POLITICAL CRISIS

Slogans

The political slogans quoted in the November 1988 issue appeared in each issue of The Working People's Daily throughout the month, as did the "Noble Desire" slogan launched in February 1990.

Since Apr. 7, 1989 the The Working People's Daily has run a different political slogan across the bottom of each front page:

June 1-5: There is no nobler, worthier or greater duty than that of defending the independence of Myanmar Naing-Ngan so that it shall not be lost.

June 7: The three tasks of preventing the Union from disintegrating, preventing disintegration of national unity and perpetuating national sovereignty are essential for the perpetuation of the independence of Myanmar Naing-Ngan.

June 8-12: The Tatmadaw is the People's Tatmadaw which is carrying out measures to ensure the Rule of Law in the country.

June 13-17: Service personnel must stay clear of party politics and dedicate themselves to dutifully carrying out State responsibilities -- this amounts to carrying out national politics.

June 18-24: Beware that the Myanmar situation today is no longer that of 1947, 1962, 1974 or 1988; the situation now is that of 1990!

June 25-28: The world situation is undergoing swift changes. We should not lose sight of the fact that the Myanmar situation too is changing swiftly!

June 30: Love your nationality. Love your country. Preserve and uphold your culture.

Political Articles (Excerpts)

Following the pattern begun in October 1988, each issue contains lengthy feature articles, translated from Burmese, designed to bolster government views and policies. We note them briefly, with excerpts of particularly significant portions, but can provide copies if needed:

June 2: Myanmar culture which has fine traditions, by A health worker. [Need to coordinate and fuse the monastic educational system which "gives good moral education based on Buddhism" and the modern system which "turns out modern educated persons well versed in the sciences and the arts."]

June 3: In solving the problems of internal peace by political means, by Ye Gaung Kyaw Swa. [Cont. Abortive 1963 negotiations with KIA.]

June 11: The BCP has once again begun to commit atrocious and cruel acts and carry out underground work, by A Reporter. [Article based on confession of Kyaw Kyaw Tun, student tortured by the BCP.]

June 12-15: The activities of KNU murderers and dacoits today, by A Reporter. [(1) Victories over KNU; recent KNU atrocities. (2) More atrocities. Bio-data on Bo Mya. (3-4) More KNU atrocities and attacks.]

June 20,24-25: The BBC still attacking Myanmar Naing-Ngan spreading falsehood and lies, by Bo Thanmani. [(1) The BBC on June 4 said that "the delight felt by the people at the conclusion of the election over three months ago has changed into disappointment and dissatisfaction. This writing is an insult.... The Chairman of the State {LORC} has declared...that State power would be handed over to a strong government. The returns of the election are still being announced and matters are being carried out according to the Election Law.... All are happy and peaceful.... How can a government be formed if there is not a suitable constitution in a nation? ... The article...made false allegations...as if they were made by diplomats from Western nations. `The diplomats from western nations in Yangon say the State [LORC] is employing delay tactics.... [It] has got wavering because even their own officers, by their votes, have expressed overwhelmingly that they have no faith in it.' The writing of this news article is of a very low standard."

"Read the following broadcast by the BBC: `A considerable number of personnel within the army are those that really believe that they are the only force that has brilliant knowledge and intelligence and that it only they who are able to serve the people of Myanmar Naing-Ngan. A veteran western diplomat in Yangon said that an officer had told him that it was because the people were so naive that they had voted for the NLD.' ...It is inconceivable that Tatmadaw officers should tell such things to western diplomats who have such pessimistic views on and malicious attitudes towards Myanmar Naing-Ngan...."

"`Columnist Merry Marester has written an article in the today's issue of Time to the effect that a western diplomat in Yangon said that the NLD and the State {LORC} are like showing a "shadow" plan and that the State {LORC} is trying hard and making calculations on how to outwardly give up power.' The people ...will know that this...attacks and slanders the State {LORC} as well as the NLD."

