Emergence of the State Constitution is the duty of all citizens of Myanmar Naing-Ngan.
Safeguard the Union with patriotic spirit and national spirit

The Union of Myanmar is home to various national races who have long been living together in unity through thick and thin. Never at any time in history did they take any foreign aggression lying down but they managed to drive the enemies out of their motherland. And they have always striven for uplift of national prestige and integrity.

It was while our country was under the colonialists’ occupation that the national movement, a direct challenge to the colonial education system, occurred. The colonial education act deprived the national youths of their right to pursue higher education. The day that the movement first launched was designated as the National Day. It is a day of national significance and has been held every year.

The national movement was the first of its kind and awakened the political awareness of the entire nation. The movement spurred patriotic youths to raise the momentum of their anti-colonialist campaign and national freedom struggle till the nation regained her independence.

A look at the current international situation will show that some neocolonialist powers are always attempting to control and influence small nations by making use of pressures and sanctions. At such a time, the people of a developing country like Myanmar must constantly remain vigilant and poised to defend their nation to ensure their life security and perpetuation of their nation.

Now is the time when the government, the people and the Tatmadaw are working together for the emergence of a peaceful, modern, developed and discipline-flourishing democracy. And measures are being taken to turn out educated small nations by making use of pressures and sanctions. At such a time, the people of a developing country like Myanmar must constantly remain vigilant and poised to defend their nation to ensure their life security and perpetuation of their nation.

We believe that the entire Myanmar national people will safeguard the Union inherited from their forefathers with patriotic spirit and national spirit.

A constitution is the main law reflecting a nation’s…

Mr Chairman,

After adopting and promulgating the Constitution, there may be a need to interpret the exact meaning of an expression in practically implementing the Constitution. There is a need to interpret and refer an expression in the adopted Constitution if there is no specific interpretation.

The sub-section 3, section 222 of the 1947 Constitution appears, the provisions of the Burma General Clauses Act shall extend to the interpretation and application of this Constitution.”

The sub-section 3, section 222 of the 1947 Constitution also prescribed, “In interpreting the expressions contained in this Constitution, reference shall be made to the Interpretation Law promulgated by the Revolutionary Council of the Union of Burma.”

It is opined that reference should be made to the existing Interpretation of Expressions Law if need arises to interpret an expression contained in the Constitution. Hence, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the following detailed basic principle should be adopted or not.

“Interpretation of the expressions of this Constitution should be referred to the existing Interpretation of Expressions Law.”

Mr Chairman,

The Constitution of a nation is the milestone of that nation. Every country promulgates its Constitution in conformity with its own prevailing economic and social conditions. Hence, the Constitution is worthy of recording as a historic landmark. Hence, the manuscript of the Constitution should be kept safely for a long time. The country has the National Records and Archives Law. In accord with the law, the Myanmar manuscript of the Constitution, that has been adopted and promulgated through a referendum, should be enrolled for record in the National Archives. The manuscript is the conclusive evidence of the provisions contained in the Constitution.

In the 1947 Constitution it was prescribed that the copy of the Constitution should be enrolled in the Office of the Registrar of the Supreme Court; and that copy shall be the judicial evidence of the provisions of the Constitution.

Hence, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the following detailed basic principle should be adopted or not.

“A Myanmar manuscript of this Constitution shall be enrolled for record in the National Archives. The manuscript shall be conclusive evidence of the provisions of this Constitution.”

Mr Chairman,

One of the basic principles on the economy says:

“The State permits all economic forces such as the State itself, regional organizations, cooperative organizations, joint-venture organizations and private concerns, etc. to take part in economic activities for the development of the national economy.”

It implies that the State guarantees the participation of all the economic forces in the economic activities for the national economic development. Simultaneously, some economic enterprises are operated solely by the State under the conditions. Now, the kinds of economic enterprises the government has to solely operate under “the State-Owned Economic Enterprises Law” have been prescribed. However, it is prescribed that the government may permit a person or an organization to run any of the economic enterprises, which the government has to solely operate, under the terms and conditions stipulated in the Constitution.

Now, the nation has seen many economic enterprises that are jointly run with the government based on mutual interest, or internal or external organizations or persons are running under the terms and conditions stipulated by the State. After the State Constitution comes into force, there will emerge economic enterprises the Union government will have to run solely, and economic enterprises that Region government or State government will have to run in accord with the provisions of the State Constitution. And there may arise a situation for which a Region or State government is to be vested with the right to run one of the economic enterprises which the Union government has to run solely, in the interests of the State. Moreover, there may arise situations for which a cooperative society or an economic organization or a person may enjoy the right to run such economic enterprises. It is assumed that a detailed basic principle should be adopted that in such a situation, a Region or State government, a cooperative society or a person may run such kinds of economic enterprises with the government through joint-venture system or under agreements in the interests of the State.

