1. Do they think of me at home, Do they ever think of me? I who shared their every grief, I who mingled in their glee,
Have their hearts grown cold and strange, To the touch'd, Does a stranger wake the string? Will no kind forgiving word, Come again,
But could never win their praise? I am happy by his side, And from one now doom'd to roam?

2. Do they think of me at eve, Of the song I used to sing? Is the harp I struck un-came, But could never wake the string? Will no kind forgiving word, Come again,

3. Do they think of how I loved, In my happy, early days? Do they think of him who

Do they think of me at home?

I would give the world to know

Shall I never cease to sigh

But my heart will sadly ask,

“Do they think of me at home?”

“Do they think of me at home?”