(2) A BBC article by Pamela O'Toole said "...Gen. Saw Maung has confirmed the fact that the army is determined to hold on to power for some time although the National League for Democracy has won the election. It can be seen that this also amounts to confirming the view that the problem of drawing up a constitution would be raised so that power would not have to be handed over earlier." In fact, Gen. Saw Maung "has pointed out...that... everything was carried out according to the Election Law and Rules whichever party had won the election and that the Tatmadaw has no intention of delaying the process.... What this Pamela has written shows that shge knows next to nothing about the affairs of Myanmar Naing-Ngan."

(3) She also wrote that delay indicated that "suspicions that the military side will take measures to get some points included in the constitution will become stronger.... All these will be aimed not only at taking preventive measures so that no legal action can be taken against their leaders, but also at laying down the foundation for power for themselves." This writing is one that threatens the Myanmar leaders. "It is very rude."]

June 20: Burmese army and the 'national interest', by Robert Taylor {reproduced from the June 16, 1990 Bangkok Post.} [Excerpts] "First, despite the scepticism of critics, the army has fulfilled its pledge to hold free and fair elections. And second, the voters have clearly indicated their desire for change. The success of the National League for Democracy (NLD) demonstrates that people are unwilling to allow the military to continue to govern alone. Voting for the NLD...was the surest way to register dissatisfaction with the status quo.... Repeatedly since 1988 the military government has made it clear it will not tolerate a government that would consider lessening national cohesion Whatever happens, without compromise and agreement between the army and the NLD leadership, the restoration of civilian rule could be short-lived."

"The army has also made it clear that it will not hand over power... until a constitution has been written and approved.... The government's policies since the 1988 coup have begun the process of opening up Burma's economic system.... Foreign investment is again possible and real economic growth could be rapid Might a continuation of military rule while a constitution is being written, actually be a blessing for the civilians who will eventually follow?... Might not a civilian government have a better chance...if the worst consequences of structural adjustment are over before it assumes power?..."

"The army...will continue to... retain supervisory role over the political process until it is assured that the 'national interest,' as defined by the senior officer corps, is protected.... If one compares... Burma with other countries in the region...it seems possible that a dialogue can result from elections and sharing of power from that. But the process will not be quick or easy. Evolutionary reform rather than quick fixes often results in more lasting and positive democratic developments...."]

June 25: A direct reply to the DAB insurgents organization by a citizen of Myanmar, by Myan Pyi Thar. [Denunciation of DAB demand for a role in the the constitutional process.]

June 26-27: The life of absconding Myanmar youths in India, by An India-returned. [(1-2) True confessions of a returnee.]

June 28: The Dhamma and the Law (Thitsa-Myitta discussions), by Byammahso. [Buddhist morality; "If an offense committed by a person when he is a beggar gets uncovered at a time when he becomes a minister, the offence cannot be dropped just because he happens to be a minister."]

Press Conferences

June 1: At the 93rd State LORC Press Conference, spokesmen said:

-- State LORC Chairman Senior General Saw Maung said on 30 May that the election was free and fair, as journalists had seen, and that "that they would never let the reoccurrence of situation as in 1988, that till the power has been handed over to a strong government that would come into being in accordance with law, that they would carry on implementing the first three tasks... [rule of law and tranquillity; transportation; food, clothing and shelter] and that they would always put in the fore the three main causes of non-disintegration of the Union, non-disintegration of national solidarity, and for perpetuation of national sovereignty."

-- Asked what tasks the SLORC would carry out "before the next government was formed...and how long they would take," the spokesman said the SLORC would "carry on with the duties and responsibilities till a strong government is formed according to the constitution and that the SLORC would also continue to carry out the three main tasks.... A constitution would be drawn up by the representatives of the parties elected, that power would be handed over, according to law, to the strong government formed in accordance with the constitution thus drawn up and that it could not be said how long the drafting of the constitution would take."

