Slogans

Recurrent Slogans: The bottom of each front page continues to bear the slogan: Emergence of the State Constitution is the duty of all citizens of the Union of Myanmar.

The top of each back page bears the slogan:

The Tatmadaw has been sacrificing much of its blood and sweat to prevent disintegration of the Union. All nationalities of the Union are urged to give all co-operation and assistance in this great task.

Variable Slogans: Since August 1991, each issue has included a changing religious slogan at the top of each front page:

July 1-6: Sippanca, to acquire skill in sciences; this is the way to auspiciousness.

July 7-15: Vinaya ca susikkhito, to be well-trained in discipline; this is the way to auspiciousness.

July 16-31: Subhasita ca ya vaca, to have words well spoken; this is the way to auspiciousness.

Political Articles

Following the pattern begun in October 1988, many issues contain lengthy feature articles, translated from Burmese, designed to bolster government views and policies. Editorials sometimes touch on similar themes. We note them briefly, with excerpts of typical or particularly significant portion:

July 18: In honour of the Arzanis, by Win Naing. [Honor Bogyoke Aung San by supporting the SLORC and Tatmadaw.]

July 19: Preserve the heritage of national unity, by Wint Aung. [Patriotic discourse.]

July 20: Let us work hard as Bogyoke Aung San desired, by Myo Myat Swe. [Support economic development and 1996 Visit Myanmar Year.]

Returnees from Bangladesh

[Articles reporting the return of refugees from Bangladesh list the cumulative total since Sept. 22, 1992. Not all returns are reported in NLM.]

July 1: 68 persons from 16 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on June 29 "under the agreement reached between Myanmar and Bangladesh." Since Sept. 22, 1992, 55,284 persons from 12,412 households have returned. (NLM 7/2)

July 6: 159 persons from 39 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 4, bringing the total to 55,443. (NLM 7/7)

July 7: 180 persons from 40 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 6, bringing the total to 55,809. (NLM 7/8)

July 8: 152 persons from 24 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 7, bringing the total to 55,961. (NLM 7/9)

July 13: 153 persons from 32 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 11, bringing the total to 56,114. (NLM 7/14)

July 14: 166 persons from 36 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 12, bringing the total to 56,280. (NLM 7/15)

July 15: 132 persons from 34 households returned to Kanyinchaung camp on July 14, bringing the total to 56,562. (NLM 7/16)

July 20: 514 persons from 108 households returned to five reception camps on July 18 (97 to Taungpyo Camp; 121 to Ngakhuya Camp; 122 to Pyinphyu Camp; 129 to Kanyinchaung Camp; and 45 to Magyichaung Camp) bringing the total to 57,076. (NLM 7/21)

July 24: 312 persons from 69 households returned July 20 to the Taungpyo, Pyinbyu, and Magyichaung reception camps, bringing the total to 57,713. (NLM 7/25)

July 28: 406 persons from 80 households returned July 25 to the Taungpyo, Ngakhuya, Pyinbyu, Kanyinchaung, and Magyichaung reception camps, bringing the total to 58,119. (NLM 7/29)

July 29: 283 persons from 61 households returned July 27 to the Taungpyo, Ngakhuya, Pyinbyu, and Magyichaung camps, bringing the total to 58,593. (NLM 7/30)

Special Refresher Courses

July 4: Special Refresher Course No. 5/94 for Revenue Officers opened, and was addressed by Director-General Lt-Col. Than Nyunt of the Internal Revenue Department. (NLM 7/5) // July 28: The course concluded. Addressing them, Minister for Finance and Revenue Brig-Gen. Win Tin said "there are entrepreneurs who are charging exorbitant prices for goods produced by them giving excuse that they have to pay high taxes.... As the entrepreneurs have obtained receipts from the consumers on which taxes are to be paid to the State, failure to settle their dues amounts to misuse." (NLM 7/29)

July 17: The closing ceremony of Special Refresher Course No. 9 for Basic Education Teachers was addressed by SLORC Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt. He discussed the educational system at length, concentrating on the "Increase in number of students relying on tuition." In particular, "he disclosed that as one of the measures, personnel concerned were making arrangements to open evening classes for the welfare of education employees and in the interest of the students. Students of poor performance in their learning and those who would like to improve their level of subject studies would be able to attend classes of their own teachers in extra time right at their schools, he said.

