the 18th March last, & the Circular of the 9th of October 1798 were in substance the same so far as respected Slop Clothing. — The quality I find was not designated in either. —

It has not been customary for the Pursers to prescribe the quality of the Slops to be provided by the Public for the use of the Crews of their respective vessels, nor is the practice admissible

The regulation was meant as a humane one to supply the wants of the sailors on reasonable terms, and to prevent impositions on them by the Pursers

Hence plain comfortable clothing such as Sailors are accustomed to wear at sea only could have been contemplated, & such only must be furnished in future —

It will be time enough for you to provide the Slops for the two Frigates when you receive Instructions to complete their stores for a Cruise —

I have the honor to be

To Charles Biddle, Prize Agent, Philadelphia, from Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy

NORFOLK 22d May 1800

DEAR SIR The Constellation I got to sea on the 20th instant — and the Chesapeake will be ready next week — as soon as She departs — I will go on to the Northward — as every thing will be in a fair Way to expedite the Congress — but I fear some difficulty in manning her — the prejudices against Captain Sever — are very great — indeed I fear his Idea of discipline is not correct — Discipline is to be effected by a particular depotment, much easier than by great Severity.

The Prize money for the vessels that were not condem'd ought not to be paid, but by Special order from the Sec't of the Navy — as there may be a claim made hereafter by the owners — in consequence of their being no Condemnation in which Case I should be soley responsible & accountable unless in a treaty with France — there should be some Article provided for cases of that sort.

You had better see M' Stoddert and clearly Understand this business before you proceed to the Payment of any one claiming prize money.

I am truly & affectionately

U.S. Frigate Chesapeake dropped down from Gosport, Va., to Lambert's Point where she anchored

Norfolk, Va., May 24, [1800]

On Thursday last, [22 May] about 6 o'clock in the afternoon, the United States frigate Chesapeake, Samuel Barron, Esq. commander, dropped down from Gosport to Lambert's Point where she anchored.— She got under weigh at Gosport expeditiously, though but with few hands on board. As her sails filled, a band of music on the quarter deck, played the President's march, and at other intervals enlivened the scene by their performance. As she passed the shipping that lay in the harbour, she fired a salute of 13 guns, which was handsomely returned by every vessel that mounted a gun; and it was gratifying to observe the ships of foreign nations, with equal zeal exert themselves on the occasion. The wharves and houses next the river were lined with people, who with three cheers welcomed her as she passed the townpoint; indeed, from the expressions and joy, and the smiles which gladdened every countenance, the scene appeared as it was—an interesting one. At fort Norfolk, another salute of 13 guns was fired from her, which was returned by the fort. The troops under the command of captain Bruff, were turned out, and displayed themselves whilst she glided before them. Thus, from the Chesapeake, the navy of the United States receives no small addition of strength.

To Captain Thomas Truxtun, U. S. Navy, from Secretary of the Navy

[Philadelphia] Navy Depart 1st 22d May 1800

Capt. Thomas Truxtun

Sir I am honoured with your letters of the 13th & 15th Inst, containing copy of your instruction to Captain Murray, to sail without waiting for orders from this Department, if such orders were not received by him on the 18th Inst.

It is disagreeable to notice, still more to censure Mistakes which flow from zeal to promote the Public Service. Captain Murray should not have been ordered to sail without my instructions, or rather, those of the President, communicated thro' me. Nothing should have prompted this measure, but absolute certainty that important service might be rendered by sending him off thus prematurely, the opportunity for which might be lost, by waiting for instructions from the Government, and even in such a case, the measure, if to be justified at all, should not have been taken until the last moment. Things of this nature must not be repeated. — By your instructions to Murray, he is to sail without waiting to receive the sails from this place or New York, heretofore deemed essential for the Ship —

And these sails you observe to him shall be forwarded to him by the Chesapeake, or the Conquest [of Italy]. The latter a prize vessel, which the Government has not thought proper to purchase, as a cruzer. The former a frigate, destined for other service, in the event of Murrays going to Windward, where it was not intended he should go —
I mention these circumstances to shew the impropriety of your interference in those things, which belong exclusively to this department, under the direction of the President —

Rules and Regulations to be observed on board U. S. Frigate Congress

Frigate Congress, May 22 — 1800

It being no less the desire, and Command of, the President of the U. S.; than the wish of the Commander of this Ship; that the most pointed attention, shou’d be paid on the part of the Officers, of the several grades: as well as on that of the Seamen, and Marines constituting the Crew, of the U, S, Frigate Congress: to that good order, & discipline, which it is absolutely essential at all times to maintain: he is induced to order that the following Rules shall be observed; as it may regard the duties to be requir’d; of the several Officers, Seamen &C, serving on board the Congress. —

