Ngathayauk Dam for boosting cultivation capacity

With the object of increasing the income of farmers and enhancing their social and economic status, the government is taking steps to extend the cultivated acreage and to supply sufficient water for agriculture. In addition to Ngathayauk, Kyauktu, Letpan-Chaypaw and Lawkananda river water pumping stations and Myakan dam, another dam was opened in NyaungU district on 20 August. The newly-opened dam is Ngathayauk dam and it is the 188th in the nation.

In the three village-tracts around Ngathayauk dam, monsoon groundnut was grown as a first crop on 1,000 acres at the beginning of the rainy season and sesame on another 1,000 acres in the middle of the rainy season. Now with water from the dam, it is possible to put 4,000 acres under crops. Thus, cultivation capacity of crops will increase by 200 per cent.

As the plans to supply water for agriculture are being systematically implemented all over the nation, the irrigated acreage has increased. Now, 188 dams and sluice gates can irrigate more than 2.6 million acres of farmland. Moreover, 293 river water pumping stations contribute a lot not only to cultivation of crops but also to the greening of environment.

In 1988-1989, irrigated acreage stood at 2.89 million but now, with the emergence of more irrigation facilities, more than 7.3 million acres of farmland can be irrigated. We believe that the more water supply projects can be implemented, the greater the cultivation capacity will be and the higher the socio-economic status of farmers will become.

China’s State Council to set rules to manage foreign partnerships

BEIJING, 28 Aug—Foreign enterprises or individuals setting up partnerships enterprises in China should abide by regulations made by the State Council, according to the revised partnership law, adopted here on Sunday.

China’s top legislature, the Standing Committee of National People’s Congress, voted to adopt the revised partnership law, which will go into effect on 1 April, 2007.

One killed in New York shooting rampage

NEW YORK, 28 Aug—A gunman on a cocaine- and-alcohol binge went on a shooting spree in several New York City neighbourhoods, killing one man and injuring several others, police said Saturday.

The series of drive-by shootings took place in the city’s Queens borough Friday night. Two people suffered bullet wounds and three others were injured by flying glass, police spokesman Kevin Hayes said.

Matthew Colletta, 34, surrendered peacefully after police stopped his car early Saturday. He was driving a green 1992 Cadillac when the shooting began, police said.

Although police said the choice of victims seemed to be random, the last five targets were all red automobiles.

The slain man, who was shot in the neck, was riding with his wife to their Long Island home after dropping their daughter off at Marist College in Poughkeepsie, New York.

Colletta, who was charged with murder, assault, reckless endangerment and weapons possession, faces 25 years to life imprisonment if convicted, police said.—MNA/Xinhua

World’s oldest woman dies at 116

LONDON, 28 Aug—Maria Esther de Capovilla—officially the world’s oldest woman—has died in Ecuador aged 116, relatives said.

Capovilla died at dawn on Sunday in the coastal city of Guayaquil after succumbing to pneumonia. Her funeral was planned for Monday. Born in 1889, the same year as Adolf Hitler, Capovilla was 22 when the Titanic sank and 79 when astronauts first set foot on the Moon.

Her family said donkey milk might be key to her longevity. Capovilla was born in Guayaquil, to a well-to-do Ecuadorian family which traced its ancestry to the Spanish conquistadores. Her family was expecting to have a 117th birthday party.

She was said to enjoy painting, embroidery, dancing and walking. In her youth she would also drink fresh milk from the donkeys at her aunt’s farm—something relatives credit with helping her live so long. She is said never to have smoked, ate regular small meals, and only drank in moderation.

She was also fervently religious, and took communion every Friday, said reports.—INTERNET

Iran fires missile from submarine

LONDON, 28 Aug—Iran test-fired a long-range missile from a submarine in the Gulf yesterday as part of an orchestrated show of defiance ahead of the United Nations Security Council’s Thursday deadline to suspend part of its nuclear programme.

Iranian state television carried a video clip showing the missile being launched and hitting a target.

The show of military strength came less than 24 hours after the Iranian President, Mahmoud Ahmadinejad, formally opened a heavy water plant that could be used in the production of nuclear weapons.