"He observed that in the educational sphere at present, some teacher would not cover the entire syllabus, they failed to teach full time, they were weak in ensuring the students' regular attendance and enforcing discipline. This made students rely on tuition, he said. At the same time, he said, students with personal weakness in learning, those whose parents could not provide enough supervision and those who would like to gain high marks depended on tuition.

"Whatever the reasons were, he said, an increase in the number of students relying on tuition adversely affected teaching and enforcement of discipline at schools. The fact was that the practise of taking tuition from own teachers with fees spread and irregularities increased. No one could deny that, he added.

"There arose improper competitions, bias and favouritism among the students, teachers and parents because of taking tuition. Irregularities also occurred in setting examination questions, correcting answer papers and issuing results.

"That was why systematic arrangements were made to do away with tuition, he said...."

Turning to anti-narcotics activities, he denounced Khun Sa and his drug traffickers at length.

Concluding, he turned to politics. "Regarding democratic and human rights, he said that Myanmar nationals had possessed democratic and human rights for years as suited to them by Myanmar tradition; there was no such give-and-take concept as being just and fair only when there was interest as the West. Myanmar had four cardinal virtues of the worldly values such as loving kindness, compassion, rejoicing at someone's success and detachment, which were pure and noble, not related to such concepts as giving, taking, exchanging, assisting and flattering...." These values should be taught to children. (NLM 7/18)

Special Regions

June 30, July 1-3: The study group from the Kayan Region Development Committee continued its excursions to economic and tourist sites in Yangon. (NLM 7/1-4) // July 5: The group was served tea by Minister for Progress of Border Areas and National Races and Development Affairs Lt-Gen. Maung Thint, who said their tour was "aimed at enhancing national unity and perpetuation of the Union." (NLM 7/6) // July 6: The study group returned to Loikaw by tat // July 6: The study group returned to Loikaw by Tatmadaw special aircraft. (NLM 7/7)

July 4: A tractor course for national youths of the Kachin Special Region-2 concluded in Myitkyina June 30. Northern Commander gave 19 tractors to Kachin Special Region-2 delegate U La Mong Tu Jang. (NLM 7/5)

Meeting With NLD Defectors

July 4: SLORC Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt met with NLD Representatives-Elect from Kachin State who had absconded to Pajao region in Kachin State, formed the National League for Democracy (North), and subsequently returned to the legal fold. They are U Kyaw Maung (Mohnyin-1), U Kya Mya (Mohnyin-2), U N Nan Gam (Machambaw), U Yaw Si (Putao), and U Ma Phan Hsin (Khawbude), as well as NLD organizers U Min Shwe and U Ba Win from Kyunhla Township [Sagaing] and U Thein Aung of Mogaung Township. (NLM 7/5)

July 7: The Representatives-elect held a press conference, recounting their experiences, and the disillusionment that led to their return, in detail [extensive coverage in NLD]. One of them noted that the foreign "Non-Governmental Organization" providing assistance to the dissident groups in Manerplaw was from Norway. (NLM 7/8)

July 13: Editorial: The fight must go on, on all fronts. ["Very recently, Khun Sa's Loimaw drug traffickers suffered heavy losses under crushing blows of the Tatmadaw.... Their continued existence and activities in drug trafficking pose danger to millions of people, especially the youth, around the world. Myanmar is determined to continue the fight against their destructive atrocities whether it receives international help or not...."]

Khin Nyunt on Culture

July 8: SLORC Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt, Chairman of the Central Committee for Revitalization and Preservation of Myanmar Cultural Heritage, spoke to the group at its second meeting at the Fine Arts Department on Kaba Aye Pagoda Road.

He said "it could be firmly said according to historical evidence that ancient Myanmar had established a unique culture since the stone age long ago.

"He observed that cultural heritage emerged since ancient Myanmar established city states over thousand years ago and ancient cities such as Beikthano, Hanlingyi, Srikhestra, Tagaung, Wethali, Kyaikkatha and Mongmaw, had been excavated by the Department of Archaeology and preserved as cultural heritage.

"He spoke of efforts being made for revitalization and preservation of historic records concerning the first Myanmar Naingngan-daw established by King Anawrahta, the second Myanmar Naingngan-daw established by King Bayintnaung and the third Myanmar Naingngan-daw established by King Alaung Mintaya U Aung Zeya.