Therefore, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point:

“In the interest of the State, the Union Government may permit: (a) Region or State government, (b) a cooperative society or a person to run any of economic enterprises, which are prescribed to be operated solely by the Union Government, through a joint-venture system with the Union Government or under agreements”. should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

There have been many treaties and agreements the Government of the Union of Myanmar ratified after regaining independence with the governments of other countries. Also in the time of the State Peace and Development Council, the government has ratified treaties and agreements with the governments of many other countries including ASEAN nations. In this regard, the Union of Myanmar will have to honour the legitimate obligations arising out of any treaties or agreements which have been in force before the commencement of this Constitution between the Government of Myanmar and the Government of any other State provided that these countries honour any reciprocal obligations towards the Union of Myanmar. It is found that the 1947 Constitution of our country and the State constitutions of many other countries do not prescribe similar provisions.

Therefore, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point:

“The Union of Myanmar shall honour all legitimate obligations arising out of any treaties or agreements which before the commencement of this Constitution were in force between the Government of Myanmar and the Government of any other State, provided that such other State honours any reciprocal obligations towards the Union of Myanmar”.

should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

Any proceedings relating to contracts signed with the Government of the Union of Myanmar or liabilities which might have been brought against the Government of the Union of Myanmar or liabilities which the Constitution comes into force, may be brought against the Union Government.

(2) The Union of Republic of Myanmar may sue and may be sued by the name of the Union of Republic of Myanmar.” should be laid down as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

Now, provision will be made on formation of the Constitutional Tribunal. Some basic principles the National Convention has adopted are connected with general provisions, matters on formation of the Constitutional Tribunal and functions of the Constitutional Tribunal.

Explanation will be made how many members including the chairman should constitute in the Constitutional Tribunal, how to select members and assign duties to them, qualifications to be possessed by members, and tenures of the members.

Mr Chairman,

The functions of the Constitutional Tribunal are of great importance. Some of them are to define the provisions of the State Constitution if necessary, and resolve disputes on matters related to the State Constitution. So, a member of the Constitutional Tribunal should be the one who is at least 50 years of age with the qualifications set for a Union Chief Justice and a Union Chief Court Judge. In addition, he should be knowledgeable about political, administrative, economic and security affairs. And such kind of person should be the one who is loyal to the State and the people because he will be assigned high-level duties in the interests of the State. It will be suitable if the membership of the Constitutional Tribunal is nine including the chairman. The President, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw and the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw should choose three members each from Hluttaw members or non-Hluttaw members with the approval of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. It is assumed that the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw should not have the right to reject the members of the Constitutional Tribunal nominated by the President unless it can prove the members disqualified. In addition, the President should have the right to nominate new members for the seats that are still vacant due to the failure to obtain the approval of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. Therefore, regarding the appointment and qualifications of members of the Constitutional Tribunal, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point:

“(1) The Constitutional Tribunal shall consist of nine members including the Chairman. The President, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw and the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw shall select three members each who meet the following requirements from among Hluttaw members or non-Hluttaw members: (a) person who has attained the age of 50 years; (b) person who possesses qualifications set for a Pyithu Hluttaw, except restriction on age; (c) person who possesses qualifications set for the Union Chief Justice and a Union Supreme Court Judge except restriction on age; (d) person who has political, administrative, economic and security outlooks. (e) person who is loyal to the State and the people. 2. The list of three members each nominated by the President, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw and the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw, and a member nominated for chairmanship of Constitutional Tribunal among the nine members shall be submitted to the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw for its approval. 3. The Pyidaungsu Hluttaw shall have no right to reject the persons nominated for members of the Constitutional Tribunal by the President unless it can prove the members disqualified.”

4. The President may, in accord with the provisions of the State Constitution, have the right to appoint new members for the seats of Constitutional Tribunal that are still vacant due to failure to obtain agreement of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw.

5. The President shall appoint the chairman and members of Constitutional Tribunal approved by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

Now, explanation will be made on the term of the Constitutional Tribunal. A detailed basic principle has been adopted that the term of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw shall be five years. The term of the Constitutional Tribunal should be the same as that of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. On expiry of its term, however, it should continue to carry out its functions till the President forms a new Constitutional Tribunal.

Therefore, regarding the Constitutional Tribunal, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point: “The term of the Constitutional Tribunal is five years, the same as that of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw. However, the ongoing Constitutional Tribunal, on expiry of its term, shall continue to carry out its functions till the President forms a new Constitutional Tribunal under this Constitution.” should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

If a member of the Constitutional Tribunal is a member of a Hluttaw, he shall resign from the Hluttaw concerned on the date he is appointed as a member of the Constitutional Tribunal. And if he is a government employee, he shall retire from civil service in accord with the civil service rules and regulations. The Constitutional Tribunal shall be free from political bias in settling disputes related to the State Constitution. So, if a member of the Constitutional Tribunal is a member of a political party, during the tenure of membership he should have no right to participate in the activities of the political party concerned. If a member of the Constitutional Tribunal wishes to resign due to a reason before expiry of his tenure, he should have the right to submit his resignation to the President. Moreover, a basic principle should be prescribed in the State Constitution to appoint a new member if there is a vacancy in membership in the Constitutional Tribunal.

