Preserve ancient cultural heritage as national duty

The State Peace and Development Council has been implementing political, economic and social objectives for all-round development of the nation. One of the social objectives is “uplift of national prestige and integrity and preservation and safeguarding of cultural heritage and national character”. The State Peace and Development Council has taken all necessary measures to realize this objective.

The People of Myanmar, with their own national culture and character, have lived in their own sovereign nation throughout history except a period of more than 100 years under the British colonial rule. The study of historical evidence and invaluable cultural heritage has proved this fact. Ancient cultural heritage of a nation shows a long and grand historical background of its people. As we can preserve our cultural heritage, we have been able to exist proudly as a people and a nation for thousands of years.

Fossilized remains were unearthed in Pondaung region where anthropoid primates lived and at the same time, thousands-year-old ancient cities such as Tagaung, Hanlin, Sri Khittaya and Bagan were excavated and preserved. Human remains were unearthed in Hanlin, Shwebo District, as recently as March and April. The remains were supposed to have been those of Pyu people who lived in stone age and bronze age about 5,000 years ago.

In addition to the remains, earthenware, brassware, stone beads and stone and iron weapons were also found. These objects are the proof that ancestors of Pyu people had lived in stone age, iron age and ancient city states. On 27 March also, Buddha statues and sets made of silver were found in the ancient city of Mongmao, Myittha Township, Kyaukse District, Mandalay Division. They are of early Pyu stone age, iron age and ancient city states. On 27 March also, Buddha statues and sets made of silver were found in the ancient city of Mongmao, Myittha Township, Kyaukse District, Mandalay Division. They are of early Pyu stone age, iron age and ancient city states.

At a time when the government is trying to strengthen our national identity by excavating and preserving our cultural heritage, we would like to urge the entire national people to cooperate with the government and fully participate in this task.

US toll mounts in Iraq

Anti-US fighters staging about 70 attacks daily in Iraq

Baghdad, 31 May — US troops in Iraq lost 77 men in May — the highest death toll since January — with the US military admitting that daily attacks have doubled in recent weeks.

The latest casualty was in Ramadi, where the US Central Command said a Marine assigned to the 5th Marine Regiment was killed in action on Monday by enemy small-arms fire while conducting combat operations.

The latest spree of violence put an end to a brief lull when attacks on US forces had waned after the 30 January elections in Iraq. The death toll in May was the highest since 107 Americans were killed in January.

Lieutenant Colonel Steve Boylan, a US military spokesman in Baghdad, said anti-US fighters were staging about 70 attacks across Iraq per day. “There was a lull in attacks after the elections,” Boylan said.

“After a period of time right after the election, right in the middle of April, that’s when we actually saw them dip into the low 30s.”

In the recent spike in violence, fighters also have aggressively targeted Iraqi security forces. Boylan said more than 600 Iraqis were killed or wounded in May.

Boylan attributed the rise in US deaths in May to several factors.

May was a record month for car bombs used by fighters. US forces also suffered losses in offenses against the fighters such as Operation New Market in the western town of Haditha and Operation Matador around the western town of al-Qaim.

Vietnam to slash navigation fees

Hanoi, 31 May — Navigation fees in Vietnamese waters will be lowered to regional levels from next year, local newspaper Vietnam News on Monday quoted the country’s Navigation Department as saying.

The fees, which include pilotage, anchorage and security for ships, will be fixed at the same levels as in Thailand, a country with the same natural conditions as Vietnam. The fees in Vietnam are now 15-20 per cent higher than in neighbouring countries due to its long and complex water passages.

Kathmandu, 31 May — Nepali King Gyanendra will lead a delegation to attend the Second South Summit, or the summit of the Group of 77, to be held in Qatar’s capital Doha on 15-16 June, The Himalayan Times newspaper reported on Monday.

The King is expected to leave here on 13 June, while Nepali Foreign Minister Ramesh Nath Pandey will leave on 12 June to attend the ministerial meeting to be held two days prior to the summit, the independent English-language daily quoted a Foreign Ministry official as saying.

Even though members of the Nepali delegation have not yet been finalized, the ministry is doing necessary preparations, the official said on condition of anonymity.

Platinum business credit card for SMEs launched in Singapore

Singapore, 31 May — Singapore’s United Overseas Bank (UOB) and Visa International launched here on Monday a platinum credit card for small- and medium-sized enterprises (SMEs), according to a statement by the bank.

“The SME sector represents a huge growth opportunity of nearly 100 billion US dollars in Singapore. Our data shows that the average annual spend on a Visa Business Card is three times as high as a classic consumer card,” Michael Cannon, general manager of Commercial Solutions for Visa Asia Pacific, was quoted as saying.

The UOB Visa Platinum Business Card, the first of its type in Southeast Asia, will give SMEs more financial flexibility on their business expenses by offering an interest rate of 8 per cent per annum. Card members may also make use of a sophisticated management information system to track their spending patterns so as to better manage and control their finances.

Apart from centralizing all their business spending on a single card, card members can enjoy various platinum privileges and benefits as well when they dine, entertain or travel, for business.”—MNA/Xinhua
China expects rise in summer grain output

BEIJING, 31 May — China will expect a rise in the output of summer-harvested grain crops this year if no natural adversities occur in the next 15 days, says a report released by the Ministry of Agriculture here Monday.

With winter wheat entering its harvest season, early rice has already been seeded in the south, northern China’s spring sowing comes to an end, and the harvest of summer grains crops across the country has been going on as scheduled. The task of stabilizing China’s grain supply is “challenging but possible”, says the report.

The official report attributed the good prospect to numerous factors, including enhanced fiscal support and production guidance from the governments at various levels and agricultural departments as well as the utilization of agro-technology.

For instance, government subsidies to wheat growers has been raised from last year’s 100 million yuan (12.09 million US dollars) to one billion yuan (120.92 million US dollars) this year. Meanwhile, the number of subsidized regions has grown from last year’s six provinces to the year’s 11 major production bases.

As more farmers turn to wheat growing in 2005, the report predicts that the acreage under winter wheat to be harvested this summer will be at least 670,000 hectares more than in 2004, the first ever increase in seven consecutive years.

