Russian Press says Cheney speech spurs new Cold War

MOSCOW, 6 May — A speech by US Vice-President Dick Cheney strongly critical of the Kremlin marks the start of a new Cold War that could drive Moscow away from its newfound Western allies, the Russian Press said on Friday.

In shocked reaction to the harshest US criticism of Moscow for years, commentators said Washington had created an anti-Russian cordon of Western-aligned states stretching from the Baltic almost to the Caspian Sea.

The Kremlin, in a reaction within hours of Cheney’s delivery in Vilnius, said the speech, which was full of accusations that Moscow was limiting human rights and using its energy riches to blackmail the world, was “completely incomprehensible”.

Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov declined to comment directly on Cheney, but said the meeting of former Communist satellites that the Vice-President had addressed appeared to be “united against someone”.

The Russian Press agreed, comparing Cheney’s words to a 1946 speech by British statesman Winston Churchill in Fulton, Missouri, when he said Europe was divided by an “Iron Curtain”.

“Enemy at the Gates. Dick Cheney made a Fulton speech in Vilnius,” said business daily Kommersant’s front-page headline.—MNA/Reuters

British troops copter die in Iraq copter crash

BASRA, 6 May — At least two British soldiers died when their helicopter crashed in Iraq’s second city, Basra, with five Iraqis killed in a firefight after a mob attacked troops seeking to recover the crew.

An AFP correspondent at the site of the crash saw two completely burned bodies of the copter crew. Following the clashes between civilians and British troops at the site of the crash, Iraqi police imposed a curfew in the city from 8:00 pm (1600 GMT) to 6:00 am (0200 GMT) Sunday, British spokesman Major Sebastian Muntz told AFP.

In London, Defence Minister Des Browne said that, “at this early stage, I can confirm the tragic deaths of a number of British service personnel.”

After the crash, as ground troops moved in to recover the copter crew, two British tanks and a Land Rover were set on fire by an angry crowd.

Shooting broke out between civilians and British troops, and five Iraqis, including two children, were killed. Basra police Lieutenant Haider Abdel Mahdi said. Another 28 people were wounded.

The AFP correspondent who witnessed the fight said a mob fired rockets at the British vehicles.

One soldier was wounded by a shrapnel and an AFP photographer was hit in the leg by a rubber bullet. “We still have not recovered the helicopter and also do not know the exact casualties.”

Muntz said the clashes were restricted to the site of the crash, which occurred at 11:55 am (0755 GMT).—INTERNET

India rejects amendments to nuclear deal

NEW DELHI, 6 May — India Thursday rejected suggestions by US Secretary of State Condoleezza Rice that New Delhi accept “amendments” to the civil nuclear agreement and asserted that it will strictly go by the 18 July joint statement agreed upon between the two countries last year.

“The government of India’s position remains that our commitments are those that are outlined in the joint statement of 18 July, 2005,” Indo-Asian News Service quoted Indian External Affairs Ministry spokesperson Navtej Sarna as saying.

He was responding to media reports that quote Rice telling Indian parliamentarians visiting the US that India should “be ready for some amendments” to the nuclear deal.

Last month India had rejected a US condition that it will terminate nuclear cooperation if New Delhi tested a nuclear device. The clause was included in a US draft agreement on civil nuclear cooperation between the two countries.

New Delhi underlined that it had already announced a voluntary moratorium on nuclear tests.

India and the US reached a deal on civil nuclear cooperation during a visit by Indian Prime Minister Manmohan Singh to Washington last July.

The deal on separating India’s civilian and military facilities was clinched when US President George Bush visited Delhi in March.

Iranian cleric says US, UN can’t bully Iran

TEHERAN, 6 May — Iran will not be pushed into abandoning its nuclear fuel work by United States pressure or a United Nations resolution, an influential cleric said on Friday.

Ahmad Khatami also told worshippers at Friday prayers in Teheran that any confrontation with Iran would regret the move “for ever...”

France, Britain and Germany, with US backing, have drafted a UN resolution that demands a halt to Iran’s nuclear fuel programme, which they fear is aimed not only at power stations but also at arms. Teheran denies the charge. “The US and the Security Council can rest assured that Iran is not a country to retreat in the face of bullying resolutions,” Khatami said.

Khatami, no relation of the former liberal president Mohammad Khatami, is a hardliner who sits on the Assembly of Experts, the body of 86 clerics that constitutionally supervises Supreme Leader Ayatollah Ali Khamenei.

