Emergence of the State Constitution is the duty of all citizens of Myanmar Naing-Ngan.
Appropriate suggestions to be adopted in interests of the nation and people

The final session of the National Convention has been reconvened since 18 July to frame a State constitution. Emergence of an enduring State constitution is necessary for transforming the nation into a developed modern democratic nation with flourishing discipline.

The basic principles more than 1000 NC delegates have adopted for emergence of a State constitution in the interests of the people are designed to create a prosperous future of the nation.

At the plenary sessions held up to 29 December 2006, the eight delegate groups submitted the proposal papers they had compiled for the detailed basic principles for the Chapters “Election”, “Political Parties”, “Provisions on State of Emergency”, “Amendment of the Constitution”, “State Flag, State Seal, National Anthem and the Capital”, “Transitory Provisions”, and “General Provisions”.

At the plenary sessions of the ongoing National Convention, the members of the panels of alternate chairmen have read out collections of the proposal papers of the delegate groups.

It is found that some proposal papers of the delegate groups are submitted in the framework of the six objectives of the National Convention and the already-adopted detailed basic principles, and such appropriate suggestions deserve serious consideration.

It is needed to seek the stances of all delegate groups through respective panels of chairmen to adopt the suggestions that are submitted in the interests of the nation and people. Therefore, respective committees, members of the panels of chairmen, and delegates have to work hard in harmony for successful completion of the National Convention.

Putin slams Britain over “colonial thinking” in row

MOSCOW, 25 July—Russian President Vladimir Putin on Tuesday denounced Britain for making insulting demands that betrayed outdated colonial thinking, in comments likely to escalate a row over the murder of Alexander Litvinenko.

Britain and Russia have each expelled four diplomats in a spat over the murder and Moscow’s refusal to extradite the chief suspect in the case.

“What they propose is an obvious vestige of colonial thinking,” Putin said. Putin has demanded Britain extradite Russian businessman Andrei Lugovoy so that he can be put on trial in London for Litvinenko’s murder.

Russia has refused, citing its Constitution, which forbids the extradition of Russian citizens. “They should better change their brains than our Constitution,” Putin said at a meeting with youth organizations in Zavidovo, some 120 kilometres (75 miles) northwest of Moscow.

Shown wearing an open shirt and jeans and sitting surrounded by youth activists, a stern Putin used highly forceful Russian and sometimes seemed angry, almost spitting out the word “brains”.

Asked for a reaction to Putin’s comments, a Foreign Office spokesman in London told Reuters: “We continue to look for a willingness from the Russian authorities to work constructively with us to bring this crime, committed in the UK, to justice in a British court.”—MNA/Reuters

US Treasury bans dealings with Hizbollah supporters

WASHINGTON, 25 July—The US Treasury Department said on Tuesday it has moved to block financial aid to a Lebanese guerilla group Hizbollah by banning US transactions with a foundation in Iran and a finance company in Lebanon.

The Treasury said in a statement it was designating the Teheran-based Martyrs Foundation and the Al-Qard al-Hassan finance firm in Beirut as providing financial support to terrorist organizations.

The move invokes an executive order to freeze any assets they may have under US jurisdiction and prohibit any Americans from conducting transactions with them. Two individuals associated with Hizbollah support activities also were blacklisted. The designation includes a Dearborn, Michigan-based fundraising office set up by the Martyrs Foundation under the name Goodwill Charitable Organization.—MNA/Reuters

US Marine killed in western Iraq

BAGHDAD, 25 July—A Marine was died of wounds sustained from a roadside bomb explosion in Iraq’s western province of Anbar, the US military said on Tuesday.

The incident took place on Sunday during combat operations in the Sunni insurgent’s stronghold, a military statement said.

Earlier, the military said that three more of its soldiers were killed and two others were injured in separate roadside bomb attacks across the country in the past few days.

The latest deaths bring the number of US soldiers killed in Iraq to more than 3,630 since the outbreak of Iraq war in 2003, according to media count based on Pentagon figures.—MNA/Xinhua

China blocks US bid for WTO tax subsidy probe

GENEVA, 25 July—China blocked a US request on Tuesday for a World Trade Organization investigation into tax exemptions and refunds that Washington says give Chinese businesses an unfair advantage.

In a first-time filing to the WTO’s Dispute Settlement Body, the United States said it was “deeply concerned” about the practices it said violated world trade rules.