According to the ministry, a total of 130,000 agro-technicians have been dispatched to rural areas so far, helping more than 13 million farmers to make better use of fertilizer. The year’s acreage sowed to top-quality winter wheat is also expected to reach 10.7 million hectares, up 18.5 percent over last year.

Given that the yield of summer grain crops is only one-fifth of China’s annual grain production, the report acknowledged, to alleviate China’s grain supply shortfall, early rice and autumn grain crop still play a crucial role.

An emergency notice issued earlier this month by the ministry, requires all local governments to step up support and guidance to farmers engaged in grain production.

Japan calls a halt to Japanese encephalitis vaccinations

TOKYO, 31 May — Japan’s Health, Labour and Welfare Ministry asked municipal governments across the country on Monday to stop recommending vaccinations for minors against Japanese encephalitis after a case of suspected ADEM and other side effects.

The ministry issued the rare instruction as a female junior high school student in east Japan’s Yamanashi Prefecture fell into critical condition after receiving an inoculation against the disease last year.

According to the ministry, the student was diagnosed as suffering acute disseminated encephalomyelitis, known as ADEM, a disease causing paralysis. — MNA/Xinhua

The student’s symptoms were so serious that she needed respiratory aide. The ministry’s decision is also based on the fact that the number of Japanese encephalitis patients has been reduced to 10 or less a year, and in some years the number of those reported suffering ADEM and other side effects has outnumbered patients.

More than four million young Japanese annually receive the vaccinations under municipal recommendations. Children have been recommended to receive it three times between six months and seven-and-a-half years of age. They are then to get another between the ages of nine and 12, and the last one at the age of 14 or 15. ADEM causes brain and spinal cord damage, which brings about headaches, sensory disruption, impaired consciousness and paralysis. — MNA/Xinhua

Nine killed in two aircraft crashes in Iraq

BAGHDAD, 1 June — Four US and four Italian airmen and an Iraqi were killed in separate aircraft crashes in Iraq, officials said on Tuesday, but there was no indication guerrillas downed them.

In Baghdad, Prime Minister Ibrahim Jaafari condemned the arrest by US troops of a senior Sunni politician on Monday. He said he had demanded an explanation from the top American general in Iraq for the 12-hour detention, which the military called a mistake.

The arrest of Mohsen Abdul-Hamid, leader of the Iraqi Islamic Party, threatened to further strain relations between Iraq’s Sunni Arab and Shia communities at a time when some have expressed fears of a slide toward civil war.

Jordanian militant Abu Musab al-Zarqawi, who has said he wants to sow sectarian conflict in Iraq, sent a message to al Qaeda leader Osama bin Laden saying he had suffered only “minor wounds,” denying reports he was seriously hurt, according to an audio tape attributed to him.

Two suicide bombers kill 20 Iraqis south of Baghdad

BAGHDAD, 31 May — Two suicide bombers blew themselves up among a crowd of Iraqi police in Hilla City, south of Baghdad, on Monday, killing at least 20 people and wounding 35 others, police said.

The attack took place at 9:15 am (0515 GMT) in Hilla, some 100 kilometres south of Baghdad.

The first suicide bomber blew up his explosive belt at a medical centre in the city where Army recruits and civil service applicants were queuing for medical checkups.

Vietnam plans to pour some 3.5 trillion Vietnamese dong (221.5 million US dollars) into curbing population growth and improving population quality from 2006 to 2010.

The money will be mainly used to ensure that each couple to have no more than two children so that the population will remain stable at around 88 million by 2010 at the latest, according to the country’s Committee for Population, Family and Children on Monday.

In the 5-year period, Vietnam, whose population growth stood at 1.38 per cent last year, has targeted to lower the growth to between 1.1 per cent and 1.14 per cent, increase the percentage of people using modern contraceptive methods to 70 per cent, and remarkably reduce abortion rates.

Under a recent resolution of the Communist Party of Vietnam, its population should grow gradually, and then remain stable at 115-120 million in mid-21st century. The resolution stresses that state cadres and party members must be good examples in following population policies and family planning, as well as persuading local people to do the same.

China, Chile pledge to further bilateral ties

BEIJING, 31 May — Chinese Vice-President Zeng Qinghong told visiting Chilean Foreign Minister Ignacio Walker on Monday afternoon that the Chinese Government is ready to further strengthen Sino-Chilean ties.

In their meeting, Zeng spoke highly of the development of Sino-Chilean relations. He noted that among South American nations, Chile is the first to forge diplomatic ties with China, the first to render support to China’s resumption of its lawful seat in the United Nations, the first to recognize China’s full market economy status and the first to start free trade negotiations with China.

Chile is also the first Latin American nation to sign bilateral agreement with China on its admission into the World Trade Organization, he added.

The five “firsts” demonstrated the continuous growth of Sino-Chilean relations, he said. He said the two countries kept frequent high-level visits in recent years, adding that the bilateral trade progressed rapidly. Besides, China and Chile cooperate closely with each other in international affairs.

Last year, Chinese President Hu Jintao paid a successful visit to Chile, Zeng said. The heads of state of the two countries reached consensuses on the establishment and development of the “long-term, stable, equal and mutual-beneficial” cooperative partnership between China and Chile, he said.

Walker highly appreciated China’s achievements in economic and social development, and Chilean-Chinese cooperation in either bilateral or multi-lateral fields.

The friendly cooperation between China and Latin American countries also witnessed vigorous growth, he said, adding that Chile is willing to actively promote the relations between Latin America and China.

Zeng and Walker also exchanged views on international and regional issues of common concern.

Walker arrived in Beijing on Sunday for a three-day official visit as guest of his Chinese counterpart Li Zhaoxing. MNA/Xinhua

Kalam suggests use of Indian satellites for quake prediction

REVKJAVIK, 31 May — Indian President A P J Abdul Kalam on Monday said information technology, including satellite communication, should be used for earthquake prediction and suggested Iceland take help of Indian satellites for disaster management in both countries.

“India has its own satellites placed in different orbits. These satellites can be used as an aid for disaster management for both our countries,” the President told a gathering of scientists in Iceland.

“Application of Information Technology in the form of GIS, Remote Sensing, Satellite Communication and Internet play a vital role in disaster mitigation programmes,” he said.

