All need to guard nation against neo-colonialists’ perpetration with national awareness that originated in patriotism, Union Spirit

It is very important for everyone of the nation wherever they live to cultivate and possess Union Spirit

Only Union Spirit is the true patriotism all the nationalities will have to always uphold and safeguard

YANGON, 24 Nov — The following is a translation of the 85th Anniversary National Day Message of Senior General Than Shwe, Chairman of the State Peace and Development Council Commander-in-Chief of Defence Services:

Esteemed national people,

Today is the 85th Anniversary of the National Day, the day on which the struggle for independence gained an extra force of unity and harmony of the whole nation, with nationalism as the foundation. The country was able to regain independence thanks to the movement the Myanmar people launched with greater efforts springing from the nationalistic fervour for emergence of a national education system that was in conformity with their socio-economic life. Thus, it is also a day, always to be remembered as a milestone in the history of Myanmar’s independence struggle.

Throughout the history, the nation and her people always have safeguarded and enhanced the national prestige and lineage, with unyielding spirit to gallantly drive out any kind of encroachment or intrusion. Although the national races faced the loss of their monarchy and the country for some time, they struggled to regain independence through the national movement deeply rooted in the noble spirit with dear love for the country, race and the Union.

In this age of advancing science and technology, the neo-colonialists instead of using much-obvious colonization and coercion resorting to force, are trying to encroach on and dominate others through the media, with social, economic human rights and narcotic drug excuses. In this regard, we all need to guard the nation against their perpetration with national awareness that originated in patriotism and Union Spirit.

In addition, the launching of the 30-year national education promotion plan beginning 2001-2002 fiscal year is to enable today’s youths to face and overcome the socio-economic life created by the ever advancing science and technology of the 21st Century. The plan covers the task of developing the education sector to meet the international standard and producing highly qualified human races for the future.

The plan involves the programmes to enable all school age children to attend classes, and thanks to the cooperation of parents and the people, school enrollment rate of children at elementary classes increased to 97.58 per cent in the present academic year. Up to 5,545 post-primary schools have been opened in the nation to open greater opportunities to pursue middle school education. At present, over 7.79 million students are attending classes at 40,525 basic education schools. Moreover, the government has been launching the project, that covers every nook and cranny of the nation, to ensure equal learning opportunities for both the rural and urban areas, enhance the teaching qualifications, increase the adult literacy rate and improve the reading power, with the cooperation of local authorities, education staff, people, parents and wellwishers.

In the higher education sector, the government is opening more and more universities and colleges in the 24-special development regions across the nation to promote opportunity for the youths to pursue higher education, new masters degrees courses (research), doctoral courses and region-wise courses on proficiency, and providing educational institutions with electronics on IT. Now, over 797,000 students are pursuing education in 156 universities, degree colleges, and colleges, and 988 students have got doctorates.

The government and the entire national people are to join hands firmly in the drive for emergence of a peaceful, modern and developed nation and building a discipline-flourishing democratic nation, mobilizing the strength of qualified human resources that will develop under the national education promotion plan being implemented for constantly safeguarding and enhancing the national interest.

It is very important for everyone of the nation wherever they live to cultivate and possess Union Spirit. Only Union Spirit is the true patriotism all the nationalities will have to always uphold and safeguard.

In line with the fine traditions of National Day, a significant day, on which a national education system was established to uplift dynamism of nationalistic spirit and fervour that helped the nation regain independence, the entire national people should make collaborative efforts in unison with nationalistic fervour, patriotism and Union Spirit for successful implementation of the State’s seven-point Road Map, upholding National Policy — Non-disintegration of the Union, Non-disintegration of national solidarity, and Perpetuation of sovereignty.

In conclusion, I would like to exhort the entire national people to make efforts with nationalistic vigour to achieve the objectives of the 85th Anniversary National Day, that falls today:

(1) To strengthen nationalist spirit and to ensure uplift of national prestige and integrity
(2) To promote national education
(3) Perpetuity of independence and sovereignty of the State
(4) To achieve success in realization of the seven-point Road Map.

Strive for successful realization of National Day Objectives

Today, the 10th waning day of Tazaungmone, 1367 ME, is the 85th anniversary of the National Day of the Union of Myanmar. The National Day is a historic milestone in the annals of our struggle for independence.

Colonialists annexed the entire Myanmar after waging three aggressive wars. The National Day emerged under the colonialists’ occupation of the country. Under the colonial rule, all Myanmar national people suffered political oppression, economic monopoly and social restrictions. In spite of all these sufferings, the patriotic spirit and nationalistic fervour of Myanmar national people were never broken down but remained vigorous.

The colonialists enacted the Yangon University Act just to contribute to colonialism and serve the interests of only a handful of people. This act was to deny most of the national youths access to higher education and prolong the colonial rule.

Therefore, Myanmar youths with strong patriotic spirit and nationalistic fervour were totally against the education system of the colonialists that was aimed at enslaving the nation as long as possible. They constantly demanded for a better university education system and this finally led to the national movement. The movement started on the 10th waning day of Tazaungmone, 1282 ME. The national movement was staged in opposition not only to the colonial education system but also to the oppressive colonial rule. The day the national movement, the first of its kind, was launched was designated as the National Day and it has been observed every year since then.

The objectives of the 2005 National Day are as follows:

- to strengthen nationalist spirit and to ensure uplift of national prestige and integrity
- to promote national education
- perpetuity of independence and sovereignty of the State
- to achieve success in realization of the seven-point Road Map

We would like to call on each and every patriotic citizen of Myanmar to regard these objectives as their national duties and translate them into reality, following the correct leadership of the government, for the emergence of a peaceful, developed and discipline-flourishing democracy.