“China offers tax refunds, reductions and exemptions that discriminate against imported products ... or that subsidise China’s exports,” it said its request for a panel.

Mexico lodged similar complaints in a separate request for a panel which China also blocked on Tuesday. WTO procedures allow countries to turn down initial requests for panels to give more time for consultations. On the second request, a panel is set up automatically. The next Dispute Settlement Body meeting is set for 31 August.

The United States and Mexico agreed on Tuesday to merge the complaints into one dispute to be handled by a single panel.

China, in its submission to the Dispute Settlement Body, said it was “regrettable” the two complainants chose to pursue arbitration instead of continuing with bilateral talks.—MNA/Reuters

Four tourists killed in fire in S Italy

BARI (Italy), 25 July — Four people were killed on Tuesday and thousands of tourists were trapped on beaches by a fast-moving brush fire that swept through southern Italy's Puglia region, local authorities said.

Emergency services used patrol boats and helicopters to whisk some 4,000 holidaymakers and residents to safety, according to media reports.

Many had rushed to the beach in bathing suits, leaving all other belongings behind as they tried to escape the flames.

The fire spread quickly, threatening hotels and holiday villages, port police said. The nationalities of those involved were not immediately clear.

Elena Gentile, in charge of social affairs in the regional council, said two people were found burnt to death in a car and two asphyxiated on a beach near the village of Peschici, where the fire swept close to houses, forcing the evacuation of a hotel, several camp sites and tourist resorts.

Wildfires, often caused by people casually throwing burning cigarette butts on the ground but also by illegal builders who want to clear the land from protected forests, are common in Italy during the summer and are spreading faster than usual in the current heat wave.

The authority said it had received 70 calls to send in fire extinguishing planes on Tuesday alone. One pilot died on Monday when his plane crashed in the mountainous central region of Abruzzo.

Sun may have reached solar minimum

WASHINGTON, 25 July — The Sun is almost spotless at the present time, a sign that it may have reached solar minimum, according to the latest Sun images released on Tuesday by US federal space agency NASA.

The images taken by SOHO (solar and heliospheric observatory) show that the Sun loses its spots. NASA scientists say maybe it is the calm before the storm. They are now watching for the first spot of the new solar cycle to appear.

US National Oceanic and Atmospheric Administration (NOAA) forecasts that the next solar cycle should begin in March 2008 and should peak in late 2011 or mid-2012.

The 11-year-long solar cycle is marked by two extremes, solar minimum and solar maximum. Solar minimum is the period of least solar activity in the solar cycle of the sun. During this time sunspot and solar flare activity diminishes, and often does not occur for days at a time.

When spots begin to appear on the sun once again, scientists know that the sun is heading into a new season of extreme solar activity. At the cycle’s peak, solar maximum, the sun is continually peppered with spots, solar flares erupt, and the sun hurls billion-ton clouds of electrified gas into space.

Solar maximum is often compared to the hurricane season here on Earth. Violent solar events, like flares and coronal mass ejections, are the hurricanes of space weather.

These solar storms are capable of wreaking havoc with satellites, power grids, and radio communication, including the Global Positioning System.

According to charges unsealed by the Justice Department on Monday, Jason Steph, 37, arranged the payments between 2003 and 2005 when he managed on-shore Nigerian operations for Willbros Group Inc, a Houston oil-services firm. Steph resigned from Willbros in 2005 and now lives in Kazakhstan.

Steph faces up to 65 years in prison and millions of dollars in fines if convicted. According to the indictment, Steph and several others arranged the payments to win a 387-million-US-dollar contract with the Nigerian Government to build a pipeline known as the Eastern Gas Gathering System in a remote section of the Niger Delta.

Senators question US Attorney General’s truthfulness

WASHINGTON, 25 July — US Attorney General Alberto Gonzales came under fire at a Senate Judiciary Committee hearing on Tuesday where lawmakers challenged his truthfulness and ability to lead his scandal-rocked Justice Department.

“The attorney general’s lost the confidence of the Congress and the American people,” said Committee Chairman Patrick Leahy, a Vermont Democrat. He described the department as “shrouded in scandal”, and told Gonzales: “I don’t trust you.”

“My department functioning?” asked Senator Arlen Specter of Pennsylvania, ranking Republican on the committee and a leading critic of Gonzales.