“With the use of these technologies we need to prioritize the area of relief, particularly in the seismic zones and deploy the resources needed to mitigate the disaster in a time bound manner”, he said.

“Over the last one-and-a-half decade India has made substantial progress in monsoon modelling and weather prediction. This experience can definitely be shared between the two countries for predicting weather patterns both short-term and medium-term in Iceland,” the President said.

Elaborating on the mechanism to predict earthquakes, he said “stress-forecasting was possible in Southwest Iceland only because of the unique seismic activities of the onshore transform-zone. I would request the scientific community to clarify whether the stress forecasting technique will be applicable to earthquakes occurring in other regions also”.

The President even offered Iceland’s scientists to study all the natural disasters which have taken place in India in the past 50 years along “with prediction research inputs, which could probably enable us to evolve prediction model, to accurately predict the natural disaster in a timely manner”.

Concurrently, codes for construction in earthquake prone zones can be evolved which can form part of the standard building codes. This will be an important contribution made by the scientific community in reducing the quantum of loss to people and property, he said.

The loss and damage due to natural disasters can be reduced if timely warning becomes available to the people as well as the authorities. It is a general opinion of the scientific community that accurate prediction of time and location of an earthquake is still a distant possibility, he said.

Bangladesh to have closer relations with Italy

DHAKA, 31 May — About 1,500 skilled Bangladeshi workers are likely to go to Italy this year under various categories, a Bangladeshi high official said.

Nearly 100,000 Bangladeshis now live in Italy, Commerce Minister Aftab Hossain Chowdhury, who just concluded his 10-day tour of the European countries, was quoted as saying by The New Nation on Monday.

“If they import goods from Bangladesh for their own consumption, it will be a large quantity of exports,” he said.

Italian businessmen have shown their keen interest to invest in Bangladesh in hometextile, light engineering, leather, tourism, agriculture, medicine, power and computer software development sectors, the minister said.

The Commerce Minister said a Memorandum of Understanding was signed between Bangladesh and Italy aiming to enhance the two-way trade and commerce.

The three-day single-country Bangladesh Trade Fair was organized to showcase various exportable Bangladeshi products. A total of 45 business firms participated in the exhibition with their items under 16 categories.

The minister said he had meetings with government officials of Italy and members of the business community there. The Italian business community expressed its desire to invest in export-processing zones (EPZs). At present, the trade is in favour of Bangladesh as the country exported goods worth $318 million to Italy while its import bill amounted to $180 million from Italy in fiscal 2003-04. — MNA/Xinhua

Finnish PM visits Kuwait to promote economic ties

KUWAIT CITY, 31 May — Visiting Finnish Prime Minister Matti Vanhanen said on Monday that his trip to Kuwait is aimed at promoting economic cooperation between the two countries.

During talks with officials of the Kuwaiti Chamber of Commerce and Industry, Vanhanen highlighted Finland’s progress in its industries, particularly in the fields of communications, information technology and computers, according to the official Kuwait News Agency.

Vanhanen was quoted as saying after the talks that he hoped the outcome of the current talks between the European Union and the Gulf Cooperation Council (GCC) will have a positive impact on the economic and commercial relations between the two countries.

Kuwait, an oil-rich Gulf Arab country, is a member of the GCC.

President of Kuwaiti Chamber of Commerce and Industry Ali Al-Ghanim, on his part, said Kuwait has a number of big infrastructure investment opportunities for Finnish companies for the next five years with a total worth of more than 40 billion US dollars.

Vietnam sees stronger farm produce exports in five months

HANOI, 31 May — Vietnam earned nearly 2.3 billion US dollars from exporting farm and forestry products in the first 5 months of this year, a year-on-year surge of 31 per cent.

Local items with highest growths in export value include rubber, up 63 per cent to 171 million dollars, woodwork, up 52 per cent to 621 million dollars, fruits and vegetables, up 50 per cent to 100 million dollars, rice, up 40 per cent to 621 million dollars, and cashews, up 37 per cent to 162 million dollars, according to the country’s agriculture and rural development administration on Monday.

Local experts said Vietnam’s agriculture will focus on sustainable development in the coming years. Rice intensive farming techniques and new varieties will be employed to boost export turnovers and ensure national food security.

They said Vietnam should not grow more robusta coffee in the next five years, maintaining coffee plantation at about 450,000 hectares. Instead, investment should be intensified in post-harvest technology and trademark promotion as well as in processing cashew nuts and pepper. Last year, Vietnam had over 7.4 million hectares of paddy rice with an output of 35.7 million tons, 505,000 hectares of coffee, 932,100 tons, 460,800 hectares of rubber, 404,600 tons, according to the country’s General Statistics Office.

Patents will harm Indian software industry

NEW DELHI, 31 May — Indian Software developers are opposing patents, saying the move would hit small and medium software enterprises in the country and promote the interests of multinationals, Indo-Asian News Service reported on Sunday.

Participants at a gathering in Thiruvananthapuram, capital of Kerala, to campaign for free software expressed happiness that their lobbying had put at bay attempts to allow software to be patented, at least for the time being.

But they warned that unless the country was careful, India could be stepping into a minefield that could affect software developers.

Last December, a presidential ordinance threatened to bring software under patents, causing much angst among software developers nationwide. After considerable lobbying, the software developers managed to avert the “threat”.

“We’ve gone back to the status quo (pre-December 2004 situation). We’re glad that the immediate threat to allow software patents has gone. But there are still issues of concern that remain,” Dr G. Nagarjuna, chairperson of the Mumbai-based Free Software Foundation (India) said.

Nagarjuna said some parliamentarians, social organizations and the pharmacy industry had helped to get the government to do a rethink about software patenting in India.

Singapore Exchange to tighten listing rules

SINGAPORE, 31 May — The Singapore Exchange (SGX) has proposed to tighten its listing rules and processes to raise corporate governance standards, a SGX statement said on Monday.

The planned enhancements require every listed company to have two independent directors on a continuous basis instead of just at listing, and ask the board of directors to give interim and annual certification regarding the company’s financial results and internal control.

For a foreign listed company, SGX stipulates that the board must have at least two independent resident directors on a continuing basis. In addition, another director or officer in executive capacity is required to reside in Singapore, the statement said.