People’s Desire

- Oppose those relying on external elements, acting as stooges, holding negative views
- Oppose those trying to jeopardize stability of the State and progress of the nation
- Oppose foreign nations interfering in internal affairs of the State
- Crush all internal and external destructive elements as the common enemy

Surgical operations provided to patients in visual disability in Ayeyawady Division

YANGON, 23 Nov — A medical team comprising Myanmar and Japanese eye specialists team has given free treatment to a total of 4283 patients in visual disability who received the medical treatment with the assistance and support of the members of USDA, social organizations and health care personnel in Ayeyawady Division.

Yesterday morning Chairman of Ayeyawady Division Peace and Development Council South-West Command Commander Maj-Gen Thura Myint Aung together with Minister for Health Dr Kyaw Myint and Directors-General, the resident representatives of UNDP, UNICEF and WHO visited Pathein People’s Hospital, outpatients department and USDA building where ophthalmic surgeries were being performed by the Myanmar-Japan medical team headed by Myanmar eye specialists and Japanese eye specialist Dr Fujita Yoshifumi. They also monitored the surgical operation on TV at CCTV room of the hospital, comforted the patients under health care treatment and attended to the needs.

A total of 195 outpatients received the treatment, and the medical team has performed 60 ophthalmic surgeries this morning at the hospital. The Myanmar-Japan medical team has given effective health care services to 4,134 outpatients and performed 149 ophthalmic surgeries in Ayeyawady Division. — MNA

Indonesia calls for South-South cooperation in science

JAKARTA, 23 Nov — Indonesia hopes to establish science and technology cooperation among the developing countries in Asia and Africa, State Minister for Research and Technology Kusmayanto Kadiman said.

“I cannot help seeing that Indonesia almost always cooperates with North (developed countries) in science and technology. I rarely see a South-South cooperation, even among ASEAN member countries,” the minister said when opening the 11th governing council meeting of the Centre for Science and Technology of the Non-Aligned and Other Developing Countries here on Monday. “We need to cooperate and hold dialogues to harmonize a perception on science and technology,’’ Antara news agency on Tuesday quoted the minister as saying.

Indonesia has six priorities in its development, namely food and agriculture, energy, transportation, information technology, health and medicines and defence. “All these sectors need the support of science and technology,” he said. He also wished that Indonesia would be eliminated from the “priority watch list”, a list of countries which have less-tight policies on intellectual property rights.

Merkel vows to stay out of Iraq

BRUSSELS/PARIS, 23 Nov — Germany’s new chancellor, Angela Merkel, pledged on Wednesday to maintain privileged ties with France and vowed to stay out of Iraq on a lightning tour to reassure EU partners of continuity in Berlin’s foreign policy.

Merkel has said she wants better ties with the United States but she sent a clear signal to the European Union by choosing to visit Paris and then Brussels on her first full day as Germany’s leader. She plans to visit EU president Britain on Thursday.

The conservative chancellor underscored her commitment to closer European integration and said the EU, after a string of setbacks on its stalled constitution, should be intensified to attain a higher level of activities to strengthen the information and communication infrastructure both at national and grouping level.

Meanwhile, delegates agreed to reduce dependence on information from industrialized nations by initiating and supporting cooperative activities that will help establish the new order, through fresh and dynamic approaches to programming, content and networking in the media system of member countries and other developing countries.

About 70 member countries of the NAM sent delegations to attend the conference themed “Advancing Information and Communication Collaboration Towards a More Dynamic NAM”.

The two-day conference convened after a lapse of nine years following the fifth meeting of information ministers in Abuja, Nigeria in 1996.

Malaysia is the current chairman of the 114-member NAM.

NAM countries pledge more efforts towards NWICO

KUALA LUMPUR, 23 Nov — Information ministers of the Non-Aligned countries endorsed the Kuala Lumpur Declaration here on Tuesday, pledging to continue their efforts to create a New World Information and Communication Order (NWICO).

Despite the long history of struggle, member countries of the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) should go ahead in their endeavour to achieve the goal of realizing the NWICO, said the declaration endorsed at the closing of the Sixth Conference of the Ministers of Information of Non-Aligned Countries.

Regrettting over the fact that imbalances and inequalities in the field of international information and communication still exist, information ministers participating in the conference advocated effective strategies for confronting this challenge.

Developing nations “are still impoverished, not only materially and economically, but in terms of equitable endowments and opportunities in the field of global information and communication”, said those delegates.

The ministers “stressed that self-reliance and South-South cooperation should be intensified to attain a higher level of activities to strengthen the information and communication infrastructure both at national and grouping level”.

UN urges Gulf oil states to help quake survivors

WASHINGTON, 23 Nov — As of Wednesday, 23 Nov, 2005, at least 2,997 members of the US military have died since the beginning of the Iraq war in March 2003, according to an Associated Press count. At least 1,653 died as a result of hostile action, according to the military’s numbers. The figures include five military civilians.

The AP count is 11 lower than the Defence Department’s tally, last updated at 10 am EST Wednesday. Since 1 May, 2003, when President Bush declared that major combat operations in Iraq had ended, 1,958 US military members have died, according to AP’s count. That includes at least 1,544 deaths resulting from hostile action, according to the military’s numbers.

Western donor countries have contributed or pledged 175 million US dollars towards a UN appeal for 550 million US dollars, about one-third, meaning relief operations are financed only for the next few weeks, UN emergency relief coordinator Jan Egeland said.

Egeland urged donors to ensure life-saving aid operations continue through the bitter, snowy winter stretching into April in mountainous Kashmir. From 100,000 to 150,000 people remain out of reach above the snowline.

Almost six million US dollars for long-term reconstruction was raised by a major funding conference organized by Pakistan last weekend, but may never be used if earthquake survivors lacking food and shelter succumb to the Himalayan winter.