1st

The Officers of every Grade, are particularly requir’d to take care, that due attention, is paid to the observance, of the Rules, & orders, prescribed by the government of our Country, for the regulation of the Navy —

2nd

No Commission’d Officer, or Midshipman, shall be allow’d, to make his appearance, on the Quarter Deck of this Frigate, without his side Arms — 3rd

It is expected that the Officers of the several grades, shall mutually pay that respect to each other; which the stations they may respectively occupy, will have a right to Command; and which politeness, and decency shall dictate.

4th

No Officer of an Inferior grade shall address himself to his superior Officer, without moving his hat; nor any petty Officer, Seaman, or Marine, shall accost a Commission'd Officer, without, taking off[i] his hat; & remaining uncover'd, during the period of Conversation —
The same rule shall apply when accosted by a Commission'd Officer.

5th

When a Seaman, or Marine; shall be accosted by, or accost himself to a Midshipman, or other Warrant Officer; he shall pay that Officer, the Compliment of taking off[i] his hat; at the commencement, and ending of the Conversation.

6th

The first Lieu[t] or in his absence, the Officer next in Rank; shall take care that the deck is never left during the day in Harbour, nor at any time, during the night or day at Sea — without being in charge of a Sea Lieutenant, or the Sailing Master; who shall not be allow'd to leave the deck; unless by special order; without being regularly releiv'd.

7th

No Petty Officer, Seaman or Marine, shall be permitted to pass the Barricade of the Quarter Deck; when the Commander; or other Commission'd Officer is present; without pulling off[i] his hat; and remaining uncover'd, untill he shall have pass'd the Wheel; the same thing will be requir'd after passing the Wheel in going forward; nor will they be suffer'd to pass on the weather side of that deck; without an especial order —

8th

No person what ever shall be allow'd to throw any thing out of; or to take any thing in at; any of the Ports, on the Gun deck — on any pretence whatever.

9th

It is strictly forbidden to lay any thing; upon any of the Guns; or their Carriages, on either deck — excepting the implements, necessarily attached to them, on pain of the punishment, which may be inflicted for a disobedience of Orders.

The Gunner, his Mates, & Crew, will be responsible, that the foregoing regulations shall be carefully attended to: and that the guns & their carriages &C. are kept clean, and in perfectly good order, as the safety of the ship, under certain emergency’s, and the reputation of the Officers & Men; is greatly dependent, on the attention which should be invariably paid to her batteries.

The Officers will take care, that the several duties which are requir’d; shall be perform’d, with as little noise as possible, by the Ships Company —

*   *   *   *   *   *   *   *

13th

Care shall be taken, that all dirt, and dirty water, be carried forward upon the upper deck, and thrown over to Leeward, without suffering it to touch the Ships Side, or any of the Guns —

14th

It being necessary to the Safety, as well as good appearance of the Boats — that they be kept from the Ships side; it is especially enjoin’d upon the Officer Commanding on deck, that he never permit the boats to lay along side, without one or more boat keepers; who shall be responsible, that their respective boats are kept off from the Ship, so as to guard against their injury; the Cockswains of the several Boats, shall take care that they are always provided with a sufficiency of suitable fenders. — on the penalty of being chargeable, with all damages the Boats shall sustain from their Negligence.

15th

It shall be the duty of the Officer, Commanding the Watch; to be particularly attentive, that the several Inferior Officers, and Seamen, composing the Watch. be alert at their respective Stations; that they are not to be allow’d to lay down; or to quit their Stations, during the Watch; but to be always in readiness to perform the duties which may be requir’d of them, at their respective posts. —

16th

It being essentially necessary that punctuality in the performance of all duties; should be attended to; the Commander directs that ten minutes only shall be allowed, for the Watch to be at their several posts; after they shall be call’d — for this purpose the Officer Commanding shall at the expiration of that period, cause the Watch list to be call’d over; when those who are not present; shall be noted and their names sent to the Ships Steward; who shall take care that their Grogg shall be stopped for the day, if any person shall be found repeatedly negligent, he will be punished as the Rules and regulations shall direct —

The Officer of the Watch will not be allow’d to take in, or to make Sail, or to tack, or veer Ship, nor to alter the Course; without previously acquainting the Commander, with the necessity for so doing unless in cases of emergency; such as sudden Squalls — or falling in with danger; in which latter case, he will make report while the Operation is performing it shall be his duty personally to report any Contingencies that may Occur during his watch; as the unexpected making of Land — any strange Sail, or Sails — or other uncommon appearances.

