FOREWORD

This study was written by Dr. Robert P. Fogerty, College of St. Thomas, St. Paul, Minnesota, for the USAF Historical Division, Air University, Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

Like other Historical Division studies, this history is subject to revision, and additional information or suggested corrections will be welcomed.
BIBLICAL STUDY OF USAF GENERAL OFFICERS,

1917 - 1952

INTRODUCTION

A great effort has been expended to achieve complete accuracy in the 541 biographical sketches of which this study is composed. The absolute accomplishment of this objective would be the work of many years, if even then the goal could be reached. Nevertheless, it is hoped that the material which has been assembled and the care which has been exercised have combined to keep the omissions and errors to a minimum.

The chronological breaks in each general officer's record, together with the unplanned omissions and inaccuracies, are occasioned or caused chiefly by the following factors: 1) periods of study in military or civilian life, 2) gaps in the primary and secondary sources that have been discovered, 3) squadron assignments less than command; no squadron assignments, 4) leave, travel, hospitalization, and time spent awaiting new assignments, and 5) the reversion of an officer to a rank lower than brigadier general.

George Robert Acheson was born in Lewiston, Maine, January 21, 1904. He attended the University of Maine and enlisted in the Army as a private February 17, 1925.

After serving with the 24th Pursuit Squadron at France Field, Panama Canal Zone, he was appointed a flying cadet in the Air Service and began primary flying training at Brooks Field, Texas, in March 1926. In September of that year he went to Kelly Field, Texas, for advanced flying training, completed the course, and was commissioned a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve February 28, 1927. The following June he was appointed a second lieutenant of Air Corps in the Regular Army and assigned with the Third Attack Group at bord Crockett, Texas. In October 1927, he became squadron maintenance inspector of the Eighth Attack Squadron at Fort Crockett and later served there as post and group personnel adjutant of the Third Attack Group.

General Acheson became a flying instructor at the Brooks Field Primary Flying School in September, 1929, and in October 1931, assumed the same duties at Randolph Field, Texas. He entered the Air Corps Technical School at Chanute Field, Illinois, in September 1932 and completed the armament course the following March. He then became squadron adjutant of the 99th Observation Squadron at Mitchel Field, New York. In January 1934, he joined the Eighth Pursuit Group at Langley Field, Virginia. After a tour of duty as an air mail pilot with the Army Air Corps mail operations, from February to May 1934, he returned to the 99th Observation Squadron.

In January 1935, General Acheson began a special training in advanced air navigation with the 19th Bombardment Group at Rockwell Field, California, and the following March returned to Mitchel Field as intelligence and operations officer of the First Bombardment Squadron. He went to Hawaii in July 1937, where he served at Schofield Barracks as intelligence and operations officer of the 26th Attack Squadron. In November 1938, he became commanding officer of that unit and subsequently commanded the 86th Observation Squadron there.

General Acheson, in August 1940, joined the 43rd Bombardment Squadron at MacDill Field, Florida, where he assumed command of the 67th Bombardment Squadron in May 1941. The following September he became materiel officer for the First Air Support Service Command at Pope Field, North Carolina. In July 1942, he was appointed Supervisor of Training of the Officers Training Unit at Barksdale Field, Louisiana, and later served as Assistant Chief of the Air Staff for Operations of the Third Bomber Command at MacDill Field. He was named commanding officer of the 55th Bombardment Wing at MacDill Field in June 1943, and the following January went to the North African theater of operations as commander of that wing.
In June 1945, General Acheson was assigned to command the War Department Personnel Center at Fort Leavenworth, Kansas. In September 1945, he was assigned to AAF headquarters with temporary duty at Fort Logan, Colorado, with the War Department Officer's Screening Board. In May 1946, he was assigned to the 13th Air Force, with headquarters at Leyte, Philippine Islands, and two months later became its chief of staff. In March 1947, he was assigned to the Far East Air Materiel Command, with detached service as commanding general of the Philippine Air Materiel Area. The following month the Philippine AMA was redesignated the Fourth Air Depot.