“Donors have to understand we need to get things in the right order,” Egeland told a news conference in Geneva. MNA/Reuters

Iranian Supreme Leader says no limit on cooperation with Iraq

TEHRAN, 23 Nov — Iranian Supreme Leader Seyed Ali Khamenei said here on Tuesday that there was no limit for Iran on the development of cooperation with Iraq, the official IRNA news agency reported.

“Iran is proud of Iraq’s progress, security, independence and national strength and there is no limit on the development of cooperation with Iraq,” Khamenei was quoted as saying at a meeting with visiting Iraqi President Jalal Talabani.

Khamenei said Iran and Iraq enjoyed long-standing religious, cultural and historical affinity, stressing that Iran was pleased with the political process for the establishment of a democratic government in Iraq.

Khamenei called on the Iraqi nation to “leave behind the current ordeal” and foster national solidarity in order to pave the way for setting a timetable for the withdrawal of occupation forces.

“Iraqi people will be exposed to the US pressure if the government and Iraqi people fail to strengthen their unity,” Khamenei said.

For his part, Talabani expressed pleasure with his visit to Iran, terming the bilateral relations as strategic, according to IRNA. Earlier in the day, Talabani also met Chairman of the Expediency Council Akbar Hashemi Rafsanjani. Leading a ranking delegation, Talabani arrived in the Iranian capital Teheran on Monday afternoon for a three-day official visit. The Iraqi President held closed-door official talks with his Iranian counterpart Mahmoud Ahmadinejad soon after arrival.

China’s second hand car market faces huge potential

BEIJING, 23 Nov — China’s second hand car market will be in full swing in the next few years, with its annual trade volume to hit 5.3 million units in 2008, according to a recent forecast from the Chinese Ministry of Commerce.

The figure will be close to the new car’s trade volume, said Chinese economists. China expects to sell six million units in 2008, the ministry said.

From 1998 when China’s first regulation on the methods for the secondhand car trading was issued to 2003, China had experienced rapid growth in second hand car trading, with the annual growth rate exceeding 25 per cent. Currently, China’s trade volume of second hand cars is only one-third that of the new cars. As many developed countries, the trade volume of second hand cars usually doubles or triples that of the new cars.

Chinese economists forecast that there is a huge potential for the second hand car market in China.— MNA/Xinhua

6.1 tons of cocaine seized in Portugal

LISBON, 23 Nov — Portugal’s Judicial Police (PJ) announced on Tuesday that they seized 6.1 tons of cocaine and arrested seven suspects during a raid on Monday.

It was the largest ever single drug seizure in Portugal and the most important in Europe since the beginning of this year, said the police.

The drug was found in a warehouse in Loures, a municipality southeast of Lisbon, along with 19 mobile phones, 20,000 euros in cash (around 23,000 US dollars), a truck and four cars.

The cocaine came from Colombia. A Colombian and six Frenchmen were arrested in the raid.

US commander unsure Zarqawi death

WASHINGTON, 23 Nov — A top US commander in Iraq said on Tuesday he was not sure al-Qaeda’s top leader in Iraq, Abu Musab al-Zarqawi, was killed in a recent raid in the northern Iraqi city of Mosul.

Lieutenant-General John Vines, chief of the Multi-National Corps Iraq and commanding general of the US 18th Airborne Corps, said he had “absolutely no reason” to believe that Zarqawi was one of those killed in the operation over the weekend. “It is possible, but I have no reason to believe it,” Vines told a news briefing at the Pentagon from Iraq via video conference.

Anti-Iraq war protester Cindy Sheehan publishes book

WASHINGTON, 23 Nov — Anti-war protester Cindy Sheehan, mother of a US soldier killed in Iraq, released her first book entitled "Not One More Mother’s Child" as part of her campaign demanding the withdrawal of US troops from Iraq.

The book is a collection of diary entries, letters and speeches from Sheehan, who gained national attention over the summer when she camped outside of President George W Bush’s Texas ranch to demonstrate her opposition to the US-led war.

Sheehan, whose son Casey was killed in Iraq on 4 April, 2004, begins the book with an open letter addressed to Bush two days after his re-election in November 2004. “The 56,000,000 plus citizens who voted against you and your agenda have given me a mandate to move forward with my agenda,” Sheehan wrote, saying her goal was the “peaceful occupation” of his vacation ranch in Crawford, Texas.

Published by KOA Books, a small publishing house based in the US state of Hawaii, the book includes a foreword by John Conyers, a Michigan Democrat in the House of Representatives. The “peace mom” has been arrested at least twice while demonstrating in front of the White House and has urged opponents of the US presence in Iraq to commit acts of civil disobedience.

Sheehan was expected to return to Texas this week to join anti-war demonstrators outside Bush’s ranch where the President was celebrating the annual American holiday of Thanksgiving.— Internet

Lafaurie added that the government was wise to reject the free trade pact with the terms on offer.

The report also quoted Trade Minister Jorge Humber to Botero as saying in Washington that “my understanding is... Ecuador and Peru are equally dissatisfied; the US has to consider the possibility that it will not be able to close a deal with the three Andean nations.” — MNA/Xinhua
Vegetables, fruits cause more US food illnesses
WASHINGTON, 23 Nov — Contaminated fruits and vegetables are causing more food-borne illness among Americans than raw chicken or eggs, consumer advocates said in a report released on Monday.

Common sources of food illnesses include various bacteria such as salmonella and E coli that can infect humans and animals then make their way into manure used to fertilize plants. The practice of using manure fertilizer is more common in Latin America, which has become a growing source of fresh produce for the United States.

“Although poultry has historically been responsible for far more salmonella infections, in the most recent years... produce seems to be catching up,” the Centre for Science in the Public Interest (CSPI) said, calling for tougher federal food safety standards. In fact, vegetables and fruits triggered 31 outbreaks from 2002 to 2003, compared with 29 for chicken and other poultry, according to the report.