"Especially, he said, works of cultural heritage of Bagan Period during the first Myanmar Naingngandaw were of extraordinary value and world famous; and as the site of King Bayintnaung's Kanbawzathadi Palace at the ancient city of Hanthawady during the second Myanmar Naingngandaw had been discovered, arrangements were being made for restoration of the palace.

"He said that similarly, preparations were being made for the restoration of Yadana Theinkha Palace, the throne of King Alaung Mintaya U Aung Zeya who established the third Myanmar Naingngan-daw, and moreover, archaeological exploration was being conducted at ancient cities such as Innwa and Pinnya in keeping with historical records.

"The Secretary-1 reminded that if there was no systematic preservation of cultural legacies, historical evidence and ancient edifices that had stood for a thousand of years, the history of Myanmar people and Myanmar cultural history would gradually fade away with the domination of alien cultures and the weakening of spirit of patriotism.

"So, he said, the State Law and Order Restoration Council had formed the Central Committee for Revitalization and Preservation of Myanmar Cultural Heritage with duties assigned to it....

"He spoke of spending a great deal of funds expended on the preservation of ancient cultural and historic edifices during the time of the State Law and Order Restoration Council.

"He stated that palace site of the ancient city of Bagan had been discovered after excavation of the site and reconstruction of Myanansankyaw Shwenandaw of Mandalay Yadanabon Naypyidaw had been completed 75 per cent.

"Regarding the safe-keeping of antiques, the Secretary-1 said that as stringent checks and prevention and control against smuggling antiques out of the country was being carried out, such cases had now been curbed and controlled.

"He explained to the committee that with a view to systematic preservation of cultural legacies and works of the Bagan Period, the time of greatest flourishing of Myanmar culture, accession to the convention on the safeguarding the world's cultural heritage and natural resources was signed by the Minister for Foreign Affairs and sent to the UNESCO and the master plan for safeguarding the Bagan cultural heritage was being drafted in cooperation with the UNESCO...." #### Japanese Oppose Sanctions

July 1: The June 30 issue of The Japan Times carried an article by Kazuo Nukazawa called Entice Myanmar toward more democracy [photo copy of English-language article, and transcription, published in full in NLM]. The article is by the Managing Director of Keidanren (Japan Federation of Economic Organizations) which visited Myanmar June 15-18. It deprecates sanctions as an ill-advised way of pressuring countries towards democracy, and expresses confidence that "as economic liberalization proceeds, democratization will accelerate. Mindful that the warmth of the sun induces a change of mind more often than the severity of the northerly wind, the Japanese government should keep up efforts at friendly persuasion with the Yangon leadership." The article calls for foreign assistance for humanitarian and civilian needs, such as education, and US cooperation in cutting the flow of money to the drug lords. If the international community is willing to provide aid to North Korea "to buy peace," "the continuing embargo by the Western powers on economic aid to Myanmar, a country well on a course of economic opening and democratic reforms, is hardly comprehensible." (NLM 7/2)

American Praises Myanmar

July 7: Ms. Miriam Marshal Segal, Chairperson of Peregrine Capital Myanmar Ltd. and Miriam Marshal Associates International called on SLORC Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt, and on Yangon Mayor U Ko Lay. (NLM 7/8)

July 8:
Rampant misinformation pollutes reasoned discourse on Myanmar.
Myanmar enthusiastically rolling out welcome mat even to dissidents.

Statutes have resulted in flood of private entrepreneurial activity

All sectors of economy have blossomed under more liberal atmosphere

Myanmar sacrificing human and material resources in anti-drug fight
National reconciliation in Myanmar is making impressive progress
Positive changes have planted seeds of democracy in Myanmar

We should do all we can to reinforce every step toward democracy

Ms. Segal gave a statement June 29 before the Foreign Affairs Subcommittee for Asia and the Pacific of the US House of Representatives, which were broadcast by the Voice of America. Discussions include officials and Congressmen, but also expatriates like Sein Win. The majority who spoke "could not have known well about the country. [They]...were those who had never set foot in Myanmar Naing-Ngan, those who had visited the country only once or twice and some were those who had never visited the country legally but only the camps and headquarters of armed groups in far-flung border areas opposing the Government."

However, there were three members of the House of Representatives, including Matthew Martinez of California, and Ms. Miriam Marshall Segal, "whose attitudes towards Myanmar Naing-Ngan reflect the prevailing situation in the country.... The full text of the statement by Ms. Miriam Marshall Segal distributed at the hearing...is reproduced, on pages 2 and 3 of this issue."

