The top of each back page has since May 30, 1996 had a new boxed-in "slogan":
People's Desire
* Oppose those relying on external elements, acting as stooges,

* Crush all internal and external destructive elements as the common enemy.

Religious Slogans: Since August 1991, each issue has included a changing Pali religious slogan at the top of each front page:
Nov. 1-21: Panditanan ca sevana, to associate with the wise; this is the way to auspiciousness.

Political Articles
[Including, as appropriate, editorials]
Nov. 4,6-7,30: The warmth of Cambodia, by Tin Than Oo. [Appreciative account of Senior General Than Shwe's visit to Cambodia, and a history of the country.]
Nov. 5-6: We do not want you to act unthinkingly as others do, by A staff member of 'Myet Khin Thit'. [(1) Europe should not blindly follow America in endorsing fake claims that there is forced labor in Myanmar. General criticism of Europe and America. When somebody (like NLD) won a constituency of 300,000, with 150,000 eligible voters, of whom 90,000 voted, with 3 or 4 candidates, and the "winner" got 20,000 votes, that person got elected. "When investigation was made into cases of protest, it was usually heard how the over 20,000 votes were obtained through rigging.... The conclusion will be that it was only a cheap bid by the NLD, which had got only 30 per cent of all those eligible to vote in the 1990 Multi-party Democracy General Election in Myanmar is playing tricks but was claiming as though the entire people supported them. It was a poor plot." (2) European-American disputes; American threats against Europe.]
Nov. 7: With synchronization of moves inside the country and abroad, by Thanlyet. [Foreign coordination of Daw Suu Kyi’s actions. How she has hurt the education of Myanmar children. How Michael Aris pretended videos of volunteers sweeping the Shwedagon Pagoda were forced labour. Western control of Nobel Peace Prize awards. Support by CIA.]
Nov. 8: Are the so-called opposition elements in Myanmar for or against democracy? by Kyaw Myint Naing. [Daw Suu Kyi and her crowd are just mouthing democracy in order to destroy national unity and hinder progress.]

Nov. 9: Shape of things to come, by Thanlyet. [Conversation between Thanlyet and U Myo Chit about the "Leik's (English) foul-airing department broadcast" programs and the "Kan's (American) foul-airing machine named Radio Free Europe." Now they seek to overthrow China. Various machinations of the "Ngapawgyi" (CIA) seeking to keep Myanmar out of ASEAN. But current Thai government is patriotic and will not cooperate.]

Nov. 10-11: Behind the curtain,.... by Byatti. [(1) How the CIA controls the World Anti-Communist League, the Forum World Features, Covert Action journal, Orbe news agency, Copley News Service, and Latin News Agency. The Burma Action Group (BAG) supports anti-Myanmar expatriates. "The major manipulators who control movements of BAG are Lady G, adoptive mother of Medawgyi worshipped by internal axe-handles, and Evelyn Aris, her mother-in-law." (2) "Gang masters at various levels" replaced Prof. Yozo Yokota with Mr. Rajsosuer Lallah as UN Human Rights representative, who wrote about Myanmar without knowing anything about it. How neo-colonialists seek to overthrow the Tatmadaw Government and replace it with a puppet regime. Use of Nobel Prize. Distortion of news.]

Nov. 12: One step forward, two steps backward, by Byatti. [How "West Maidawgyi Suu Kyi" has sought to foment trouble since being released from house restrictions in 1995. Last Sunday, crowds assembled to hear her, were about to disperse, but "the dollar-earning embassy personnel and foreigner correspondents keep the crowds from dispersing, spreading word as though Suu Kyi would be coming there presently," in the hope of creating an incident.]