“Iran is a strategically sensitive part of the region. Be assured that Iran’s insecurity means insecurity for the Middle East and the smoke will sting your eyes too,” he added, in remarks broadcast live on state radio. Iran is the world’s fourth biggest oil exporter and often warns any action against it will ramp up oil prices beyond levels developed economies can bear. It also holds a strong military vantage point over the world’s main oil-tanker nexus, the Strait of Hormuz, and Israel is within range of its ballistic missiles.

“If you take the path of confrontation instead of the path to negotiations... you should know that the reaction of the great Iranian nation will be something that the enemy will regret for ever,” Khatami added.

Russia’s ORT First Channel television ran video footage of a smouldering plane body and an engine painted in Armavia’s hallmark white and orange colours. It said four local workers had been injured in the accident.

Singapore ruling party returned to power with near sweep

SINGAPORE, 6 May — Singapore’s ruling party won all but two seats in the 84-member parliament in general elections, giving Prime Minister Lee Hsien Loong a resounding mandate to govern for another five years.

“We have a lot of work ahead of us,” the 54-year-old son of Singapore’s founding father Lee Kuan Yew told supporters after the widely expected victory of the People’s Action Party (PAP).

The British-educated former brigadier-general led the PAP in an election for the first time. He was appointed almost two years ago to replace Goh Chok Tong in a pre-arranged leadership reshuffle. Lee’s 82-year-old father and Goh, 64, who both served as top advisers to the previous cabinet, retained their parliamentary seats after running unopposed. In a news conference, Lee said the new PAP team elected Saturday, which included fresh faces recruited from the private sector and civil service, could steer Singapore for the next 15 to 20 years. Referring to the sometimes acrimonious campaign, Lee said “now that elections are over we should come together again as one people.”

The PAP’s victory was never in doubt and the vote was regarded as simply a referendum on the prime minister’s performance. — Internet

Annan calls for direct US-Iran nuclear talks

UNITED NATIONS, 6 May — UN Secretary-General Kofi Annan urged the United States on Thursday to enter direct talks with Iran over Teheran’s nuclear ambitions, saying this step could lead to an acceptable resolution of the crisis.

He said the Iranians may have been holding back in previous negotiations with EU powers Britain, France and Germany, and might be more forthcoming if the United States were at the table.

He made the suggestion in an interview on The NewsHour with Jim Lehrer on US public television stations.

Annan has long been pushing for a diplomatic solution to Iran’s nuclear activities. While Iran insists it wants only to produce nuclear power, the West accuses it of seeking nuclear arms under cover of a peaceful nuclear programme.

Britain, France and Germany, with US backing, on Wednesday circulated a draft UN Security Council resolution demanding that Iran suspend its nuclear activities. The draft text is written under Chapter 7 of the UN Charter that would make its demands legally binding under international law, and sponsors have warned they would push for targeted sanctions if Teheran continued to defy the demands.

“If everybody — all of the stakeholders and the key players — were around the table, I think it would be possible to work out a package that would satisfy the concerns of everybody,” Annan said when asked whether it was time for the United States to get involved in direct talks. — MNA/Xinhua

Iran reiterates right on civilian nuclear technologies

MOSCOW, 6 May — Iran has right to having civilian nuclear technologies as a signatory to the nonproliferation treaty, visiting Iranian Foreign Minister Manouchehr Mottaki said in Azerbaijan’s capital of Baku on Thursday.

“We insist on this. This is the decision of the Iranian people. The world community should not ignore the rights of countries to civilian nuclear power development. We hope that the UN Security Council will not adopt a resolution on Iran,” Mottaki was quoted by the ITAR-TASS news agency as saying.

Mottaki described the discussion of Iran’s nuclear problem in the UN Security Council as a political decision. He believes that Iran’s civilian nuclear policy is “a technical issue”.

“Iran’s nuclear programme should be discussed at the International Atomic Energy Agency,” he said. “The technical side of nuclear power should not be politicized by any single country,” he said.

He compared the current tensions over Iran’s nuclear problem with those that flared 55 years ago, when Iran nationalized the oil industry. — MNA/Xinhua

US helicopter crashes in Afghanistan

KABUL, 6 May — A US helicopter crashed while on combat operations in Afghanistan, killing all 10 American soldiers and crew on board, the military said on Saturday.

The CH-47 Chinook crashed late on Friday near Asadabad, the capital of the mountainous eastern province of Kunar.