Overall, contaminated tomatoes, sprouts and other produce made 28,315 people sick during 554 outbreaks from 1990 to 2003 — 20 per cent of all cases, CSPI analyzed. — MNA/Reuters

Zimbabwe national airline grounded by fuel shortage
HARARE, 23 Nov — Zimbabwe’s state-owned national airline has grounded its entire fleet after running out of fuel as the southern African country’s economy continues to crumble, company officials said on Tuesday.

Critics blame President Robert Mugabe’s controversial policies and government mismanagement for a long-running crisis that has left a once vibrant economy struggling with shortages of food, fuel, foreign currency and a devaluing infrastructure.

A senior Air Zimbabwe official said on Tuesday the national passenger carrier was forced to ground all seven of its planes on Monday, and to cancel all its domestic and international flights “until further notice” due to fuel shortages.

Air Zimbabwe officials say people were caught unaware at Harare Airport on Monday, leaving passengers milling at check-in counters. But on Tuesday the airline ran radio advertisements advising passengers to check for new developments.

Air Zimbabwe’s board of directors has responded to the grounding by suspending the airline’s chief executive officer Tendai Mahachi and two other top managers, with transport officials saying Mugabe’s government felt embarrassed by the halting of flights.

“All planes have been grounded because there is no adequate foreign currency to buy fuel and flights have been suspended until further notice,” said one Air Zimbabwe official. — MNA/Reuters

Angela Merkel elected as Germany’s Chancellor
BERLIN, 23 Nov — Angela Merkel became Germany’s first female chancellor on Tuesday, ending months of political uncertainty and ushering in a fragile new coalition of left and right that must prove it can revive Europe’s biggest economy.

Merkel, the 51-year-old pastor’s daughter who started her political career after the Berlin Wall fell in 1989, was confirmed in Germany’s top post by a parliamentary vote in which 397 of the Bundestag’s 614 members backed her — easily enough for the majority she needed in the Lower House. She became Germany’s eighth postwar chancellor, its youngest and the first to have grown up in the ex-communist east. “Dear Dr Merkel, you are now the first ever elected female head of government in Germany. That is a strong signal for many women, and certainly for some men too,” joked parliamentary speaker Norbert Lammert, who swore Merkel into office. Her predecessor Gerhard Schroeder, who initially refused to cede his post when her conservatives narrowly beat his Social Democrats in a 18 September election, was the first to congratulate Merkel after the vote and left out a hushed chamber.

Schroeder later handed over the Chancellery keys to Merkel in an emotional ceremony in which he wished her luck and she thanked him for modernizing Germany. — MNA/Reuters

Blair admits failings in Afghan drugs policy
LONDON, 23 Nov — Prime Minister Tony Blair on Tuesday admitted failings in a British-led policy to stamp out the opium trade in Afghanistan following the 2001 US-led invasion.

Blair said “not nearly enough” progress had been made in eliminating poppy cultivation.

“I think we were too optimistic about an eradication programme. That has to take place over a period of time,” he told a parliamentary committee.

“I do accept we’ve not done nearly enough,” said the prime minister, who added “we’ve made a big commitment” to use military means to destroy the crop.

Afghanistan is by far the world’s biggest source of illicit opium and its opium poppy fields should be dismantled, Blair said, adding any effort to send to Afghanistan in the West would need to “be very very tough.”

Critics blame President Hamid Karzai’s government for a lack of progress on drug eradication. “I think poppy cultivation is down — according to the UN, 20 per cent this year — but I can’t wish it to be that which we failed to do,” Blair said. He said he believed a better process was now being put in place because Afghanistan’s Government was now focused on wiping out the drugs trade.

Asked about the country’s security, Blair said Britain had yet to decide to send any more troops to Afghanistan. “I believe we have to send to Afghanistan when it takes command of the NATO-led International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) peacekeeping operation in May and deploys an Afghan Rapid Reaction Corps. London was seeking troops from other countries.

NAM countries to revitalize broadcasting organization
KUALA LUMPUR, 23 Nov — Information ministers of member countries of the Non-Aligned Movement (NAM) on Tuesday acknowledged the need to make fresh efforts to revitalize its broadcasting organization.

The Broadcasting Organization of Non-Aligned Countries (BONAC) should be revitalized to play its rightful role in disseminating information via radio and television among member countries as well as the world at large, said the ministers here.

The ministers also reaffirmed their belief that BONAC was an effective medium for transmitting factual news about the developing countries to the world, said the Kuala Lumpur Declaration endorsed at the closing of the Sixth Conference of the Ministers of Information of Non-Aligned Countries.

Delegates attending the conference urged all NAM countries to cooperate in the consolidation of the broadcasting organization, adding that common strategies should be mapped out to create a conducive environment for it to operate in a more effective manner.

Noting the rapid advances in broadcasting technology, information ministers resolved to work together to face all challenges ahead, said the declaration on NAM information and communication collaboration.

Earlier, at the senior officials meetings held last week, Malaysia proposed setting up a Special Working Committee to study and make recommendations to revitalize the BONAC.

The special committee should convene within the duration of six months and its members should comprise delegates from four regions, namely, Africa, Asia, Latin America and the Caribbean as well as Europe, according to a status report on the BONAC prepared by Malaysia. — MNA/Xinhua

Nationalistic spirit which national people should be fully equipped

Myat Min Hlaing

The education national races gained from the colonialists did not generate any correct concepts, conviction, attitude and knowledge, and in consequence, the entire nation lagged behind in development in all sectors including political, social and economic aspects. National culture was hovering on the brink of extinction, and so were nationalistic fervour and vigour of national people.