“Have decided to stay and fix the problems,” replied Gonzales, a close friend of President George W Bush. He earlier served as Bush’s White House counsel.

Oil falls below $77 on OPEC price concerns

NEW YORK, 25 July — Oil fell below 77 US dollars a barrel on Monday as some funds booked profits after OPEC expressed concern over near-record prices and pledged to pump more crude if needed.

London Brent crude, viewed as more reflective of global prices than US oil, settled down 78 cents to 76.86 US dollars after sliding as low as 76.42 US dollars a barrel. Brent hit 78.40 US dollars last week, just off its all-time high of 78.65 US dollars struck last August. US crude settled down 90 cents at 74.89 US dollars.

OPEC President and United Arab Emirates Energy Minister Mohammed al-Hamli said on Sunday that oil’s strength was a worry but the world economy was still growing in spite of it.

“The statement is important... as it could be the first indication that OPEC may be willing to consider easing up on its supply allocations at its September meeting, and could be accounting for the softer opening we are seeing so far today,” a report said.

Zambia urged to develop nuclear energy

LUSAKA, 25 July— An expert from the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA) has said nuclear energy is one of the options Zambia has to avoid the looming power deficit in the generation capacity of hydro electricity, according to Zambia Daily Mail.

He quoted IAEA researcher Peter Bode as saying here on Monday that “African countries are increasingly thinking nuclear power as one of the opportunities they are thinking that it is one of the options.”

He said as much as hydro-power is clean and cheap, it has proved difficult to construct and keep water reservoirs in most countries.

The full Moon of Waso, the Dhammacakkapavattana Day which falls on 29th July 2007. The Full Moon Day of Waso associates with the four noble truths and significant events related to the precious life of the Omniscent Buddha. On that holy day, the Buddha-to-be (the Gotama Buddha) took pregnancy in the womb of Queen Maya, wife of His Majesty King Suddhodana of Kapilavatthu Kingdom, and also on that holiday. The Buddha-to-be renounced the world, and after having full attainment of the Buddhahood, the Gotama Buddha preached His first great sermon, Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta to His five disciples, in which He explained the Four Noble Truths and the Noble Eight Fold path, on the Full Moon Day of Waso. All five disciples received ordination and formed the first nucleus of the holy brotherhood of disciples known as the Sangha.

And also, on the Full Moon Day of Waso, the Omniscent Buddha performed the great miracle called the Twin Miracle. The reason for this was to dispel the wrong views of heretics, and to prove that He possessed the attributes of a Buddha. It is the miracle of water and fire.

The Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day

Over 2540 years ago, the unrivalled Omniscent Buddha preached His first great Sermon, the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta to His five disciples (Kondañña and other four) in the Deer park, now known as Sarnath, India, on the Full Moon Day of Waso. In commemoration of this significant and holy event associated with the precious life of the Buddha, the Buddhist peoples across the Buddhist world celebrate the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day on this Full Moon Day of Waso by observing precepts delivered by members of the Sangha and respectfully listening to the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta recited by members of the Sangha.

And also, the generous Buddhist peoples perform meritorious deeds such as offering Waso robes, alms and other offerings to the members of Sangha on the Full Moon Day of Waso, the Dhammacakkapavattana Sutta Day.

RAIN RETREAT PERIOD, Vassaavasa

Observing the rains retreat period; confining oneself to a specific monastic dwelling for the three month rainy period. During the three months of monsoon rains, Bhikkhus go into retreat at a monastery designated before hand at the start of the rainy season. This practice was introduced during the life-time of the Buddha. Before the Buddha decreed the rains retreat period, Bhikkhus walked across fields under cultivation. People started to criticize them as some people believed that plants and even drops of water were living beings. Why is it that the disciples of the Buddha go on travels all the year round and trap young plants and insects into oblivion while even members of other sects do not go on journeys during the rains? Even birds and animals have the good sense to stay in their nets or dens during the rains, people complained. To put an end to this controversy the Buddha decreed that the rains-retreat period be observed. Rains retreat period may be observed by taking up the designated residence during one of the two periods:

1) Earlier rains retreat period (purimavassavasa), commencing from the day after the fullmoon of Waso (roughly corresponding to July) and ending on the fullmoon day of Thadingyut (roughly corresponding to October);

2) Later rains retreat period (pacchimavassavasa), commencing from the day after the fullmoon of Wagaung (roughly corresponding to August) and ending on the fullmoon day of Tazaungmon (roughly corresponding to November).