Nov. 13-16: Myanmar people will do Myanmar's politics by themselves, by Reporter Thet Shay. [(1) Survey of countries that have resisted American pressure -- Japan and South Korea, Iran, Libya, Cuba, Iraq, Vietnam. Because American people oppose government policy, "the US Congress introduced a law forbidding the American people's listening to overseas broadcasts of the VOA." (2) Nefarious activities of CIA and BBC. (3) CIA control of Nobel Peace Prizes; thus naming of Bishop Belo in 1996 was "viewed as CIA's blow to break up Indonesia." (4) US economic sanctions. Myanmar masses "branded the Western-puppet Ma Suu Kyi as a traitor and the one who spoils the racial lineage. Before 1988, people saw her as the daughter of Bogyoke Aung San. But now they see her only as the daughter-in-law of the parents of that English slicker Michael Aris." Americans and its lackeys should wait, and take part in the elections held under the new Constitution resulting from the National Convention.]

Nov. 15: It'd be perplexing if one does not know, by Abaya. [Efforts of the 'Thaiknanshin Maidawgyi' to disrupt Visit Myanmar Year 1996. Proof that society must "be free from the two extremes -- being 'too tight' in controlling the society and being 'too loose' with man's freedom going beyond limits."]

Nov. 25-26: Harm caused by one's own deed, being caught in one's own trap -- all should beware!, by Thanlyet. [(1) Especially the "West Medawgyi" (Daw Aung San Suu Kyi), who is controlled by "her man and the CIA." (2) By persisting in annoying the inhabitants of her neighborhood, by deliberately sabotaging economic development that was providing new jobs and hopes to many Myanmars, by inflicting herself where she is not wanted, she is courting trouble.]

Nov. 27: Suu Kyi cannot destroy peace, tranquillity and development, by U Pyay Kyaw. [As the Billingtons pointed out {foreign article below}, the International Republican Institute, led by the "sly and crooked" ex-president George Bush and the CIA, is promoting a "National League for Democracy government of Mrs. Michael Aris" in order to destroy China and promote narcotics. Now Daw Suu Kyi is starting riots, as on Nov. 23, which are praised by the VOA and BBC. "To sum up, for her foolish deeds, Suu Kyi and cohorts will come to be punished by the people."]

Nov. 28: Beware, fellow ASEAN friendly nations, by Thanlyet.
Daw Suu Kyi keeps visiting and dining with Western diplomats because she doesn't feel at home among Myanmars. "As she wants to breathe the Western air and to hear the Western voices as a relief measure, she has to visit embassies of the Western bloc and meet the whites."

Meanwhile, America (Ngapawagyi) is trying to break up ASEAN. "No other nation can match Ngapawagyi in breaching human rights." Sexual harassment in military; torturing and murdering prison inmates; etc.

Nov. 28: For ASEAN to stand firm against their schemes and attacks, by Thanlyet. [Review of US actions against Myanmar; ASEAN should beware of "Ngapawagyi."]

Nov. 30: Climbing up the pandal pole just to be visible to traitors within, by Sein Lun. [Bullying of Thailand by US President Clinton. US narcotics problems. "The people have openly said that internal destructive elements and axe-handles are Suu Kyi and her cohorts with slavish stinks. People are singling her out by name like that as they can no longer control their anger against Suu Kyi, as she is harming their interests, obeying alien dictates and has married to an alien.... Let me just tell Clinton that he ...has insulted and slandered Myanmar...."]

Foreign Articles About Myanmar

Nov. 22-24: Myanmar and the opium trade. Will Dope, Inc. lose control of the golden Triangle? A profile of the institutions trying to destabilize Myanmar, by Michael and Gail Billington. From the Executive Intelligence Review Journal (USA), of Oct. 25, 1996. [(1) The IRI (International Republican Institute) is an American organization set up under the National Endowment for Democracy as a conduit for CIA funds, and with the heavy participation of former Secretary of State George Shultz is seeking to drug legalization and "promoting the economic looting agenda of deregulation, privatization, and liberalization" which has destroyed the Russian economy. Similarly, in Asia, "the Bush and Kissinger networks, who run IRI, maintain cover of being 'old friends' of China their intent to support British efforts to divide China is evidenced by their destabilizing operations in countries along China's border, including Myanmar." (2) "We have then the IRI, a leading institution of the international drug lobby, financing and training a movement to take over the largest opium producing country in the world." Pro narcotics activities of George Soros and his Drug Policy Foundation. CIA drug involvement in Southeast Asia. SLORC's anti-narcotics activities. (3) Real purpose of NLD and Aung San Suu Kyi, or their backers such as "kingpin" (George) Bush and Massachusetts Governor William Weld, is to reconstitute the drug-dependent economies of the region. They have also engaged in a witch hunt against Lyndon La Rouche and his associates, including Michael Billington who wrote Dope, Inc. which "named those individuals and institutions behind the multi-trillion-dollar drug business."]