The U.S. military said there was no indication the crash was a result of enemy fire. Taliban insurgents, however, claimed they shot down the helicopter.

“The remains of 10 servicemen were found in the aircraft. There were no survivors,” said US military spokeswoman Lieutenant Tamara Lawrence, adding the cause was being investigated.

Insurgents shot down an MH-47 — a special forces version of the CH-47 — with a rocket-propelled grenade in Kunar in June last year. All 16 US troops on board were killed.

US forces and Afghan government launched an offensive in Kunar last month. Insurgents have long been active in the province on the Pakistani border.

The United States has more than 19,000 troops in Afghanistan, battling insurgents and hunting for their leaders. It is aiming soon to cut its troop numbers to 16,500 as reinforcements from fellow NATO members take over more responsibilities.

Giant elephant makes a big noise near Downing Street

LONDON, 5 May — A giant mechanical elephant and an oversized mannequin threatened to disrupt coverage of Britain’s government reshuffle, momentarily diverting attention from the post-election shake-up.

The 12-metre-tall (39-feet) tall pachyderm came face-to-face with a 5.5-metre-tall “little girl” in London’s Whitehall, a stone’s throw from Blair’s Downing Street office where ministers were learning their fate.

But the rocket from which the girl emerged, complete with flying helmet and goggles, caused such a stir that there were some television news channels reporting “breaking news” of a loud bang heard in central London.

Once it was discovered the bang came from French theatre company Royal De Luxe’s oversized models, focus returned to the reshuffle.

The figures are designed to illustrate the story of a rich sultan who commissioned an inventor to create a time-travelling machine.

Autopsy report says teen suffocated at Florida boot camp

MIAMI, 6 May — A 14-year-old boy whose beating by guards at a Florida boot camp was captured on videotape died of suffocation due to actions of the guards, an official of the guards at the boot camp, Adams said in a written statement.

The autopsy found Martin Lee Anderson died because his mouth was blocked and he inhaled ammonia fumes, which resulted in a spasm in his vocal cords and a blockage in his airway.

People who viewed the videotape have said it appeared the guards administered ammonia capsules to try to keep Anderson conscious.

Anderson’s death on January 6 at a Panama City juvenile detention camp stirred a storm of controversy when a videotape of the beating was made public and a medical examiner found he died of internal bleeding from sickle cell trait, a previously undiagnosed blood disorder.

That finding, by Bay County Medical Examiner Dr Charles Siebert, was widely discredited and outraged Anderson’s relatives and civil rights groups.

The second autopsy, performed by Hillsborough County Medical Examiner Dr Vernard Adams, said the beating by the guards left bruises, but did not contribute to Anderson’s death.

“Martin Anderson’s death was caused by suffocation due to actions of the guards at the boot camp,” Adams said in a written statement.

China to have 60 million bloggers by end of 2006

BELING, 6 May — Blogging is booming in China with the number of bloggers expected to hit 60 million by the end of this year.

China is the world’s second-largest Internet market after the United States with more than 110 million users.

A survey by Chinese search engine Baidu.com put the current number of blog, or Web log, sites at 36.82 million which are kept by 16 million people, the official Xinhua news agency said on Saturday.

The number of Chinese bloggers is expected to hit 60 million by the end of this year, Xinhu said, quoting a report on China’s media industry by the prestigious Tsinghua University.

Russia says undecided on whether Iran is a threat

MOSCOW, 6 May — Russian Foreign Minister Sergei Lavrov said on Friday Moscow has yet to decide on whether Iran should be considered a threat, saying it would be guided by UN nuclear experts on the issue.

He was responding to remarks from his Iranian counterpart, Manouchehr Mottaki, that Russia and China “had officially told us... (of) their opposition to sanctions and military attacks” against the Islamic Republic.

“We have made no such announcements. In such an important and serious area like nuclear non-proliferation, we can make a decision only based on the opinions of experts,” Lavrov told reporters.

The inspections that have been held in Iran do not allow us to conclude that Iran has the technology to create weapons of mass destruction. But on the other hand, these inspections do not allow us to make the opposition conclusion.”

He spoke a day after discussion started between the five veto-holding members of the UN Security Council — Britain, China, France, Russia and the United States — over a resolution demanding Iran curb its nuclear ambitions.

After gorilla escape, Dallas gets safer

DALLAS, 6 May — Two years after a gorilla leaped out of his enclosure and attacked three people before being shot dead, the Dallas Zoo is reopening part of the exhibit with new safeguards.