SGX also seeks to extend the role of intermediaries, as well as improve transparency and disclosure of listed firms by encouraging issuers to adopt best practices out in the Operating and Financial Review (OFR) Guide.

The statement said that the amendments, which will be implemented after consulting the public and getting necessary approvals, will apply to new issuers, while existing listed issuers will be given two years to comply with the new rules.

Moe Shinn

Some jargons used in the golf course jokingly are often correct and remarkable. For example, when the ball overshoots the fairway and lands on the rough despite the proper concentration and use of strength, the golfers may use the jargon “It’s the notorious guy’s foreign policy”. Think hard and you’ll come to know who’s the guy we are referring to as the infamous person.

That person always plots a scheme of his foreign policy after making detailed calculations. And then he tried to carry it out at a huge cost. But all went wrong and the plan missed its target. In the end, that guy and his men had to admit “We were wrong”. Every time he conspires and work out a plan, the infamous guy puts all his energy and money in it. And every time, the plan fails to realize its aims.

It was wrong thirty years ago, again it was incorrect twenty years or ten years back, or till now. His schemes always fail to realize the aims.

So, the jargon may sound funny, but it is true. A golfer needs a lot of energy and concentration to hit his ball to reach the fairway. Excessive use of the strength to hit the ball is not correct method. But the notorious guy has gone wrong again.

If we study international affairs we can see that the degree of greed of some powers is high. They are threatening the developing countries to stay under their domain as minions or face annihilation. They will consider any country which does not yield to their orders as enemy. They give priority only to their own interest while ignoring the spirit of equality, justice and humanity in their relations with others. They are conceited.

Whether it is just or unjust, those powerful nations make one-sided decisions only from their point of view for self-interest. The Roman empire, the Mongol empire, the French empire and the Nazi German empire, all proved that the arrogant belief “The use of force wins over everything” is wrong. Ascending is followed by descending, and eventually ending in disintegration. No one can stay on top always. If those powers cannot take the lessons of history they will fail in the end.

But we, Myanmar nationals, have no ill will towards them. We have no wish to see them fall apart. We have no grudge. It is not our concern with them even if they get richer or poorer.

We, Myanmar people, have only loving kindness, sympathy, consideration and compassion for the entire human race. So we sometimes assumed all others to be as simple and sincere like us. Thus, we failed to beware of the terrorist bombers’ inhuman attacks.

Since we were children our parents and traditions and culture teach us to have kindness toward all creatures let alone human beings. So Myanmar national races make friends with all human beings regardless of their colour, whether they are white, black, yellow or brown. So we regard all mankind as relatives. We are always hospitable. We have no suspicion of a foreigner of any race. We are always helpful to them. We never have had any idea of making unfair profits out of a foreigner. We always think of offering hospitality with a smile eager to help others.

— the time-bomb explosion at Zegyo in Mandalay,
— the powerful blasts at the Yangon Trade Centre in Mingala Taungnyunt, Dagon Centre and Junction-8 in Yangon, and — the looting and killing of innocent passengers are the results of the works of the inhuman mercenaries serving their foreign masters as stooges. Beyond any doubt no national brethren will perpetrate such brutal acts among themselves.

According to investigations, the bombs or any of the materials used in making them are not available in Myanmar. Although the terrorists are trying to hide the evidence, we have found clues leading to their crimes. Their brazen lies are ridiculous for any human beings.

We are amazed to see and hear our people including children and women being blown up and murdered ruthlessly. We all are calm, stable and united. We will never yield to the atrocities of the terrorists. We are brave people waiting for the opportune moment to teach the terrorists a telling lesson.

The terrorists have made us angry. But we have not shown our anger or made a response yet. We are totally against terrorism. We love to live in peace and stability and with discipline. We want to catch up with other nations in terms of development. Thanks to the advanced equipment we now have, we can see the whole world as if it is on our palm. We understand that peace and stability will bring progress. So, we remain calm and stable despite the attempts to cause confusion, fear and unrest in the nation. We will not dance to their tune.

But if the terrorists move a step forward, they will be crushed by the people, who are already angry with their crimes, with nationalistic fervour. Tolerance has its limit. History has proved that whenever such atrocious acts are committed the destructive elements will get the retribution from the strength of the people who will never stand such nonsense.

Sri Lanka receives more tourists in first 4 months

COLOMBO, 1 June—Despite the tsunami effect on Sri Lanka’s tourism industry, the island country received 167,511 tourists from January to April, nearly 5000 more than the figure of 162,624 during the same period of last year.

The official Daily News reported on Tuesday that there were 38,187 tourist arrivals in January and 36,645 in February, dropping by 17,950 and 6,939 from previous year’s figure mainly due to the tsunami devastation.

However, the Indian Ocean island country received 50,418 and 42,261 tourists in March and April, increased by 31 per cent and 38 per cent from last year’s figures of 38,418 and 30,672 respectively.

“Tourist arrivals have started picking up. We can see that clearly through the March and April figures,” the paper quoted S. Kalaiselvan, director general of the Sri Lanka Tourism Board (SLTB) as saying.

“We are expecting more tourist arrivals with the forthcoming Sri Lankan Travel Mart which will be held from 3 to 5 June in Colombo. This will be a major event in the Sri Lankan travel calendar in the aftermath of tsunami catastrophe,” Kalaiselvan said.

The highest number of tourist arrivals to Sri Lanka in the aftermath of the tsunami have been from the West European and South Asian countries, according to statistics from the SLTB.

These include UK (26,211), Germany (13,071), France (9,636), the Netherlands (3,882), Italy (2,841), Switzerland (2,532), Sweden (1,509) and Norway (1,437) which were among the 67,092 tourist arrivals up to April.

There were 48,129 tourist arrivals from South Asian countries from January to April this year indicating 34,575 from Bangladesh, 8,250 from Maldives, 3,843 from Pakistan, 3,834 and 1,461 from others.

After the tsunami, the Sri Lankan Government took several steps to recover the tourism industry including giving duty concessions and soft loans to local hotels.

Tourism is the fourth largest foreign exchange earner for Sri Lanka, accounting for about 5 per cent of its gross domestic product.