-- Asked "whether the constitution thus drawn up would be put to a referendum or not," the spokesman noted that the 1947 Constitution had not been put to a referendum, but that "it was considered that good advice and suggestions as well as the desires of the people including all the national races in connection with drawing up a new constitution so as to bring out a strong new constitution could be obtained and that it considered that the people's representatives would take the advice, suggestions and desires of the people into serious consideration and carry out. [sic]"

-- Asked "when would the State [LORC] and the representatives of the political parties that won in the election meet?" the spokesman said "there was no predetermination when such a meeting would take place."

-- "Asked "whether the political parties that had lost in the election had the right to continue to exist or not?" the spokesman said they could.

-- Asked whether, since some 20 constituency results had been announced each day, that figure had been decided on, the spokesman said results were announced as soon as authentically ascertained, without any specific quota. Tatmadaw helicopters were assisting, and "whether the task of announcing the names could be finished within the time estimated depended on weather conditions."

-- Asked whether "the responsibilities would be handed over to an interim government if such an interim government were formed with the Hluttaw representatives while a constitution was being drawn up?" the spokesman said "the State [LORC] would hand over the responsibilities only to the strong government that would come into being according to law in accordance with the Constitution drawn up and approved by the Hluttaw representatives elected, and that this was said not only now and that the State [LORC] Chairman and Secretaries had told this time and time again...long before the election was held."

-- Asked whether action had been taken against anyone "for security reasons" in connection with the election, the spokesman said it had not.

-- While most foreign election coverage was correct, some broadcasts said "the election was not free and fair and that the opposition had won and the party supported by the government had lost." This was not true, since "our government is not a party government but it is only a jury. So there is no opposition party to us." The continued use of "opposition party" is inappropriate. (WPD 6/2)

June 8:: At the 94th State LORC Press Conference, spokesmen said:

-- "There have been rumours that when a certain government comes to power certain persons will take over certain positions and such and such persons from certain departments will be dismissed or imprisoned." This is false. "There will always be legal protection for the service personnel who carry out their duties assigned lawfully.... The State Law and Order Restoration Council will take responsibility for the service personnel who have actively performed their duties according to law. The State [LORC]...is the Tatmadaw The service personnel, therefore, should not be depressed or discouraged by rumours...."

The spokesman said "the rumours are that the service personnel serving with the present Government will be dismissed, that unsigned letters have been sent that action will be taken against the judicial officials ...and that the directors-general and the managing directors will be dismissed."

-- Clarification on the torturing by the BCP of the absconding youth Kyaw Kyaw Tun (a) Min Thu, who escaped from the BCP. "Photographs showing injuries in the buttock... caused by electric shocks during investigation are not released since they are indecent."

-- Foreign radio has not criticized the BCP, though Chairman Ba Thein Tin said in the videotaped Politburo meeting that it continued to issue covert directives. Gen. Saw Maung's May 9 remarks on BCP cited.

-- The VOA and BBC said Thailand had handed over 1,000 Myanmar refugees to Myanmar authorities. "The fact is that the Myanmar side received altogether 766 persons.... It was according to the Immigration Law of Thailand that they were sent back.... The 27 reception camps... are still kept open to receive those who wish to return.... Insurgents... are being welcomed by us if they give up the armed struggle and come back. The People's Settlement Central Committee...has been formed to resettle them if they come back.... [It] was formed on 12 January 1990 ...to systematically carry out resettlement and rehabilitation work ...for those who, realizing their mistakes, come back to the legal fold as well as the villagers who fled their villages because of dangers posed by the insurgents and who have now come back." [Further details on Committee]

-- Asked about numbers of refugees, the spokesman said they "would not be able to know the number of those who had absconded and that there are no refugees and there are none who asked for political asylum."

-- The spokesman had no comment on a statement by National League for Democracy spokesman U Kyi Maung, made to "a correspondent from a western nation at his house," that "preparations were being made to form a civilian government."