85th Anniversary National Day Objectives

* To strengthen nationalist spirit and to ensure uplift of national prestige and integrity
* To promote national education
* Perpetuity of independence and sovereignty of the State
* To achieve success in realization of the seven-point Road Map

The patriotic youths thus born of the national education movement carried on the independence struggle joining hands with the national races risking their lives. A large number of patriots produced by the national education movement and the mass of the people won back the national independence on 4 January 1948 as they had fought the battles sacrificing their lives and property.

During the independence struggle, it was highly necessary to keep nationalism alive and dynamic among the people. Even today, the neo-colonialists are out to commit acts of aggression and intimidation, but they do not resort to obvious means like the use of force. As there are advances in science and technology, they are committing acts of infiltration, penetration and interferences through mass media against the targeted nations under humanitarian, economic, human rights and narcotic drug pretexts. This being so, one and all need to safeguard the Union based on patriotism and Union Spirit.

It is very important for everyone of the nation wherever he lives to cultivate and possess strong Union Spirit. We need to acknowledge that only Union Spirit is the true patriotism all the nationalities will have to uphold and safeguard.

Hence, qualified human resources developed under the national education promotion programme are to serve and safeguard the national interests. These human resources, equipped with nationalistic spirit, are to work in concert with the State and the people in discharging duties for the emergence of a peaceful, modern and developed nation and building a discipline-flourishing democratic nation.

Health sector witnesses sustained progress

Development of health in the time of the Tatmadaw Government

Myanmar wins awards presented by World Health Organization

Myanmar is translating health policies and objectives into action and carrying out tasks which will help uplift the health standard of the entire people.

Under the guidance and support of the government and the National Health Committee, the Ministry of Health, in cooperation with other related departments, social organizations, wellwishers and international organization, is discharging its duties to uplift the health standard and thanks to the concerted efforts made by health staff, achievements in the health sector can be witnessed one after another.

Eradication of polio and elimination of leprosy in the country are the living proof of Myanmar’s efforts to uplift health standard. International community has acknowledged Myanmar’s efforts and the World Health Organization presented awards to the country.

After regaining independence, Myanmar has been cooperating with WHO in health care services. In acknowledgment of people’s participation in providing initial health care services, WHO, for the first time, awarded Sasakawa Health Prize to Ayadaw Township in Sagaing Division.

It not only links Yangon and Kyaukpyu but also Rakhine State (North) and (South). Rakhine State was not easily accessible in the past. The government is building the road transportation infrastructure and infrastructures for education and health sectors in Rakhine State simultaneously.

Although Yangon-Kyaukpyu Road has not been officially inaugurated, anyone can travel from Kyaukpyu to Taungup and Yangon, and Kyaukpyu to An by car along the road. It not only links Yangon and Kyaukpyu but also Rakhine State (North) and (South).

The government is basing on the achievements in education, health, economic and transportation sectors and is implementing the seven-point Road Map for smooth transition to Democracy.

In implementing the development tasks, the government and people are to carry out the tasks in unity and we all are to accept the concept that the development of the State is the national concern, he urged.

During the tour, Central Executive Committee members of Union Solidarity and Development Association Minister Brig-Gen Maung Maung Thein and Minister Brig-Gen Tin Naing Thein on 22 November also met with USDA members at Thandwe District USDA office.

FAO says better nutrition education helps reduce malnutrition

ROME, 24 Nov — Poverty and a lack of nutritional education are to blame for the unhealthy diets of millions of people across the world, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) declared on Tuesday.

"To be food secure, families need sufficient resources to produce or purchase adequate food," said FAO Nutrition Officer Peter Glasauer, "but people also need an understanding of what constitutes an appropriate diet for their lives, the official said.

He stressed that nutritional education was key to developing the skills and motivation to make the best food choice available to them."

"The Family Nutrition Guide published by the FAO helps governments and non-governmental organizations to inform and motivate people to adopt healthy diets and lifestyles throughout the world."

Angel Merkel elected as Germany’s Chancellor

BERLIN, 23 Nov — Angela Merkel became Germany’s first female chancellor on Tuesday, ending months of political uncertainty and ushering in a fragile new coalition of left and right that must prove it can revive Europe’s biggest economy.

Merkel, the 51-year-old pastor’s daughter who started her political career after the Berlin Wall fell in 1989, was confirmed in Germany’s top post by a parliamentary vote in which 397 of the Bundestag’s 614 members backed her — easily enough for the majority she needed in the Lower House.

She became Germany’s eighth postwar chancellor, its youngest and the first to have grown up in the ex-communist east.

“Dear Dr Merkel, you are now the first ever elected female head of government in Germany. That is a strong signal for many women, and certainly for some men too,” joked parliamentary speaker Norbert Lammert, who swore Merkel into office.

Her predecessor Gerhard Schroeder, who initially refused to cede his post when her conservatives narrowly beat his Social Democrats in a September 18 election, was the first to congratulate Merkel after the result was read out to a hushed chamber.

Schroeder later handed over the Chancellery keys to Merkel in an emotional ceremony in which he wished her luck and she thanked him for modernizing Germany. — MNA/Reuters

FAO says better nutrition education helps reduce malnutrition

"To be food secure, families need sufficient resources to produce or purchase adequate food," said FAO Nutrition Officer Peter Glasauer, "but people also need an understanding of what constitutes an appropriate diet for good health, and they must have the skills and motivation to make the best food choice available to them."

He stressed that nutritional education was key to developing the skills and motivation needed to eat well, adding that it was especially important in situations where families had limited resources. He also said that it was in those same low-income situations that the challenge of providing nutritional education was often the greatest.