Sri Lanka’s total tourist arrivals for 2004 was 566,202. The government has a target of receiving one million tourist arrivals by 2010.

China’s PLA proves worthy in minority areas

BEIJING, 1 June—More than 3 million People’s Liberation Army (PLA) soldiers have been mobilized over the past five years to build 680 infrastructure projects, Monday’s China Daily quoted a senior PLA officer as saying.

Also the agenda has been increasing awareness amongst soldiers and officers of the country’s ethnic minorities and religious practices, said Chang Shengrong, major general of the General Political Department of the PLA.

Ethnic minority and religious leaders have been invited to give lectures, while PLA soldiers are encouraged to study minority languages and get to know their customs and religious beliefs, according to Chang.

“The majority of the Chinese Army is garnered in areas inhabited by ethnic minorities, relations between the PLA and local minorities are very important for the country’s ethnic unity,” he said.

The PLA has to date printed more than 600,000 pamphlets and filmed 100 programmes to help soldiers learn more about ethnic affairs and better handle relations with local minorities, according to Chang.

China is home to 55 ethnic minorities, which account for a population of more than 100 million. They mainly live in the western part of the country and frontier areas.

“On the one hand, the PLA cannot do its work without the help of local people, and on the other, local development in many ethnic minority areas also benefits from help offered by the PLA,” said Chang, who is in charge of the Army’s civilian relations.

In the past five years, the PLA has focused more and more on developing the economies of minority areas, especially through better infrastructure, a major bottleneck for local development.

The construction and expansion of seven airports— including Gonggar Airport in Tibet, Dunhuang Airport in Gansu and Juizhaigou Airport in Sichuan—were all completed by PLA soldiers, according to Chang.

The PLA’s contribution to infrastructure in areas inhabited by ethnic minorities has undoubtedly laid a solid foundation for local economic development, he said.

He said the Army has also played an active role in humanitarian relief work in minority regions, where conditions are often harsh and natural disasters frequent.

Disaster early-warning system opens in Thailand

BANGKOK, 1 June — Thailand has opened its national disaster warning centre, the first country to launch such a early warning system following the 26 December disaster, local Press reported Tuesday.

“Five months after the disaster, Thailand has finally come up with a warning system up to standard,” says a government official. I would say we’re the first among the tsunami-hit countries to make significant progress in disaster prevention,” Prime Minister Thaksin Shinawatra was quoted by Bangkok Post newspaper as saying at the opening ceremony.

The centre, although still not fully complete, will be able to identify the spot where earthquake may occur and the possibility of a tsunami. The analyzing and calculating process will take about 15 minutes, said the Prime Minister.

Once a major earthquake or tsunami is detected, the warning will be issued to all television and radio stations. The message will also be sent to all mobile phone networks as well as to public announcement stations along the coastal line.

About 50 stations are expected to be set up in dangerous coastal areas in Thailand.

Plodprasop Surawadi, director of the centre, said it will connect to the disaster warning centres in Japan and Hawaii. The center will also be in early warning on earth quakes and tsunamis in the first place, the centre’s function will then extend to other disasters, including forest fires, floods and air pollution.

“With this new system, we’ll be able to know exact data such as the wave’s height, which area will be hit and at what time,” Plodprasop said.

To operate with full authority, a royal decree is needed to endorse the establishment and mission of the centre.

On 26 December last year, six provinces along Thailand’s southwestern coast were hit by killer waves, which inflicted enormous human and economic losses to the kingdom.

India says meningitis under control

NEW DELHI, 1 June—Indian capital’s civic authorities stated Monday that the meningitis infection was under control even as two more people died taking the toll to 41 since the outbreak of the disease last month.

Two deaths and two new cases were reported since Sunday in the capital.

With this the total number of cases reported has gone up to 389, of which 290 have been discharged and 58 are still under treatment in various hospitals, Indo-Asian News Service reported.

The Municipal Corporation of Delhi (MCD) Commissioner Rakesh Mehta said the intensity of the disease was waning.

He said many patients had been brought from outside Delhi. The figures were not purely restricted to Delhi. In Delhi, most of the cases had occurred in the crowded and congested localities of the city.

Apart from putting up hoardings at 100 locations across the capital to raise awareness about the disease, leaflets have been distributed in several areas.

MCD Director of Hospital Administration JN Banavalkar said people who were in direct contact with patients faced 400 per cent more risk.

Banavalkar said the administration had already vaccinated the high-risk groups. House-to-house surveillance was adopted to avoid missing any of those who had come into direct contact with the patients even for a brief period.

According to him, anti-meningitis medication has been provided to 3,995 people who were in direct contact with patients.

Volcano erupts in India’s remote island

NEW DELHI, 1 June—After almost a decade, the only active volcano in India’s remote Andaman and Nicobar archipelago has started spewing out smoke and lava, Indo-Asian News Service reported Monday.

The spiraling columns of smoke from the volcano, situated on Barren Island, was reported by an Indian Coast Guard ship and a Dornier aircraft on patrol in the Andaman Seas Saturday evening.

Officials from Indian Ministry of Science and Technology and Ocean Development said the volcanic activity was “intermittent” and had begun on Saturday.

“We are monitoring the situation along with scientists from the Geological Survey of India. Right now, we don’t think it is a cause for concern,” said an official.

The volcano has been dormant for the last few years and there was no activity even after the tsunami that struck the Indian coast on 26 December.
UN warns violence against children in residential institutions

GENEVA, 1 June — Violence against children in residential institutions can be found across Europe and Central Asia, according to research gathered by the United Nations Children’s Fund (UNICEF).

“Children in residential institutions — from children held in detention centres are desperately vulnerable,” UNICEF regional director for Central and Eastern Europe and the Commonwealth of Independent States, Maria Calvisi, said Tuesday in a statement.

“They are vulnerable because they are separated from society in a ‘closed’ environment. And the more closed the environment is, the greater the risk of violence and the smaller the chance that it will be reported. The research is prepared for a major conference on violence against children, the Consultation on Violence Against Children in Europe and Central Asia. The conference will take place in Slovenia in early July,” she said.

UNICEF says it is increasing, with research suggesting that juvenile offenders may face the greatest risk of violence in the earliest pre-trial stages.