18th

It is expected that the Officer Commanding as well as those attach'd to the several divisions; will be attentive, that the men under their orders, shall be carefull to keep themselves clean; both in their persons, & their cloathing; that they keep their cloaths in good repair; for this purpose, friday in each Week, shall be appropriated for Washing, mending Cloaths &C —

19th

It is expected that the dress of the Officers; shall as nearly as may be comport, with the Rank, which they may sustain in the Ship; it is more especially necessary, that this subject; should be attended to; as the Example which shall be shewn by the Officers of the superior grades — will always influence the conduct of the Inferior Officers, Seamen &C. —

20th

Care shall be taken, by the Officer Commanding the Watch; that the duties are executed with great precision; that the Log is carefully hove; that the course on which the Ship is steer'd, be minutely attended to; that the correct distances be marked on the Log board; together with the Leeway which the Ship may make, when by the Wind —

21st

The upper & Gun Decks shall be carefully Wash'd every morning, at 5 oClock, during the summer, The Hammocks when the weather will allow, to be piped up at Seven Bells: Breakfast, at 8 oClock — for which, half an hour shall be allow'd; Dinner at 12, oClock to be allow'd one hour: the morning Grogg. to be served at the call to dinner; that for the afternoon, at Sea at 4 P M; in harbour, at half an hour before Sunset. —

22nd

The Sea Lieut & Sai Master shall frequently inspect the Birth & Orlop Decks and their passages leading to the Store rooms. as well as the Cockpit; in order that they may direct them to be clean'd, as often as they may appear to require it. —

23d

The Officer Commanding Watches; are required to notice, those men, who may be disposed to be inattentive, or negligent, in the performance of their duty; in order that they may be punish'd if it should be found necessary — and to remark those, whose activity and cleverness may be conspicuous; that they may be rewarded by promotion or otherways when ever opportunity shall present.

The Officers generally are requested to be careful that the strictest economy shall be observed in the expenditure of the public stores, that no waste, or embezzlement, may be permitted, that every person, who shall wilfully, carelessly, or negligently lose, dispose of, or destroy any article of public property: be reported to the Commander — in order that the amount of the Article, so lost or destroy'd be charged on the Books of the Ship, that it may be deducted from the wages of the Offender —

Sir The Crews of Nine Vessels, whose times of service expire in May, June, July & August, must be paid off and discharged within the next three months. Probably other Vessels whose service will end a month or six weeks later, may arrive within the insuing 3 Months, in which case it will be good economy to discharge their Crews. — I think we cannot calculate on a smaller sum for paying off Officers — Marines and discharged seamen within the insuing three months, than 300000 Dollars. — Nor do I think we can safely calculate the other unavoidable expenditures of the department for the same time, at less than 300000 more — I shall most assuredly do all in my power to keep the expenditures considerably within these limits — but I see not that it can be effected without injury to the service.

D' Sir I am extremely mortified at the unwarrantable step which your too great Zeal has prompted you to take — I mean, in sending off Murray, without his Instructions from the President — It was every way improper — You assumed the direction in a case, belonging to the Executive exclusively, and God knows what inconveniences may result from it. You must avoid such interference in future. It is painful to censure any thing done by an Officer of your uncommon merit — but surely in the present case, your own reflections will convince you of the great impropriety of your conduct — Murray was intended to relieve Talbot who ought now to be relieved. — Finding that Murray might have sailed without my orders and to the Windward, I sent Instructions to Barron to proceed to Cape Francois to relieve Talbot Barron too may have gone without receiving his orders from me — or he may have gone on his first orders for the Windward Station & before the others arrived — Now it has become necessary that he should not leave the Coast — I dispatch therefore a pilot Boat with orders for him to proceed to the Southern extremity & thence to New Castle on Delaware, with money to be brought from Charleston —

Cape Francois

Sir It was intended that Cap' Murray of the Constellation, should have departed from Norfolk about this time to join you & to assume the command at S' Domingo when you left that Station, which it will be necessary you should do in such way as to preserve good faith with your crew —
I have reason to fear, Murray left Norfolk under orders from Captain Truxtun without waiting to receive mine — I afterwards ordered Captain Barron of the Chesapeake to proceed to join you, &
To relieve you — Enclosed is the Copy of the letter written by both with no other change than the name of the Captain & Vessel. But I am this day dispatching a pilot Boat to Norfolk to direct Barron to cruise on the Coast, a measure rendered necessary by the appearance of one or more French privateers —