The missile launch underscores Iran’s ability to create havoc in the Gulf by closing off the Straits of Hormuz to oil tankers, a move that would create serious shortages and send prices soaring.

An Iranian navy commander, Sajjad Kouchaki, quoted on the broadcast, described the missile as “a very high speed and destructive power. It is also radar-evading.”

The UN has given Iran until Thursday to suspend its uranium enrichment programme, which Tehran claims is for purely civilian purposes but which the US and others in the west view as a step towards achieving a nuclear weapons capability.

If Iran fails to comply, the US favours imposing sanctions but Russia and China, which both have a veto on the Security Council, have shown little enthusiasm for such a move.

Teheran disclosed yesterday that the UN Secretary General, Kofi Annan, is to go to Iran on Saturday for a two-day visit to see if there is a way out of the crisis.

President says S Africa not about to descend into lawlessness

JOHANNESBURG, 28 Aug—South Africa is not about to descend into a state of lawlessness, despite the country’s high crime levels, President Thabo Mbeki said on Sunday.

However, something has to be done about the “enrenched” level of violence in the country, he said in Cape Town, following a meeting of the ruling African National Congress’s (ANC) provincial executive committee on Sunday.

A newspaper quoted Rupert saying there was great danger rising crime could see the country descend into general lawlessness. But Mbeki denied the country was sinking into lawlessness.

“There wasn’t any suggestion the country’s about to drop into the Atlantic Ocean because of crime,” he was quoted as saying.

Mbeki said what Rupert had in fact told him at the meeting was “President, I agree with you, (when you say) there is something in this society, which entrenches a level of violence...that is unacceptable.” The President said

Egypt calls for dialogue on Iran’s N-issue

CAIRO, 28 Aug—Egyptian Foreign Minister Ahmed Abul Gheit on Sunday urged parties concerned to continue dialogue to settle the Iranian nuclear issue, the official news agency MENA reported.

Abul Gheit made the call after meeting with visiting Iranian Deputy Foreign Minister Mohammad Reza Baqiri, according to MENA.

It was important to continue dialogue between Iran and the UN Security Council’s five permanent members plus Germany in a bid to find a solution satisfactory to all parties over the nuclear dispute, Abul Gheit was quoted as saying.

Abul Gheit said that Baqiri was visiting Cairo to explain to Egypt details of Tehran’s response to a Western-proposed package of incentives in exchange for Iran’s halting nuclear activities.

For his part, Baqiri said that his visits to Syria, Egypt and Algeria, as well as meeting with Arab League Secretary-General Amr Moussa, came out of Iran’s keenness on directly informing the Arab countries about Iran’s response.

Western threats to impose sanctions on Iran were just media talk and there was nothing at the official level, he added.

The new law stipulates that from 1 June, 2007, all insolvent enterprises will pay credit guarantees to creditors first, and use other assets not earmarked as credit guarantees to pay laid-off workers.

“The provision is a compromise that aims to protect both creditors and workers of insolvent enterprises,” said Cheng Siwei, vice-chairman of the NPC Standing Committee.

China’s legislature adopts corporate bankruptcy law

BEIJING, 28 Aug—China’s top legislature, the Standing Committee of the National People’s Congress, on Sunday adopted a corporate bankruptcy law, aiming to protect both creditors of bankrupt enterprises and the people who work in them.

The law will come into effect on 1 June, 2007. The current enterprise bankruptcy law will be abolished at the same time.

The current bankruptcy rules, promulgated in 1986 on a test basis, are widely regarded as outdated as they fail to give sufficient protection to creditors and only touch on State-owned enterprises (SOE). The rules allow laid-off workers to be paid before creditors.

The new corporate bankruptcy law will apply to all kinds of enterprises and financial institutions.

All the country’s companies and enterprises, whether state owned or private, will have to follow a unified corporate bankruptcy law if they founder.

The new law stipulates that from 1 June, 2007, all insolvent enterprises will pay credit guarantees to creditors first, and use other assets not earmarked as credit guarantees to pay laid-off workers.

“The provision is a compromise that aims to protect both creditors and workers of insolvent enterprises,” said Cheng Siwei, vice-chairman of the NPC Standing Committee.

