From Paupkhaw friendship to fraternal relations between Myanmar and China

The bilateral friendly relations and cooperation established by the leaders of Myanmar and China with farsightedness is developing and now development in the friendly relations and cooperation may be witnessed in all fields.

As the People’s Republic of China has taken a firm stand for Myanmar in the international affairs, so also, Myanmar has always stood by China, strictly adhering to the One China Policy.

At a time when the Western countries are applying pressure on Myanmar, with the political motives, China, being a true friend of Myanmar, always stands by Myanmar.

The Prime Minister of PRC welcomed the Prime Minister of Myanmar and goodwill delegation ceremony in Beijing. The Chinese leaders cordially met with the Myanmar Prime Minister and discussed matters relating to bilateral friendly relations and cooperation. Moreover, China and Myanmar signed Agreements, Memoranda of Understanding and Exchange of Notes. This reflects the Paupkhaw Friendship between China and Myanmar.

The Prime Minister availed himself of the opportunity to explain the developments in Myanmar during the visit, saying that Myanmar is enjoying political stability, economic development to a certain degree, and friendly relations with her neighbours. Myanmar has established constructive relations with other countries. Concerning the seven-point future policy programme of the State, he said that the National Convention, that will lay down basic principles to draw a constitution, the most important step of the policy programme, was reconvened on 17 May. He continued to say that the National Convention is in progress, with the participation of a total of 1,088 delegates including over 400 national race groups, adding, at present, the Convention had 1,088 delegates including over 400 national race groups, adding, at present, the Convention had 12 Agreements, Memoranda of Understanding and Exchange of Notes. This reflects the Paupkhaw Friendship between China and Myanmar.

We would like to present here that as the Prime Minister of PRC welcomed the Prime Minister of Myanmar and goodwill delegation ceremony in Beijing. The Chinese leaders cordially met with the Myanmar Prime Minister and discussed matters relating to bilateral friendly relations and cooperation. Moreover, China and Myanmar signed Agreements, Memoranda of Understanding and Exchange of Notes. This reflects the Paupkhaw Friendship between China and Myanmar.

Myanmar and China fraternal relations between the two countries will also further flourish.

Iraq hostage crisis deepens as Kenya tells nationals to leave

BAGHDAD, 22 July — The wave of abductions that has swept across Iraq in recent weeks continued to dog the coalition as a group of kidnapped foreign truck drivers were shown pleading for their lives and Kenya called on its nationals to quit the country.

The Kenyan government said its citizens in Iraq should leave immediately after at least three Kenyan nations were among a group of people kidnapped and taken hostage by an armed group in the country.

In Nairobi, Kenyan government spokesman Alfred Mutumane identified the men as Jalal Mohamed Awadh, 39, Faiz Khamis Salim, 39, and Ibrahim Khamis Idd, 48. Together with three Indians and an Egyptian, they were kidnapped on Wednesday by a group calling itself The Black Flags. In a video broadcast Wednesday, the same group said it would execute the captives — all truck drivers — one by one if their Kuwaiti employer, identified by the Kenyan government as Kuwaiti and Gulf Link Transport, did not pull out of Iraq.

Visibly frightened, the hostages were allowed to send a message home to their families and all vowed never to return to Iraq or work for the US-led forces here.

“We want to go home, please help us so that we are not cut up into pieces because then you would bear the guilt of orphaning our children,” said one of the hostages, speaking in a thick Egyptian accent.

India’s envoy to Iraq rushed back to Baghdad as a ranted New Delhi called itself “whatever possible” to secure the release of its three truckers.

For Cairo, the news of the latest hostage came after another kidnapped trucker from Egypt, Sayed Mohammed Seyed al-Gharavi, was set free once his employer — a Saudi company — agreed to end all its activities in Iraq. — Internet

SAARC countries to step up joint efforts to combat terrorism

ISLAMABAD, 23 July — India and other SAARC countries on Wednesday decided to step up joint efforts to combat terrorism, eradicate poverty and enhance economic cooperation as they endorsed five Indian proposals, including setting up of an infrastructure fund for the region.

Treaded by terrorism, on which India voiced serious concerns, figured prominently in the two-day SAARC ministerial conference attended by External Affairs Minister K. Natwar Singh and his counterparts from Pakistan, Bangladesh, Sri Lanka, Maldives, Nepal and Bhutan.

Bangladesh has decided to host a ministerial meeting on cooperation among the seven-member grouping to combat terrorism and trans-national crimes.

Singh proposed setting up of South Asian Parliamentary Forum to deliberate on issues pertaining to regional cooperation endeavours under SAARC. India’s offer to host the next meeting of this forum was accepted by other countries.

The Foreign Ministers supported India’s proposal as a framework of a SAARC High Economic Council formed with the Finance and Commerce Ministers of the member countries to promote ideas and initiatives related to regional integration in economic, trade, financial and monetary areas.

Addressing a Press conference at the end of the two-day deliberation, Pakistan Foreign Minister Khurshid Mahmood Kasur said the SAARC Award for 2004 will go to late Bangladesh President Ziaur Rahman.

India’s proposal for a SAARC Infrastructure Fund received the nod of the Foreign Ministers. It has been suggested that this fund can have access of $500 million or $500 million to fund major infrastructure projects in the region. It was also decided to set up national committees in member countries mandated to monitor and devise programmes to implement the goals of the SAARC Social Charter.

The Foreign Ministers agreed that the countries would consult each other to promote poverty alleviation projects, including under the SAARC Poverty Alleviation Fund.

As part of the SAARC Awareness Year for TB and HIV/AIDS, the ministers decided to give SAARC Youth Award for dedicated community services in these fields.

India has offered to host a meeting this year of experts and community workers, tracking parameters from SAARC countries and send medical vans and mobile awareness units to each of the SAARC nations, a proposal readily accepted by others.

New Delhi’s willingness to provide training programmes in the field of statistics and host activities this year and early next year for enhancing regional cooperation for sports and youth were also welcomed.

During the ministerial meet, Singh stated that it was time that SAARC departed from its goals of the SAARC Social Charter.

