Emergence of the State Constitution is the duty of all citizens of Myanmar Naing-Ngan.

Since the independence regained in 1948, the colonialists had tried in various ways to destroy Myanmar’s independence and the Union. Now the country is approaching the 60th anniversary. But there are still attempts to encroach upon the independence and the Union.

The power of genuine patriotism safeguards the Union.
Towards extended establishment of forest plantations

Naturally, teak grows well in Myanmar, and there are a large number of vast land areas where teak can thrive in the nation. The rich natural resources of the State play a pivotal role in national development as well as development of trade and commerce. Therefore, it is required to systematically and effectively tap the natural resources and to continue conserving them.

The Ministry of Forestry has been conserving over 60,000 square miles of reserve forest, protected public forest and wildlife sanctuaries. Steps are being taken to make Bago Yoma, where many teak and hardwoods thrive, lush and green. In the meantime, extended establishment of special teak plantations and watershed plantations is being carried out.

As efforts are being made for greening 13 arid districts of Upper Myanmar forest plantations are now thriving there. At present, woods can be extracted from a string of rural wood plantations established by local people.

Forests constitute the backbone of national economy. Quality teak is in high demand in the international market. The government and the people is to conserve natural forest, extend teak plantations and take part in making the regions lush and green. Only then, will the Myanmar forests flourish all the more.

ElBaradei says more US arms aid will not stabilize Middle East

VIENNA, 28 Aug — A planned multibillion-dollar US military aid package aimed to bolster Middle East allies will do nothing to improve their security or stability, the UN nuclear watchdog chief said in remarks published on Monday.

Washington announced on 30 July it would funnel military aid worth more than 43 billion US dollars to Egypt, Israel, Saudi Arabia and other Gulf states over 10 years to help protect them against Iran and fears of spillover from militant chaos in Iraq.

Mohamed ElBaradei, head of the International Atomic Energy Agency which has been probing suspicions of an illicit nuclear bomb programme in Iran, was quoted by Austrian weekly magazine Profil as saying Washington’s military aid was misguided.

“Pouring more money into arms is not going to resolve the issue. You can end up in a situation like the Cold War in the past,” ElBaradei, who has disagreed with US efforts to isolate Iran, told the magazine.

“Does that provide security? Does that provide stability? It doesn’t. It’s a very dangerous development,” he was quoted as saying. ElBaradei said such money would be better spent on economic development in the region, “projects that would improve the human rights situation, fight poverty and improve the weak education system. Security can only be assured through development of the region”. — MNA/Reuters

Two Chinese miners crawl to safety after five days

BEIJING, 27 Aug — Two Chinese miners have crawled to safety after being trapped for nearly six days in a Chinese coal mine, state media said on Monday.

Rescuers and their family had given them up for dead after 130 hours underground after a tunnel collapsed, the China Daily said.

Brothers Meng Xianchen and Meng Xianyou were trapped while working at an illegal mine in Beijing’s Fangshan District late on Saturday 18 August. Two days later, rescue efforts were called off.

“The miners’ families were in despair, burning ‘ghost money’ for the deceased at the entrance of the mine,” the China Daily said. “The only people who didn’t give up were the miners themselves” who started building a tunnel towards the entrance. The newspaper did not say if any other miners were believed trapped.

On Friday, after 130 hours underground, the two finally saw light. “After crawling out, they collapsed and were rushed to hospital by miners nearby,” the report said. — MNA/Reuters

Immigration activists protest deportation of Mexican woman

LOS ANGELES, 27 Aug — Hundreds of immigration activists marched through downtown Los Angeles on Saturday to show solidarity with a Mexican woman who was expelled from the United States.

The 32-year-old Elvira Arellano had fought to remain in the United States with her son but was deported earlier this week.

Demonstrators, including families with children, chanted, “We are all Elvira!” and “Legalization now!” in Spanish and English, to show support for Arellano, a single mother who was arrested in Los Angeles last Sunday and quickly shipped off to Mexico.

More than a dozen speakers emphasized the need to change immigration laws to enable working immigrants to stay in the United States.

Arellano, a native of the Mexican state of Michoacan, became a lighting rod for debate over immigration laws when she hid up in a Chicago church for nearly a year, seeking sanctuary from federal agents who were trying to deport her. She became an outspoken critic of immigration laws that separate illegal immigrant parents from their legal resident children. According to the New Sanctuary Movement, some 600,000 families in America face the prospect of being broken apart. — MNA/Xinhua

Poets, musicians, novelists and columnists have written about patriotism. They express patriotism through painting, sculpture, performance, talk and articles. They tell everybody to keep the Union Spirit as our country is a union. Patriotism is also known as Union Spirit.

A country is a native land where the citizens were born. There are cultivable land and resources in the waters, aboveground and underground. This is why the citizens cherish their country. The citizens who have been living in the same land through thick and thin love and cherish the country.