-- Asked when Universities would be reopened, the spokesman said that "the Ministry of Education will announce in connection with this matter when the time comes." (WPD 6/9)

June 15: At the 95th State LORC Press Conference, spokesmen said:

-- Re announcements concerning election accounts and period for raising objections to election results, the spokesman said "we have heard some persons and some organizations criticize to the effect that such issuing of announcements is aimed at causing delays without any reason at all." They have either not read the Election Law and Rules or "have evil intent to make the people misunderstand and suspect the State [LORC] Government. [Text of relevant laws and regulations reprinted.] The law is being followed.

-- "93 parties contested the election. According to the Commission announcements candidates of 23 parties have been elected up to this day. But the number of elected representatives differs.... Since candidates of many political parties have been elected, a single-party system has now come to an end.... The Tatmadaw government...is no party organization. Therefore, it has no rival party.... Hence, it has no opposition party before and after the election. It will deal with all parties equally and perform its duties in accordance with the law in future until the tasks are accomplished."

-- BCP UGs have been distributing illegal pamphlets in Mandalay. "There are BCP UG cells and hardcores in Mandalay and Monywa. Though BCPs are now weak in fighting they should not be considered lightly."

-- Asked about insurgent efforts to disrupt the election, the spokesman said "there were signs of their attempts in some States but in general there was no hindrance."

-- Asked about reported "difficulties in obtaining school books and stationery," since schools reopened, the spokesman said "those concerned have been supplying the students with the required books and stationery." (WPD 6/16)

June 22: At the 96th State LORC Press Conference, spokesmen said:

-- A video show was shown "on the holding of the June 11-14 meeting of the Democratic Alliance of Burma (DAB) headed by KNU Bo Mya." The DAB rejected the 1947 unitary constitution, and said the KIA would be come the security forces of Kachin State and the KNU of Kayin State. "They would hold negotiations for ceasefire only when their desire for the emergence of federalism was fulfilled." Numerous foreign news stories cited. The KNU are "living in safety and sending the children into the jaws of death," and "the plot of KNU Bo Mya to assassinate foreigners clearly indicates their ruthless terrorist policy." [Photocopies of various foreign news stories.] [More photos on 6/24]

-- "Arrangements have been made" according to law for meeting with parties and holding a Hluttaw session to draw up a constitution, and will be announced when the time comes.

-- Asked about reports that signboards of the League for Democracy and Peace "were put down", the spokesman said he had heard that the party had split into two [see below under Elections].

-- Before the disturbances there were about 4,000 KNU. Now, after the capture of 6 camps and the loss of 1,000, "there are about 2000 including young ones." (WPD 6/23)

June 29: At the 97th State LORC Press Conference, spokesmen said:

-- The Army on June 19-20 seized 50 packets of opium weighing 96 viss, 30 ticals, from insurgents from an opium caravan north of the Mongping/Kengtung motor road, and in an ambush near Hparchan junction in Namhkam Twp. 8 insurgents were killed; 2 Tatmadawmen died and 1 was wounded. 32.5 kilos of heroin were seized at the Manhkan Village checkpoint in Namtu Twp. on June 19.

-- Attacks on timber smugglers in Myawady Twp. near the Thai-Myanmar border on June 24-28 captured 125 Thai nationals and 25 Myanmar, along with 3 saw mills, 9 vehicles, an elephant, arms and ammunition, etc. [details given]. The Thais are being detained in Myanmar "for the time being." [map].

-- The Bangkok Post of June 27 notes Thai seizure of arms from "three Myanmar-Muslims" in Thon Buri, across from Bangkok, at a house "reportedly rented to a Pakistani airplane pilot about nine months ago."