NAY PYI TAW, 26 July—The following is a translation of the speech delivered by Shan State PDC Chairman Eastern Command Commander Maj-Gen Thaung Aye at the ceremony to unconditionally exchange arms for peace of SSNPLO at the sports ground in Banyn Village of Hsihseng Township today.

Now, the Union of Myanmar is in the process of being transformed into a peaceful, modern and developed democratic nation with flourishing discipline. The most fundamental requirement in the process is restoration of regional peace and prevalence of law and order along with a condition in which people can lead a peaceful life. What is the most important for ensuring stability and peace of the Union is that we all have to remain united and harmonious and to strengthen the unity of national brethren who have been living together sharing joys and sorrows in the Union since time immemorial.

Looking back the conditions of Shan State more than 15 years ago, as you know unlike the conditions in the post-independence period, it lagged behind other parts of the nation in various sectors including transport, education, health, and social affairs. In addition, due to the armed conflicts, local people had to live in a state of alarm and went through the hell in the period. In order to remedy such evil consequences local people were suffering, the Tatmadaw, since it took over State duties, has been working hard in various sectors for improving the social well-being and unity of national races. At the same time, it tried its best to wipe out the danger of narcotic drugs in Shan State that was an evil legacy the colonialists left on purpose.

Due to the benevolent attitude and unremitting efforts of the Tatmadaw government and cooperation of the leaders of national races, now Shan State except some fringes no longer sees armed insurgency and enjoys fruitful results of peace along with improvement in the security, transport, economic, education, health and social sectors. The danger of narcotic drugs in the region is dwindling away. However, some parts of Shan State have yet to enjoy the taste of peace. So, I would like to urge all local people to work hard so that peace and stability are restored well throughout the entire Shan State.

It is a great pleasure for me to say on behalf of the government as well as of national people that I am very glad to see that U Chit Maung and party have unconditionally exchanged arms for peace to be harmonious with the people in the interests of national people. And with the concept that armed struggle line is unnecessary for the drive for democratic transition the people are implementing together and is opposed to democracy, they have given up the armed struggle line. So, I would say their choice will help achieve perpetual peace for which the entire people are desirous and expedite the tasks for regional development. I am sure that the scene U Chit Maung and members are receiving a warm and wholehearted welcome from local people is filling the hearts of the people of the Union of Myanmar with great pleasure.

The entire local people in Hopong Township and Hsihseng Township thank all the members of U Chit Maung’s group because they will be able to enjoy fully the taste of peace. In honour of such a correct decision of U Chit Maung and members who have unconditionally exchanged arms for peace with the aim of reuniting and living together with national brethren through thick and thin, to work together with local people in the interests of the whole Union, while equipping themselves with nationalistic spirit and Union Spirit to maintain and enhance the already-achieved peace, stability and progress. — MNA

We promise that we will never commit wrong acts of the past. We want to invite other armed groups to unconditionally exchange arms for peace. — MNA

The entire local people in Hopong Township and Hsihseng Township warmly welcome and wholehearted welcome from local people is filling the hearts of the people of the Union of Myanmar with great pleasure.

In conclusion, I would like to urge all national race groups joining hands with the government in the development undertakings in the framework of the law including U Chit Maung and members who have unconditionally exchanged arms for peace with the aim of reuniting and living together with national brethren through thick and thin, to work together with local people in the interests of the whole Union, while equipping themselves with nationalistic spirit and Union Spirit to maintain and enhance the already-achieved peace, stability and progress. — MNA

NAY PYI TAW, 26 July—The following is a translation of the address of commanding officer of No 943 Battalion of Shan State Nationalities People’s Liberation Organization U Chit Aung at the ceremony to unconditionally exchange arms for peace of SSNPLO at the sports ground in Banyn Village of Hsihseng Township today.

We, the SSNPLO, believed in goodwill of the government and returned to the legal fold in 1994. Despite having returned to the legal fold, we carried arms and bullied the people. Because of our bad habits, people had not given us support willingly. Gradually, we began to realize that people supported and provided assistance to us in fear. We began to understand that our acts were not quite right. We realized that only when we unconditionally exchanged arms for peace, could we serve the interests of the country and the region, and could the people live in peace. We donot want the people to get worried. Besides, we begin to understand the goodwill and endeavours of the State. These are the reasons why we unconditionally exchange arms for peace today.