Patriotism means love and devotion to one’s country and loving-kindness with pure goodwill. The loving-kindness is a phenomenon of humans given by nature. Human beings love themselves by nature. It is something not to be blamed but it is egoism to be forgiven.

Everyone wants to eat good food, to wear suitable clothes and live in safe shelter. Everyone wants to lead a comfortable life. Everybody loves themselves. Human beings cannot live in isolation. They live with parents, brothers and sisters, life partner and sons and daughters. They want their family members to live well. Loving-kindness towards the family members emerges. This is the human nature.

He tries to earn his living and carries out the tasks in the interest of the family. He starts his life by building a house or an apartment. It is not sufficient for him to protect only his house or apartment from fires which can spread. Therefore, cooperated measures are taken in wards and townships for fire prevention, infectious disease control and security of their life.

Man has to cooperate with other people in surrounding areas in order to give protection to the family due to loving oneself or his family too much. By performing community welfare service collectively the human’s environment has become wider.

In the event of our country covering all territories being intruded by colonialists and the rogues the entire nation including our families, villages and towns will be in great trouble. In that condition, the country would be under the intruders and we would be in no position to enjoy the fruits of the resources of our country but they will be eventually exploited by the colonialists. Our property and possessions will be destroyed by bombs, shells and projectiles dropped by colonialists.

One has to be prepared to face untold troubles when his country is being occupied by colonialists. Myanmar people were under foreign subjugation for more than one hundred years. The colonialists exploited forests covering about half of the nation’s territory, natural resources such as gold, silver, copper, zinc, iron and jewellery, water resources such as fish and prawn, oil and gas in territorial waters and a variety of crops produced from over 2 million acres for more than one century. At present, some countries have suffered much and lost many lives and property as they were transgressed by foreigners. Such events remind Myanmar people of their being colonized.

The love of people originates from egoism. And then it extends to his family, village, town, nation, etc. In this juncture, one concerns his nation and protects it. Consequently, he has been fully equipped with patriotism, Union Spirit and the spirit to love the nation.

Myanmar people cherish their own country. Likewise, peoples of other countries cherish their own countries. It can be said that the cherishing of one’s own nation is auspicious.

We Myanmar people are pleased to see that other peoples cherish their own nations. Myanmar people used to cherish themselves and their families. And their cherishing extends to their country according to traditions, culture, teachings of parents and teachers as well as religious teachings. They do not infringe others’ interests, steal others’ property, loot others’ belongings and encroach upon others’ countries in the interest of their families, people and nations. They earn their living in line with the teachings of the Buddha.

Stealing and robbery is liable to legal prosecution. Stealing and robbing of others’ property that has been acquired by others in a fair way is unacceptable. This is practised by Myanmar as well as the international community.

Myanmar is blessed with vast arable land. At present, over 25 million acres are being put under various crops. If virgin and fallow lands are reclaimed systematically there can be 20 million acres more. Forests in which internationally famous Myanmar teak and Pinekado are growing covers half the area of Myanmar. There are the world’s greatest ruby, high quality sapphire, pearls and jade as well as gold, silver, zinc and other minerals in Myanmar. With favourable geographical condition and weather fish and prawn are abundant in Myanmar waters.

(See page 9)
Those who are delighted if the West bloc makes a demand for economic sanctions on Myanmar, those who keep their ear to the ground if a storm hits the country and are disappointed to see there are no causalities and little damage, those who cannot sleep and eat if they see the National Convention nearing successful completion and those who are too comfortable to hear false accusations made against the country through foreign media ignoring the worldly values of nationalism — May Myanmar be healthy and wealthy!, May the Union live long, develop and be peaceful! — are indeed devoid of patriotism.

Power of genuine patriotism...

Myanmar enjoys a favorable climate. It has experienced a few natural disasters. Fresh water-fish are abundant in Ayeyawady, Chindwin, Sittoung and Thanlwin and in their tributaries and in lakes. After regaining the independence from the colonial rule at the cost of lives and blood, Myanmar had faced multi-coloured insurgency for four or five decades. Now, peace is prevailing in Myanmar. Making use of sound conditions and good infrastructures, the government has dedicated to development of the country.

The government has built economic infrastructures such as dams, reservoirs, roads, bridges, power supply stations, factories, schools, universities and colleges across the country. All Myanmar people want the country to become a golden land that is developed and endowed with favourable climate. They all want to live in peace. They don’t want to stay under colonial rule and to see the reign of anarchy again in the country. They want perpetuation of the sovereignty of the country and want to see development of Myanmar which is endowed with Union Spirit. Those who feel that desire are endowed with the patriotic spirit and Union Spirit.