“The new law embodies the notion of putting people first, as it fully considers worker’s interests. At the same time it accords with standard international practice in better protecting lenders’ interests,” said Jia Zhijie, member of the NPC Standing Committee.

It was about noon on 23 August 2006 and it was cool and drizzling. When we entered the Sabai Hall of No 2 Basic Education High School in Sangyoung Township, we saw a number of teenager girl students. They are the girls who have passed the 2006 matriculation examination with all six distinctions.

Various kinds of flowers are blossoming in the garden of education. There are 283 girl students of basic education schools in Yangon Division who passed the 2006 matriculation examination winning all the six distinctions. Students are brought up under the care of teachers and parents. They are beautiful in appearance and are qualified. Their future will be bright under the sun. Everybody would surely be pleased to see them in a single place. The members of Yangon Division Women’s Affairs Organization were at the school to attend the ceremony to honour the six-district winners. It was jointly organized by Myanmar Women’s Affairs Federation and Yangon Division Women’s Affairs Organization. There are 522 six distinction winners nationwide — 431 from Yangon Division. Of them 148 are boys and 283 are girls. The girls are from 58 schools.

The ceremony began after Vice-President of MWAF Daw Khin Thet Htay and Patron of Yangon Division Women’s Organization Daw Mar Mar Wai had arrived. Girl students of basic education schools sang the song “Myanmar School”.

In her speech Daw Khin Thet Htay explained the background history of MWAF, objectives, organizational set-up and its functions. She said the MWAF had laid down projects that would contribute towards the education development and was implementing them in accord with the future tasks and objectives.

She said the projects include launching of school health programmes, providing desks, teaching aids, stationery and school uniforms, conducting educative talks and seminars, literacy and teachership courses on constant learning, participation of members of women’s affairs organizations at different levels in school enrollment activities, establishing education centres in cooperation with the Ministry of Education and reading circles for adult literacy, opening evening classes, vocational education for women who cannot receive education and opening of libraries.

She said the federation presented stationery and school uniforms worth K 5 million and cash for 5,838 students and District and Township MWAFs K 5.8 million for 6,100 students. The distinction winners were honoured in accord with the future tasks and objectives.

On behalf of the distinction winners, Ma Phyu Win Thaw of BEHS No 2, Latha, said they won the distinctions just because of their efforts but thanks to the support of the government and care and guidance of the teachers and parents. They would never forget the gratitude they owed. They were determined to repay the gratitude when they achieved their goal in life, she said. Hearing this, we were very pleased.

While I was watching the girls who won victories as they had fully applied the strengths such as diligence, desire, spirit and wisdom, I remembered Maghadewa treatise of Manle Sayadaw emphasising how wisdom could lead a person to success. The girls also sang a song, “Pyinnyayay Htoo-chun Layemon”. Vice-President Daw Khin Thet Htay and party then greeted them.

It was very graceful to see their smiling faces with promising future.

It is the duty of members of MWAF to honour the girls who brilliantly passed the matriculation examination, a turning point in their life. We have to acknowledge their efforts and put on record their success. Natural resources and technology are needed for the national development. Moreover, development of human resources plays an important role in building a nation. Honouring the new generation youths who will discharge the duties of State is making a contribution toward the development of the nation. A modern developed discipline-flourishing democratic nation must be built with the strength of brilliant women. I contribute this article honouring the outstanding girls. I wish that all flowers are fragrant.

Brazil tries to weed out corrupt politicians

Brazil (Brazil), 29 Aug — Election authorities have banned about 1,500 candidates charged with fraud from running in Brazil’s general elections next month, officials said on Monday.

The suspensions are part of a renewed effort to clean up Brazil’s corruption-plagued political system following scandals over vote-buying and campaign financing that rocked the government for several months last year and brought calls for President Luiz Inacio Lula da Silva’s impeachment.

“Authorities are more pro-active because pressure from society to deal with this huge corruption quagmire is bigger than ever before,” Joao Paulo Peixoto, professor of politics at the University of Brasilia, told Reuters.

Brazilians go to the polls on 1 October to elect a president, 27 state governors and assemblies, 513 seats in the Lower House of Congress and one-third of the Senate’s 81 seats.