When we returned to the legal fold, there were some doubts in our mind. We, along with our leader U Chit Maung, are going to unconditionally exchange arms for peace to satisfy the desire of the people. We could not serve the interests of the people by carrying arms in the past. As we lived by extorting money from the people, they were afraid of us. Therefore, we make a decision today to participate in regional development tasks in our region joining hands with people so as not to become burden to the people. I am glad to see that the people warmly welcome us when we unconditionally exchange arms for peace.
Thanks to the peace, I am able to express them now. I dared to speak out even quietly and secretly in the past. I get an opportunity to express my feelings I had never been able to express. The period was total darkness indeed. Our native areas witnessed armed conflicts very often resulting in the sufferings of the people. The period was total darkness indeed.

Armed conflicts between national brethren result from colonialists’ divide-and-rule policy

Resulting from the divide-and-rule policy of the colonialists, armed conflicts between the national brethren broke out before the time I was born. Our people were facing all sorts of troubles since I was a child. The armed conflicts had separated families and local people had to flee their homes and live in fear. It was impossible for us to dream when the conflicts would end and peace would come true. We had to lead our lives without peace and security. Parents could not earn their living well, and we the students could not pursue education well.

We were delighted to hear that national race armed groups returned to the legal fold in the time of the State Peace and Development Council after giving up their illegal struggle line. In reality, we have not yet fully enjoyed peace and some insurgent groups are still collecting extortion money from the villagers. So, they are still a burden to the local people. Although there are no longer gun battles and fighting in the region, the local people still have to fear the armed insurgents and remnants. We have to secretly report their operations to the authorities concerned.

In the past, this region lacked development of all sorts such as security, economy, social affairs and education due to the colonialists. That was why the local people had to move to other secure places. In 1994 U Chit Maung’s group entered the legal fold and participated in regional development work, thereby contributing to moderate development of transport, economic, agricultural and education sectors. However, perpetual peace could not be achieved and those who enthusiastically participated in regional development tasks were strongly criticized and regarded as the government’s supporters. We, national local people, had not been in a position to fully enjoy peace and security.

Today, we local people feel as if we were blessed with an unprecedented reward because we have learnt a good news that the SSNPLO led by U Chit Maung has realized the genuine goodwill of the government and unconditionally exchanged arms for peace in the interest of local people. In addition, they have given up collecting taxes that is a burden on national people and decided to reunite with the people through thick and thin. So, we can now enjoy fully the taste of life security and peace and we will be able to lead a peaceful life. And now peace has been restored and all sorts of man-made barriers to regional development are no more, so I am sure our region will enjoy rapid development in a short time.

In conclusion, I would say my heartfelt thanks goes to U Chit Maung and members who made a correct decision and have given up armed struggle line to enable local people to create a peaceful and modern society, the government that has expressed its benevolent attitude, welcomed warmly and provided necessary assistance for them, and national people who cordially, warmly and wholeheartedly welcomed them. — MNA
Heat wave leads more forest fires in Italy

ROME, 25 July—Current heat wave in Italy caused more forest and brush fires, Italian civil protection authorities said here on Monday.

The southeast region of Puglia is one of the hardest hit by the fires, two more of which broke out during the night between Sunday and Monday, according to the local media reports.

Civil Protection officials said Puglia remained at high risk of fire because of the continuing drought there. In Calabria fire-fighters brought under control a fire near the A3 Salerno-Reggio Calabria motorway, which had been shut down on Sunday, the reports said.—AFP/ANSA

Jumbo squid invading Central California waters

BEIJING, 25 July— Jumbo squid capable of competing with sharks and tuna for food are invading central California waters, according to a study published Tuesday.

The Humboldt squid — or Dosidicus gigas — can change its eating habits to consume anchovy, hake and other commercial fish populations, according to an article published in the Proceedings of the National Academy of Sciences journal. The squid can grow up to 7 feet long and weigh more than 110 pounds.

“Having a new, voracious predator set up shop here in California may be yet another thing for fisherman to compete with,” said the study’s co-author, Monterey Bay Aquarium Research Institute senior scientist Bruce Robison, first spotted the jumbo squid here in 1997, when one swam past the lens of a camera mounted on a submersible thousands of feet below the ocean’s surface.