This goes by Capt 3 Mullowney who will proceed to the Havana to convoy some. — I hope you will have no trouble in keeping your men satisfied until you are relieved either by Capt Murray or Capt Barron — I shall by every conveyance, write Murray, who if he has not gone to St Domingo, has gone to the Windward to join you — I have the honor to be with great Respect —

Captain Samuel Barron
Of the Chesapeake

Sir Instead of proceeding immediately to the West Indies, as directed in the Instructions heretofore sent you, you will please to proceed with the Chesapeake to Charleston South Carolina, and take on board of the Frigate, a large sum in Specie which will be delivered by the Branch Bank at Charleston which you will bring for the Bank of the United States at this place, but as the Navigation of the Delaware is difficult beyond New Castle, you will please stop at that place with the Frigate, & send up from thence to Philad' the Specie by such conveyance as may be pointed out by Thomas Willing Esqr President of the Bank —
After performing this Service, you will proceed from New Castle to the West Indies in pursuance of the Instructions you have already received, provided you should meet at New Castle no orders for a different service — Messrs Riddle & Bird at New Castle act as Agents of the Navy — from them you will obtain any assistance you may require — I have the honor to be with great Respect

Captain JOHN MULLOWNY
of the Ganges
Sir Presuming that the Ganges is [in] complete preparation for Sea, I have the honor to direct that taking under convoy such of the Merchant Vessels as may be ready to sail with you, and destined for the Havana and Saint Domingo, you proceed by the most convenient rout to convoy all the vessels bound to Saint Domingo, not parting with them until you see them safe into port. You will make land to the Windward of Monto Christo, & in running down, keep the Land well on board.
After accomplishing this object, you will proceed to the Havana where you will find the Warren, T. Newman whom you will direct to return to the United States taking under convoy any vessels ready to sail for the Continent — Order him to cruise from the Southern extremity of the United States, keeping on & off the Coast, & to touch at Charleston where he will call on W[] Crafts Esq Navy Agent to learn if any orders are lodged there for him — Should he receive no such orders, he is then to proceed to Norfolk, where he will receive such supplies from W[] Pennock as may be needfull & where he will get orders for his future destination: Be particular in your Instructions to Newman, that he may commit no mistakes & send me a Copy by him — You have letters for Captain Talbott & Doctor Stevens which you must have safely delivered — the one for M'r Hammond may be left with Doctor Stevens —

I will only further observe, that the way to render the most important services to your Country, most effectually to protect its Commerce, & acquire personal honors is to keep constantly cruising — to go into port as seldom as possible — this also will best preserve the health of your Crew —

Capt* John Mullowny of the Ganges —

Sir There being information received of a French privateer being on the coast of the United States, you will proceed coastwise as far as Charleston, South Carolina taking care of the convoy under your orders, if they choose to remain with you and then proceed as directed in the Instructions of this date herewith, unless you should receive well authenticated information that there are French privateers on the Coast, in this case, you must pursue them. But it being of great importance that your cruise should not be interrupted, and there being but little probability of French Cruisers remaining on the Coast, it is confidently expected that you may proceed to Cape Francois from Charleston without any material deviation from your course —

Herewith you have three letters to Captain Murray of the Constellation which you will please send by as many opportunities if such should occur to Saint Kitts —

of the Ganges —

Sir Upon more reflection, I find the vessels to Cape Francois & the Havana have claims for convoy, which cannot be neglected

Two or three of our vessels must be at this time on our Southern Coast, returning to the United States — and it is most probable, that the Constellation is now scouring that Coast. —

You must therefore, proceed with the convoy within a convenient distance of the coast, to meet with privateers, as far as the Capes of Virginia from whence you will steer your course for Cape Francois as heretofore directed, & thence to the Havana — where I wish you to arrive as early as possible, that you may send back Capt’ Newman, agreeably to the Instructions already given you. —

The vessels under your convoy have very valuable cargoes. — pay to them, all the attention in your power — If they leave you, the fault will not be yours but do not let it be said, that you neglected them —

To Hon. Charles Pinckney, Senator from South Carolina, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA] 25th May 1800