STATEMENT OF MIRIAM MARSHALL SEGAL

[NLM prints full text of Statement and Annexes]

The statement recounts Ms. Segal's 18 year experience in Myanmar, and her involvement in a fisheries joint venture and other investments.

The report, in the May 5 Boston Globe, that Myanmar raffled off fishing rights to raise "hard currency to finance the cost of purchasing Chinese weapons," is "undiluted nonsense." Myanmar has thrown out almost 650 foreign fishing vessels. My company has gradually increased the number of Chinese fishing boats in Myanmar from 9 to about 50; if Myanmar wanted the weapons, it could have invited in 600 Chinese fishing vessels. "One wonders what motivated the writer of this article."

"The most obviously visible change in Myanmar...is the sharply increased number of tourists and business visitors now pouring in Myanmar. What was once a completely closed country is now enthusiastically rolling out the welcome mat even to dissidents. Former Prime Minister U Nu's daughter and her husband, vocal critics of the regime, recently visited Myanmar...."

"Omar Farouk, a former journalist from Myanmar who now resides in Australia, recently wrote as follows:

"Irreversible changes are taking place in Burma after the "Young Turks" [have taken over]. Karl Marx is out; Gautama Buddha is in... The Burmese Muslims are again free to use loudspeakers from the minarets. Visiting foreign pastors can now address their congregations in churches. Pilgrimages to Mecca and the Vatican are no longer a problem. The revolution of the mind has begun."....

Changes are visible everywhere, "in streets and shops, in villages and farms, and in the attitudes of Government officials...."

"There is now a concerted diversion of the economy from military and defence goals to one where civilian needs assume priority." The three statutes on private enterprise "have resulted in a flood of private entrepreneurial activity." Some information is contained the Annexures to this statement. The eventual goal of privatization is clear; in fisheries it is already almost total.

Every sector has blossomed. Paddy production increased to 835.7 million baskets, up 124.6 million. In 1993-4 crude oil output was 7.3 million US barrels and natural gas 38.7 million feet; up from 1.9 and 10.4 the previous year. Output in tin, tungsten, gold, refined silver, and lead has surged. 16,770 miles of roads were extended or repaired and 95 bridges built.

A National Health Plan has been adopted, and 45 projects have been launched in cooperation with WHO, UNDP, UNICEF, etc., including child immunization, post natal care, etc.

Narcotics control measures have been "vigorously stepped up...."

The statement goes on to a long justification of SLORC intervention in 1988 to prevent a civil war, and lists eleven dissident groups with which the government has made peace (details in Annexure I). It says democracy cannot be imposed, and notes that the US has close economic relations with several countries without democracy and with "appalling" human rights records, like Saudi Arabia and Kuwait. Military rule in Indonesia did not impeded US relations, nor the "savage butchery of thousands of dissidents" in many Latin American countries.

"Sanctions and enforced isolation" won't help. Rather, "We can make an important contribution to Myanmar process of democratization and economic liberalization only if...we engage in an active dialog. We should take active steps to increase the flow of books and magazines, professors and businessmen, tourists and observers. We should do all we can to reinforce every evolutionary step toward democracy, and constantly press for change. Most importantly, we should without any further delay send an Ambassador to Myanmar. If we are serious about it, how can we convey a message without a messenger?"

US antagonism do not impede trade and investment from Japan, China, Singapore, Indonesia, Thailand, Australia, and Korea. "These countries will make money while we preach."

CULTURAL

Cultural and Scientific Articles

July 3: The Cat Family, by Colonel Hla Aung (Rtd). [Cont. (22) There are 36 kinds of cats, and articles beginning Jan. 30 have discussed the tiger, lion, leopard, snow leopard, jaguar, puma, and cheetah. More articles will follow when "scarce and difficult to come by" information on "the small cats" is obtained.]

July 5: A testimony to One Earth One Family, by U Ye Myint. [Survey of new environmental protection law, which promotes the 1994 Environmental Protection slogan of "One Earth One Family."]

July 10: World Population Day, by Theimm Htut. [Success in reducing world population growth "will spell the difference between leaving our descendants a future full of opportunity or despair." In Myanmar, "appropriate steps are taken so that population policies can be laid down.... The present population growth rate is 2.02 per cent and the total population stands at roundabout 44 million. Family planning project is being implemented for enhancing the maternity and child health standard." The project is being implemented with aid from the UN Fund for Population Activities in four townships each in Bago, Ayeyarwady, Magway, and Mandalay, and two each in Sagaing and Yangon, as well as Zigon and Thanatpin Townships in Bago and Tada-U Township in Mandalay. "The elderly population, age 60 years and above, constitutes 7.11 per cent (2.9 million) of total population.