Kerry says failure in Iraq a grave danger for the entire world

WASHINGTON, 22 July — Democratic presidential candidate John Kerry warned that failure in Iraq would be “dangerous” for the entire world.

“Having a failed Iraqi state is dangerous not just in the context of the war on terror, it would be dangerous to the Middle East, it would be dangerous to Arab countries, dangerous to Europe,” Kerry told CBS television.

“They haven’t been brought to the table, and it’s because of the arrogant way” in which President George W. Bush administration “got itself into the war and pushed other people away,” Kerry said.

“We need a new president to clear the air, to restore America’s credibility, to restore our alliances,” he said.

Kerry also denied ever having warned Iraq, as opponents have charged. He recalled that he voted to “hold Saddam Hussein accountable in order to make sure he disarmed.” But he said he backed military action in Iraq with the stipulation that Bush “would build an international coalition (and) go to war as a last resort after exhausting the remedies of the UN.”

“He did none of the above,” Kerry said. “Still, Kerry said that “just to run or leave would be a tragedy.”

But he added: “I learned in war that if things are going wrong, you don’t fix it... That’s a pledge I made to myself when I came back from Vietnam.”

Iraq’s neighbours discuss high-level security support

CAIRO, 22 July — Iraq’s neighbours discussed high-level cooperation on intelligence sharing to control Iraq’s borders at a foreign ministers meeting in Cairo on Wednesday, EU officials and diplomatic sources said.

European Union foreign policy chief, Javier Solana, told reporters at the meeting that Iraq’s neighbours would be forming bilateral and tri-lateral committees to exchange intelligence to control their borders.

“One of the ideas is to try to see if they can start practi-cal cooperation at the level of ministers of the interior on exchanges of information and intelligence,” Solana said.

“The Prime Minister and the minister of foreign af-fairs have been asking for that in order to control the border,” he added.

A diplomatic source said Iraq had suggested a meet-ing of ministers of the inte-rior from Egypt, Turkey, Syria, Iran, Jordan, Kuwait and Saudi Arabia to coordi-nate on security issues.

Iraqi Prime Minister Iyad Allawi, who met his Egyptian counterpart Ahmed Nazif on Wednesday, said the meeting hoped to find ways to seal Iraq’s borders to help stop attacks.

He added he would wel-come Arab troops as part of a multinational force to help regain stability in Iraq.

“We would accept the arrival of Arab troops as part of a multinational force to put in place the foundations of peace and stability in Iraq,” he said, adding this would be to help Iraqi forces finish building its Armed Forces to achieve security.

Allawi also confirmed elections would be held in January. — MNA/Reuters

Decapitated body found in Iraq, Bulgaria checking

Baghdad, 22 July—A decapitated corpse was found by police in northern Iraq Thursday and Bulgaria said it was investigating whether the body was one of its citizens seized by militants loyal to al Qaeda ally Abu Musab al-Zarqawi.

On Wednesday an Internet statement said to be from the European wing of al Qaeda said Bulgaria and Poland would face attacks unless they withdrew their troops from Iraq. In Kuwait, the transport company that employs three Indians, three Kenyans and an Egyptian also kidnapped two transfer bus would do all it can to win their release.

The announcement of their kidnapping Wednesday sparked a new hostage crisis just a day after guerrillas freed a Filipino driver following Manita's capitulation to their demands.

Their captors say they will behead one hostage every three days unless the United Nations firm that employees the men, Kuwait and Gulf Link Transport Company, stops doing business in Iraq. Bulgarian Interior Ministry says report on nukes “stupid”

The Foreign Ministry in Sofia said another headless body found in the same area earlier this month had been identified as that of 30-year-old Bulgarian truck driver Georgi Lazo.

Lazo and fellow Bulgarian Ivaldo Kepov were seized as they delivered cars to Mosul. Their captors sent a video to Al Jazeera earlier this month showing the execution of one of them.

Bulgarian troops are part of the US-led force in Iraq.

On Wednesday an Internet statement said to be from the European wing of al Qaeda said Bulgaria and Poland would face attacks unless they withdrew their troops from Iraq.

The report on Thursday cleared Australian politicians of pressuring intelligence agencies to strengthen the case for war against Saddam Hussein regime but found Canberra’s spies failed to properly challenge assumptions and sources.

“There has been a failure of intelligence on Iraq WMD,” said the report by former intelligence head Philip Flood.

The report also “warned that the budget crunch is having an adverse impact on the morale of the troops in Iraq and away from training and maintenance in other parts of the world,” the Post said.

Armored forces “have deferred the repair of equipment used in Iraq, grounded some Air Force and Navy pilots, cancelled training exercises, and delayed facility-restoration projects,” the paper quoted the GAO report as saying.

Australia relied on ‘thin, ambiguous intelligence’ on Iraq’s WMD

Canberra, 22 July— Australia used “thin, ambiguous and incomplete” intelligence on weapons of mass destruction (WMD) to justify waging war on Iraq, a government-commissioned report found.

The report said Tuesday cleared Australian politicians of pressuring intelligence agencies to strengthen the case for war against Saddam Hussein regime but found Canberra’s spies failed to properly challenge assumptions and sources.

“There has been a failure of intelligence on Iraq WMD,” said the report by former intelligence head Philip Flood.

“Intelligence was thin, ambiguous and incomplete. Australia shared in the allied intelligence failure on the key question of WMD stockpiles,” he said, echoing US reports from Britain and the United States critical of shortcomings in pre-war intelligence on Iraq’s unfound WMD. Flood found the Australian intelligence service’s assessments were relatively cautious compared with British and US counterparts.

“Using similar but not all of the material available to the UK and the US, Australian assessments on Iraq’s WMD stockpiles were on the whole more cautious and seem closer to the facts as we know them so far,” it said.

“Today, nearly a year after the war, about 2,000 Australian troops are deployed in Iraq, and they face the same sorts of dangers as their US counterparts,” the report said.