In October 1947, he was appointed chief of staff of the Fifth Air Force, with headquarters at Nagoya, Japan. In June 1949, he became deputy for material of Continental Air Command, with headquarters at Mitchel Air Force Base. The following November he was appointed deputy commander of the Eastern Air Defense Force at Mitchel AFB. In March 1951, he assumed command of the Central Air Defense Force at Kansas City, Missouri.

In February 1953, General Acheson was appointed commanding general of the Alaskan Air Command, with headquarters at Elmendorf Air Force Base, Alaska.

General Acheson has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross, and Air Medal with one oak leaf cluster. He is rated a command pilot.

BANHILL, CHARLES Y.

BARCUS, GLENN OSCAR

BIRTH: Genoa, Ill., 25 July 1908.

Harold Huntley Bassett was born in Iibbon, Illinois, April 1, 1907. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Corps of Engineers June 13, 1929.

In September 1929, he began flying training and after graduating from primary and advanced flying schools at March Field, California, and Kelly Field, Texas, respectively, was rated a pilot and transferred to the Air Corps December 11, 1930.

General Bassett's first assignment was with the 15th Pursuit Group at Schofield Barracks, Hawaii. In February 1933, he was assigned as an instructor at the flying school at Randolph Field, Texas, and in July 1935 entered California Institute of Technology, from which he received his Master of Science degree a year later.

General Bassett then became assistant signal officer at Hamilton Field, California, and in June 1937, was named regional control officer for the First Weather Region, with station at March Field, California. He entered the Air Corps Tactical School at Maxwell Field, Alabama, in April 1940, and upon graduation two months later went to Wheeler Field, Hawaii, as base adjutant. He was appointed personnel officer for the 14th Pursuit Wing at Wheeler Field in May 1941, and the following November assumed command of the 18th Air Base Group there.

In July 1942, General Bassett entered the Naval War College at Newport, Rhode Island, and upon graduation in December 1942, was named acting Director of Weather at _F headquarters, Washington, D. C. He became Director of Weather in February 1943; the following month was designated chief of Flight Control there, and in September 1943, was named chief of the Weather Division at _F headquarters.

General Bassett, in January 1945, was appointed Director of Weather for the U. S. Strategic Air Forces in Europe, with station at St. Germain, France. He assumed command of the 59th Weather Wing at Wiesbaden, Germany, in September 1945, and in August 1946, became commander of the Fifth Weather Wing, also at Wiesbaden.

In July 1947, General Bassett entered the National War College and upon graduation a year later was assigned to the Office of the Joint Chiefs of Staff for duty as Assistant Director for Intelligence of the Joint Intelligence Group. He was named deputy commander of the USAF Security Service, with headquarters at Brooks Air Force Base, Texas, in June 1951. In February 1953, he assumed command of that Service. In August 1953, he was assigned to Kelly Air Force Base, Texas, retaining his previous position.

General Bassett has been awarded the Legion of Merit with one Oak Leaf Cluster, the Bronze Star Medal, the Distinguished Flying Cross, the Army Commendation Ribbon, and the French Croix de Guerre. He is rated a command pilot and aircraft observer.

General Bassett is married and has one child.

PROMOTIONS

He was promoted to first lieutenant October 1, 1934; to captain

LIEUTENANT GENERAL GLENN O. BARCUS

Glenn Oscar Barcus was born in Genoa, Illinois, July 25, 1903. He was graduated from the University of Illinois at Champaign in June 1924.

Appointed a second lieutenant in the Cavalry Reserve September 11, 1924, General Barcus received a Regular Army commission as second lieutenant in the Field Artillery the following June. He joined the Second Cavalry at Fort Riley, Kansas, on September 30, 1925. A year later he entered Primary Flying School at Brooks Field, Texas, and was graduated from Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field, Texas, the following year.

Assigned as operations officer of the 27th Pursuit Squadron at Selfridge Field, Michigan, in October 1928, General Barcus returned to the Primary Flying School as a flying instructor, and three years later went to Randolph Field, Texas, in that capacity. Going to Hawaii in April 1933, he became intelligence and operations officer for the 18th and 13th Pursuit Squadrons at Schofield Barracks. In September 1935 he assumed command of the 35th Pursuit Squadron at General Headquarters Air Force, Langley Field, Virginia. Entering the Air Corps Tactical School at Maxwell Field, Alabama, in June 1939, he was graduated the following February and returned to Langley Field as operations officer of the 22nd Pursuit Squadron.