The zoo spent $2.2 million to renovate the exhibit, including higher walls topped with electrified wire. Half the exhibit opens Saturday; the full exhibit opens in June.

Jabari, a western lowland gorilla, jumped over 12-foot walls and, during the roughly 40 minutes he was on the loose, the 13-year-old animal bit a toddler and two others before police killed him.

“You don’t ever get past anything like that — it’s such a vivid memory — but we have certainly used it as a springboard to make a lot of changes,” said zoo director Rick Buckerood.

The escape resulted in a nationwide rethinking of gorilla exhibits.

A cooperative that manages gorilla populations at more than 200 US zoos rewrote gorilla care and housing guidelines.

Dallas Zoo officials conducted a 3-month investigation and found that Jabari got a running start and sailed over a 12-foot-wide trench, cleared the wall and an electrical wire atop it.

Some experts speculate Jabari may have been doing a “display run,” a showy charge that younger males perform for females or other audiences. Others say he could have been motivated by fear, anger or desire to breed.

Zoo officials could not find evidence of human error, such as open doors, or any objects that could have aided his escape.

Universal Assistance Through Volunteering

Aung Kyaw Hsan (MRCS)

The 8th of May is the World Red Cross Day. As a gesture of honouring Henry Dunant, the founder of Red Cross movement, and helping all the world people bear in mind such humanitarian organizations as international Red Cross societies and national Red Cross societies and Red Cross movements, the date of his birth, 8 May, has been designated as World Red Cross Day, and it has been celebrated around the world since 8 May 1948.

It is most encouraging that over 97 million Red Cross volunteers of the national Red Cross societies of 183 countries managed to alleviate human suffering of more than 220 million victims all over the world. The World Red Cross Day, an auspicious day, is observed to honour Red Cross volunteers who contribute towards human beings in successive eras. On such an auspicious occasion, the entire Myanmar sees World Red Cross Day commemorative competitions, awarding ceremonies, dissemination of humanitarian principles and values, basic and advanced first aid courses, FA instructor courses, community-based first aid (CBFA) courses (instructors / multiplier), commemorative exhibitions and humanitarian activities.

National Red Cross Societies of 183 countries, members of the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies, are celebrating the World Red Cross Day through humanitarian contributions today. This year’s World Red Cross Day motto is “Universal Assistance Through Volunteering”.

Henry Dunant, who was born in Geneva, Switzerland, on 8 May 1828, came from a devout and charitable Calvinist family. He was an eyewitness of the Battle of Solferino (1859), which was the most violent of its kind in Europe at that time, which resulted in nearly 40,000 casualties.

He cared for wounded soldiers without distinction of race or creed. He wrote a book “A Memory of Solferino” in 1862 based on a memoir of his experiences, in which he advocated the establishment of an international network of volunteer relief agencies. Due to his ideas, the five-member committee (now International Committee of the Red Cross) was formed in Geneva, Switzerland, in 1863.

The ICRC validates every national Red Cross society whose formation is in conformity with the seven fundamental principles of the Red Cross Movement. So far, the number of valid national Red Cross societies has reached 183. In 1919, these societies were combined into the International Federation of Red Cross and Red Crescent Societies (previously League of Red Cross Societies). A total of 192 nations ratified the International Humanitarian Law, which came into existence on 12 August, 1949.

Red Cross Movement means humanitarian activities that are carried out in line with the seven fundamental principles of the Red Cross Movement — humanity, impartiality, neutrality, independence, voluntary service, unity and universality — by ICRC, IFRC, and national Red Cross societies. Those who carry out humanitarian activities for vulnerable and victims in consonance with the seven principles within the framework of the law are Red Cross volunteers. Indeed, Red Cross volunteers play a major role in realizing the objectives and aims of the Myanmar Red Cross Society.

The MRCS has a good reputation for sacrificing and brilliant performances by its members, as evidenced by Red Cross Sergeant Saing Aung Hlaing Myint (1977) who won Henry Dunant Award, and Major Daw Khin Ohn Mya (1963), Nurse Staff Officer Daw M Yaw Nam (1993) and Midwife Daw Theyn Yee (1995) who won Florence Nightingale Award. There are a large number of Red Cross members and volunteers in States and Divisions, districts and townships who made and have been making sacrifices. I write this article in honour of such Red Cross members and volunteers on the occasion of the World Red Cross Day.