A lack of trained personnel, coupled with a shortage of libraries, books, guidelines, Internet connections and other sources of information, made education about nutrition a formidable challenge. But meeting this challenge was essential if progress was to be made on the global commitment to reach the Millennium Development Goals (MDGs), the FAO official indicated.

Fundamentally, the MDGs were about improving the health and welfare of the poor, and in most instances this could not occur without improvements in nutrition, Glasauer said. As part of its global efforts to strengthen nutritional education activities, the FAO has distributed a large amount of educational material around countries across the world.

The Family Nutrition Guide published by the FAO helps governments and non-governmental organizations to inform and motivate people to adopt healthy diets and lifestyles throughout their lives, the official said. — MNA/Xinhua
China develops new oilfield in Bohai Sea

BEIJING, 23 Nov—China National Offshore Oil Company Limited (CNOOC Ltd) announced Tuesday that a new oilfield in East China’s Bohai Bay has started commercial production.

The Luda (LD) 5-2 is producing at a volume of more than 2,200 barrels of oil per day from four wells, said CNOOC Ltd.

LD 5-2, with a water depth of about 30 metres, is located in the Liaoqiong Bay of Bohai Bay. It is adjacent to the producing field Suizhong 36-1.

The peak gross production capacity is 9,600 barrels of oil per day with 22 producing wells on line.

To date, LD fields, consisting of three fields, LD 4-2, LD10-1, LDS-2, have come on stream successfully. Owning to the joint development and sharing with Suizhong 36-1 of its producing facilities, the fields are expected to deliver better economic returns.

Liu Jian, Executive Vice-President of the Company, said that CNOOC limited discovered and developed the three LD fields independently and it takes only three years to bring them on line.

CNOOC Ltd holds 100 per cent interest of the field and acts as the operator.— MNA/Xinhua

US “dirty bomb” suspect indicted

WASHINGTON, 23 Nov—A federal grand jury has indicted Jose Padilla, a US citizen suspected of plotting a “dirty bomb” attack in the United States, for conspiring to “murder, kidnap and maim” people overseas and providing material support to terrorists abroad.

Upon a directive of the President, Padilla was “no longer being detained by the Department of Defence as an enemy combatant,” Attorney General Alberto Gonzales said at a news conference on Tuesday.

The Pentagon would transfer the custody of Padilla to the Justice Department, he said.

The 11-count indictment was handed up last Thursday by a federal grand jury in the US District Court in Miami, Florida, and was unsealed Tuesday.— MNA/Xinhua

Thousands still missing after Hurricane “Katrina”

WASHINGTON, 23 Nov—The whereabouts of 6,644 people, reported missing after Hurricane Katrina hit the US Gulf Coast in late August, have not been determined, raising the prospect that the death toll from the disaster could be higher than the 1,306 recorded so far in Louisiana and Mississippi, the USA Today newspaper reported Tuesday.

Workers counting the victims were particularly concerned about an estimated 1,300 unaccounted-for people who lived in areas that were heavily damaged by Katrina, or who were disabled at the time the storm hit, the report said, quoting Kym Pasquini, chief executive officer of the National Centre for Missing Adults, a group working with the federal government to account for victims.

Some of those on the list of people still missing were likely to be among the 301 unidentified victims whose bodies were at a Louisiana State morgue. These victims were already included in the death total, the report said.

Most of those who probably were reunited with relatives after the children were reported missing during evacuations in New Orleans of Louisiana and Mississippi, according to Ernie Allen, president of the National Centre for Missing & Exploited Children.

Bangkok to host WTEF in 2006

BANGKOK, 23 Nov—Bangkok was chosen to host the 2nd World Toilet Expo and Forum (WTEF) on November 16-18 next year, the official Thai News Agency said Tuesday.

Organized by the World Toilet Organization (WTO) with support of the Thai Ministry of Public Health (MPH), the 2006 global hygiene showcase will be held at the IMPACT Exhibition and Convention Centre in Bangkok.

WTO founder Jack Sim was quoted as saying that the meeting will be a platform for the international and local communities to explore ways to improve the living environment, exchange ideas and innovate products and services in the hygiene and toiletrated industries.

Sim said the staging of the event in Bangkok is in line with the Thai Government’s ‘Healthy Thailand’ campaign, as the MPH earlier announced its ‘development strategy for Thai public toilets’ based on the three principles of health, accessibility and safety to fulfill its vision to make available clean public toilets and to educate and encourage users to exercise good toilet hygiene practices.

The Expo will feature a display on the development of toilets in Thailand, showcase the latest toilet-related trends, technologies, products and services from leading industry names. Some 500 delegates from 47 WTO member associations in 35 countries are expected to attend the event.

The World Toilet Expo & Forum was launched in Shanghai in May 2005.

The first three-day event with the theme ‘Gracious Living for a Model City’ attracted over 205 participants from 20 countries.

HK Customs crack two drug cases

HONG KONG, 23 Nov—Hong Kong Customs officers of the Airport Command have cracked two cases of drug trafficking by means of express air parcels at the Hong Kong International Airport, the Customs said on Monday.

They seized 0.5 kilos of ketamine in a hollowed-out book on 16 November, and one kilo of cocaine in 10 pairs of hollowed-out slippers sent by express parcels on 17 November, altogether with a retail value of about 880,000 HK dollars.

Investigation is under way and no one has been arrested so far. A spokesman from the Customs said the officers at control points would remain vigilant at all times to clamp down on drug trafficking activities.

Under the Dangerous Drugs Ordinance, the maximum penalty for the offense of trafficking in dangerous drugs is life imprisonment and a fine of five million HK dollars. — MNA/Xinhua

Greece seeks return of antiquities from US museum

ATHENS, 23 Nov—Greece will request the return of four allegedly stolen Greek antiquities from the J Paul Getty Museum in Los Angeles, the Culture Ministry said on Monday.