More were observed through 1999, the Humboldt squid used to be found only in the Pacific Ocean’s warmest stretches near the equator. In the last 16 years, it has expanded its territory throughout California waters, and squid have even been found in the icy waters off Alaska, Zeidberg said.

Iraq coach slates AFC over hotel mix-up

KUALA LUMPUR, 25 July — Iraq's Brazilian coach Jorvan Vieira has slammed the Asian Football Confederation (AFC) for leaving his weary players stranded for hours without hotel rooms.

Vieira said his players waited for four hours at the Prince Hotel lobby in Kuala Lumpur after arriving from Bangkok on Monday before only eight rooms were made available for 31 people.

Iraq play South Korea on Wednesday in an Asian Cup semifinal and Vieira said their travelling ordeal nullified any advantage they had over the Koreans in terms of an extra day's rest.

"We left Bangkok at 7 am, arrived at the hotel at 5 pm and then waited four hours for only eight rooms," Vieira, whose team defeated Vietnam 2-0 in the quarterfinal after another goalless 120 minutes.

"We are all very, very disappointed," Vieira said. "In the first half we forgot to play football and use the spaces. Second half we played much better but we were not sharp in the final third and sometimes not lucky."

"I knew extra time would be tough for us after Sunday," Vieira added.— MNA/Reuters

Iraq beat S Korea on penalties, reach Asian Cup final

KUALA LUMPUR, 26 July — Iraq reached their first Asian Cup final on Wednesday night, beating South Korea 4-3 on penalties in a pulsating semifinal that ended goalless after extra time.

Noot Sabri was Iraq's hero when he saved Korea's fourth spot-kick from Yeom Ki-hun. After Ahmed Menajed had made it 4-3 to the West Asians, Korean Kim Jung-woo hit the post to send the Iraqi players into raptures.

"It was a great game," Iraq coach Jorvan Vieira told a news conference. "The game was 50:50 but we missed more opportunities than them. We were tired too, but Korea were more tired than us."

It was the vanquished side's second penalty shootout in four days, having overcome Iran 4-2 in Sunday's quarterfinal after another goalless 120 minutes.

"We are all very, very disappointed," Korea coach Pim Verbeek said. "In the first half we forgot to play football and use the spaces. Second half we played much better but we were not sharp in the final third and sometimes not lucky."

"I knew extra time would be tough for us after Sunday."

Iraqi captain Yasser Al Qahtani had volleyed his side in front in the 35th minute but Japan took just two minutes to pull level through defender Yuji Nakazawa's towering header.

Maaz restored Saudi Arabia's lead with a bullet header two minutes into the second half only for Yuki Abe to equalize again for Japan with an acrobatic volley in the 53rd minute.

"We let them off the hook," shrugged Japan's Bosnian coach Ivica Osim. "We had more chances but couldn't take them. They had three and scored them all."

"We looked tired and we ran out of ideas. One or two of our key players simply didn't play well enough."

White powder causes panic at US Embassy in Kuwait

KUWAIT CITY, 26 July — Employees at the American Embassy in Kuwait on Monday received a parcel containing suspicious white powder, which caused security alarm, the Kuwait’s Arab Times daily reported on Tuesday.

The white powder was contained in a package, which was found by security men posted at the South Gate of the embassy. Suspecting that the powder was explosive in nature, they immediately took precautionary steps and informed the Kuwaiti authorities, the daily said.

The American Embassy’s Press Attaché James Fennell told the daily over the phone that the embassy had taken precautionary measures and nobody was injured in the incident.

“We are coordinating with the concerned Kuwaiti authorities to conduct a thorough investigation to determine the nature of the material,” he was quoted as saying.

The embassy remains open for business despite the incident, Fennell said.

Confirming that the package contained suspicious material, a security source said Kuwaiti and American authorities immediately coordinated their efforts to deal with the issue.

American explosive experts were instructed to cooperate with their Kuwaiti counterparts to examine the contents of the parcel.

Kuwait’s national security apparatus, on the other hand, is closely following up the issue to identify the nature of the white powder, the daily said.

The vehicles buried under a collapsed wall a day after thunderstorms struck in Karachi, on 24 July, 2007. Trucks carrying aid have rolled into Karachi after the death toll from violent storms and flooding along Pakistan’s Arabian Sea coast rose to at least 235 people, officials said.