Honble Charles Pinckney

Senator from the State of South Carolina —

Sir I had the honor to receive your letter of this date requesting a convoy for such Vessels as are going to Charleston, and informing me that your inability to travel by land, made it necessary for you to go by water. — Yours is the only application which has been made for a convoy to Charleston, and as it does not state the number of vessels meant to be convoyed I will be thankful for such information as is in your power to give me upon the subject. At the same time I take the liberty to observe, that I have received no official accounts, nor do I believe any circumstances exist which ought to excite apprehensions of capture in going from hence to Charleston and that at the present moment there is no vessel so unengaged in the public service that it may be instantly employed in the manner you have requested — If the trade to Charleston does require a convoy, it will be necessary to wait till a Public Ship can be provided, which I believe may be done in the course of two weeks at latest.

I mentioned to you this morning that the Constellation had sailed from Norfolk about the 18th Inst in search of the privateer said to have been near our coast — and that I had reason to believe other public vessels returning from the West Indies were at this moment on the Southern Coast —

I have the honor to be with great consideration Sir

To Richard O'Brien, U. S. Consul General, Algiers, from Secretary of State ad interim

DEPARTMENT OF STATE
Philad* 27th May 1800

RICHARD O. BRIEN Esq *

Sir, This moment I am informed of an opportunity to Algiers and all the letters and papers of the office being packed up for removal to the city of Washington, whither I proceed to morrow, it is not in my power to acknowledge several letters by date which have been lately received from you. However the last which was received mentioned the arrival of the Sophia, and your hope of hearing soon that the Hero had arrived at Tunis, and represented that the arrival of the Sophia had given some satisfaction to the Dey. The ship [George] Washington which is very large is daily expected here to take in the remainder of your inventory left by the Sophia, and the Ann Maria a large ship at New York is prepairing to take in a cargo for Tunis. Some delay from the change in the Cabinet and from the removal to Washington will be unavoidable; yet you may be assured that it shall be the least possible, in consequence of these circumstances, and that the departure of these ships shall be hastened.

Extract from a letter to a Gentleman in Baltimore, Md., from an Officer on board the U. S. Sloop Patapsco, concerning capture of the schooner Cecilia and subsequent encounter with a British privateer lugger

"Bassaterre, (St. Kitts) June 26, 1800.

"I take this liberty to write to you by a fleet which now sails for the U. States, under convoy of the frigate Adams. The Patapsco after arriving here, was ordered on a cruise to Curra coa, and was proceeding thither, when on the 28th May we overhauled, after a chase of 5 hours, a schr. called the Cecilia, said to be from Antigua, bound to St. Thomas's, but on examination found that she had no papers on board. Capt. Geddes immediately sent me with some seamen on board her, with orders to proceed to Bassaterre, to have her examined. I was in possession of her nearly a day, when I discovered a British privateer lugger in chase of me, which had been in chase of the Cecilia in company with the Patapsco the day before; but as soon as I knew the vessel I was under no apprehensions, not fearing any thing from the British, but rather supposed they would convoy me up to Bassaterre. As soon as she came up with me, the capt. ordered me with my papers to come on board; I readily complied and shewed him my letter of instructions and warrant, and told him the situation of the vessel, but it all would not do; he immediately sent men on board and took possession of her, alleging that the Americans had no right to her. They carried her into Nevis, and there the collector of the customs took possession of the schr. as being without papers; he said she was a droite to the admiralty; we were ordered to leave the schr. immediately, and at the same time told that it was a great piece of im pertinence in the American capt. and that he might be arrested when he came to Bassaterre for acting as he had. I came to Bassaterre and informed our agent of their proceedings, and entered a protest against the lugger, and James Ward, collector of the customs at Nevis. It is the general opinion, that we shall come upon them for very heavy damages for taking the schooner out of our possession & insulting our flag.

"The privateers out of Guadaloupe are swarming in these seas. There are 6 or 8 prizes belonging to the different U. States vessels now lying in these roads. The schr. Enterprize, capt. Shaw has lately brot in one of 6 or 8 guns after an action of half an hour, during which time he killed & wounded 18 of the Frenchman. The Frigate Constellation, Capt. Murray, arrived here a day or two ago, and sailed yesterday on a cruise, supposed towards Cayenne. There are a number of Cor vettes lately from France, in these seas; one of them has been taken by the British frigate Tamer, there has been one a long time, mounting 24 guns, of 12 and 18 pounders, and between 2 and 300 men — she would be a good match for some of our sloops of war. The account we had of her was, that she had gone to Curra coa on a cruise. Our ship is on that station now, and I have been waiting all this month for her to return, but have had no accounts from her."