“Please,” said Calvisi, “The UN Convention on the Rights of the Child sets standards for children in institutions. The ground-rules are there, but they need to be followed.” — MNA/Xinhua

FBI official was ‘Deep Throat’ in Watergate Scandal

WASHINGTON, 1 June — The Washington Post confirmed Tuesday that former Federal Bureau of Investigation (FBI) official Mark Felt was the “Deep Throat” source in its coverage of the Watergate scandal that eventually led to the resignation of former president Richard Nixon.

The newspaper made the announcement on its web site after Felt’s family said earlier in the day that he was the long-anonymous source who leaked secrets about Nixon’s Watergate cover-up to The Post.

In a statement read by Felt’s grandson Nick Jones in Santa Rosa, California, the family said they believed his account was true.

“The family believes my grandfather, Mark Felt Sr., is a great American hero who went well above and beyond the call of duty at much risk to himself to save his country from a horrible injustice,” said the statement.

“We all sincerely hope the country will see him this way as well,” the statement said.

Felt, 91, was second-in-command at the FBI in the early 1970s, and his claim was first revealed on Tuesday by the Vanity Fair magazine. He confessed that he was the source of Post reporter Bob Woodward in the latter’s coverage of the scandal, after keeping it secret for almost three decades.

“I’m the guy they used to call Deep Throat,” Felt was quoted by the Vanity Fair article as saying. Felt lived in Santa Rosa and is reported in poor mental and physical health.

Woodward and others at The Post involved in the Watergate scandal coverage had previously maintained they would never reveal the identity of “Deep Throat” until after his death.

Cypriot President meets UN official on Cyprus issue

NICOSIA, 1 June — Cyprus President Tassos Papadopoulos on Tuesday met with visiting UN Under-Secretary-General for Political Affairs Sir Kieran Prendergast on the resumption of UN-sponsored talks for a Cyprus settlement.

Papadopoulos said after the meeting that it was up to the UN official how to hold discussions, creating a climate conducive to the launch of a new effort for a Cyprus settlement.

On his part, Prendergast described the discussion as “productive” and said “we have agreed that the course of the discussions will remain confidential.”

He said he would not make any statement until the end of mission “because I have come primarily to listen to the parties.”

The UN official will have similar discussions with Turkish Cypriot leader Mehmet Ali Talat during his stay on the island.

WFP to sponsor worldwide walk to end child hunger

UNITED NATIONS, 1 June— The World Food Programme (WFP) will co-sponsor the second annual global walk against child hunger, with participants in over 90 countries across 24 time zones raising money to help fund school feeding projects worldwide.

Next Sunday, more than 200,000 people are expected to walk five kilometres — a little over 3 miles — in over 200 participating cities, the WFP said in a Press release on Monday.

The food relief agency is joining with TNT, a provider of mail, express and logistics services, to sponsor the event.

“Walk the World,” will benefit the WFP’s global school feeding project, which last year provided one meal a day to 16.6 million primary school children in 72 countries and aims to reach 30 million in 2007, according to the agency.

It said that lack of food is a major deterrent to education for needy children, especially girls.

“The world where war and disaster spawn countless human tragedies which compete for attention the silent plight of the hungry — especially children, the world’s future is an urgent call we must all answer,” said James Morris, WFP Executive Director.

“This walk is as important as it is inspiring to our mission to end hunger.”

The agency is inviting people everywhere to join the event and “show how one collective footstep can transform the lives of the world’s poorest children.”

There is a “virtual walk” on the “Walk the World” site: each time someone visits it for the first time, enter their email and clicks, TNT donates 19 US cents — which feeds one child for one day.

Hu praises healthy growth of relations with New Zealand

BEIJING, 31 May — Chinese President Hu Jintao said here Monday China and New Zealand have continuously made new progress in advancing all-round cooperative relations between the two countries in recent years.

During a meeting with visiting New Zealand Prime Minister Helen Elizabeth Clark in the Great Hall of the People in Beijing, Hu said China and New Zealand successfully maintained a momentum for smooth, steady development of bilateral relations since they established diplomatic links. Hu said the continuous expansion of bilateral relations is attributed to four major reasons.

The first is the high importance the two sides put on developing bilateral relations and the great efforts they have taken to advance their links. The leaders of both countries have always proceeded from a strategic height to look at and advance bilateral relations, keeping to the general direction of the firm development of bilateral relations.

Hu said the second reason is that the two countries have respected and treated each other as equals. They have properly resolved differences through dialogue and consultations and paid due attention to each other's concerns, Hu said. The two sides have continuously expanded their common ground and enhanced mutual trust.

The third reason is mutually beneficial cooperation and common development. Hu said the two sides have seen important opportunities in each other's development and treated each other as cooperative partners. As they have deepened cooperation in traditional areas, the two countries have been actively exploring new areas of cooperation. Mutually beneficial cooperation between the two countries has maintained sustained growth, Hu said.

Hu said the fourth reason is that the two countries have continuously strengthened communication and enhanced friendship. The two sides place importance on strengthening exchanges and cooperation in the humanities and culture by encouraging and supporting the people of the two countries to expand communication and deepen mutual understanding. Hu said the friendship between the two countries has taken deep root in the heart of the two peoples.

Sri Lanka expects floods, landslides due to heavy rains

The warnings came after most parts of the country experienced torrential rains on Sunday, the state radio quoted officials as saying.

High speed winds swept through the roofs of eight houses in the southern coastal town of Ambalangoda on Sunday.

The radio said due to heavy rains on Sunday, roads in some areas are under water and impassable. Heavy showers have also affected electricity supply lines in some areas, the radio added.

Official says Venezuelan President enjoys good health

CARACAS, 31 May — Venezuelan President Hugo Chavez is in good health after he cancelled his weekend radio and TV show and participation in a pro-government march, a government official said Monday.

Communication and Information Minister Andres Izarra brushed aside rumours that the President may be in poor health, noting that "there is no reason to be alarmed".

"It would not be strange to me that these rumours come from those interested in destabilizing and generating uncertainty among people," he said.

Huawei plans to enter Indonesia's WCDMA market

JAKARTA, 31 May — China-based telecommunications equipment provider Huawei Technologies Co Ltd plans to enter the Indonesia's Wideband Code Division Multiple Access (WCDMA) market beginning in the fourth quarter of this year.