LBVD issues reminder regarding restocking programme in bird flu-affected poultry farms

YANGON, 7 May — From the first week of March 2006 the bird flu occurred in Mandalay and Sagaing Divisions. As a result, 340,000 chickens and 320,000 quails from 545 farms in 13 townships were culled. The spread of the bird flu had been under control since early April. Some of the farm owners wish to start restocking programme.

Regarding restocking programme in bird flu-affected poultry farms, Livestock Breeding and Veterinary Department (LBVD) issued a reminder to breeders.

Spraying pesticides: Spraying pesticides in poultry farms has been conducted according to schedules since the occurrence of the bird flu. Diagnosis of the disease/surveillance of chicken health: Measures on collection of samples of chicken and quail farms in the area of the destroyed farms, spread of the bird flu, regular diagnosis in laboratory and surveillance of chicken health in other poultry farms are being taken.

Restocking: According to the Animal Health Code of the World Animal Health Organization, suggestions of FAO experts and experience based on the bird flu-hit countries, observation will be carried out for at least two months in order to prevent the reoccurrence of the bird flu. Only when the situation is safe will restocking programmes and provision of chicken and feedstuff be implemented.

Bird flu free area: Necessary measures are to be taken for announcement of Mandalay and Sagaing Divisions as bird flu free areas according to the Animal Health Code of the World Animal Health Organization if there is no further outbreak of the disease in those divisions in six months.

Cooperation with international experts on bird flu: Under the FAO programme two experts on bird flu from Australia and Britain arrived in Yangon on 6 May. They will make field trips to the restricted townships in Mandalay and Sagaing Divisions for two months and discuss control of the disease in cooperation with LBVD staff.

Preventive measures and bio security: The sub-committees comprising LBVD, Health Department, Myanmar Livestock Breeding Federation and township and village authorities will carry out preventive measures, bio security and educative activities for farmers in cooperation with FAO, UNICEF, ICE information, communication, education on Knowledge Attitude Practice (KAP).

Establishment of supporting communication systems: Communication Network such as Animal Production and Health Information System in ASEAN Countries (APHISA), World Animal Health Information System (WAHIS) and ASEAN Region Animal Health Information System (ARAHIS) will be established.

Warning of animal health: Therefore the LBVD has informed Myanmar Livestock Breeding Federation and breeders that arrangements for restocking programme will be made if the farms have been free from bird flu for about two months. Only chickens and quails of farms, registered at the LBVD, which are free from the disease, will be permitted to raise. Illegally imported chickens and quails and those which fail to register at LBVD and have no animal health certificate will not be permitted to raise at the farms.

Doctored Course on Buddhism to be opened soon in Nepal

KATHMANDU, 7 May — The Lumbini Buddha University (LBU) of Nepal is set to run Doctored Course on Buddhism aiming to address the crunch of teaching manpower on the subject at the higher level, an official at LBU said here Saturday.

The newly opened semi-government university in Tenhawa Village of central Parsa District, some 100 kilometres south of Kathmandu, has asked 15 students who applied for the course to submit their research proposals, Kedar Shakya, LBU registrar, told reporters.

Students from Thailand, Japan, Sri-Lanka, Germany, America and Russia have also contacted for seeking enrolment in the three-year doctored course, Shakya revealed.

The students of Buddhism applying for a doctor degree need not do Masters in Philosophy as a prerequisite, according to the LBU.

The university is yet to start courses in Buddhist studies at the intermediate and bachelor levels.

“The development of curriculum for the courses is nearing completion and the courses will be introduced within this year,” Shakya said.

He said that the courses of bachelor and master level would also be of three years duration but Academic Council of the University is yet to take a decision.

The demand of manpower specializing in Buddhist religion from the foreign educational institutions was very high, he said.

“The first World Buddhist Convention held in Lumbini, the birth place of Lord Buddha in western Nepal, had endorsed the proposal of instituting a Buddha University,” he said. — MNA/Xinhua

UN staffer shot and wounded in eastern Chad

ABECHI (Chad), 7 May — A Spanish UN aid worker has been shot and wounded in eastern Chad as attacks on humanitarian staff intensify in the Central African country next to Sudan’s troubled Darfur, aid officials said on Saturday.

A man dressed in military fatigue jumped down from a pick-up truck and shot the aid worker at close range in the arm on Friday night in the town of Abeche, before making off with her United Nations jeep, officials quoted witnesses as saying.