Orders for the removal of the Navy Department to Washington, D. C.

The President having directed the offices to be opened at the City of Washington on the 15th June — The Gentlemen belonging to the Offices of the Secr & Accountant of the Navy will regulate their affairs accordingly. There will be an Advance of as much money to each person as is due at the time for salary — perhaps a little more, but this cannot at present be counted upon —

Vessels are daily preparing & carrying the furniture of the Gentlemen in the other Offices — Such things as can be spared may be sent as soon as the Owners please in such vessels at the Public Expense. But Mr Whelen the Purveyor must be consulted in every instance — he having directions from the Treasury, particularly on this subject — It is intended to close the offices here on Saturday the 7th Inst.

Sir If there is no prize Agent appointed at New York for the [U. S. brig] Richmond, you had better put that business into the hands of Messrs J & E Wattson, who are Navy Agents —

The prisoners, of whom you should have sent me a list, and must still send me a list must be delivered over to Aquila Giles Esq’r Marshall of New York. — The men whose Accts no doubt you have from the Purser of the Richmond must be paid off & discharged, when their services are no longer necessary to take care of the Schooner Chance agreeably to such directions as you shall receive from Thomas Turner Esquire Accountant of this Department. —

If the Salvage received for the Schooner can be settled immediately, these men as well as Yourself, may as well receive their proportion of prize money from the Agent of the Prize at once —

GENTLEMEN I am honored with your letter of the 26th Inst.
The prize Schooner Peggy & her Cargo must be libelled in the District Court, and if condemned will of course be sold by order of the Court
If there is no prize Agent appointed by Cap’t Jewett & the Crew of the Trumbull you will please take on yourselves the direction of this business & see that the whole is done in a proper manner, taking into view, that French Armed Vessels only are liable to capture & condemnation by the Laws of the United States. — The prisoners if any brought in must be delivered over to the Marshal of the District, & a list of their names, rank & transmitted to this Office —
The men from the Trumbull must be discharged & paid off as soon as their Services are no longer necessary to take care of the Peggy.
It is presumed M’s Rogers the prize Master has the Accts of all the men certified by the Purser of the Trumbull which he must transmit to Thomas Turner Esq Accountant of this Department who will give directions, agreeable to which the men must be paid — All the expences attendant on the transactions relative to the, (except the payment of the Prize Master) Mens wages to the time of arrival of the prize must be defrayed out of the Sales of the prize if condemned —

To Elizur Goodrich, from Secretary of the Navy

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Dept 29th May 1800.

Honble Elizur Goodrich Esq!

Sir I am honoured with your letter of the 26th Inst. in relation to the Salvage taken from the Brigantine Anna, recaptured by the Merrimack Capt. Brown. No doubt the owners are entitled to receive back from the officers and crew of the Merrimack, all that has been paid for Salvage, beyond one eighth of the value of the Vessel and cargo —
The next consideration is, how shall this be effected with the least expence, trouble or delay to the owners? I shall immediately write to D. M. Clarkson agent for the Merrimack who is also Navy Agent at St Kitts, instructing him to pay no more than one eighth of the value of the Vessel and Cargo to the Capt. & crew of the Merrimack, and apply the residue in his hands to the purposes of the Navy — and lest he should have already paid the whole money received, to the captain & crew. I shall also write to Messrs Higginson & Co agents for the Merrimack at Boston, who have some prize money in hand belonging to that ship, to retain in their hands the sum that must be returned to the owners.

The moment I get information from Clarkson, that he has received my Instructions in time, to stop the money in his hands, I will pay the amount to the owners, — but if I should receive no such information, in that case the money must be got from Messrs S. Higginson & Co.
In some way I have no doubt this business must be so settled and understood, so that the owners of the Anna, will be paid at latest, in the course of three months. If it was an affair in which the United States had an Interest, they should be paid sooner. I hope they will be satisfied. — The error has arisen from Ignorance of the Law, at the time of the recapture — you as Agent, & Moses Brown Capt of the Merrimack, which sum has been paid to you by the Captain in lieu of salvage contrary to an Act of Congress, passed the 3rd of March 1800 which expressly limits it to one eighth of the value of the vessel & Cargo recaptured. If you have not paid to the receptors in this case the amount of the appraisement received on their account I have to request that you will only pay them one Eighth of the value of the vessel and Cargo, and apply the residue to naval purposes —