Bangladesh plans law to curb TV satellite channels

Dhaka, 22 July—Bangladesh will enact a law soon to stop cable television operators from broadcasting what it believes are undesirable satellite channels. Information Minister M Shamsul Islam said on Wednesday he did not name any channels, but other media officials said some overseas programmes were “X-rated”.

“The sky is open and it is very difficult to control it,” Islam said. “But we are working on a policy to control those channels transmitting programmes contrary to the social and religious values of the country.”

“We feel the need for a law to stop obscene programmes,” he added.

Bangladesh currently has four local satellite television channels, including three in the private sector, and the government was considering allowing more, Islam said. — Internet

US funds for Iraq, Afghanistan drying up, says report

Washington, 22 July— The United States has spent most of the $65 billion Congress approved for wars in Iraq and Afghanistan and is “scrambling to find $12.3 billion more from within the Defence Department” to fund them through this fiscal year. The Washington Post reported on Thursday.

Quoting federal investigators with the Government Accountability Office, the paper said their report “appears to contradict White House assurances that the services have enough money to get through the calendar year.”

The report also “warned that the budget crunch is having an adverse impact on the morale of the troops in Iraq and away from training and maintenance in other parts of the world,” the Post said.

Armored forces “have deferred the repair of equipment used in Iraq, grounded some Air Force and Navy pilots, cancelled training exercises, and delayed facility-restoration projects,” the paper quoted the GAO report as saying.

Annan rejects Bush claim that world is safer now

UNITED NATIONS, 22 July — The world is no safer than it was three years ago, UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan said on Wednesday, countering US President George W. Bush’s claims he had made the world a safer place.

Annan, at a news conference, also criticized a Bush Administration decision to withhold 34 million US dollars from the UN Population Fund, saying the agency was saving women’s lives.

Annan’s remarks could renew strains on ties between the United States and United Nations, which — while derailed by Bush’s inability to win UN backing for the US-led war on Iraq — had improved following UN help in setting up a new government in Baghdad in time for the US occupation to end.

“No, I cannot say the world is safer today than it was two, three years ago,” the UN chief said.

He was responding to a reporter who asked for comment on the Bush funding move and also whether Annan felt the world had become safer in the last two or three years.

Bush, who has launched two wars since moving into the White House in January 2001, repeatedly asserts in campaign swings ahead of the November 2 presidential election that his policies are making the world safer.

“America is a safer place. Four more years and America will be safer and the world will be more peaceful,” he said on Tuesday in Cedar Rapids, Iowa.

The US Administration has withheld funding from the UN Population Fund, known as UNFPA, for three years, accusing it of supporting China’s policy of coercive abortion.

The fund has denied this and a US State Department investigation in 2002 also cleared the agency of such charges.

Family planning activists and some members of Congress have seen the US move as a bid for conservative votes in November.

Annan said the US agency was doing “very essential work on reproductive health” and particularly in confronting the AIDS epidemic, which strikes so many women it “today has a woman’s face and is producing so many orphans”.

“Theope governments will support UNFPA and not extend the decision not to fund its activities to other agencies,” he said.

Car bomb kills four in Baghdad

BAGHDAD, 22 July — A car bomb killed four people in a southern residential district of Baghdad on Wednesday, the latest in a string of attacks in the capital, police and witnesses said.

A Reuters witness saw four corpses at the scene where bits of flesh had been scattered by the force of the blast. Police also said four people were killed. Some houses were blackened by the blast and at least three cars were damaged.

Four people were killed. We know it was a car bomb, but we have no idea if it was a suicide attack or not,” said one policeman on the scene, who declined to be named.

“We hope that government’s decision to join the US-led Iraq war. Lord Butler, who led the five-month inquiry, ruled last week that some sources of the British intelligence on former Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein’s weapons of mass destruction (WMD) were “seriously flawed”.

Saddam probably had no WMD ready for use and the government’s claim that Iraq had nuclear weapons was “ludicrously inaccurate.”

British govt under pressure over inquiry into Iraqi intelligence

London, 22 July — The British Government was under new pressure on Wednesday as new revelations about the prewar intelligence on Iraq have prompted calls for British lawmakers to reopen their inquiries into the conflict.

The Foreign Affairs Committee of the House of Commons, which investigated the government’s war decision last year, was meeting on Wednesday when questions were asked on why Prime Minister Tony Blair did not know MI6 had withdrawn intelligence last year, despite his Foreign Secretary being told.

The committee’s chairman did not want to reopen its inquiry but other members did, the BBC reported.

“If we have gone to war on false information, I think that is very, very important indeed,” he said.

The dossier (on Iraq’s weapons) was the key to the government’s case and now we are learning that substantial parts of that dossier were no longer valid,” opposition Conservative MP Andrew Mackay, a member of the committee, told the BBC.

It was reported Tuesday that British Foreign Secretary Jack Straw knew last September that reports from an intelligence source had been withdrawn last July, while Downing Street said Blair only learned the news during the Butler inquiry into Britain’s Iraq intelligence that was behind the government’s decision to join the US-led Iraq war.

Flood toll nears 800 in Asia

GUWAHATI (India), 22 July — Flood waters swept into the largest city in India’s northeast on Wednesday and further submerged the Bangladeshi capital as fresh rains in Asia took the rainy season death toll to nearly 800.

South Asia’s worst floods in over a decade have killed about 460 people in India, Bangladesh and Nepal and made millions homeless.

In southern China, mudflows and landslides have killed 10 people in recent days and more rain was forecast, as this year’s flood-related death toll topped 300, state media said.

Scores of people in Guwahati, commercial capital of the Indian state of Assam, moved out of their homes after the swollen Brahmaputra River spilt over its banks.

Nearly nine million of Assam’s 26 million people are either homeless or marooned, a government official said in the latest estimate of the number of people affected by floods this year. Hundreds of animals, including rhinoceros and wild elephants in three of Assam’s wildlife sanctuaries, have also perished in the floods that began early this month, a forest official said.

The rains have caused rivers to burst their banks, triggered landslides and forced the evacuation of thousands in India, Bangladesh and Nepal and left thousands more trapped in their homes awaiting rescue.