Going to Puerto Rico in March 1941, General Barcus was plans and training officer for the Sixth Interceptor Command at Losey Field. During the early months of World War II he was in command of the 22nd Fighter Squadron in Puerto Rico, and soon thereafter he assumed command of the 36th Group there. Moving to Trinidad in February 1942, he helped form the Interceptor Command, and that April he was sent to Washington, D.C., as Deputy Director for Air Defense at Army Air Force Headquarters. In December 1942 he assumed command of the Philadelphia Air Defense Wing, and the following April became commander of the First Fighter Command at Mitchel Field, New York.

Ordered to Naples, Italy, in April 1944, General Barcus assumed command of the 64th Fighter Wing. The following February he became commanding general of the 12th Tactical Air Command, with headquarters near Nancy, France. He became chief of staff of the Tactical Air Command at Langley Field in September 1945, and the following March assumed command of the 12th Air Force at March Field, California, moving it to Brooks Air Force Base, Texas. In September 1949 he was named commanding general of the First Air Force at Fort Slocum, New York, and moved it to Mitchel Air Force Base, New York, a month later.

Returning to Langley Air Force Base in July 1950, General Barcus assumed command of the Tactical Air Command, becoming Deputy Commander the following January, and Chief of Staff, TAC, that May.
Moving to the Far East Air Forces at Korea in May 1952, General Barcus was appointed special assistant to the commanding general of the Fifth Air Force, and later that month assumed command of the Fifth Air Force. He was named vice command of the Air Training Command at Scott Air Force Base, Illinois, in July 1953, and a year later assumed command.

On July 26, 1954, General Barcus assumed command of the Northeast Air Command at Pepperrall Air Force Base, Newfoundland, and was designated Commander-in-Chief of the U.S. Northeast Command.

His decorations include the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit, Distinguished Flying Cross, and the Bronze Star Medal. He is rated a command pilot, combat observer, and aircraft observer.

General Barcus is married to the former Miss Corine E. Van Sant of Lamont, Oklahoma.

Major General Reuben Columbus Hood, Jr., USAF

Reuben Columbus Hood, Jr., was born at Atlanta, Georgia, April 12, 1907. He was graduated from the Georgia School of Technology in 1928, with a Bachelor of Science degree in Mechanical Engineering. On June 11, 1928, he was appointed a second lieutenant in the Air Reserve and on June 18 entered the Regular Army as a flying cadet. After attending the Air Corps primary and advanced flying schools, he was commissioned a second lieutenant, Air Corps, in the Regular Army, September 14, 1929.

General Hood's first commissioned service in the Regular Army was with the 96th Camberment Squadron at Langley Field, Virginia, where he served until June, 1930. The following month he became commanding officer of the Air Corps Detachment at Edgewood Arsenal, Maryland. He was graduated from the Line and Staff Officers' Course at the Chemical Warfare School at Edgewood Arsenal in April 1933, and then resumed duty as commanding officer of the Air Corps Detachment.

In August, 1934, General Hood was assigned to Maxwell Field, Alabama, to attend the Air Corps Tactical School and was graduated in June, 1935. He then became assistant wing adjutant of the Third Wing at General Headquarters Air Force at Carkdale Field, Louisiana. In July 1935, he was named adjutant of the Third Wing. His next assignment was to Nichols Field, Rizal, Philippine Islands, where he joined the Second Observation Squadron in July 1937. He was designated public relations officer for Nichols Field and the Fourth Composite Group at Nichols Field in October, 1938, and in July, 1939, became post and group adjutant.

General Hood was assigned in July, 1939, to Hamilton Field, California, as Air Corps supply officer. In January, 1941, he was assigned as executive officer of the 10th Pursuit Wing at General Headquarters Air Force at Hamilton Field. In April, 1942, he was named chief of the Supply and Equipment Division, Air Service Command, 10th Air Force, in the Asiatic theater of operations. In December, 1942, he became Air Force Service Command Chief of Staff in the Asiatic theater, and assumed command of an Air Service area command in January, 1944.