Therefore, regarding appointment of a member to the Constitutional Tribunal, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point: “(1) A member of the Constitutional Tribunal: (a) shall be deemed to have resigned from the Hluttaw concerned on the date of being appointed if he is a member of any Hluttaw; (b) shall be deemed to have resigned from civil service in accord with civil service rules and regulations on the date of being appointed if he is a government employee; (c) shall have no right to participate in activities of the political party concerned during tenure of membership starting from the date of being appointed if he is a member of a political party. (2) A member of the Constitutional Tribunal may have the right to submit his resignation to the President if he wishes to resign before expiry of his tenure for a certain a reason. (3) The President may appoint a new member in accord with the provisions of this Constitution if there is a vacancy in membership in the Constitutional Tribunal for a certain reason. should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

A member of the Constitutional Tribunal should possess such qualifications as loyalty to the State, adherence to the provisions of the Constitution, and good characters. If he fails to honour these requirements or violates any of these rules, he should be blamed or impeached under the provisions prescribed in this Constitution set to blame or impeach the Union Chief Justice or a Union Supreme Court Judge.

Therefore, regarding blaming or impeaching a member of the Constitutional Tribunal, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point: “A member of the Constitutional Tribunal can be blamed or impeached under any of the following reasons: (a) treason, (b) violation of any of the provisions of the Constitution, (c) misbehaviour, (d) incapability of discharging duties prescribed under the Constitution for a member of the Constitutional Tribunal, (e) being unable to perform the duties assigned to him efficiently; (f) if need arises to blame or impeach a member of the Constitutional Tribunal, it shall do so under the provisions prescribed in this Constitution set to blame or impeach the Union Chief Justice or a Union Supreme Court Judge” should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

The detailed basic principles on the Constitutional Tribunal have been laid down. It is said that a Constitutional Tribunal shall be set up to interpret provisions of the State Constitution, to scrutinize whether or not laws enacted by the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, the Region Hluttaws and the State Hluttaws and functions of executive authorities of Pyidaungsu, Regions, States and Self-Administered Areas are in conformity with the State Constitution, to decide on disputes in connection with the State Constitution between Pyidaungsu and Regions, between Pyidaungsu and States, between Regions and States, among Regions, among States, and between Regions or States and Self-Administered Areas and among Self-Administered Areas and among the Union territories.

The Constitutional Tribunal is responsible for interpreting the provisions of the State Constitution. In the process, the President, the Speaker of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw, the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw, the Union Chief Justice and the chairman of the Constitutional Tribunal for its interpretation, decision, and other duties prescribed in the State Constitution.

The Constitutional Tribunal is responsible for interpreting the provisions of the State Constitution, to scrutinize whether or not laws enacted by the Pyidaungsu, Regions, States, and Self-Administered Areas and among the Union territories informed by the President, the courts have to hear criminal cases and civil law cases in accord with the existing laws.

Therefore, regarding a dispute as to whether a provision of a law is in conformity with the Constitution in a case being heard by a court, the Constitutional Tribunal shall be responsible for deciding on such a case. The court concerned should suspend the case it is hearing and submit its views to the Constitutional Tribunal in accord with the procedures for its decision. Regarding the decision of the Constitutional Tribunal, the court should apply all the cases, and the decision should be final.

Therefore, regarding a dispute as to whether a provision prescribed in a law is in conformity with the Constitution in a case being heard by a court, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point: “1. If there is a dispute as to whether a provision prescribed in a law is in conformity with the Constitution in a case being heard by a court, the Constitutional Tribunal has not made any decision regarding the case, the court shall suspend its hearing and submit its views to the Constitutional Tribunal in accord with the procedures for its decision. The decision of the Constitutional Tribunal regarding the dispute shall apply all the cases. 2. The decision of the Constitutional Tribunal shall be final.” should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

Mr Chairman,

The Constitutional Tribunal is responsible for interpreting the provisions of the State Constitution. In the process, the President, the Speaker of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw, the Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw, the speaker of the Region Hluttaw, the Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw, the Union Chief Justice and the chairman of the Constitutional Tribunal shall have the right to submit the cases directly to the Constitutional Tribunal.

And in a case in which Region or State Chief Minister, the Speaker of the Region or State Hluttaw, the chairman of the Leading Body of the Self-Administered Areas and at least 10 percent of members of the Pyithu Hluttaw and the Amyotha Hluttaw submit a case to interpret the Constitution, they should have the right to do so in accord with the procedures rather than submit directly.

Therefore, regarding the interpretation of the provisions of the Constitution, discussions are to be held and suggestions to be made whether the point: “1. The following persons shall have the right to directly submit a case to the Constitutional Tribunal for its interpretation, decision, and stance: (a) President; (b) Speaker of the Pyidaungsu Hluttaw; (c) Speaker of the Pyithu Hluttaw; (d) Speaker of the Amyotha Hluttaw; (e) Union Chief Justice; (f) Chairman of Union Election Commission; 2. The following persons or bodies shall have the right to submit a case to the Constitutional Tribunal in accord with the procedures for its interpretation, decision and stance: (a) Region of State Chief Minister; (b) Speaker of the Region or State Hluttaw; (c) Chairman of Leading Body of Self-Administered Areas.” should be adopted as a detailed basic principle.