Fresh rains lashed Bangladesh, triggering flooding in more districts of the capital and the northern parts of the country.

Water levels rose further in Dhaka where at least 1.5 million people have been stranded in submerged low-lying areas. Dhaka has a population of 10 million.

The floods in Bangladesh have left 400,000 people homeless, a government official said. “It is the biggest flood after 1988, which submerged two-thirds of the country and killed 3,500 people,” a disaster management official said.

Heavy rain across southern China has flooded crops, washed away houses and forced thousands of people to evacuate their homes, the reports said.

In Binyang County in the southern region of Guangxi, which borders Vietnam, mudflows and landslides killed eight people and injured four on Monday, the Xinhua news agency said.

India to secure release of its nationals taken hostage in Iraq

NEW DELHI, 23 July — India on Wednesday night said it was in touch with its envoys in Iraq and Kuwait for details in connection with the kidnapping by a militant group of three Indian workers engaged in a private transport firm.

The three Indians were kidnapped by a Iraqi militant group along with two Kenyans and an Egyptian.

The group threatened to kill their captives unless their governments immediately announce to call back their troops and citizens from Iraq.

Junior Federal Minister for External Affairs E. Ahmed said “we will do whatever possible to get our people freed. We will go to any extent to resolve the issue.”

He said the three had gone to Iraq on their own and the government has no role in it.

“As soon as we get the information, we will establish contact with our embassy in Baghdad and also our ambassador in Kuwait and asked him to talk to the transport firm (which was asked by the militant group to pull out of Iraq) and ascertain further details.”

“We hope that everything will be resolved because India has taken a firm stand that it will not send troops to Iraq. We will provide whatever humanitarian aid possible to Iraq and India has always advocated in international bodies that sovereign power of the people of Iraq has to be respected,” he said.

“I have also asked the officials in Baghdad to establish contact with any other source who can convey to the abductor sour stand,” he said.

“Pannandin”, an emerging town in far north

In line with the guidance of the Head of State, the Ministry of Home Affairs designated Pannandin village in Nagmon Township, Putao District, Kachin State, as Pannandin town under a notification dated 22-7-2002.

In the northernmost region of the Union of Myanmar is Rasadan camp, which can also be called the northernmost camp. To the south of the camp is such small villages as Tahundan, Talahutu, Tazahtu, Ngawa, Tazundan and Guba. Pannandin, a small village located in the south-east of Ngawa, is no longer a village. It has developed into a town and therefore can be called the northernmost town in Myanmar.

A hospital seen under construction to provide health care services to local national races living in Pannandin.

In Pannandin region, only 12 persons could pursue their high school education in the past and there were 16 primary schools, 180 students and 60 teachers in the region. As one of the primary schools has been upgraded to a high school, the number of students has reached 208, and that of teachers, 74.

Pannandin shining like the pole star in northernmost Myanmar — 2
Tekkatho Myat Thu

The beauty of Pannandin or the pole star is decorated with towering snow-capped mountains and pristine forests including pine trees in the surrounding areas. The region of Pannandin is rich in various species of herbal plants and insects of medicinal potency.

Before 1990 there were 18 natural parks and wildlife protection of the two bodies. It is under the Ministry of Environment Conservation and the Forestry. It is under the World Pannandin region is included in the Khakaborazi National Park designated by the World Environment Conservation Group and the Ministry of Forestry. It is under the protection of the two bodies. The area of the park is 2,494 square miles.

Pannandin region needs improvement of roads. As the development undertakings of the region have been carried out continuously, construction materials, manpower, rations and other supplies are being transported with much difficulty to the region. Even the vehicles that are designed for rough roads are facing difficulties in travelling in the region.

According to the research paper of biologist Alan Raboinz, the park has over 100 bird species; the dwarf barking dear of phet gyi, a new species that had not been recorded in the biology yet; black mountain goat, thopya phet gyi, barking dear, black mountain goat, red mountain goat, black Himalayan bear. The report also says that there are also takin, which without protection will face extinction in the near future, and that the park itself is worthy of protection.

The State designated Pannandin region as a special zone, which is frequented by environmentalists, zoologists, botanists and anthropologists of the various parts of the world. The region is an interesting place not only for Myanmar, but also for the world.

As the development undertakings of the region have been carried out continuously, construction materials, manpower, rations and other supplies are being transported with much difficulty to the region. Even the vehicles that are designed for rough roads are facing difficulties in travelling in the region.

The General Administration Department has almost completed the construction of a building for various departments and a six-unit staff quarter. The Myanmar Police Force is erecting a police station and a six-unit quarter. An office of the Information and Public Relations Department, a TV retransmission station of the Myanmar Radio and Television, a post and telegraph office of Myanmar Telecommunications, an office of the Myanmar Electric Power Enterprise, a high school, a 16-bed hospital, an office of Public Works, an office of the Myanmar Agriculture Service and an office of Settlements and Land Records Department are under construction. The Department for Progress of Border Areas and National Races, Immigration Department, and Livestock and Veterinary Department will also build their offices there.

Of the 981,454 acres of Pannandin region, 713,715 acres are covered by forests, 67,762 acres are virgin and potato and vegetables in 2003-2004 cultivation season. In accord with the instruction of the Prime Minister, staff of the departments concerned have conducted field tours to set up highland farms. Survey had already been made to reclaim 100 acres of new paddy fields. The Agricultural Mechanization Department will provide K36,000 per acre for farmers of the surrounding areas who wish to reclaim land. As erected to supply power to the region. Power is generated by three 3KV generators provided by GAD, MPF and Kachin State Peace and Development Council, and a 7KV generator installed by MEPE. Moreover, the national races of the region can now watch the TV programmes.

Cattle, goat and poultry farming is being conducted in the region to supply meat for local requirement.

Because of the rising meat demand, poultry farming has been improved. Earth roads have been upgraded step by step to become tar roads. As three suspension bridges have been upgraded, cars can now smoothly and conveniently use them. When repair and renovation of all roads are finished, there will be convenient transport in the area. In the past there were 16 primary schools, 180 students and 60 teachers in the region. As one of the primary schools has been upgraded to a high school, the number of students has reached 208, and that of teachers, 74.