The Supreme Election Tribunal said on Monday that 1,535 of 20,705 candidates had been suspended because of accusations of wrongdoing.

In the latest scandal, dubbed “Sanguessugas”, or bloodsuckers, 86 congressmen allegedly took kickbacks to pay for overpriced ambulances in their municipalities.

Specimens from the ducks in a farm in Thanh Phu District, which were bird flu vaccinated last month, have been tested positive to H5N1, the paper quoted head of the provincial Veterinary Bureau, Mai Van Hiep, as saying.

The last outbreak of bird flu among poultry in the country was in December 2005, according to the Department of Animal Health under the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development.

At 85, S African teacher still energetic in classroom

Johannesburg, 29 Aug — At the age of 85, Nontsikelelo Qwelane now becomes a newsmaker in South Africa as probably the country’s oldest teacher who still instructs learners every day.

The octogenarian teaches geography to 12 classes at Metropolitan College, a private school in Mpumalanga Province, winning respects from both students and her colleagues for dedication and enthusiasm in her job, reported the national newspaper Sunday Times.

“Age is a relative thing. I still have the strength to teach and I want to leave my mark on as many pupils as possible,” the mother of two and great-grandmother was quoted as saying.

Qwelane started teaching at a village school in 1940. Now she teaches an average of five hours a day and she is so experienced that she never needs a textbook to teach.

“The knowledge I impart to my pupils is all in my head,” Qwelane said. Described as a strict disciplinarian, Qwelane has produced outstanding results. Last year, 108 of her 110 pupils passed the subject. In 2004, she had a 100-per-cent pass rate.

Colbert Kouatcho, the school’s director, said a large number of parents sent their children to the boarding school because of Qwelane’s reputation as a teacher.

Gudjohnsen gives Barca dramatic 3-2 win at Celta

MADRID, 29 Aug—Champions Barcelona fought back from a goal down to earn a thrilling 3-2 win at Celta Vigo in their opening Primera Liga match of the season on Monday thanks to a late goal by substitute Eidur Gudjohnsen.

The Catalans, bidding for a third consecutive league title, looked to be suffering from the after-effects of Friday’s 3-0 mauling at the hands of Sevilla in the European Super Cup as they fell behind to a Fernando Baiano goal just before halftime.

But they fought back in a pulsating second half and quick-fire goals from Samuel Eto’o and Lionel Messi rounded off by Gudjohnsen’s last-gasp strike earned Frank Rijkaard’s side a dramatic win.

Barca’s arch-rivals Real Madrid were held 0-0 at home to Villarreal on Sunday while Valencia, one of the other favourites for the title, won 2-1 after visiting Real Betis on Saturday.

Barca, missing Ronaldinho who picked up a leg injury in the heavy defeat by Sevilla, made a hesitant start against Celta who hounded them down in midfield and looked sharp on the break.

The home side gave the European champions several scares late in the first half and took the lead three minutes before the break after sharp work by Brazilian forwards Nene and Baiano.

Barca keeper Victor Valdes blocked a low shot from Nene after he had cut inside centre back Rafael Marquez and Baiano was on hand to stab the ball into the net.

The goal brought Barca out of their shell and they looked far more lively at the start of the second half.

Last season’s leading scorer Eto’o put the visitors back on level terms when he drilled in low past Pinto after beating the offside trap with a slick one-two with the live-wire Messi.

Portsmouth thrash Middlesbrough 4-0 at Riverside

LONDON, 29 Aug—Portsmouth, who narrowly escaped relegation last season, moved up to second place in the Premier League after a 4-0 win at Middlesbrough on Monday.

Two goals from Kanu and strikes by Benjani Mwaruwari and substitute Svetoslav Todorov put Portsmouth on seven points from three games, two behind early leaders Manchester United.

Kanu struck early to put Portsmouth ahead after seven minutes when he fired home from close range following a corner that eventually found its way to the Nigerian international.

Benjani put the visitors 2-0 in front with a downward header at the far post following a short corner five minutes after the break to score his second goal for the club.

Kanu added Portsmouth’s third with a fine individual goal after running from inside his own half before lifting the ball over stranded Boro goalkeeper Mark Schwarzer.