Information Committee Briefing

Nov. 1: The fourth monthly news briefing of the State Law and Order Restoration Council was held, in the presence of 42 foreign journalists, diplomats, and others: was held [full text]

Minister for Information Maj-Gen. Aye Kyaw stated that Minister for Foreign Affairs U Ohn Gyaw would discuss the 51st Session of the UNGA in New York, and the visit of SLORC Chairman Senior General Than Shwe to Cambodia, to be followed by questions and answers.

Minister for Foreign Affairs U Ohn Gyaw noted that the UNGA session had to elect a new UN Secretary-General, and there were important issues involving the Nuclear Test Ban Treaty. The session also coincided with the 35th anniversary of the Non-Aligned Movement. [UN General Assembly]

"That particular occasion was where all the ministers of foreign affairs of NAM had an opportunity to meet and discuss and to find ways to cooperate in the deliberations of the General Assembly matters, he said, adding two and a half weeks of his participation was in the earlier part of the General Assembly particularly in the opening session. Altogether 181 out of 185 representatives of the world body had taken the floor and made policy statements ....

"Major topics included had been the reform the UN as there had been some developments taking place inside the UN and in the other countries. The necessity for timely reform of the UN was one of the main objectives most of the countries were very much concerned, the minister said.

"He said that to restore its credibility and make it more relevant was also important as there were many peacekeeping, peace-making and preventive diplomacy; and then the Secretariat itself, had been full of problems and encountering many difficulties. That was the reason why many countries including major powers withheld their contributions and making moves that they would not like to contribute because some aspects needed to be amended for the relevancy as well as the credibility of the Secretariat of the UN. These were the excuses, and these were the movements that certain powers have been making as demands....

"Now, after the two and a half weeks, he said, the respective committee meetings were taking place. The normal topics would be dealt with, and among them, as far as Myanmar was concerned, there was only one single draft resolution in the Third Committee. There were more than 185 countries and then there were more than 180 agenda items but among them Myanmar had only one resolution in the Third Committee that concerned the human rights situation in Myanmar that was started five years ago.

"While attending this meeting, he had the occasion to meet, on a bilateral basis, with the Minister for Foreign Affairs of Norway at his request. He wanted to know the developments in Myanmar and he had about half an hour to 40 minutes to talk with him, noting that the discussions would be most contributive towards better understanding of the efforts Myanmar have been making in the country."

The Minister reviewed his participation in events honoring the 35th Anniversary of the NAM, and his meetings with the new General Assembly President (from Malaysia), with the European Troika, the Foreign Ministers of Italy, Ireland, and the Netherlands. He also met with the Bangladeshi Foreign Minister and with the UN Assistant Secretary-General for Political Affairs.

In addition, "he received the Global Vision Television Enterprise and gave an interview to them."

In the First Committee, Myanmar had tabled a draft for disarmament which "received a very wide range of support." In the Third Committee, Myanmar was explaining the latest developments in Myanmar and current government policies.

"Out of over 150 agenda items, the one that concerns us is in the Third Committee. So Myanmar is now trying to explain to them that, before they make an attempt to discredit or to pass a stronger resolution against Myanmar, what is actually taking place in our country will have to be fully explained. Myanmar ambassadors there are very active explaining to their counterparts."

"This year, Myanmar is very much encouraged that the ASEAN countries have been providing us a very meaningful cooperation towards its delegation. In addition to that we have a complete understanding with Japan, because the Japanese Permanent Representative is always trying to help in dealing with the so-called EU and the Western Camp."