A 16-bed hospital is under construction at present. Two rural health centres are being run with four staff. Christians as well as Buddhists are holding religious ceremonies with peace of mind.

In the past, not a single social organization could be formed due to poor transport. Now 38 members of Union Solidarity and Development Association, eight members of Red Cross, ten members of Auxiliary Fire Brigade, eight members of Maternal and Child Welfare Association and seven members of Organizations for Women’s Affairs are collectively carrying out social activities.

In addition, the Border Security Co-operation Agreement between the Ministry of Home Affairs of Myanmar and the Ministry of People’s Security of China came into force beginning 17 June 2002 and it contributes much towards the joint control of cross-border crimes such as illegal border crossings, gambling, arm smuggling and narcotic drug trafficking.

Myanmar and China share a long border of over 2,000 kilometres and the people on both sides at the border have numerous dealings and contacts among them and it is natural that there took place some problems. However, the two countries lay emphasis on strong fraternal friendship between them and settled issues peacefully. Hence, the border has always been kept as a peaceful one contributing much towards bilateral economic developments and uplift of socio-economic lives of the local peoples at the border. During the recent official visit to the People’s Republic of China, the Prime Minister expressed Myanmar’s aspiration to promote border area management and cooperation before Chinese leaders. In meeting with the Chinese leaders the Prime Minister learned that the former wished to see holding of high-level discussions and seminars on current issues in the border area. Thus, the present meeting with ministers, deputy ministers and heads of departments was held, he said.

Deputy Minister for Foreign Affairs U Khin Maung Win explained the materialization of the agreed tasks covering the enhancement of work efficiency at the immigration points at the border and management, the rule of law in border areas, curbing drug-related crimes, cross-border management, and cooperation between the local authorities to set up a communication system. Minister for Home Affairs Col Tin Hlaing presented the implementation of the task covering the curbing of crimes concerning illegal cross border activities and drug-related crimes in accord with the agreement reached between the Ministry of Home Affairs of Myanmar and the Ministry of Public Security of China. Minister for Immigration and Population Maj-Gen Sein Hlaing reported to the meeting on opening of border entry points and plans to increase the number of immigration check points; and Minister for Forestry Brig-Gen Thein Aung, on natural environmental conservation at the border.

Member of the State Peace and Development Council Lt-Gen Aung Htwe and the participants discussed the narcotic drugs issue, crime reduction at border areas and tax collection. Prime Minister General Khin Nyunt looked into the requirements. — MNA

Over 8,000 HIV-positive Mozambicans to undergo ARV therapy

Currently about 3,300 HIV-positive people in Mozambique are undergoing treatment with anti-retroviral (ARV) drugs, and by the end of the year another 5,000 or so people would be on this therapy, local media reported Wednesday.

Mozambique’s Deputy National Director of Health Avertino Barreto was quoted as saying that Mozambican Health Ministry intended to increase the number every year.

However, he insisted on sustainability, saying that attempts at mass treatment elsewhere in Africa, without guarantees of sustainability, had proved “disastrous”.

Mozambique’s National Network of Associations of People Living with AIDS seemed to accept the logic of this argument. The organization’s executive secretary Julio Muchacho stressed “we want this figure of 8,000 to become a reality.”

Muchacho hoped that while foreign non-governmental organizations, such as the Italian Santo Egidio Community, currently administering a highly successful treatment programme, might one day leave the country, the Mozambican Health Ministry will continue the work with these people.

Barreto also revealed that there are now over 100 Counselling and Voluntary Testing Centres in Mozambique, where citizens can be tested for their HIV status, with confidentiality guaranteed.

Iraq appeals to Arab nations to protect UN missions

Allawi said that the UN presence in Iraq was essential, adding that UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan made a phone call to him Wednesday on resuming the UN’s mission in the violence-ravaged country.

“We requested Egypt’s help in this regard, and we also spoke to other Arab leaders in order to dispatch forces to protect UN missions in Iraq,” Allawi told reporters after meeting with Egyptian President Hosni Mubarak.

Allawi said that during the meeting, Mubarak reaffirmed Egypt’s readiness to continue backing Iraq in face of challenges.

S African drops rare gold coin in parking meter

— A South African woman mistakenly plunked a 100-year-old gold coin worth more than 1,000 US dollars into a parking meter while shopping without her glasses, a newspaper reported on Wednesday.

“I can’t believe I could have done something like that,” said the woman, who asked not to be identified.

The woman said she also believed she had spent an 1890 sovereign, worth a small fortune, as small change, the Cape Argus newspaper said.

The woman inherited the gold coins from her mother, but they became mixed up with loose coins she kept in a container and were transferred to her purse by mistake.

She told the newspaper she did not realize she had the coins with her and was not carrying her spectacles. She said she thought she put a Kruger sovereign, worth about 7,000 rand (1,100 US dollars) in a parking meter in Paarl outside Cape Town.

She appealed to city authorities to keep a lookout for the Kruger sovereign when counting parking meter proceeds.

CIA rebuffs 9/11 commission criticism

The CIA defended itself against criticism in the September 11 commission report on Thursday and said it had warned of the possibility of terrorists using hijacked planes before the 2001 attacks took place.

“CIA regularly reported on threats to civil aviation, including hijacking,” a CIA official said on condition of anonymity to a group of reporters before the report’s release.

The report criticized the spy agency, already under fire for its flawed intelligence on Iraq’s banned weapons before last year’s invasion, for failing to properly understand the threat of the al-Qaeda movement that carried out the attacks.

It slammed the agency’s methods as “Cold War” and bemoaned the lack of any expansion in the CIA’s paramilitary operations in the face of potential terrorist attacks.

The strong defence by CIA appeared intended to forestall further criticism of the agency, whose director, George Tenet, resigned in the face of a barrage of complaints about intelligence failures in Iraq and over September 11.

The official said the CIA in 1999 had provided the Federal Aviation Administration with language to use in briefing US airline officials that read: “Osama bin Laden remains interested in targeting US interests including on US territory. He is well prepared to consider kidnappings and hijackings as well as bombings.”