Greek authorities say the Getty paid 5.2 million US dollars in 1993 for the pieces, which include a gold funerary wreath dated from the 4th Century BC.

US museums’ policies for acquiring ancient artifacts have come under scrutiny, after Italian authorities accused the Getty’s former curator of antiquities, Marion True, of receiving stolen antiquities from Italy.

True is on trial in Rome on charges that she conspired with dealers to traffic in looted antiquities.

True resigned last month after museum officials determined she had violated rules by failing to provide details of her purchase of a vacation home on a Greek island.

Romania confirms H5N1 virus in Danube delta poultry

BUCHAREST, 23 Nov—Romania’s Agriculture Ministry said on Monday that laboratory tests in Britain had confirmed the deadly H5N1 virus in poultry found dead last week in a Danube delta village.

“Regarding the samples in Caraorman, the laboratory in London confirmed it was the highly pathogenic H5N1 virus,” the ministry said on its website.

Romania said on 14 November that four new cases of avian flu in domestic birds had been discovered in Caraorman.

It said the village, which has no road access, would be quarantined and 2,000 domestic birds would be slaughtered.

The Balkan state last month became the first country in mainland Europe to detect the deadly H5N1 virus in poultry in two villages in the Danube delta, Europe’s largest wetlands near the Black Sea.

The H5N1 strain has killed more than 60 people in Asia since 2003 and led to the slaughter of millions of domestic birds.

Scientists fear the virus might mutate into a form that could be easily transmitted between humans. — MNA/Reuters

NZ police seize large drugs factory

WELLINGTON, 23 Nov—A large and sophisticated drugs factory has been found by New Zealand Police who raided a South Auckland warehouse, said the police on Tuesday.

Adriano hat-trick fires Inter through to last 16

MILAN, 24 Nov — Brazilian Adriano struck a hat-trick as Inter Milan assured their place in the knockout stage of the Champions League with a 4-0 win over Skopje in Group H on Wednesday.

Adriano’s treble, after Luis Figo’s opener, made sure Inter moved on to an insurmountable 12 points at the top of the group with one game remaining.

The game was played behind closed-doors at a freezing San Siro Stadium as Inter served the final of a four-match ban imposed after crowd trouble at last season’s quarterfinal tie with city rivals AC Milan.

Adding to the unusual nature of the match, Inter’s starting line-up featured no Italians and just one European-born player – the Portuguese Figo.

Along with the former Madrid winger, Roberto Mancini’s team was made up of Cameroon defender Pierre Wome and nine players’hailing from South America.

Inter knew a draw would be enough to secure passage from the group but set out with the clear intention of winning the game and Argentine Juan Sebastián Veron went close early on with a volley from a corner.

Brazilian Adriano then burst into the box from the right and curled a shot towards the far corner but his effort was cleared off the line by Balde.

The breakthrough for Inter came in the 27th minute when Veron and Figo exchanged passes with the latter cleverly slotting home.

Three minutes later Armitad had their first and only effort on goal — a well-struck shot from Jan Kozak bringing Inter’s Brazilian keeper Julio Cesar into action.

Four minutes before the break Figo turned provider with a ball over the top to Adriano which the Brazilian took in his stride before racing goalwards and beating Juraj Cobej with a low shot.

The goal was Adriano’s first since his double against AS Roma on 26th October.

Draw with Betis puts holders Liverpool through

LIVERPOOL, 24 Nov — Holders Liverpool booked their place in the knockout stage of the Champions League despite being held 0-0 at home by Real Betis on Wednesday.

The draw ensured unbeaten Liverpool took the point they needed to qualify along with Chelsea from Group G while Real Betis had to settle for a UEFA Cup place.

With one game to go Liverpool are top on 11 points, one clear of Chelsea. Betis have three points less than Chelsea but the Spaniards cannot qualify as they have an inferior head-to-head record with the English champions.

Liverpool should have won convincingly on Wednesday, with striker Peter Crouch again failing to convert a series of chances. He has now failed to score in any of his 16 matches for the European champions.

The 2-0-tall England international missed two easy headers in the space of four first half minutes.

Captain Steven Gerrard was also guilty of a poor miss in the final moments when he shot straight at keeper Antonio Doblas after being put clean through by substitute Harry Kewell’s penetrating pass.

Spanish striker Fernando Morientes had a good chance blocked by David Rivas and also hooked a shot wide from Crouch’s cushioned header.

Liverpool have conceded just one goal in nearly nine hours of European football dating back to May’s Champions League final and Real Betis never looked like doubling that total.

Ajax beat Sparta Prague 2-1 to reach knockout phase

AMSTERDAM, 23 Nov — Ajax Amsterdam reached the Champions League knockout phase after two second-half goals by substitute Nigel de Jong gave them a 2-1 win over Sparta Prague in Group B on Tuesday.

The Dutch international broke the deadlock after 68 minutes with a header and made it 2-0 a minute before time.

In the final minute captain Martin Petras pulled one back from close range for Sparta.

Ajax secured second spot in the group with 10 points after five matches, five behind leaders and already qualified Arsenal, who beat FC Thun 1-0 with a late Robert Pires penalty.

After a dull opening phase, Ajax had their first chance on 12 minutes when central defender Thomas Vermaelen, unmarked at the far post, headed Wesley Sneijder’s cross wide.

Despite the intentions of Sparta coach Stanislav Griga, the Czechs pulled back in defence and failed to support their isolated striker Libor Dosek in the few moments of possession.

Midway through the second half De Jong, who replaced the disappoint- ing Olaf Lindenberg, struck for Ajax.

Chelsea cruise past Anderlecht into last 16

BRUSSELS, 24 Nov — English champions Chelsea qualified for the Champions League knockout phase after a convincing 2-0 victory at Anderlecht in Group G on Wednesday.