USDA members of Shan State (North) determined to continue to undertake the tasks for success of seven-step Road Map

Nay Pyi Taw, 13 Nov — The Annual General Meeting 2006 of the Union Solidarity and Development Association was held at the Convocation Hall of University of Veterinary Science (Yezin), here, from 4 to 8 November. At the first day session of the Annual General Meeting, delegates of states and divisions reported on success of the tasks in their respective states and divisions during the one-year period. Executive of Kongyan Township USDA Chow Nan Khaing Aye Chan reported on implementation of the future tasks in one year.

She said in January 2006 a mass meeting to support the National Convention organized by the USDA was held at the People’s sport ground in Lashio. The entire people in Shan State (North) unanimously supported the National Convention.

Soon after the mass meeting, the terrorist group led by Thangyaung that entered the Shan State (North) was defeated under the attack of the Tatmadaw and the people. Their atrocities were revealed at the press conference held in Lashio.

Peace and stability and prevalence of law and order in the region are needed for economic progress and development of human resources in building a discipline-flourishing democratic nation.

Kaukkyaw Creek Dam and Humon Dam opened in Lashio can supply water for cultivation of summer paddy and generation of power and drinking. Altogether 294 rural libraries were opened in Shan State (North) for local people to gain knowledge and to raise their living standard.

The association provided 171 primary schools in remote areas with desks worth K 10 million and a new school building was constructed in Kutkai Township and it always serves the interest of people and carries out regional development tasks. A total of 127 acres of physic nut were grown for substitute fuel.

The association donated water purifiers, medicines and clothes worth over K 3.7 million to prisoners in Hsipaw and Lashio jails. It also presented cash and kind worth K 2.9 million to 146 elderly people. Patron of the USDA gave guidance that a discipline-flourishing democratic nation cannot be built over-night and it takes time to build the nation. That is why the seven-step Road Map is being implemented phase by phase.

Despite the instigations and hindrance of the western media and internal destructive elements, 17 armed groups exchanged arms for peace and actively participated in the regional development tasks.

There will not be any difficulties in solving religious problems if the Dhamma is given priority over the personal matters and SSMNC member Sayadaws, the Religious Affairs Ministry and local authorities work in cooperation.

Elections have been held to make substitutions up to 25 per cent of the members of Sangha organizations so that they will always remain competent. Another reason is to hand down the religious duties to new members. The religious duties cover the task of removing bogus monks, building religious edifices and presenting religious titles. The participation of eminent monks endowed with sila, samadhi and pañña is of vital importance as the Sangha problems will be solved by the monks themselves.

The minister elaborated on the religious education, saying that the nation has already produced monks holding religious degrees and diplomas and religious titles. As the SSMNC has been joining hands with the government and people in propagating the Sasana all the Patiyatti, Païtapi and Parideva will continue to flourish.

Joint-Secretary of SSMNC Sayadaw Agga Maha Pandita Agga Maha Saddhammajotika Bhaddanta Candasiri presented the report on the accomplishments of the SSMNC (third sub-group). Other members of the Sangha also presented reports sector-wise.

In the afternoon session, the chairman of the SSMNC and members discussed religious matters, election, religious examinations, exam questions and amendments.

POEM:

From the National Day onward

The Spirit of the Master and Prince, not that of the down-trodden slave
Shining evermore, the Pride runs high
Never submitting, to enslavement
We repulsed colonial education
Like the cog-wheel in colonial machine,
Not allowing to stop, they schemed
With lies, concoctions, they mesmerised
Colonial education, bereft of goodwill
Colonial ego, rising high to the rafters
Their dirty mind was overcome, beaten
National education, awakened in Myanmar
For our own race, keep eyes and ears open
Awakened and raised aloft, the master class
The Myanmar managed to set up
The National standard
Go on striving for peace and development
Work for prosperity and modernization as the objective
Keeping in hand, love for and faith in national weal
With the light of education held aloft
Let us endeavour to keep it high.

China’s FTA talks with Pakistan completed

BEIJING, 14 Nov — China and Pakistan have agreed on market access and basically wrapped up negotiations on a free trade agreement, sources with China’s Ministry of Commerce said here on Monday.

The two sides have conducted five rounds of negotiations since last April and the latest one wrapped up in Beijing on Friday. The announcement came ahead of a state visit by Chinese President Hu Jintao to neighbouring Pakistan, whose trade with China grew 39 per cent year-on-year to hit 4.26 billion US dollars last year.

This month, Hu will also visit Vietnam, Laos and India, where talks on another potential free trade partnership will be held, and attend the 14th Economic Leaders Informal Meeting of the Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation in Hanoi from November 17 to 19. Chinese authorities have expressed their willingness to discuss with Japan the establishment of free trade area after Japanese Prime Minister Shinzo Abe proposed the idea on 3 November.

