To complete your registration, you will need to mail the completed application form and the following items to Bill Cloud in the UNC-Chapel Hill School of Journalism and Mass Communication. Mail them as a complete package, not in pieces.

1. A resume including your professional experience, formal education, professional development seminars and workshops or other relevant training experiences.
2. An essay of no more than 500 words saying how this seminar will help you. Please double-space your paper.
3. A statement describing how you will share what you learn, an important aim of the institute. We want to reach as many working copy editors as possible with the knowledge and enrichment the institute offers. Participants are expected to present a workshop or workshops for at least 10 other copy editors when they return to their newsrooms.
4. A recommendation from your employer signed on letterhead that states the newspaper's willingness for you to participate in this program and its commitment to having you present a workshop or workshops to the editing staff on what you have learned.