The win puts the London side on 10 points and out of reach of third-placed Real Betis.

Argentine forward Hernan Crespo put Chelsea ahead in the eighth minute with a close-range sidefooted volley after Frank Lampard, who later hit the post, delivered a precise cross.

Portugal defender Ricardo Carvalho added a second after 15 minutes with a right-foot strike to the top corner from five metres following Crespo’s flicked header from a corner.

Shevchenko hits four to sink Fenerbahce

ISTANBUL, 24 Nov — Andriy Shevchenko scored four goals to lead AC Milan to a crushing 4-0 win over Fenerbahce in their Group E match on Wednesday, putting the Italian side’s Champions League campaign firmly back on course.

The win took Milan top of the group level on eight points with their final opponents Schalke 04, who beat PSV Eindhoven 3-0. The Turkish club’s hopes of advancing in the competition were ended as they remain bottom of the group with four points.

Shevchenko is only the fifth player in Champions League history to score four goals in a single match. His first-half strike was his 50th goal in UEFA competition.

Sprinting from the halfway line, he picked up a pass from Clarence Seedorf and raced into the area to slot the ball beyond Fenerbahce keeper Volkan Demirel.

The Ukrainian doubled Milan’s lead early in the second half. Receiving a pass from Alberto Gilardino, he beat one player and scored with a powerful drive from outside the area.

The European Player of the Year made it a hat-trick on 70 minutes with an easy side-foot after a cross from Serhiu. His fourth was a similar tap-in off a cross from Christian Vieri.

The Germanrued the absence of a trio of Brazilian players, with playmaker Alex sidelined with a hamstring injury while defender Fabio Luciano and midfielder Marco Aurelio were both suspended.

Shevchenko’s third goal drew applause from the Turkish crowd and Milan had a series of other chances to score after the home side’s resolve collapsed.

Liverpool (England), 24 Nov — Holders Liverpool booked their place in the knockout stage of the Champions League despite being held 0-0 at home by Real Betis on Wednesday.

The draw ensured unbeaten Liverpool took the point they needed to qualify along with Chelsea from Group G while Real Betis had to settle for a UEFA Cup place.

With one game to go Liverpool are top on 11 points, one clear of Chelsea. Betis have three points less than Chelsea but the Spaniards cannot qualify as they have an inferior head-to-head record with the English champions.

Liverpool should have won convincingly on Wednesday, with striker Peter Crouch again failing to convert a series of chances. He has now failed to score in any of his 16 matches for the European champions.

The 2-0-tall England international missed two easy headers in the space of four first half minutes.

Captain Steven Gerrard was also guilty of a poor miss in the final moments when he shot straight at keeper Antonio Doblas after being put clean through by substitute Harry Kewell’s penetrating pass.

Spanish striker Fernando Morientes had a good chance blocked by David Rivas and also hooked a shot wide from Crouch’s cushioned header.

Liverpool have conceded just one goal in nearly nine hours of European football dating back to May’s Champions League final and Real Betis never looked like doubling that total.

Ajax beat Sparta Prague 2-1 to reach knockout phase

AMSTERDAM, 23 Nov — Ajax Amsterdam reached the Champions League knockout phase after two second-half goals by substitute Nigel de Jong gave them a 2-1 win over Sparta Prague in Group B on Tuesday.

The Dutch international broke the deadlock after 68 minutes with a header and made it 2-0 a minute before time.

In the final minute captain Martin Petras pulled one back from close range for Sparta.

Ajax secured second spot in the group with 10 points after five matches, five behind leaders and already qualified Arsenal, who beat FC Thun 1-0 with a late Robert Pires penalty.

After a dull opening phase, Ajax had their first chance on 12 minutes when central defender Thomas Vermaelen, unmarked at the far post, headed Wesley Sneijder’s cross wide.

Despite the intentions of Sparta coach Stanislav Griga, the Czechs pulled back in defence and failed to support their isolated striker Libor Dosek in their few moments of possession.

Midway through the second half De Jong, who replaced the disappoint- ing Olaf Lindenberg, struck for Ajax.

Russia acts to curb foreign rights bodies, charities

MOSCOW, 24 Nov — Russia took a step towards curbing the activities of foreign human rights bodies and charities on Wednesday when Parliament backed a draft law that will assert tight state supervision over non-governmental organizations.

The State Duma (Lower House) voted by 370 for, with 18 deputes against, in the first reading of a bill that would make NGOs — from human rights and green groups to medical charities and sport clubs — re-register, while increasing state supervision of them.

Some observers say the move reflects the Kremlin’s deep suspicion of such bodies following the “Orange Revolution” in Ukraine in December 2004 that overthrew a Moscow candidate for the presidency.

NGO leaders had appealed to Parliament, which is packed with President Vladimir Putin’s loyalists, to reject the bill, saying the law will allow the Kremlin to seize control of the last area of public life outside its reach.

Putin, whose five years in power have been marked by greater centralization of power and tight control of mass media, last July attacked the political activities of foreign-funded NGOs, saying: “He who pays the piper pays the tune.”

The bill would also bar foreign NGOs from working in Russia directly — representative offices would be banned — and restrict Russian organizations’ ability to accept foreign cash or employ non-Russian workers.

“We have seen what happened in Ukraine, Georgia, Moldova and how these local branches of foreign NGOs that are funded by the CIA functioned... We want to defend our citizens from the chaos which our country can be dragged into by these foreign NGOs...” Alexei Ostrovsky, a deputy of the nationalist LDPR party, said in support of the bill.

But opposition Communist deputy Viktor Ilyukhin said: “These are very tough measures. They could throw the baby out with the bathwater... We believe these are directed against opposition groups and so we are not voting in favour of this.”