Visit to Cambodia

The Minister went on to review at some length the visit to Cambodia by SLORC Chairman Senior General Than Shwe, stressing its cordiality, and the agreements made with Cambodia.

[Questions and Answers]

Asked by U Maung Maung of Ji Ji Press about European Union governments' decision to take action against Myanmar, the Foreign Minister said he had explained to Dick Spring, the President of the European Union, "how Myanmar is trying to build the democratic system and a few of the reports are not true and there is no gross violation of human rights as accused in those reports."

Asked by U Hla Htwe of Nihon Zeizai Shimbun about the timing of Myanmar's entry into ASEAN, the Minister said "he did not think there was any shift in ASEAN attitude.... One will be integrated into ASEAN in a matter of time, sooner or later, he said, once one had observer status; as far as the integrity, spirit is concerned there is no change of heart...."

Asked by Mr. Thomas Minter of CNN about the government's position towards the NLD and Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, the Minister "said dialogue is a process where widest possible representation is more valuable" and that dialogue had in fact been going on in the National Convention since 1993.

Asked by Mr. S. Tsuka Taka of Yomiuri Shimbun about the action taken by the US and European Union, the Minister said it was "very much one-sided in the approach; it is Myanmar's duty to explain that their perception is wrong.... He noted that if they would like to interfere in the internal affairs, then there is the basis of reciprocity."

Asked by Mr. Matthew Pennington of AFP about reciprocal measures against the European Union, the Minister said it would be decided by the Foreign Ministry, and any measures might not be against all 15 Union members since many of them were Myanmar's friends, "but Myanmar has to take action against those people who are belligerent; the reciprocity will be there."

Asked by Miss Deborah Charles of Reuters about student activities, Deputy Minister for Education Dr. Than Nyunt said that student gatherings at the beginning of term were normal, and the meeting of Oct. 20 was of that nature. The University is running in full session.

Asked by U Hla Htwe of Nihon Keizai Shimbun about student activities on Oct. 21 and 22, Deputy Minister for Home Affairs Col. Tin Hlaing "said the authorities had done all that should be done; those responsible too had done so as they were responsible."

Asked by Mr. Shinichi Isobe of NHK about dialogue with internal politicians, Col. Kyaw Thein of the Office of Strategic Studies said feelers had been sent in advance to national armed groups, and they had all endorsed the State Law and Order Restoration Council's Three Main National Causes, and agreed to join hands with the government in developing the border areas. On the other hand, some of the internal politicians "were quite temperamental and most of them were not talking about the development of the country but talking about sanctions and other things," and this had to be assessed by the government in deciding whether to go on with dialogue or not. (NLM 11/2)

He said that the government is "working for the emergence of a disciplined democracy compatible to Myanmar, and at the same time making arrangements to enable the people to enjoy the basic needs such as food, clothing and shelter as fundamental human rights; if steps are taken with priority to grant superficial human rights that permit people to do as they like without there being a good foundation, the nation will be destroyed..." He spoke of the duty of the people, including all USDA members, "to resolutely crush destructive elements inside and outside the country as common enemy who are disrupting all the development endeavours with the sole aim of gaining power in collusion between those inside and outside the country." He said he had made a week-long visit to look into Myanmar's preparations for entering ASEAN, and to see what kinds of assistance the ASEAN Secretariat could provide; he had had a useful exchange of views, and now knew what the situation was and what assistance Myanmar needed.

In response to a question by Mr. Thomas Mintier of CNN, he said that there were various technical questions, such as Myanmar's entry into AFTA, but there was a lot of time between now and July. The Secretariat was doing everything possible to assist Myanmar to join ASEAN as soon as possible.