“All of those warnings plus other intelligence reports of a similar nature through that period were provided in time to do something about it. It wasn’t too late. The industry could have taken countermeasures and so forth. So we were on time and on target with that,” he said.

The CIA official spoke on Wednesday on condition his remarks not to be published until the report was released.

He disputed the commission’s conclusion that Tenet did not develop a management strategy for a war against Islamist terrorism before the September 11 attacks.

“The assertions in this report represent a triumph of theory over fact,” the official said. —MNA/Reuters

US Army finds 94 cases of Iraq, Afghan prisoner abuse

WASHINGTON, 23 July — A long-awaited Army report on Thursday found 94 cases of abuse of prisoners in Iraq and Afghanistan but blamed “a few individuals” and not the military leadership — a finding Senate Democrats called hard to believe.

The report represented the Army’s official evaluation of prisoner detention and interrogation operations in the two countries that produced the physical and sexual abuse of Iraqi prisoners at the Abu Ghraib jail and at least three dozen deaths of detainees.

Lieu-tenant-General Paul Mikolashek, the Army’s inspector-general who conducted the report and appeared before the US Senate Armed Services Committee, described a series of shortcomings, including ambiguous policies and unclear responsibilities for troops.

But the report stated, “We were unable to identify system failures that resulted in incidents of abuse.”

Democratic lawmakers accused the Army of failing to look for systematic problems.

“I don’t think you’ve done the job that you have to do. Maybe you were told not to do it,” Democratic-Senate Jack Reed of Rhode Island said.

The report cited 94 cases of “confirmed or possible” abuse of prisoners, including death, sexual assault, physical assault and theft, but concluded “we were unable to identify system failures that resulted in incidents of abuse”.

The Army ordered the report in February, weeks after commanders learned of the physical and sexual abuse of prisoners at Abu Ghraib.

But he said he was not disputing either Major-General Antonio Taguba’s report on Abu Ghraib that exposed and criticized the practice, or Defence Secretary Donald Rumsfeld, who said he ordered the secret detention of an Iraqi prisoner held for more than seven months without notifying the ICRC.

New genome test finds big differences among people

WASHINGTON, 23 July — A new way of comparing DNA has turned up surprising genetic differences among normal, healthy people, researchers said on Thursday.

The researchers found — by accident — that some genetic differences among normal, healthy people, researchers said on Thursday.

Sixty-nine per cent of the 1,605 Hispanics surveyed by the Washington Post, conducted by The Washington Post, the Univision Spanish language television network and the Tomas Rivera Policy Institute, held today, 60 per cent said they did not approve of the way Bush was handling the economy. When asked why they trusted more to do a better job handling the situation in Iraq, Hispanic voters favoured Kerry over Bush 45 per cent to 34 per cent. Fifty-three per cent said they trust Kerry to do a better job handling the economy.

Sixty-nine per cent said the war in Iraq was not worth fighting and nearly half said they did not think it had contributed to the long-term security of the United States. Among Hispanic voters, the economy ranked as the single most important issue, followed by education, the war in Iraq and terrorism.

Bush and Kerry have actively courted the Hispanic vote, which could be crucial in key states like Arizona and Florida in a tight race. Around six million Latinos voted in the 2000 presidential elections, 35 per cent of them for Bush. About 40 million Latinos live in the United States, of whom two-thirds are of Mexican origin, according to the US Census Bureau.

Colombian police discover US dollar counterfeiters

BOGOTA, 23 July — Colombian police discovered a fake money plant in northern Bogota that prints US dollar bills out of old Iraqi banknotes, officials said Wednesday.

The counterfeiters have developed an intricate washing technique to peel off the original prints on the banknote, said the police. They deleted the portrait of the former Iraqi leader Saddam Hussein before printing on the notes the picture of one of America’s founding fathers Benjamin Franklin.

Apart from old dinars and the chemicals used in processing the bills, the police also found piles of fake bolivars and Colombian pesos at the site. — MNA/Xinhua

New martian meteorite found in Antarctica

WASHINGTON, 23 July — A meteorite from Mars has been discovered in Antarctica, one of only about 30 known martian space rocks on Earth.

“We’ve gotten something like 13,000 meteorites from Antarctica and this is only the sixth one from Mars,” Timothy McCoy, curator of meteorites at the Smithsonian Institution, said by telephone on Wednesday.

The rest of the known martian meteorites on this planet were found outside Antarctica, McCoy said by telephone.

What makes this rock special is its comparatively large size, he said: “It’s a 700-gramme rock (about 1.5 pounds) but by meteorite standards it’s a mountain of material.”

Scientists can do effective work on amouts as little as one-thousandth of a gramme, McCoy said. At this point, there is no suggestion that the new meteorite — discovered December 15, 2003, on an ice field some 466 miles from the South Pole — bears any evidence of possible microscopic fossilized life.

Some scientists believe an earlier meteorite found in Antarctica and publicly unveiled in 1996 bore such signs; it is still being investigated.

The new martian meteorite was found as part of a cooperative effort funded by NASA and supported by the National Science Foundation. Smithsonian scientists say they can establish the origin of the martian meteorites by their mineralogy, texture and oxidized nature. — MNA/Reuters

Kerry leads Bush among Hispanic voters

WASHINGTON, 23 July — Hispanic voters strongly favour Democratic presidential candidate John Kerry over US President George W Bush, a poll released on Wednesday said.

Asked who they would vote for if the November presidential election were held today, 60 per cent said they would choose Kerry and 30 per cent said Bush, according to the poll.

The 6-16 survey of 1,605 Hispanics was conducted by The Washington Post, the Univision Spanish language television network and the Tomas Rivera Policy Institute. Fifty-four per cent said Kerry leads Bush among Hispanic voters.

GM earns $1.34b in second quarter

WASHINGTON, 23 July — General Motors Corp (GM) earned 1.34 billion US dollars, or 2.36 dollars a share, in the second quarter of this year, the world’s largest automaker reported Wednesday.