"Based on our roadmap, starting in December, we will release GSM-3G handsets on the market," PT Huawei Tech Investment Senior Account Manager Binbo Abimanyu was quoted Monday by The Jakarta Post as saying.

WCDMA is a form of 3G, a third generation advanced technology which enables cellular subscribers to enjoy several services such as video streaming and video conferencing via cellular phones, in addition to making faster data transfer.

As a start, the company introduced its latest range of 3G mobile phones in Indonesia at the 2005 CDMA Exhibition in Jakarta, which ended on Sunday.

Huawei's Oliver Mu said his company was still trying to get more information through various surveys and research about the Indonesian market.

The spread of 3G networks will stimulate the growth of 3G subscribers and demand for its terminals which provides by firms such as Huawei, which produces wireless terminal products.

"To expand the market, we will have to find ourselves more strategic business partners," he said, adding that the company is cooperating with domestic telecommunications operators such as Bakrie Telecom, Indosat and Telkom.

Zimbabwe names defiant hotels for swindling foreign currency earnings

HARARE, 31 May — The Reserve Bank of Zimbabwe (RBZ) has released names of hotels and other tourist facility operators who failed to remit over 200 million US dollars in foreign currency earnings from tourists, local newspaper The Herald reported on Monday.

While the tourism sector has denied ever swindling the country of foreign currency earnings in the past year, investigations by the central bank revealed that tourism operators "robbed" the economy of foreign currency running into millions of US dollars.

Early this month, the central bank of Zimbabwe had unearthed a 200 million-US dollar scam arising from the non-remittance of foreign currency by tourism operators.

The detailed document indicates that 26 hotels "forgot to collect foreign currency" and 23 hotels charged "ridiculously low figures" of less than 20 US dollars per bed night to foreign tourists.

"These low rates have formed an avenue for the externalization of foreign currency as they fall far short from what is being charged for similar facilities in the region," said the RBZ.

"The practice should be stopped forthwith as it has cost the economy not only the foreign currency that could have gone into the official system, but also through the fueling of the parallel market," the bank said.

WHO says health professionals key in tobacco control

GENEVA, 31 May — This year’s World No Tobacco Day on 31 May highlights the importance of health professionals in the fight against tobacco, which causes nearly 5 million deaths each year, the World Health Organization (WHO) said Monday.

“Tobacco continues to be a leading global killer. The health community plays a key role in the global effort to fight this epidemic,” WHO Director-General Lee Jong-wook said in a statement. “Health professionals are on the frontline. They need the skills to help people stop smoking, and they need to lead by example, and quit tobacco use themselves,” he added.

If not taking additional efforts to curb this globally popular beverage, an estimated 10 million tobacco-related deaths a year will occur by 2020, most of them in developing countries, the Geneva-based United Nations health agency noted.

Health professionals, including doctors, dentists, pharmacists, nurses, midwives and others, are trusted by smoking patients to help them quit smoking. They are themselves models for the public to lead a healthy life.

Studies show that even brief advice from health professionals can increase the refraining rate against smoking for up to 30 per cent, and the quit-smoking treatment led by nurses normally has a up to 50 percent more chance to succeed. However, new survey shows medical students generally lack training on tobacco cessation techniques.

In January 2004, during a meeting convened by the WHO, several health professional associations adopted a code of practice on tobacco control that lists 14 tangible ways in which these associations can engage in tobacco control.

Uganda halts tuition fees hike at Makerere University

KAMPALA, 31 May — The Ugandan Government has halted an imminent tuition fees hike for private students at Makerere University, reported local Press on Monday.

University sources were quoted as saying that President Yoweri Museveni advised the university heads to halt the plan until the Cabinet discussed it.

Museveni last week met public university managers at the State House, where he said the tuition hike was a “people’s issue”. “Do not ignite the fire before alerting the fire brigade. An increase in tuition fees concerns people. They must be involved in the process,” he said.

The meeting was attended by Prime Minister Apolo Nsibambi, who is also the Makerere University’s chancellor, Education Minister Namirembe Bitamazire, acting Finance Minister Musavuga Rukutana, and other government and university officials.

Education Minister Bitamazire told Press that the fees hike had been put on hold because of its “sensitiveness.”

She said Museveni wanted more consultation over the matter and had asked her, Nsibambi and the Parliament’s social services committee to work out a plan agreeable to all. She added that broader consultations were going on and that a report would be given to President Museveni and the Cabinet.

The Makerere University Council in March passed a resolution to implement a new fees structure citing underfunding and high costs of education.

Japan beat Poland in straight sets for first win at Dalian

Dalian (Northeast China), 1 June— Japan breezed past Poland in three straight sets on Tuesday to claim their first win here at PetroChina Kunlun Cup China International Women’s Volleyball Tournament.

Much shorter than the Polish players, the Japanese made good results out of their beautiful sense of reading into the game. Their block is almost always in the right place, they are able to dig nearly every ball off the floor and they played smart to build a lead all the way.

Trailing 12-7 in the first set, Poland struggled to slice apart the solid defence of the Japanese, taking advantage of their stature to run off four points in straight and go on to tie at 16-all before succumbing 25-21.

In the second set, Japan took an upper hand 4-0 short after the beginning and played a 9-2 run to build lead on 20-11 before holding nine set points on 24-15 with a wonderful block from Erika Araki, the substitute for starter Miyuki Takahashi on a 23-15 lead of Japan.

The strong-minded Japan still met no great challenges from the Polish “giants”, ruling out a late comeback from Poland who ran off three match points to 24-24 and held on to 25-25, 26-26 before losing 28-26.

In the other Group A preliminary match played Tuesday afternoon, Olymppic and World Cup double champions China ruled out a late comeback from the Dominican Republic to claim their second straight win in the preliminary round here on Tuesday.

China, the top-ranked team coming into the tournament, closed the match 25-19, 25-18, 21-25, 25-18, as a late rally by the Dominican team fizzled.

Earlier the day, Bulgaria lost their first appearance here in a Group B match, beaten 25-18, 25-16, 25-16 by the Netherlands.