In response to a question from Mr. Stephen B. Brookes of Asia Times, he said he was pleasantly surprised to find that Myanmar was "fairly advanced" in preparations, and had met most of the conditions; had signed most of the required international agreements, and was in financial shape to participate. Myanmar was advanced in preparing for AFTA, and there seemed to be few problems. Myanmar was better off than Cambodia and Laos because it was a member of the WTO, and hence granted MFN to other ASEAN members. There was no language problem, because of Myanmar familiarity with English. The economy was better off than that of Cambodia or Laos.

In response to a question from U Hla Htwe of Nihon Keizai Shimbun he said it was up to ASEAN members whether to take up the Myanmar application in their November meeting.
In response to a question from Mr. Simon Long of The Economist, he said the decision would be taken in July 1997, and that talks could continue right until then.

In response to a question from Mr. Brookes, he said that Myanmar's application was not being held up by those of Cambodia and Laos; all three were being treated the same.

In response to a question by Mr. S. Moriyama of Fuji TV, he said there were no problems, economic or political.

In response to a question by Shinichi Isobe of NHK, he said that there was no need for Myanmar to have a new constitution before joining ASEAN; this was a purely internal matter.

Asked by Mr. Long about the exchange rate, he said they would be looking at the exchange rate and the inflation rate.

Asked by Mr. Brookes, he said Myanmar did not need financial help, just technical training for its officials. (NLM 11/10)

Nov. 15: Chairman of the Myanmar Computer Science Development Council SLORC Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt addressed Meeting No. 1/96 of the Myanmar Computer Science Development Council to "clarify the Myanmar Computer Science Development Law."

"Promulgation of the Computer Science Development Law is aimed at contributing towards the emergence of a modern developed nation through computer science, he said, noting that it is obvious from studying its objectives to what extent the law will be beneficial to the nation...."

"He explained that although computer science had been in the country for quite a long time now, dissemination of computer science had not been undertaken due to various reasons. He pointed out that computer science has developed significantly in Myanmar due to high aptitude and dynamic efficiency of Myanmars although work for its dissemination was undertaken only three years ago.

"The Computer Science Development Law was promulgated on 20 September 1996 and it is needed to draft rules and procedures for its effectiveness and so officials concerned are to proceed with the work for speedy realization of aims, he said...."

"Now, he said, teaching computer science has begun from the Basic Education Middle and High Schools to enable Myanmar technicians to come up to international standards.

"For the fact that computer science has been extensively used in the world, one needs to be familiar with computer applications and in relation with it, he or she will be able not only to study other fields but also to easily lay down 'manpower planning.'

"He said that computer enthusiasts, scientists and entrepreneurs have known of the usefulness and effectiveness of the computers and Myanmars, if they have adequate materials, have the quality to compete on equal footing with any nation as they are not low in intelligence.

"He further explained that computer science has been developing at a rapid pace and it may benefit or adversely affect the user depending on his or her aims in utilizing the computers. Hence, he said, The Computer Science Development Law has been promulgated to create opportunities to be able to undertake work for the welfare of the nation.

"He cited objectives of the law:
-- to contribute towards the emergence of a modern developed State through computer science;
-- to lay down and implement measures necessary for the development and dissemination of computer science and technology;
-- to create opportunities for the youth, especially students, to study computer science;
-- to study computer science, which is developing internationally, and to utilize the same in a manner which is most beneficial to the State;
-- to cause extensively development in the use of computer science in the respective fields of work; and,
-- to supervise the import and export of computer software or information.

"He noted that the State is providing support and assistance to the intellectuals and technicians to enable them to pursue international-level computer science studies.

"He exhorted the computer enthusiasts, scientists and entrepreneurs to cooperate and discuss work for realization of the objectives of the law and formation of the Myanmar Computer Federation and computer associations at various levels...."

In the discussion which followed, Secretary-1 Lt-Gen. Khin Nyunt "said Myanmar Computer Science Development Council would be responsible for policy and duties and rights will be granted to computer enthusiasts, scientists and entrepreneurs who will be included in the Myanmar Computer Federation.

"The Secretary-1 called for cooperation of all concerned for emergence of the Myanmar Computer Federation and drafting of rules and procedures as soon as possible. (NLM 11/15)