The profit figure for April-June quarter was up from 901 million US dollars, or 1.58 US dollars a share, a year ago.

In the second quarter, GM North America earned 328 million US dollars versus 83 million US dollars a year ago. GM Asia Pacific earned 236 million US dollars, up from 163 million US dollars a year ago.

In Europe, however, GM had a loss of 45 million US dollars, compared with a loss of three million a year ago. Meanwhile, GM’s global and North American market share declined. Its global market share fell to 14.7 per cent in the quarter from 14.9 per cent in the prior-year period. Its North American market share was 26.2 in the quarter, down from 27.2 last year.

GM said its revenue rose 7.1 per cent to 49.1 billion US dollars in the quarter from 45.9 billion US dollars a year ago.

GM maintained its 2004 earnings estimate of approximately seven dollars a share. The current Wall Street estimate is 7.12 dollars a share. — MNA/Xinhua
Experts say biotechnology could have bright future in China

BEIJING, 2 July — Bioscientists attending the ongoing 10th International Symposium of the Society of Chinese Biologists in America said here Tuesday that biotechnology might have a bright future in the Chinese market in the upcoming 15 years.

Chen Zhu, vice-president of the Chinese Academy of Sciences (CAS), said at a press conference that by the Year 2020, industrial development of biotechnology might help realize the bio-economy in China.

Along with achievements made in life sciences, Chen said, as another CAS academy, said that the Chinese have made great progress in biotechnology.

The production value of the biotechnology industry throughout the country was 200 billion yuan (24 million US dollars) in 1986. In 2000, the figure reached 20 billion yuan. The output value of China’s pharmaceutical industry was 200 billion yuan last year, with an annual growth rate of 20 per cent in each of the previous five years. Taking hybrid technology into account, the production of the industry was roughly valued at 700 billion yuan last year, Chen said.

With the project of the new biotech industry, Chen said, the output of health care products accounted for one fifth or one sixth of the gross domestic product in the United States and many European countries.

However, he said, health care is more or less regarded as a social burden in China, whose products accounted for only 5 per cent of the country’s gross domestic product. Nancy Chang, president and chief executive officer of Tanox Biosystem, Inc., said that while Chinese biotechnology is better off, they need more attention to their own health, biotechnology would have great potential to tap.

Indonesia says bird flu cases under control

JAKARTA, 2 July — Bird flu has re-emerged in Indonesia’s East Java, killing nearly 2,000 chickens, but the agriculture ministry said on Wednesday the deadly virus that ravaged Asian poultry flocks early this year was under control.

“In June, we had new cases in Tulung Agung in East Java province killing 1,760 chickens. However, there were no fresh cases from the other provinces in the country,” said ministry spokesman Hari Priono.

He did not say if the strain was still under control, although no human infection has been found in the country since the outbreak of the disease early this month.

Meanwhile, Deputy Prime Minister Chaturan Chaisang said the study on bird flu vaccine by a sub-committee of the Agriculture and Cooperatives Ministry was in progress.

However, the use of bird flu vaccine is still banned in the kingdom at the moment pending the result of the study. — MNA/Xinhua

Thailand orders immediate report on suspicious poultry death

BANGKOK, 2 July — Thai Public Health Ministry has urged people to report on suspicious death of birds and poultry to prevent further spread of bird flu disease, especially to humans, the state-run Thai News Agency said here on Wednesday.

The immediate report helps prevent the spread of avian bird flu to humans although no human infection has been found in the country since the outbreak of the disease early this month, said Deputy Public Health Minister Anutin Charnveerakul.

“The disease is not easily contagious to humans, but those who have contacted with sick fowls are open to higher exposure of infection,” Anutin was quoted as saying.

Medical reports from earlier outbreaks show that bird flu patients had a history of contacting with sick birds and would not fall ill within seven days.

Anutin said local scien tists were gathering information on other countries’ avian flu vaccines to see whether any of them can help kill the H5N1 virus, the strain detected in Thailand during the outbreak.

Meanwhile, Deputy Prime Minister Chaturan Chaisang said the study on vaccine for bird flu disease by a sub-committee of the Agriculture and Cooperatives Ministry was in progress.

Woman fights 10-minute battle with alligator on resort island

MIAMI, 2 July — A woman fought a deadly battle with a 12-foot alligator on a Florida tourist resort island on Wednesday, escaping with arm and leg injuries, local television reported.

Miami’s WSVN television said the unidentified woman was ambushed by the alligator while landscaping on Sanibel Island, off Florida’s Gulf Coast around 180 miles northwest of Miami. She fought it for 10 minutes before escaping.

“It was like a tug-of-war almost,” a man who helped the woman told the television station. Sanibel police said the chief of police would not be available to comment on the reported attack until Thursday. — MNA/Reuters

California says small California quakes will not prevent “big one”

Los Angeles, 22 July — Californians who assume that frequent small earthquakes could lower the risk of the dreaded “big one” rupturing along the San Andreas fault are making a mistake, geologists said in a study issued on Wednesday.

New research along the deadly 800-mile-long San Andreas fault in California’s coastal region shows that fre-endless stream of small earthquakes do not relieve accumulating strain along the fault as many Californians have popularly believed.

Geologists literally dug into a site northwest of Los Angeles along the San Andreas fault and found that 95 per cent of the slippage there has occurred during rare but large earthquakes. “So much for any notion that the section of the San Andreas nearest Los Angeles might relieve its stored strains by a flurry of hundreds of small earthquakes,” said Kerry Sieh, a geology professor at the California Institute of Technology and one of the authors of the study which appears in the current issue of the journal Geology.

Sieh, along with researcher Jing Liu and other colleagues, said the practical significance of the study is that earthquakes along the San Andreas, although infrequent, tend to be very large. “It is also worth noting that others would have re-

Rivaldo close to joining Olympiakos

ATHENS, 22 July — Greek Champions League hopefuls Olympiakos are poised to sign former World Player of the Year Rivaldo, the club said on Wednesday.