“This is the first time that an aid worker has been injured in an attack here,” said Claire Bourgeois, who heads the UN operations in Abeche. “We really need the authorities to ensure our security.”

Attackers ranging from Army defectors and rebels to common bandits have been taking advantage of a security vacuum in eastern Chad in recent months.

Friday’s theft was the 24th time a humanitarian vehicle has been stolen but the shooting has set aid workers on edge.

ASEAN Labour Ministers Meeting focuses on OSH

SINGAPORE, 6 May—The 19th Association of South East Asian Nations (ASEAN) Labour Ministers Meeting was held here on Friday with the theme of occupational safety and health (OSH).

Labour ministers and senior officials from the ASEAN member countries recognized that OSH is an integral part of a country’s development and that OSH policies and programmes should be an important element of ASEAN labour co-operation, according to a joint communique issued at the end of the meeting.

The participating countries are expected to continue their support for the work of the ASEAN Occupational Safety and Health Network, which was set up in 2000, and to include “strengthening of OSH capacities and standards” as an additional priority area in the ASEAN Labour Ministers Work Programme. China warns tourists against spitting overseas

BEIJING, 6 May — Some Chinese tourists have been warned that while spitting, slurping food and jumping queues may merely disgust people at home, they are sometimes not tolerated abroad, Xinhua news agency said on Friday.

The increasing number of Chinese tourists travelling abroad may be a huge new source of income to destination countries, but that will not prevent complaints against individuals from reflecting badly on all of China, Xinhua said.

“The media in Singapore reports that hotel staff are upset with Chinese tourists spitting in their rooms and smoking in bed,” it said.

“...Singapore airline companies also criticized Chinese tourists for talking loudly and being very rude. Even Hong Kong newspapers have pointed out that some Mainlanders lack manners and social graces.” Beijing residents said last year spitting in public was what they could not stand most about living in the Chinese capital, followed close behind by dog owners who fail to clean up after their pets.

Beijing has launched a campaign to make its citizens more “civil” in the run-up to hosting the 2008 Olympics. Games organizers have repeatedly said the city needs to teach its people to stand in line, stop spitting and littering and generally be better mannered.

Past efforts to stamp out the spitting habit, like a 2003 campaign to help curb the spread of SARS, have not been very effective, partly because many people believe clearing the lungs and firing away is good for their health.—MNA/Reuters

Pakistani channel to showcase Amitabh Bachchan films

MUMBAI, 6 May — A string of Bollywood films featuring superstar Amitabh Bachchan will be shown on television in Pakistan this month, as New Delhi and Islamabad mix diplomacy with culture to push a flagging peace process.

Indian films are a rage in Pakistan but, until recently, could not be screened due to a 40-year-old ban. Last month, Pakistan relaxed the ban and allowed screening of two Bollywood films. A private television channel has now lined up a “Festival of Amitabh Bachchan” films from 13 May. “He is the biggest film star of our times and is loved by fans and audiences globally,” Salman Iqbal, the president of ARY Digital Network, said in a statement on Friday.

“This is another step to help open more avenues to bridge gaps between the two countries.” Last month, Bachchan told Reuters in an interview he welcomed the rare screening of Indian films in Pakistan.

“We do believe we are the same culture, the same people. We are divided by a line that has put us into different nations that cannot be removed and it should not be,” he said.—MNA/Reuters

US representative Kennedy seeking drug addiction help

WASHINGTON, 6 May — One day after he crashed his car near the US Capitol, Representative Patrick Kennedy, son of Massachusetts Democratic Senator Edward Kennedy, said on Friday he would seek treatment for a long-term drug abuse problem.

“This afternoon I am travelling to Minnesota to seek treatment at the Mayo Clinic to insure that I can continue on my road to recovery,” Kennedy, a Rhode Island Democrat, told reporters. Kennedy said he was a patient last winter at the clinic, receiving care for an addiction to prescription pain medicine.

His announcement came shortly after a US Capitol Police report showed Kennedy, 38, was charged with three driving violations after he crashed his car into a Capitol Hill security barrier early on Thursday.

In an earlier statement, Kennedy said he had become disoriented because of medicine and sleeping pills. He said he had not consumed any alcohol before the incident.