The past five years have seen China establish free trade areas (FTA) with various trade partners. The world’s fourth largest economy has been talking with 27 countries and regions about the establishment of nine FTAs, covering a quarter of China’s total trade, according to sources with the Ministry of Commerce. — MNA/Xinhua
Honouring the 86th Anniversary National Day:

In his guidance given at the Annual General Meeting (2000) of the Union Solidarity and Development Association, Head of State Senior General Than Shwe said that the crucial national duty was to transform the nation that had lagged behind in development into an industrialized one. The tasks for fulfillment of the requirements sector-wise and region-wise for a development-lagged nation were numerous and formidable. So, the most fundamental factor for building a new nation was national solidarity.

He said that the drive for realizing the entire national people’s ultimate goal of building a peaceful, modern and developed nation called for two national forces — a patriotic force well equipped with Union Spirit and capable of preserving and safeguarding the nation’s independence and sovereignty and ensuring non-disintegration of the Union, and human resources capable of effectively tapping the natural resources of the nation.

The guidance is to be followed by the entire national people.

Myanmar’s history is endowed with long superb evidences of its civilization from the dawn of the recorded history to date, Myanmar has been civilized constantly. In addition, Myanmar is blessed with favourable climates and excellent geographical features along with natural resources in abundance. Such mountain ranges as the western Yoma mountain range, the central Yoma mountain range, the eastern Yoma mountain range and Tininhayi/Yoma mountain range help the nation’s climate to be temperate, while large and small rivers including the Ayeyawady River, the Chindwin River, the Thanlwin River and the Sittoung River contribute towards the transport, agriculture and electric power sectors.

Therefore, the forests of the nation are the sources of various species of valuable hardwood, bamboo and herbal plants. With respect to the agriculture sector, Myanmar is a nation where a variety of crops such as paddy, sesame, groundnut, beans and pulses, cotton, wheat, tobacco, coffee, tea, orange, sugarcane, coconut, rubber and oil palm thrive well.

The nation’s land, terrestrial and aquatic, is rich in invaluable minerals and precious stones such as gold, silver, jade, ruby, pearl, amber, lead, tin, iron, copper, antimony, oil and gas.

So, Myanmar stood magnificently as a nation with a wide range of natural resources, a high level of civilizational spirit to help and reciprocal relations between national races, and preservation and promotion of national prestige and character.

The national races living in Myanmar are different in name but come from the same lineage. The historical records of the nation show that Myanmar people are national brethren and there has been no reason to remain disunited among them in the course of the nation’s history.

The people should take valuable lessons from the historic incidents of the nation that national races had lived in harmony for thousands of years, but national unity broke down at the instigation of the colonialists in more than 100 years of living under the alien subjugation of the colonialists.

In the post-independence period, the conflicts among the national races due to the wedge driven by the colonialists grew into armed insurgency that brought a variety of trials and tribulations to all national races.

Again now, certain big nations without understanding well the prevailing condition of Myanmar and the life of national people are attempting to dominate the nation and pull the strings. Should our nation become one of their followers, national people will lose sovereignty.

In order to avert the state of being a puppet country, Myanmar had to sacrifice a large number of the lives of its people and crush all the dangers in the course of safeguarding the independence. In other words, Myanmar’s struggles ranging from independence movements to the drive for avoiding the state of being a follower of other countries have aroused national people’s patriotic fervour, Union Spirit, and the aspiration to attain high education standard and development of the nation.

Thus, the people are to constantly protect and safeguard the motherland to ensure non-disintegration of national solidarity so that such fine traditions of national races will flourish forever. The government has given the top priority to national unity, a key to progress and prosperity of the entire national people.

The education sector of the nation is making an unprecedented progress quantitatively and qualitatively due to the active participation of those engaging in the education sphere, the people and the students in the various educational reforms being implemented by the government.

To state the progress of the higher education sector, there were only 23 universities and colleges in 1988, while the number has surged to 25 including the Myanmar Maritime University, the Myanmar Aerospace Engineering University, universities of computer studies, universities of medical technology and universities of pharmacy.

In the past, courses on computer studies were just at the diploma level. Now, apart from two universities of computer studies, states and divisions have been served with computer colleges. And many new subjects, combined subjects and branch subjects have been prescribed. So, it can be said that the nation has witnessed a vast and broad educational infrastructure, in which the youth can specialize in the subject they wish among a wide range of subjects.

Now, the number of basic education schools including 5,955 post-primary schools has reached 40,325, up from 33,747 in 1988, with the margin of nearly 7,000. Moreover, the number of the schools with multimedia centres has increased to 1,600. The kindergarten enrolment rate has hit 97.58 per cent. The government has paid serious attention to ensuring students’ completion of their classes and high rate of continuing their education at the next level. As a result, the rates of school enrolment, class completion and continuing education are on the remarkable increase. Besides, thanks to the non-formal education campaign, the adult literacy rate has increased to 94.1 per cent. The government is nurturing and training the youth to ensure sustainable development and magnificent increase in human resources in order to achieve quality of life of the people.

Having a glance at the international community, every nation or people is trying for prosperity and protecting the national interests of the nation and the people concerned.

At such a time, the entire national people are to make concerted endeavours steadily without letting themselves lose sight of the national interests for the bright future of the nation and the people.