Myanmar population distribution is not homogeneous; the Government has introduced programmes for balanced population distribution and regional development in border areas.]

July 12: Extensions of the Metonic Cycle, by Dr. Tin Maung (Retired Rector). [Discussion of lunar cycles discovered by ancient Greeks, and their use in calendars; with computer program in Pascal Language.]

July 15: Safeguarding and Enriching our Myanmar Culture, by Hla Aung. [On June 24 Yangon Commander Lt-Gen. Myo Nyunt urged Myanmar artistes to preserve Myanmar culture and to dress appropriately. Writers too, need to protect Myanmar culture. "The public...need to be protected from bad and unwholesome alien influences. Highlighting of sex, pornography, crime and violence, and the use of mind and health destroying drugs, are not part of our national culture. These need to be played down at all times. Our people certainly deserve all that is good, while rejecting all that is bad or unwholesome from foreign cultures."

[The following are "cherished values of Myanmar culture...":

1. Respect for our religious values, parents and teachers, our elders, and old-aged people. Respect for other people's religious beliefs. Or non-belief. Religious and racial tolerance.
2. The teaching of good Theravada Buddhist social values at home for Buddhist children from childhood. Or other religious values for Myanmar children of other faiths.
3. Being careful not to offend others.
4. Goodwill, kindness, and generosity to others.
5. Not being solely materialistic in outlook but equally accepting spiritually-oriented values as well.
6. Greed in moderation of the middle way, or less if possible.
7. Showing of restraint in anger or harbouring ill-will towards others.
8. Friendliness to all.
9. Dislike greatly criminal tendencies in people, or criminal incidents like -- robbery, hold-ups, murder, arson, rape, suicide, or prostitution. (Our statistics in this are very low indeed at present, and we all like to keep it that way).
10. Not showing favour for intoxicating drinks or pernicious drugs.
11. Moderation in speech, dress and behaviour.
12. Rearing of our children not only by parents alone, but also by grandparents and close relatives who have a say.
13. Consolidation of family life.
14. Modesty and moderation in one's private life between the sexes.
15. And many other 2,000 years of time-tested valuable points of Myanmar culture.

[Moreover, to survive in a competitive, materialist age, "internationally accepted values" are needed "for a prosperous modern state with a virile market-economy...":

1. Discipline in all things we do in our daily lives, for discipline is the hallmark of greatness.
2. Habits of obedience, without wavering, to the rule of law.
3. Respect for international law and internationally accepted norms.
4. Seriousness in our working life. Working hard at all levels.
5. Punctuality.
6. Good discipline at schools, colleges, offices, factories, in the fields, and by all State personnel. And an efficient civil service.
7. Queuing. Accepting the principle of first-come-first served.
8. Keeping our villages, towns and cities clean and presentable to foreigners for our tourist trade which can be very lucrative.
9. Throwing away waste matter only into bins kept for that purpose.
10. Paying attention to the rules of the road for motorists.
11. Paying our dues and taxes regularly as required by law.
12. And many other points of good discipline and decent internationally accepted behaviour.

["But in spite of more and more contacts with foreigners for the quick uplift of our market-oriented economy, the influence of worldwide television, and foreign radio broadcasts aimed at our country, there is no reason whatsoever why we cannot safeguard our very sound Myanmar culture within our own borders. And also to enrich it."]

Chairman Saya Myaing of the Myanmar Astrological Research Committee performed rituals, and those present said prayers. (NLM 7/29)

July 29: Editorial: Of regal era. [British theft of Mandalay Royal Regalia and other national treasures recalled. "In order that today's generation and future generations would be able to cherish sovereignty and behold evidence of our sovereign independence, the Mandalay Palace that was bombed out by the British in their scorched-earth policy at the time they withdrew from Myanmar during World War II was rebuilt and restored to its original grandeur. In the time of the State Law and Order Restoration Council, not only the Mandalay Palace but also the Palace of King Bayintnaung in Bago is being rebuilt. Just yesterday, the foundation for the construction of the royal chamber of the Kanbawzathadi Palace was laid with due pomp and ceremony as befits royalty...."]