"Rivaldo is coming from Madrid tonight with (senior club official Giorgos) Louvaris," said a spokeswoman for Olympiakos, who finished second in the Greek first division to book a place in the elite Champions League.

Greek media have billed the deal as the "biggest-ever transfer in Greek football history," speculating the 32-year-old Brazilian would earn up to 1.5 million euros ($1.86 million US dollars) per year.

The career of the 2002 World Cup winner has been in limbo since he was released by AC Milan in December.

He joined Brazil's Cruzeiro soon after but walked out after less than two months. He has since been linked with moves to England's Bolton Wanderers, Scottish champions Celtic, German side Werder Bremen and clubs in the Middle East. — MNA/Reuters

Benfica's Tiago signs for Chelsea

LISBON, 22 July — Chelsea have signed Portugal midfielder Tiago Mendes from Benfica on a three-year deal, the English Premier League club said on Wednesday.

The 23-year-old has completed a medical on Monday and will be part of a 23-man squad flying out to the United States later on Wednesday for a pre-season tour.

Chelsea did not reveal the transfer fee, which has been put at 10 million pounds ($18.56 million US dollars) by British media reports.

"It would take Chelsea's spending on players since Russian billionaire Roman Abramovich took over the club in July 2003 to around 190 million US dollars."

A member of the Portuguese squad that reached the Euro 2004 final, Tiago signed late on Tuesday night, hours after Chelsea completed the signing of Ivory Coast striker Didier Drogba from Olympique Marseille.

Chinese athletics coach pledges a clean Olympic team

BEIJING, 22 July — China will take every possible measure to ensure their track and field athletes drug free in their preparations for the Athens Olympics Games, said Feng Shuyong, head coach of the Chinese national team.

"We always take strict measures to crack down on those who risk taking banned drugs. But I cannot guarantee no athlete takes banned drugs because you can never ensure a crime-free society even though the law is always there," Feng told reporters at a Press conference here on Wednesday.

The national team has some experts to give lessons on how serious damages banned drugs can do to athletes' health.

"All the athletes think that the lessons are very useful and instructive," Feng said.

He added that the athletes have been asked not to eat outside the national team or accept food or drinks from outside the training camp.

"They are also told not to buy medicine from drug stores when feeling ill," he said.

Ronaldinho, Tiago may miss premier league kick off

LONDON, 22 July — Manchester United winger Cristiano Ronaldo and Chelsea’s new capture Tiago Mendes could miss the start of the English Premier League season after being named on Wednesday in Portugal’s squad for the Athens Olympics.

United start the campaign at Chelsea before hosting promoted Norwich City followed by a visit to Blackburn Rovers on August 28. Chelsea also have trips to Birmingham City and newcomers Palace before the visit of Southampton.

Germany’s Bundesliga kicks off on August 6 with Meira likely to miss Stuttgart’s match at Nuremberg and Kaiserslautern.

Ecuador coach Gomez offers to resign

QUITO, (Ecuador), 23 July — Ecuador coach Hernan Dario Gomez offered to resign on Thursday, a spokesman for the national soccer federation said.

Gomez, a Colombian, has sent a letter offering to quit, spokesman Reymundo Mendoza said, adding that the federation had not yet accepted his resignation.

The federation has called a Press conference for 5pm local time (2200 GMT) to analyse the coach’s ‘situation’. Soccer federation president Luis Chiriboga declined to comment.

Gomez, who took to Ecuador to their first World Cup in 2002, had said he might step down after his team lost 6-1 to Argentina in their first group match at the Copa America earlier this month but later said he hoped to continue in the job.

Brazil edge Uruguay to set up Argentina final

LIMA, July 23 — World champions Brazil set up a Copa America final against arch-rivals Argentina by beating Uruguay on penalties following a 1-1 draw in their semifinal on Wednesday.

Uruguay dominated the first half and stunned the world champions by taking a 22nd-minute lead with a Marcelo Sosa header.

Brazil forward Ronaldo equalized two minutes into the second half with his sixth goal of the tournament in a game witnessed by a disappointing crowd of around 15,000, local interest having diminished after host Peru’s quarterfinals exit.

Brazil, who have reached the final despite not having top players such as Ronaldo and Ronaldinho, then converted all five of their penalties while goalkeeper Julio Cesar saved Vicente Sanchez’ fourth attempt for Uruguay.

Uruguay made a lively start and nearly went ahead in the second minute when Dario Silva was given a clear run on goal but shot straight at goalkeeper Julio Cesar.

Silva was again the culprit 11 minutes later when he contrived to miss an open goal from point-blank range, somehow turning Carlos Diegousse’s header onto the crossbar when it seemed impossible to miss.

Uruguay, however, took the lead when Javier Delgado floated over a free kick from the left and midfielder Sosa, known as ‘The Duck’, steered to head the ball past Julio Cesar Sosa and Delgado both came close to increasing Uruguay’s lead before halftime, the latter seeing his swerving free kick turned away by Julio Cesar.

Uruguayan goalkeeper Sebastian Viera made two good first half saves, punching over Kleberson’s drive early on and then turning away a cunning Eden chip in injury time.

Brazil emerged in a different frame of mind after halftime and levelled almost straight away when Alex set Luis Fabiano away on the right and his low shot was turned in from close range by Adriano. — MNA/Reuters

Ecuador are poised to sign former World Player of the Year, Rivaldo, the club said Wednesday.

Benfica have been drawn with Iraq, Morocco and Costa Rica in Group D for the estimated 24 million pounds.

"We’ve got to carry on (with Benfica) because we’ve still got a long way to go and a difficult road ahead in the (2006 World Cup) qualifying," Burga said.

"We're seventh in the 10-team Wilmar South America qualifying group with nine points from seven games. The top four teams qualify for the finals in Germany directly, with the fifth playing off against the Oceania winners. — MNA/Reuters

Peru have not been to a World Cup finals since 1970. Ronaldo was fined 2,000 euros by the Spanish football federation after losing 1-0 to Argentina and pushing his opponent, forward Carlos Maestri were unavailable for the quarterfinal because of yellow cards. "We know they can be a danger," said a Peru spokesman.