Now, the government is in the process of implementing the State’s seven-step Road Map with the decisive vow of marching towards the national goal of the emergence of a peaceful, modern and developed democratic nation with flourishing discipline, as aspired by the people.

Therefore, I would like to urge the entire national people to keep abreast of international level through high education, nationalistic spirit and genuine patriotism for accomplishment of the State’s seven-step Road Map to ensure perpetual existence of independence and sovereignty.

APEC 2006 Media Centre inaugurated in Hanoi

HANOI, 13 Nov — Vietnam inaugurated here Friday an International Media Centre slated for the approaching Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation (APEC) summit, which is expected to draw attendance of some 10,000 people, including heads of states in the region.

The 4,000-square-metre centre is the biggest of its kind in Vietnam, and may be the biggest in Southeast Asia, with 215 Internet-enabled desktop computers and other office equipment in the main room to accommodate 400 people, Le Dung, spokesman of the Vietnamese Ministry of Foreign Affairs and the Centre’s director said at the inauguration ceremony.

Poll shows Bush approval drops, Democrats goals backed

WASHINGTON, 13 Nov — Just days after Democrats took over Congress, Americans embraced their top goals and President George W Bush’s job approval rating slid to 31 per cent, according to a Newsweek poll issued on Saturday.

Huge majorities of those polled said they approved of the legislative priorities cited by Democratic leaders after their party seized control of the Senate and the House of Representatives from Republicans, the magazine said.

But they also expressed concerns that Democrats might seek to pull US troops out of Iraq too quickly or hamper the administration’s efforts to combat terrorism, it said. The poll surveyed 1,006 adults on Thursday and Friday, following the democrats’ midterm election victory on Tuesday. It had a margin of error of 4 percentage points.

The strongest support, 92 per cent, was for lowering drug prices for retirees on Medicare by allowing the government to negotiate directly with drug companies. Some three-quarters of respondents said it should be a top priority, according to Newsweek.

Americans also supported raising the federal minimum wage (89 per cent), investigating government contracts in Iraq (89 per cent) and cutting the interest rate of federal student loans (88 per cent). Bush’s 31-per-cent job approval rating, down from 35 per cent a week earlier, was a new low in Newsweek’s polling. Some 63 per cent disapproved of the Republican president’s job performance, and a full two-thirds agreed that “he won’t be able to get much done” in the last two years of his term.

War, pollution endangering Iraq river

BAGHDAD, 13 Nov — For 6,000 years, the river that flows through the heart of Baghdad nurtured the people who live along its banks — providing water, food, transport and recreation. But three years of war, plus pollution and politics, have transformed the storied Tigris into a stagnant sewer — and increasingly, into a graveyard for the victims of civil conflict.

Some see it as a metaphor for this troubled country, reeling after years of war, deprivation and mistrust.

Police now routinely haul from the Tigris the bodies of victims of sectarian death squads. The bodies of 15 unidentified torture victims were found floating on a single recent day in the Tigris in Suwayrah, 25 miles south of Baghdad, said police Lt Mohammed al-Shamari.

In a recurring and horrific scene, all — presumably murdered around Baghdad — had been blinded, sliced and bound at the wrists and ankles before being shot in the head and chest and dumped in the river.

National exhibition held in Beijing to show Russia’s progress

BEIJING, 13 Nov — The National Exhibition on Russia was held in Beijing on Friday to show Russia’s progress in high-tech industry, aviation, forestry and other fields.

Chinese Premier Wen Jiabao and Russian Prime Minister Mikhail Fradkov attended the opening ceremony.

Wen said the exhibition enabled the Chinese people to learn about Russia’s economic development, scientific advances and cultural progress. He said the exhibition reflected the aspirations of both China and Russia to further economic and trade cooperation, saying that he hoped more areas could be explored to facilitate cooperation between the two countries.

Wen vowed to hold a successful exhibition on China in Russia in 2007. Fradkov said the exhibition was the largest one held by Russia in China, which showed the great potential for Russia-China cooperation and would promote mutual understanding between the two peoples.

Vietnamese Government halts rice export

HANOI, 13 Nov— The Vietnamese Government on Sunday called a halt to rice export to ensure national food security, according to Vietnam News Agency.

Prime Minister Nguyen Tan Dung required relevant ministries, the Vietnam Food Association and chairpersons of People’s Committees of cities and provinces nationwide to cease rice export, excluding contracts already signed with Cuba and Indonesia under the Vietnamese Government’s policy and cargo ships already docked at Vietnamese ports before Sunday.

All other cases of rice shipment must get his approval.

The government decision is to ensure food security and stabilize prices of food on the domestic market, since frequent occurrence of natural disasters and continuous attack of pests and diseases in recent months have lowered Vietnam’s rice output, and increased prices of the food staple.

The Prime Minister asked the Finance Ministry to organize the sale of national reserved food to help stabilize the prices, and the Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development and the People’s Committees to instruct the fight against pests and diseases.

Vietnam, the world’s second biggest rice exporter, exported nearly 4.4 million tons of rice worth roughly 1.2 billion US dollars in the first 10 months of this year, posting year-on-year declines of 9.5 per cent and 7.8 per cent, respectively, according to the country’s General Statistics Office.