Todorov wrapped up the victory in added time with Pompey’s fourth goal after being played in by Sean Davis and lobbing Schwarzer to round off a fine night for the south coast side.—MNA/Reuters

Disgraced Juventus out of Italian Cup

ROSE, 29 Aug—Scandal-hit Juventus were kicked out of the Italian Cup on penalties at Napoli on Sunday after a 3-3 draw.

The Neapolitan side prevailed 5-4 on penalties, scoring with four minutes remaining to force the shoot-out in a game where both sides finished with 10 men.

Second-half substitute Alessandro Del Piero rallied Juventus with a 79th-minute equalizer to tie the game 2-2 and scored again in the 115th minute to put his side ahead. But Paolo Cannavaro, the younger brother of former Juventus defender Fabio, tied the match for Napoli.

A crowd of 60,000 filled the San Paolo Stadium in Naples for the match featuring two of Italy’s most famous clubs now both relegated to the Second Division.

Juve was stripped of its last two Serie A titles and relegated to Serie B with a 17-point penalty, the harshest penalty to come out of Italy’s match-fixing scandal. Napoli, at two-time league champion whose history includes Diego Maradona, earned promotion to the Serie B this year.—MNA/Xinhua

Stockholm derby match called off after fans storm pitch

STOCKHOLM, 29 Aug—Sweden’s capital city derby between Djurgarden and Hammarby was called off in the second half on Monday after fireworks were shot onto the field and some fans tried to storm the pitch, Swedish media reported.

Champions Djurgarden were leading 3-0 when the First Division match was stopped 10 minutes after halftime when some 15 Hammarby fans tried to run on to the pitch.

After a 90-minute interruption the match was called off for security reasons by the police.

The game had also been stopped in the first half when one of the linesmen was hit in the head with an object.

The FA is likely to award Djurgarden the win, according to Monday’s edition of the Swedish daily Dagens Nyheter.—MNA/Reuters

Sevilla pull the plug on televised matches

MADRID, 29 Aug—Spanish Primera Liga side Sevilla have said they will not allow their domestic matches to be televised in any format this season because of a dispute with the company which controls the rights to Spanish football.

“The UEFA Cup holders and winners of the European Super Cup consider that the treatment they have received from intermediaries Mediapro and Sogecable, partners of Audiovisual Sport, does not correspond with their status in national and international football,” the club said in a statement on their website.

“Sevilla laments this situation for its fans and for football fans in general.”—MNA/Reuters

Farul Constanta owner fines players for not trying

BUCHAREST, 29 Aug—The owner of Romanian club Farul Constanta fined his players a combined total of more than 100,000 euros (128,100 US dollars) on Monday after accusing them of not trying in two First Division matches.

“They (the players) did not fight against Urziceni and invited Steaua to attack,” George Boaventura told reporters.

“They proved they can play good soccer in previous matches but they showed a lack of fight against Steaua.”

Boaventura said captain Mihai Gurita and goalkeeper George Curca were fined 15,000 euros each, while the other players involved in both matches were penalized 2,000 to 13,000 euros. The fines were the largest ever imposed in Romanian soccer.—MNA/Reuters

Only few US soldiers tried for killing Iraqis civilians

WASHINGTON, 29 Aug — The majority of US soldiers charged with the unlawful deaths of Iraqi civilians have been acquitted, found guilty of relatively minor offenses or given administrative punishments without trial, a news report said on Monday.

Experts estimate that thousands of Iraqi civilians have died at the hands of US forces, but only 39 service members have been formally accused of crimes. Four others were tried at courts-martial, resulting in one acquittal and three convictions with no confinement.

Charges against two others were dropped. Six received administrative punishments, including four who cooperated with government prosecutors of their superiors, the report said. Some military officials and analysts said the small numbers reflected the caution and professionalism exercised by US forces on an urban battlefield, where it was often difficult to distinguish combatants from civilians. But others argued that the statistics illustrated commanders’ reluctance to investigate and hold troops accountable when they took the lives of civilians, according to the report.

Top military officers, military lawyers, experts and troops were quoted as saying that the number of homicide cases prosecuted probably represented only a small proportion of the incidents in which Iraqi civilians were killed under questionable circumstances, the report said. — MNA/Reuters