Some countries caring only about richness of themselves invade other countries and seize the latter’s natural resources forcibly. It shows that they steal food from other people and feed their families. If they want to buy fuel, crude oil, coal, natural gas for their industrial sector, they should buy them honestly. They should buy others’ raw materials such as minerals, cotton, rubber at right price from other countries. They can sell their products in the market place. If there are sellers, there will be buyers. It is a big crime to get others’ possessions by force.

They invaded other countries in an attempt to exploit the latter’s natural resources on the pretext of human rights, democracy, peace and fighting terrorism. So, it is not reasonable that they said they love others’ nation and people.

It shows their excessive egoism. Some countries who colonized almost the whole world a century ago emerged again as democracies to save other countries. The objective of the democracies is to renovate and change colour of the colonial system which was abolished by the United Nations and to adopt a new colonial system, to use cheap labours and to exploit fuel and natural resources from other countries. Therefore, the patriotism and nationalism of colonial powers is poison for other small countries.

Imperialists are the ones who are too greedy to exploit others’ natural resources by using their power, and they will never do a single good deed. However strong they are, they cannot bully other nations with nationalistic fervour in deadly earnest. The people of Vietnam have been an example and now Iraqis and Afghans will be another examples.

Achoktan Saya Pe wrote a lyric poem about lackeys describing them as the ones who completely lacked patriotism. Those who are delighted if the West bloc makes a demand for economic sanctions on Myanmar, those who keep their ear to the ground if a storm hits the country and are disappointed to see there are no causalities and little damage, those who cannot sleep and eat if they see the National Convention nearing successful completion and those who are too comfortable to hear false accusations made against the country through foreign media ignoring the worldly values of nationalism — May Myanmar be healthy and wealthy!, May the Union live long, develop and be peaceful! — are indeed devoid of patriotism.

Since the independence regained in 1948, the colonists had tried in various ways to destroy Myanmar’s independence and the Union. Now the country is approaching the 60th anniversary. But there are still attempts to encroach upon the independence and the Union.

A song with which we have been familiar has words repeated ‘Bogyoke Aung San’s programme’, that is the independence programme desired by the entire Myanmar people. It included three points: 1) the lost independence must be regained; 2) the regained independence must always be safeguarded by the entire mass of people; and 3) all the people must enjoy the taste of independence and the State blessed with favorable weather conditions and natural resources must develop as an independent nation.

Attempting hand in glove with colonialist nations to destroy the Union of Myanmar means wrecking the programme of Bogyoke or the entire mass of people. It is high time the minions regretted their acts harming the interest of the whole Union in the interest of a person or a group.

However hard they are trying to break up the Union in collusion with their old and neo-colonials who have been disturbing the nation in various wicked ways since 1948, the people will be able to safeguard the Union for ever with Union Spirit.

Nearly 2,000 camels die in Saudi Arabia from mystery illness

Riyadh, 27 Aug—Nearly 2,000 camels have died in Saudi Arabia from a mystery illness that first appeared two weeks ago, the government said on Saturday, adding that poisoning was a more likely cause than infectious disease. Authorities have been on the lookout for signs of foot-and-mouth disease over the last year.

“Veterinary experts say the symptoms indicate cases of poisoning and not an infectious disease, and this accords with what camel owners have said about animal feed they bought,” Agriculture Minister Fahd Bilghoneim told a news conference.

Camels began dying in the Dawasir Valley south of Riyadh earlier this month. Bilghoneim said 1,982 camels had since died. Deaths have been recorded in the far south of the vast desert kingdom, from Mecca to the border of Yemen.

King Abdullah promised compensation for owners after the government said last week that 232 camels had died in the space of four days in the Dawasir Valley.

The Agriculture Ministry blamed the deaths on animal feed supplied by food storage authorities. Bilghoneim said tests showed signs of poisoning from insecticides.

China returns over 24 mln hectares of farmlands to forests

CHANGSHA, 27 Aug—China has returned more than 24 million hectares of farmlands to forests since 1999, Xinhua learnt from a national conference on forestry work held here on Saturday.

China started the nationwide campaign of returning farmlands to forests in 2000, involving 124 million farmers of more than 32 million households in 25 provinces in recent years, according to the conference.

Farmers who were affected by the campaign had also received subsidies and grains, with subsidies accounting for almost ten per cent of farmers’ average annual income. The government will earmark another 200 billion yuan (about 26 billion US dollars) to the campaign in the coming years, making the total investment reach 4.3 trillion yuan.

A special fund will also be established to consolidate the achievements of the campaign.

China has planted 53.3 million hectares of forests in the past 58 years, more than any other country in the world, with forestry coverage rate rising from 8.6 per cent to 18.2 per cent, according to the State Forestry Administration.

China will continue implementing key projects in forestation, including returning farmlands to forests and grasslands and preserving natural forests, with the aim of increasing forestry coverage to 20 per cent by 2010.—MNA/Xinhua