Captain Thomas Truxtun

Norfolk, Virginia

Dr Sir It was unfortunate, Murray did not wait another day to receive my Instructions A great deal of confusion and some cause of complaint on the part of Capt Talbott who will be kept on his Station longer than his time, would have been prevented — We must make the best of it —

Write by any opportunity that may offer from Norfolk, a Single line to Murray "to proceed to Cape Francois to relieve Talbott"

The Pilot Boat I dispatched on Sunday last no doubt would arrive in time with Barrons orders to proceed to Charleston, to take on board money there from the Branch Bank, to bring as far as New Castle for the Bank of the United States — I will have Instructions & money sent tomorrow to recruit Severs crew — I suppose he will be ready to begin to take a crew by the time the Instructions are received — & that he may quickly after get to Sea — I believe he will be kept sometime on the Coast — but this is at present uncertain —

There being only one Frigate [Congress] at Norfolk, I presume you may on receipt of this, & after putting in a proper train for her dispatch, proceed to N York to take the Command of the President — It is not at present desireable that more should be done to that Ship than to put her into a perfect state of readiness to receive her crew

The Crew need not yet be recruited — I mean of the President. —

I Leave this with my Office the 8th June & expect to be at Washington by the 15th. You will be pleased to direct your letters accordingly — Perhaps you may return by land & that way — I shall be very glad to see you there — but do not wish you to travel by Land, unless that was your intention —

An account of the Plundering of the American Merchant Ship Minerva, Captain Pinkham, by the French privateer Schooner Les Deux Amis.

CHARLESTON, June 7. [1800]

On the 29th ultimo, captain Pinkham, being then in lat. 32, 32, long. 66, fell in with a French privateer schooner of 12 guns and 95 men, belonging to Guadaloupe, which took from him three packages of Irish linens, and robbed his vessel and passengers of their cloathing and several other articles. A steerage passenger on board of capt. Pinkham, having informed the French captain that there were 400 guineas concealed on board, they rummaged every part of the ship, but, not finding any money, they took the linen.

The privateer was called Les Deux Amis. The privateer put on board of captain Pinkham’s vessel, the mate and three seamen of the schooner Sea Flower, of Salem, which they had captured, and sent to Guadaloupe. They also informed captain Pinkham, that they had captured a ship from Cape de Verds, bound to New-York, loaded with salt, which they had burnt, and sent the crew home in a schooner with ballast, which they had also captured.

To the letter now before me of the 28th Inst, permit me to reply — That I consider it to be my duty to afford all the protection in my power to the persons & property of all the Citizens of the United States, without distinction — and without enquiring whether the persons wanting the aid of the Navy are private Citizens, or Gentle-

Since I had the pleasure of seeing you I have received official information that the Constellation had sailed from Norfolk, & had gone southward and that the Chesapeake had not sailed and would not sail until my orders by the Pilot Boat arrived, which directed her to proceed to Charleston — Other Public Vessels are also on the Southern Coast — but I believe no French privateers or Ships of War — so that if you have proceeded with the Ganges or if you still proceed with that Ship to Chesapeake, you will in all probability have convoy all the way to Charleston.

The Secretary of the Treasury

Sir It may be of use to your arrangements to be informed that money will be necessary for the Navy Department between this time, and the day when the Treasury Department will be in operation at Washington — which I suppose will not be sooner than July. —

It is difficult for me to form any thing like an accurate estimate — orders are presented on me without previous notice, from the West Indies — and from some of the distant ports of the United States — Vessels sometimes arrive a month or two before their time, and it is economy to discharge them. — At this time I have to remit to Messrs J. & E. Watson 30,000 Dollars — Mr Sheaff at Portsmouth, 10000 Dollars — to Baltimore 10000, and a like sum to Norfolk — I know not of any necessity for immediate remittance to any other place — Sixty thousand Dollars then, to be placed in the hands of Mr Meredith, for the remittances to these places, & twenty thousand for demands here, will I presume be sufficient for Navy purposes while I remain at Philadelphia which will be till the 9th June —
If then you will be pleased to place in Mr. Meredith's hands Eighty thousand Dollars, out of the appropriation for the maintenance of the Navy for 1800 — and make arrangements for subjecting to my warrants forty thousand Dollars, after I get to Washington, the 15. June, — I should hope, this provision for the Navy, would be sufficient until your arrival at Washington. —