Vietnam, which exported more than 5.2 million tons of rice worth nearly 1.4 billion dollars in 2005, set a target, early this year, of producing 38-39 million tons of paddy rice and selling overseas 5 million tons of rice at most in 2006.

Egypt reports fresh bird flu infection among poultry

CAIRO, 13 Nov— The Egyptian Health Ministry said Saturday that new infection of the deadly H5N1 strain of bird flu virus among domestic fowls was discovered in Luxor, some 680 kilometres south of Cairo, the official news agency MENA reported.

Tests on domestic birds at the city’s Najaa al-Abayda lab turned up positive for the deadly H5N1 virus, said the ministry’s spokesman Abdel-Rahman Shahin.

The area has been quarantined, the birds are being culled and those suspected to have come in close contact with the fowls have been under examination, said Shahin.

On 30 October, an Egyptian woman died of bird flu virus and became the country’s seventh fatal human case of the disease.

Egypt found the first bird flu case in dead poultry on 17 February, and then the virus spread to 20 governorates of the country’s 26 in total.

Egypt reported the first human bird flu case on 18 March. Since then, it has detected 14 human cases with the last case reported on 18 May. Of the 14, six died while the rest recovered.

Nine suffer gas poisoning in Xinjiang

Urumqi, 13 Nov— Nine people living in the same apartment block in the city of Alar, northwest China’s Xinjiang Uygur Autonomous Region, were hospitalized on Friday morning after being poisoned by a mystery gas. The local hospital source said the nine people experienced dizziness and vomiting before being taken to hospital between 5:00 and 6:00 am, but are now recovering well.

According to the local government, a woman living in the building in the Luzhou residential area felt ill early in the morning and came to the hospital with her son.

After hearing her report, the local police rushed to the building and rescued seven others from five separate apartments, including a couple over 60, who had already slipped into coma.

The residential area experienced a power cut at 2:00 pm on Thursday. But a company on the ground floor of the building continued to generate electricity with its own diesel generator.

The local government suspects the generator caused the release of poisonous gas but has not yet confirmed these suspicions. The local hospital did not elaborate on what types of poisonous substances were found in the patients’ lungs.

Eating red meat ups breast cancer risk

BEIJING, 14 Nov—Eating red meat may raise a woman’s risk of a common form of breast cancer, a Harvard study said Monday.

The study of more than 90,000 women found the more red meat the women consumed when they were in their 20s, 30s and 40s the greater their risk for getting breast cancer fueled by hormones in the next 12 years.

Women who consumed the most red meat faced nearly twice the risk of those who ate red meat infrequently, according to the study.

Researchers said the findings provide another motivation to limit consumption of red meat, which is already known to increase the risk for colon cancer.

“There are already other reasons to minimize red meat intake,” said Eunyoung Cho, an associate professor of medicine at Harvard Medical School, who led the study.

“This just may give women another good reason.”

The study, published in the Archives of Internal Medicine, is the first to examine the relationship between red meat consumption and breast cancer in premenopausal women, and the first to examine the question by type of breast cancer.

In the study, Cho and her colleagues analyzed data collected from 90,659 female nurses ages 26 to 46 who are participating in the Nurses’ Health Study II, a long-term project examining a host of women’s health issues.

Potential establishment of FTAAP discussed at APEC’s SOM meeting

HANOI, 13 Nov—The potential for forming a free trade agreement of the Asia-Pacific (FTAAP) region was touched upon here Sunday with APEC member economies agreeing that the prospect of the agreement is worthy of further discussion.

In agreeing that there was room to further discuss the potential of an FTAAP, delegates to an informal session of the Concluding Senior Officials’ Meeting were specific in highlighting that any such effort would need to be in line with APEC (Asia-Pacific Economic Cooperation)’s overall free and open trade and investment goals and complement the multilateral trading system, according to a news release issued by the APEC Senior Officials’ Meeting Chair’s Office.

The issue of individual Free Trade Agreements and Regional Trade Arrangements (FTAs/RTAs) was taken up by senior officials in relation to discussion of proposed model measures. When developed, these model measures will be endorsed by APEC to assist member economies to develop more transparent and effective FTAs/RTAs.

Woman writer elected as new president of CWA

BEIJING, 13 Nov—Woman writer Tie Ning was elected new president of the Chinese Writers Association (CWA) on Sunday, successor to the late Ba Jin, one of the nation’s literary giants of the past century.

Tie, 49, was elected at the on-going seventh congress of the association in Beijing. She will be the third president in the 57-year history of the association, following her predecessors Mao Dun and Ba Jin. The presidency has been vacant since Ba Jin, one of the most prominent Chinese writers of the 20th century, died last October in Shanghai at the age of 100.

Tie published her first story in 1975. She won a national acclaim in 1982 for her prize-winning short story Ah, Xiangxue, about an adventure of a country girl who yearns to know the outside world and gets on a train by mistake. Her medium-length novel The Red Shirt Without Buttons and short story June’s Big Topic won her another two national awards in 1984. Since 1980, Tie has published a number of collections of short stories and novels.