-- BCP Central Committee member Sai Aung Win surrendered at Lashio on June 29. Born in Loilem in 1937 he went underground in 1962, became Shan State southern district BCP committee member in 1966; candidate Central Committee member in 1975; and Central Committee member in 1985. After he "decided to return to the legal fold" he resigned from the BCP on Mar. 3, 1990. [photo]

-- The spokesman declined comment on a reported statement by Deputy Foreign Affairs Minister U Ohn Gyaw that "a new Hluttaw could not be held before September." (WPD 6/30)

Post-Election Briefings

May 31: Minister for Health and for Education Col. Pe Thein reminded Ministry employees that "they are not party members. They needn't change their attitude depending upon the political parties' win or loss in the election." They should continue to be "obedient to their superiors," since "they were obliged to conscientiously perform their duties irrespective of whichever government comes to power." (WPD 6/1)

June 2: Visiting Shwepaukkan new town, State LORC Secretary (2) Maj-Gen. Tin Oo said that "the constitution to be drawn up needed to become one which the people accepted." [According to headlines over the article, "It cannot be assumed that our duties are completed though the election has been held./New Constitution is to be drawn up and enacted; Our construction activities and special projects are to be carried out out with momentum till a government is formed under new constitution./Constitution concerns not only a party or a group but also the people of entire nation and thus it must be the one accepted by the entire national people."] (WPD 6/3)

June 7: Minister for Health and for Education and Chief Commanding Officer of the University Training Corps Col. Pe Thein told education officers: "You are all aware that the country has seen a drastic change. The SLORC has accomplished the four main tasks but it will carry on its duty of further implementing the first three tasks until a new government emerges in accordance with the law. Transition of power will be made only then.... I would like to say as regarding a national concern. This is paying respect to the State flag.... You teachers are to instil in your pupils the spirit of paying respect and reference to the State flag. Similarly, your pupils are required to be taught the singing of the National Anthem." Basic education schools will reopen June 11. (WPD 6/8)

June 17: Speaking to officials in Kungyangonn and Twantay Twps. [Yangon], State LORC Secretary (1) Maj-Gen. Khin Nyunt said:

"Although the election has been held we will continue to carry out the regional development work. It is heard that some diplomats from certain foreign embassies in Yangon secretly met persons from certain parties and some youths in breach of their diplomatic ethics and instigated them. I would like to make known this to the people." (WPD 6/18)

June 20: State LORC Secretary (2) Maj-Gen. Tin Oo told local officials that: "Having held the freest and fairest election, we have proved that Tatmadaw is not power crazy. And we have time and again declared that power will be transferred only to the strong government that will be formed according to law." (WPD 6/21)

Saboteurs' Confessions

May 31: Confession of Aung Naing, a ABSDF insurgent, revealing his background, training, contacts with other insurgents, and sabotage plans. [Photos of 4 others implicated.] (WPD 6/1)

June 4: SSA student Maung Kyaw Kyaw Tun (a) Min Thu tells of arrests and torture at the BCP Central Headquarters at Panghsang in 1989. (WPD 6/5)

Don't Hurry the Constitution

June 8: Careful thought required. "`Don't expect fresh, potable water on the same day the well is dug....' It is all too easy to rush into things with perhaps the well-intentioned urge to get things done quickly. It is also all too easy for haste to result in dislocations, confusion and chaos. If not immediately, then in some later date when the inherent built-in weaknesses of a badly thought-out course of action bring about a backlash which could have been avoided.... The constitution of a nation which aspires to be democratic concerns not only a political party or a group of political parties; it concerns all the peoples of the entire nation and as such it must be acceptable to all the national peoples. And as such, the framing of a constitution is a classic case in which all factors which are likely to impinge upon national welfare as a whole ought to be carefully considered and thought out. Getting it done as quickly as possible is certainly not the be-all and end-all of the business at hand." (WPD editorial 6/8)