Ronaldo seeks place at Brazil team

RIO DE JANEIRO, 1 June— Real Madrid striker Ronaldo said Tuesday he is certain that after the beginning of the Spanish season he will be included in the Brazilian team.

On the eve, Ronaldo was excluded from the national team for having requested vacation.

“I don’t consider that as a sanction. I want to think that the intention was helping me. To tell you the truth, I did not deeply think on what that means,” he said.

“I made myself clear. I was not requesting to be excused from the rest of the South American qualifying tournament. The only thing I asked was not to participate in Confederations Cup, to be played in Germany, but the decision of the Brazilian Soccer Confederation was leaving me out of the picture. I accept and respect it,” said the striker.

Ronaldo’s request did not please CBPF President Ricardo Teixeira.

Ronaldo, who has already won the World Cup twice, said he had many private problems and needed a good rest. Now I will enjoy my vacations.”

These “private problems” include the break-up with his ex-girlfriend Daniella Cicarelli, a Brazilian top-model and television star.

Peruvian soccer team prepare for qualifiers

LIMA, 1 June— The Peruvian national soccer team started Tuesday their preparation for the coming two World Cup qualifiers for Germany 2006, against Colombia and Uruguay, under the coaching of Fredy Ternero.

The Peruvian coach came after the resignation of Brazilian Paulo Autuori. In the training sessions participated six experts. They were strikers Claudio Pizarro and Paolo Guerrero, both of Bayern Munich (Germany); Jefferson Farfan, of PSV Eindhoven (Netherlands); midfielder Juan Cominges of Colon (Argentina), and central defenders Miguel Rebossio and Santiago Acasiete, of Almeria (Spain).

On 4 June Peru will meet Colombia in away match and then, as host, Uruguay, on 7 June.

Both matches are decisive for the three countries seeking one of the four tickets for the South American region. The fifth in the table of positions will play a repechage match against an Asia-Oceania team.

Mary Pierce’s comeback nearly complete

PARIS, 1 June— Mary Pierce’s decline began soon after she became the only Frenchwoman since 1967 to win the French Open.

In a span of less than two years, she injured her shoulder, back, ankle and abdomen. She tumbled from the top 10 out of the top 100. More than a decade into her career, she seemed on the brink of retirement.

Instead, Pierce is back for another try at Roland Garros, and is into the semifinals at a Grand Slam event for the first time since she won the 2000 title.

“It has been a really interesting journey,” she said Tuesday after beating top-ranked Lindsay Davenport 6-3, 6-2. “It has been really tough. I’ve had some difficult moments. I really savored victories now more than before. They mean more to me now because I went through difficult times.”

Born in Montreal and raised in the United States, the 30-year-old Pierce has trained in Paris for the past year and is a French citizen because her mother is a native of the country. Roland Garros fans have jeered her in defeat and mocked her accent.

“This is getting to make for good memories for later on in my life.” I just really wanted to appreciate that moment.”

Her opponent Thursday will be 16th-seeded Elena Likhovtseva of Russia, who advanced by beating 15-year-old塞尔 Vazquez of Brazil in the quarterfinals.

The other semifinal will match 2003 champion Justine Henin-Hardenne against another Russian, No 7 Nadia Petrova.

Henin-Hardenne, bidding for her fourth Grand Slam title, advanced by beating No. 2-seeded Maria Sharapova 6-4, 6-2. Petrova reached the semifinals at Roland Garros for the second time by eliminating 17-year-old Serb Ana Ivanovic 6-2, 6-2.

Like Pierce, Henin-Hardenne has staged a career comeback. She missed much of last year with a blood virus that left her bedridden, and her return was delayed until March by a knee injury.

Since then, she has gone 25-1 and won 22 consecutive matches, all on clay.

BOCOG signs CNPC as official partner of 2008 Olympics

BEIJING, 31 May — China National Petroleum Corporation (CNPC) signed a sponsorship deal with the Beijing Organizing Committee for the 2008 Olympic Games (BOCOG) on Monday, becoming an official partner of the 2008 Olympics.

Both sides refused to disclose the financial terms.

“We are glad to see CNPC participating in the Beijing Olympic Games as an official partner,” said Wang Jing, BOCOG’s executive vice-president and secretary-general, at the signing ceremony.

“We believe CNPC’s participation will not only further consolidate the material foundation for a successful Beijing Olympic Games, but also actively promote the development of China’s petroleum industry, boost the use of clean energy and ensure the sustainable, long-term development of the city,“ he added.

Under the deal, CNPC, China’s largest producer and supplier of crude oil and natural gas, will provide funding and services to the Beijing Olympic Games, the Beijing Paralympic Games, BOCOG, the Chinese Olympic Committee and the Chinese sports delegations to the 2006 Winter Games in Turino and the 2008 Games.

To date, BOCOG has signed eight partners for the 2008 Games, including Germany’s automobile giant Volkswagen, China Mobile and Bank of China.

Yuan Bin, director of BOCOG’s Marketing Department, said that BOCOG will not put a cap on the number of partners.

“The door is always open to elite enterprises who have an interest in the 2008 Games,” said Yuan.

Illicit drug use increases in Cambodia

PHnom Penh, 1 June — "In the last years, drug situation in Cambodia became a very much concerned issue," Cambodian Deputy Prime Minister Sar Kheng said on Tuesday.

Sar Kheng, who is also the Minister of Interior and the Chairman of National Authority for Combating Drugs, made the remarks at a dissemination meeting of two reports on drugs and HIV transmission.

"Seizure of all kind of drugs, especially ATS (amphetamine type stimulans), increased double in every year since 1990," he said. In 2004, law enforcement officers seized almost one million tablets of ATS which is 4 times that of 2003.

"This reflects the increase of illicit drug trafficking into and transit Cambodia which caused rapid increase of drug abuse in the general population, especially among youth," he added.

Two assessments on illicit drug use and HIV transmission risk in Cambodia were recently conducted in Phnom Penh, Poipet and Koh Kong by the United Nations Office on Drugs and Crime and the World Health Organization.

Drug abuse among youth appears to be on the rise during the last five years.

And a recent report by the local NGO Mith Samianh has shown that almost one-third of young injecting drug users in Phnom Penh, who volunteered for testing, were found to be HIV positive.