Kennedy said he had been “fighting this chronic disease since I was a young man” and wanted to continue working for his constituents in Rhode Island.—MNA/Reuters

Experts say detailed pre-planning for flu pandemic important

SINGAPORE, 6 May — Experts attending the Lancet Asia medical forum on flu pandemic in Singapore stressed Thursday that detailed pre-planning for the threat is very important.

The experts agreed that the problem the world is facing is not whether a flu pandemic will occur, but when it will occur and how to prepare for it.

Roy Anderson, Professor of Infectious Disease Epidemiology at Imperial College in London, said at a media briefing that a flu pandemic will have an unprecedentedly serious impact on the world if it does happen.

He emphasized that governments worldwide need to analyze the situation, identify their policies and speed up actions to deal with the complex problem which involves not only health and agriculture, but also education, energy, transportation and food supply. He added that government departments should join up to mobilize resources, build up pandemic management capacity at the country level and share information and experience among them.

NASA says “La Nina” should not affect Atlantic hurricanes

WASHINGTON, 6 May — La Nina, a Pacific Ocean phenomenon that can help form Atlantic hurricanes, is not expected to be a factor this season, good news after last year’s disastrous storm season.

La Nina, Spanish for “the girl”, refers to a pattern of usually cold surface temperatures in the eastern tropical Pacific. In North America, it has been known to contribute to droughts in the West and to spur hurricanes in the East.

That happens because La Nina tends to push high-altitude jet stream winds to the north, away from the customary hurricane-forming areas, David Adamec, an oceanographer at NASA’s Goddard Space Flight Centre outside Washington, said on Thursday.

Jet stream winds can rip the tops off developing hurricanes, and without those winds, hurricanes can form unpimped, Adamec said by telephone. “La Nina gives a little extra kick, keeping the jet streams away,” he said.

There have not been strong La Nina patterns in the past two years, Adamec said, but “it has not helped the situation”.—MNA/Reuters
Barca celebrate title with 2-0 win over Espanyol

MADRID, 7 May—Barcelona celebrated winning their second successive Primera Liga title in front of their own fans by beating city rivals Espanyol 2-0 in the Nou Camp on Saturday.

The Champions League finalists claimed the title away to Celtas Vigo on Wednesday, but were in no mood to help out their relegation-threatened neighbours. Espanyol defender Daniel Jarque scored an own goal after 20 minutes and Ronaldinho doubled the lead soon after the break as his side cruised to victory. Barcelona moved on to 82 points, 13 ahead of second-placed Real Madrid who play Villarreal in the Bernabeu on Sunday.

Kings Cup winners Espanyol remained 15th with 38 points, two above the relegation zone with two games left.

UEFA Cup finalists Sevilla secured a comfortable 2-0 win over relegated Malaga, that put them fifth on 62 points.

Brazilian midfielder Renato scored the opener after 18 minutes with a 25-metre drive and Fernando Sales rounded off the win in the 90th minute with a goal on the break. Later on Saturday Valencia, in third on 68 points, can climb above Real if they beat Atlético Madrid at home.

Barcelona were given a champions welcome in the Nou Camp with Espanyol lining up to applaud their opponents on to the pitch.

Coach Frank Rijkaard rested goalkeeper Victor Valdes and gave Spain midfielder Xavi his first place in the starting line up to come back from a serious knee injury.

The home side were determined to enjoy the occasion without over-stretching themselves, and were helped by an early goal which put the pressure on a nervous-looking Espanyol.

Austria Vienna secure league title for 23rd time

AUSTRIA, 7 May—Austria Vienna clinched their 23rd league title on Saturday with a 2-1 home win over Wacker Tiro.

Austria’s only remaining rivals, Salzburg, were beaten 2-1 at home by third placed Pasching — handing the title to the side from the capital with one round of matches remaining. Austria went ahead after 18 minutes when a shot from Czech midfielder Libor Sionko was deflected into the Wacker goal.

The visitors drew level from a free kick five minutes later, but Slovakian striker Filip Sebo ensured a happy ending for the home side with a short-range strike in the 59th minute. The Viennese side will be hoping to complete the double on Tuesday when they take on the league’s second-bottom team Mattersburg in the Austrian cup final.

CS Fsaxien in surprise Champions League win

JOHANNESBURG, 7 May—Blaise Koissy’s second half goal earned CS Fsaxien yet another surprise comeback victory as they eliminated Royal Armed Forces of Morocco away to qualify for the last eight of the African Champions League.

The Tunisian side won 1-0 in Rabat on Saturday for a 2-1 aggregate victory to match their unexpected achievement in the previous round where they also bounced back.