June 22: What is to be done? "... there is all the time in the world to sculpt a constitution comprehensive enough and strong enough to give force to the aspirations of the entire nation. `Instant constitutions' are certainly not the answer. What is to be done today is to put aside emotion-ridden partisan inclinations and get down to the serious business of putting together a constitution based upon the three essential ingredients of preventing the disintegration of the Union, preserving national unity and maintaining national sovereignty for all time." (WPD editorial 6/22)

Refugee Resettlement

June 14: Minister for Livestock Breeding & Fisheries and for Agriculture & Forests Lt-Gen. Chit Swe told Bago Division officials that the Cabinet had on Jan. 12, 1990 reconstituted the Manpower Resettlement and Utilization Board, of which he is Chairman, to help "ease the food, clothing and shelter difficulties of the returnees as well as for rehabilitating them.... It is common knowledge that peace and tranquillity has been restored in the entire nation.... Those who have trod on the wrong path have now returned to live together as they have come to realize the goodwill and attitude of the government towards them. And we are all honoured to do the noble task of providing all assistance to our brethren who have returned to join us in carrying out nation-building tasks and development activities as well as to those who left their native villages for fear of the insurgents and now returned to their homes." (WPD 6/15)

June 16: The Minister said in Mawlamyine that resettlement programmes in Kayin and Mon States would provide for each family K 3000 of agricultural inputs, K 3000 of animal feedstuff, medicines and inputs for livestock breeding, and K 2000 worth of assistance. To help them rebuild villages, K 7000 of building materials would be furnished, all free of charge. K 13.39 million would be used for this in fiscal 1990-91. "Those to be resettled should be free to choose either the highlands or the plains in conformity with their traditions and customs." (WPD 6/17)

Gen. Saw Maung's Speech

June 18: Addressing the fourth coordinating meeting between the State LORC and the Committee for Compiling Authentic Facts on Myanmar History, State LORC Chairman Senior General Saw Maung made the following principal points [text published]:

-- The publications of the Committee clarify various episodes from 1947, notably that the 1947 Constitution was framed and adopted "according to the will of the British" before independence and therefore included a right of secession.

-- The Revolutionary Council came into being "because of the right to secede contained in that Constitution." It was "a legal government."

-- The State LORC Government "is also a legal government." It is not bound by any constitution. "I would like to emphasize that a sound constitution is essential in order that there may not be problems in future."

-- The insurgents threaten further attacks "if the military government is not forthright concerning the election returns...." There "is no cause for us to be bothered by the likes of these insurgents.... It is enough to say they have now got only two camps...Manepalaw and New Wankha left...."

-- "We will not accept any attempt to return to the 1988 incidents. We are prepared to face any eventuality.... It must be noted that constitution is the concern of all the citizens including us, the Tatmadaw members and the service personnel. We will do what needs to be done" (WPD 6/19)

ELECTIONS

Election Returns

The following are Constituency election returns. Tables published in the WPD include the number of eligible voters, votes cast, valid votes cast, the valid votes cast and percentages for each candidate, and the winner. We list this data as follows:

Constituency (State/Division)

Voters; Votes Cast; Valid Votes; Number of candidates

Name ("U" omitted; all military titles should be read as "retired"); Party (by initials--see table at end for full names and No.); Votes received; Percent.

Note: It is not practicable to provide information for all candidates. We have tallied the votes only for candidates receiving more than 10% of the valid votes, and for NLD and NUP candidates in any case. Where the NLD, or the NUP, did not run a candidate, this is indicated. The PUO, YUO, and WUO are allied with the NUP, which did not run candidates against them, and in some areas the NLD did not run against allied ethnic regional parties.

* Date of announcement--reported in following day's WPD.