Navy Department 31 May 1800

Captain James Sever
of the Frigate Congress

Sir From Captain Truxtun's letters, I judge you will be ready for sea by the 15th June, provided you get men. — He informs me, he had ordered Lieut Watson on board of the Congress — you will find him an excellent Officer, & a man of sense, who will aid you in preserving harmony on board of your Ship. —

I know not from Captain Truxtun's letters, whether you have yet commenced recruiting your crew — You have now enclosed Instructions for that purpose. Begin when you are ready to receive them, & when your Repairs are so nearly compleated, as certainly to be finished as soon as you can get your men—but not before —

I fear there must have arisen great confusion in the Accounts of the men &c turned over to the Chesapeake — This could only be avoided by very great attention. — If you are ready for sea before you hear from me again, you will proceed with as much Expedition as possible to Cape Francois, see Capt Talbott of the Constitution, the time of whose crews is nearly out, shew him this letter, & receive from him all his Instructions for his Government on that station, which you will consider yours & assume upon his leaving the station which I presume will be imm after your arrival, the command of all the Vessels remain & employ them, as he has done for the security of our Trade —

Captain Talbott will be able from his experience to give you a great deal of information, respecting the employment of the vessels left under your command, to which you will pay due regard. The Boston, Captain Little will I presume return as soon as Captain Talbott — Both these ships, and indeed all others returning to the United States, should bring with them no more provisions than necessary to last to the United States — the surplus should be delivered to the remaining Vessels — or to the Navy Agent Mt Levy. — No prize vessels should be sent to the United States without some of the persons captured in them on board — Without this they will not be condemned — No men should be sent from any Ship to return to the United States without an Acco\(^1\) from the Purser of the money due them, on the day of leaving their Ship. — These things are mentioned in the Instructions to Capt\(^b\) Talbott, to be delivered over to you — but they cannot be too often repeated. — One thing more — Our Laws Justify the capture of Armed Vessels only — A French Vessel without arms cannot be condemned, & ought not to be taken. You will pay all necessary attention to the preservation of harmony between the Officers & Crews of our vessels — and General Touissaint & the people of the Island of St Domingo under his control —

It is probable I shall send you from hence before my removal to Washington which will be in a week such Instructions, as will supercede the necessity of your receiving those Captain Talbot has but do not wait for them if you can get ready it being very desireable that Capt Talbot should be Relieved. — & if possible before the 1\(^{st}\) July. — Direct any letters for me after the receipt of this, to Washington where I shall commence my official duties on the 16\(^{th}\) June —

I have the honor to be

Lieut J P Watson

Norfolk —

Sir Captain Truxton informs me that he had instructed you to enter on board of the Congress. — I am pleased with this arrangement, & have no doubt Capt Sever will have reason to be highly satisfied — I hope the situation will be agreeable to yourself. Captain Sever is a man of sense, & with your aid will be able to preserve more harmony in the Ship than has heretofore been the case.

To Secretary of the Navy, from Gibbs & Channing, Navy Agents, Newport, R. I.

NEWPORT May 31. 1800

A Schooner arrived here yesterday which brings advice, that there are several French Privateers cruising in latitudes northward of where our Cruisers leave the Vessels they convoy — we had a conversation with the Captain of an English Brig, who was taken by one of those privateers, and sent in this Schooner, the information he gives, appears so important that we have taken a memorandum from him relative to the Privateers & there cruising latitudes, which we now have the honor to inclose —
We have the pleasure to inform you, that a requisite number of hands are engaged for 12th to navigate the Geo. Washington, she has [on] board all her stores & provisions, and will take her guns & powder in the beginning of the week — Lieut. Jacobs writes us from Providence, that he shall come to the Ship, and will sail with all possible dispatch agreeable to your orders. We received a letter from Cap. Perry dated “Cape Francois April," in which he say that he expects to be in Newport in the course of 8 or 9 weeks he has inclosed to us Indent of sundry articles that will be wanted for the General Greene, which we shall have ready against her arrival —

[PHILADELPHIA]
Navy Department, 31 May 1800.

Sir The Subscribers to the Frigate at Phila. their money at different periods — perhaps at one hundred different times. It is impossible to fix upon any time for Interest to commence, to do Justice to all. Interest has been calculated on the different pages up to the 1st April 1800 — & amounts to 6,611 9/100 D — Can not I give a Warrant for that sum to be charged to the Frigate Philadelphia & a certificate that the Subscribers are entitled to Cert bearing Int from the 1st April.

I have the honor to be with great respect, Yr Most Obe Ser