In June, 1944, General Hood was appointed deputy chief of the Supply Division at Air Service Command headquarters at Patterson Field, Ohio. In September, 1944, he was assigned as Assistant Chief of Air Staff for Plans at Air headquarters. In January, 1945, he was given temporary duty with Continental Air Force headquarters at Camp Springs, Maryland, and then became Deputy Chief of Air Staff in the office of the deputy commander of the Air Force and chief of Air Staff.

In June, 1945, General Hood became the Air Force member of the Joint Civil Affairs Committee, in addition to his other duties. In February, 1947, he was appointed Deputy Assistant Chief of Air Staff, Operations, for manpower.
Economy. The following August he became Chief of the Organization Division in the office of the Assistant Chief of Air Staff for Operations and retained that position when USAP headquarters was established in September, 1947 and the Organization Division was transferred to the Director of Training and Requirements under the Deputy Chief of Staff for Operations.

General Hood was named Air Attaché to Brazil in September, 1948, with station at Rio de Janeiro. He assumed additional duty as Chief of the Air Section of the Joint Brazil-U. S. Military Commission at Rio de Janeiro in June, 1950. He returned to the United States in May, 1951, and two months later became Commandant of the Air Command and Staff School at Maxwell Air Force Base, Alabama.

In June 1953, General Hood assumed command of the Caribbean Air Command, Luke Air Force Base, Panama Canal Zone.

General Hood has been awarded the Distinguished Service Medal, Legion of Merit with one Oak Leaf Cluster, Distinguished Flying Cross, Commendation Ribbon, and Air Medal.

He is rated a command pilot, combat observer, and technical observer.

General Hood and his wife, Mrs. Anna T. Hood, have two daughters, Martha and Sally, and a son, Thomas.

LIEUTENANT GENERAL LEON W. JOHNSON, USAF

Leon William Johnson was born at Columbia, Missouri, on September 13, 1904. He was graduated from the U.S. Military Academy on June 12, 1926 and commissioned a second lieutenant in the Regular Army.

General Johnson was then assigned to the 17th Infantry at Fort Crook, Nebraska. Entering Primary Flying School at Brooks Field, Texas, in March 1929, he was graduated from Advanced Flying School at Kelly Field, Texas, in February 1930. He was then assigned to the Fifth Observation Squadron at Mitchel Field, New York, and on March 24, 1930, was transferred to the Air Force.

In June 1932 General Johnson was assigned to the Second Observation Squadron at Nichols Field, Philippine Islands. Three years later he entered the California Institute of Technology and received his Master of Science degree in meteorology in June 1936. He then went to Barksdale Field, Louisiana, as base operations officer, and in July 1937 became regional control officer of the Third Weather Region and assumed command of the Third Weather Squadron there. A year later he entered the Air Corps Tactical School at Maxwell Field, Alabama, was graduated in August 1939, and resumed his duties at Barksdale. In July 1940 General Johnson joined the Third Bomb Group there and the following month became operations officer of the Third Bomb Group at Savannah, Georgia. He assumed command of the 10th Reconnaissance Squadron there that December.

Early in World War II General Johnson joined the Eighth Air Force as assistant chief of staff for operations and went with it to England in June 1942. The following January he assumed command of the 44th Bomb Group there, went with it to Africa on loan to the Ninth Air Force during that June and July, and returned to England. In September 1943 General Johnson organized the 14th Combat Bomb Wing which continued under his command until the end of hostilities in Europe.

After serving as chief of Personnel Services in Washington, General Johnson was appointed deputy to the assistant chief of air staff for personnel at Army Air Force headquarters in May 1946. The next April he assumed command of the 15th Air Force at Colorado Springs, Colorado, Goint to Europe in August 1948, General Johnson assumed command of the Third Air Division, U.S. Air Forces in Europe, and in February 1950 was given the additional duty of chief of the Military Assistance Advisory Group for the United Kingdom. The Third Air Division was redesignated the Third Air Force, USAFE, in May 1951, with General Johnson retaining command and also his additional duty.

On January 30, 1952, General Johnson assumed command of the Continental Air Command at Mitchel Air Force Base, New York, and on July 1, 1953, assumed the additional duty of Senior Air Force member on the Military Staff Committee of the United Nations.