Phony Reporter Exposed

June 1: The British "undercover journalist" who was expelled May 30 had falsified the dates of his visa and other papers, changing a Dec. 22, 1989 date to March 12, 1990. Despite posing as a businessman, he "gathered news [of the election] through dishonest means and sent it to the BBC which broadcast it in its 8.15 pm Myanmar language programme on 28 May. It was found that some points of his report were not true" [Photo, and facsimile of Report of Arrival]. (WPD 6/2)

Post-Election Announcements

June 6: Election Commission Announcement No. 627 of June 6 provides that:

1. As announced in Notification No. 348 of Dec. 21, all candidates "shall keep account of the expenditure incurred...from the day he or she filed the candidature."

2. Under Section 47 of the election law, "the election agent shall keep proper accounts....[which] shall be submitted...to the Township Zone Sub-commissions concerned."

3. Under Section 81 of the election rules, the candidate or his/her agent "shall submit using Form-18 the election expenditure...to Township Zone Sub-commission...[and] swear before a judge that the accounts kept are correct."

4. The candidates "shall submit their election expenditures" to the Township Zone Sub-commissions concerned...[which] shall keep accounts only up to the day the votes were counted and fill in Form-16 for every Hluttaw constituency." (WPD 6/7)

June 7: Government Order No. 15/90 of June 7, Appointment of officer with whom election objections may be lodged, names U Aung Myin, Director General of the Supreme Court, 101 Pansodan St., Yangon, to receive "objection against a Hluttaw representative" from any candidate or voter, "giving the reason he wants except the matter already decided by the Commission under Section 45" of the law, "during the prescribed period." (WPD 6/8)

June 8: U Aung Myin [see above] issued an Announcement regarding acceptance of objections against elected Hluttaw representatives, giving a 60-day period after announcement of the name of the Hluttaw representative for objections to be lodged, and requiring the payment of a court fee of K 10,000 with every objection. (WPD 6/9)

June 8: Election Commission Notification No. 666 of June 8, on The matter of lodging objections concerning election as Pyithu Hluttaw representative, says that the Commission "has been receiving reports and complaints from some Hluttaw candidates and voters for injustice and dissatisfaction in the election," and notes that under section 64(a) of the Election Law they have 60 days from the announcement of the winner to file objections with U Aung Myin, in person or in writing. (WPD 6/9)

June 20: Election Commission Notification No. 884 of June 20 states that all election returns have been announced except those from Chipwe (Kachin); Hsawlaw (Kachin); Namyun (Sagaing); Lashe (Sagaing); and Lahe (Sagaing). Bad weather and the grounding of helicopters are the cause. Announcements will be made as soon as possible. (WPD 6/21)

U Nu's Party Splits

June 26: Election Commission Announcement No. 891 of June 26 states that the League for Democracy and Peace (LDP) [No. 141] has split into two factions. One, led by Thakin Thein Pe, is located at 33 Kyaikwaing Pagoda Road, Mayangonn Twp. The other, led by U Tin Maung, is located at 52 Komin Kochin Road, Bahann Twp. Since only one party is registered, the Commission "will not make contact with any of them until the two splinter groups can get reunited...." (WPD 6/27)

(WPD 6/11)

June 14: Addressing the ILO session, Minister for Transport & Communications and for Social Welfare and for Labour Lt-Gen. Tin Tun said the ILO should take into consideration the "individual national characteristics and special situation" of each member. "Every nation has its own national problems and specific situation and character. It is the duty of member Governments to meditate upon them against international obligations." Myanmar, he said, had always had a "comprehensive and effective labour administration...in order to oversee the rights and welfare of her workers as provided in the existing labour law."

Turning to current issues, he welcomed ILO concern with "the social implications of environmental issues," and the promotion of self-employment, since "the final solution to solve the unemployment problem is far from reality." He noted Myanmar's restructuring of its economy and the introduction of "the new open door economic policy and the encouragement of the rapid development of private sector and promotion of joint ventures," and its paving the way "for foreign investors by enacting a new investment law," which should increase employment. Finally, noting the importance of vocational education, he said he "would like to appeal earnestly to the [ILO] to consider the possibility of more technical assistance to Myanmar." (WPD 6/15)