They completed an aggregate win after a draw at home in the first leg to eliminate Daring Club Motema Pembe of the Democratic Republic of Congo last month.

Fsaxien’s achievement on Saturday was made even more remarkable by the fact that they played with 10 men only from the 22nd minute when defender Bechir Mechergui was sent off.

Ivorian striker Koissy scored 13 minutes into the second half of the match.

The Tunisian side are joined in the league phase by holders Al Ahli of Egypt and their predecessors as continental champions Enyimba of Nigeria.

Lille humble Lyon B team 4-0, Marseille hold

PARIS, 7 May—Ambitious Lille moved closer to securing a Champions League preliminary round berth with a 4-0 victory on Saturday over Ligue 1 title-winners Olympique Lyon who effectively fielded a B team.

With one game remaining, the northern side are third in the table on 61 points, two ahead of Olympique Marseille who were held to a 2-2 home draw by relegated Racing Strasbourg.

In the final round of matches next weekend, Marseille will need a win at runners-up Girondins Bordeaux and hope that Lille lose at fifth-placed Stade Rennes.

Lille opened the scoring against Lyon with a 35th-minute goal by midfielder Geoffrey Demis after a nice one-two with Mathieu Bodmer.

After the interval, striker Peter Odemwingie struck twice in the minutes and Jean Makoun consolidated the rout in the dying minutes.

Bayern win 20th German title, defend double

FRANKFURT, 7 May—Bayern Munich won the German title for the 20th time and completed a historic “double double” when closest rivals Hamburg SV were beaten 4-2 at Hertha Berlin on Saturday.

Bayern could only manage a 1-1 draw away to Kaiserslautern, but Hamburg’s failure to get the win they needed left them six points off the pace with one game left to play.

Felix Magath’s side become the first to successfully defend a Bundesliga and German Cup double, after beating Eintracht Frankfurt 1-0 in the Cup final in Berlin last Saturday.

At halftime in the penultimate round of matches, Bayern looked to be heading for trouble.

They trailed Kaiserslautern to a Halil Altintop goal, while Hamburg were leading 2-1 at Hertha with goals from Piotr Trochowski and Benjamin Lauth.

Hertha equalized through Alexander Madlung in the 55th minute, however, and despite having Andreas Neudorf sent off four minutes later they clinched victory with goals from Nico Kovac and Marko Pantelic.

Pakistan dismisses US statement on Pak role in counterterrorism

ISLAMABAD, 7 May — Pakistani Army spokesman Shaukat Sultan has dismissed as “ab-surd” a statement by a US counterterrorism envoy that parts of Pakistan were a “safe haven” for militants but Pakistan was not doing enough to arrest them.

Sultan made the remarks on Saturday after US Ambassador in charge of counterterrorism Henry Crumpton said in the Afghan capital of Kabul that parts of Pakistan are a “safe haven” for militants and Osama bin Laden was more likely to be hiding there than in Afghanistan.

Crumpton said that US officials continue to believe that bin Laden is somewhere in the Afghan-Pakistani border, and was more likely to be on the Pakistani side.

100 nations ratify treaty on plant genetic resources for food

ROME, 7 May — Iran has ratified the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture, bringing the number of countries that have officially accepted the treaty to 100, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) announced here on Friday.

The treaty, which was approved by the FAO Conference in November 2001, came into force on 29 June, 2004. The FAO’s Director-General Dr Jacques Diouf said that “this is a legally binding treaty that will be crucial for the sustainability of agriculture. The treaty is an important contribution to the achievement of the World Food Summit’s major objective of halving the number of hungry people by 2015.”

The main objectives of the international treaty are the conservation and sustainable use of plant genetic resources for food and agriculture and the fair and equitable sharing of the benefits arising out of their use, in harmony with the Convention on Biological Diversity, for sustainable agriculture and food security.

According to Clive Stannard of the Interim Secretariat for the Treaty, “this record speed and level of ratification is an indication of the huge importance that countries attach to the objectives of the treaty to ensure that plant genetic resources for food and agriculture, which are vital for human survival, are conserved and sustainably used and that benefits are equitably and fairly distributed.”

The first session of the Governing Body of the International Treaty on Plant Genetic Resources for Food and Agriculture will take place in Madrid, Spain, from 12 June to 16 June. This will be the first occasion in which the contracting parties to the treaty will meet to discuss its implementation. — MNA/Xinhua