Her works mainly depict the life of Chinese women.

Before her election she was the vice-president of the Chinese Writers Association and president of the Hebei Provincial Writers Association. Among 7,690 members of the CWA, more than 900 delegates across the country are attending the meeting in Beijing from 10 to 14 November.

Ronaldinho, van Nistelrooy grab headlines in La Liga

MADRID, 14 Nov— Barcelona playmaker Ronaldinho and Real Madrid striker Ruud van Nistelrooy shared top billing in the Spanish Sports Press on Monday after putting in commanding performances in the Primera Liga on the weekend.

The Brazilian scored two and set up a third for the European and Spanish champions to come from behind and beat Real Zaragoza 3-1 in a thrilling encounter in the Nou Camp that put them back to the top of the table.

Dutch striker Van Nistelrooy scored all four in a 4-1 away win over Osasuna to climb to third in the table, three points behind the leaders.

"Ronaldinho roars and wakes up Barcelona," said Spanish daily El Pais while Sport said: "Ronaldinho superstar." Barca fell behind to a 16th minute strike from Zaragoza before Ronaldinho started the fightback rising to score with a rare header in the 30th minute.

Then, with both sides down to 10 men, Ronaldinho stepped up to strike a superb free kick into the top corner, with four minutes remaining. In time added on he then blasted another against the crossbar, which Javier Saviola was able to nod in.

"Ronaldinho has been phenomenal. Tonight he has decided the game. What I like most of all is the commitment he has shown fighting to win the game until the very end," said Barca coach Frank Rijkaard.— MNA/Reuters

FIFA resumes talks with troubled Kenya federation

Nairobi, 14 Nov— FIFA has resumed dialogue with Kenya’s soccer federation after suspending the East African nation from international competition last month.

The world soccer governing body banned Kenya on 24 October for failing to respect signed agreements and for recurrent problems in the Kenya Football Federation (KFF).

The Kenyan Government dissolved the KFF this month in a bid to stem months of chaos and has selected an eight-man Caretaker Committee to revive the game.

FIFA President’s Delegate on Special Affairs Jerome Champagne said in a letter seen by Reuters on Monday that the dissolution of KFF was a tangible sign that Kenya was adapting to international standards.

“We are of the opinion that for the first time in months, such decisions move Kenyan football in the direction of modernising its structures based on the football organisational principles successfully implemented in countries such as England and South Africa,” Champagne wrote in a letter to Mohamed Hatimy, a former KFF vice chairman.— MNA/Reuters

Indepeniente, Racing Club derby halted by violence

BUENOS AIRES, 14 Nov— Rioting fans caused the derby between Independiente and Racing Club to be abandoned in the 64th minute recently, the fourth first division match to be interrupted since the Argentine season began in August.

Referee Horacio Elizondo stopped play as police, firing rubber bullets and using tear gas, clashed with Racing fans on the terraces. Independiente were leading 2-0. Three of the abandoned matches were halted by crowd violence while the fourth, between Gimnasia-La Plata and leaders Boca Juniors, was stopped at halftime because the referee said he had been threatened in his dressing-room by the home club.

That match, which began on September 10, was completed on Wednesday when Boca Juniors, trailing 1-0 when play was stopped, scored four times in 45 minutes to win 4-1.

On Thursday, public prosecutors said they would investigate allegations that Gimnasia’s players had received death threats from their own fans demanding they lose the game.— MNA/Reuters

Buenos Aires, 14 Nov— Rioting fans caused the derby between Independiente and Racing Club to be abandoned in the 64th minute recently, the fourth first division match to be interrupted since the Argentine season began in August.

Algeria again urges France to admit colonial “crimes”

ALGERIA, 14 Nov—Algeria has reiterated that it is ready to improve ties with France if Paris admits its colonial crimes during its 130 years as colonial ruler of the North African country.

Prime Minister Abdelaziz Bellahmed restated Algeria’s position less than two days before an official visit by French Interior Minister Nicolas Sarkozy, who is also a leading right-wing presidential hopeful.

France is trying to improve diplomatic ties and economic influence in Africa’s second largest country at a time when other European nations and the United States are developing their energy and trade ties with the oil and gas exporter.

“We say to the French that we are ready to establish friendly relations that benefit the interests of the two sides,” said Bellahmed, speaking late on Saturday at a forum organized by state television and flanked by fellow ministers.

“We cannot ask the Algerian people to forget,” he added.

President Abdelaziz Bouteflika has repeatedly called on France to apologize for crimes committed during the colonial era to help improve bilateral ties with its nation of 33 million.

He has focused on the demand that Paris admit its part in the massacre of 45,000 Algerians who took to the streets to demand independence as Europe celebrated victory over Nazi Germany in 1945.

France authorities have responded by urging “mutual respect” and saying it was up to historians to write history. The 1954-1962 war of independence cost the lives of 1.5 million Algerians, the Algerian Government says. Many French also died.

The signature of a treaty of friendship was delayed because France’s National Assembly passed a law in February, 2005, referring to the “positive role of the French presence overseas, especially in North Africa”, and praising Algerians who sided with France during the independence war.
