Crocodile increase in S Zambia threatening people, livestock

MAZABUKA (Zambia), 24 Sept—The crocodile population in Chigolo Stream in Mazabuka in Zambian Southern Province is said to have increased and jeopardized the lives of local people and their livestock, forcing school-going children and their parents to stop crossing the stream and affecting their school attendance and other daily chores respectively.

Parliament member Ben Mweena said here on Friday that because of the tremendous increase in the population of crocodiles, school-going children have stopped attending classes while their parents have equally stopped crossing the stream to buy groceries in Kasako area.

He called on the Zambia Wildlife Authority (ZAWA) to urgently send wildlife officers to the crocodile-infested Chigolo Stream to crop the reptiles that have continued killing people and their livestock.

Mweena said that hunger is looming because all economical activities have come to a halt as people cannot go about doing their businesses for fear of being killed by the reptiles.

Over 200 herds of cattle have been caught and eaten up by crocodiles this year alone thereby compounding poverty levels, Mweena disclosed. He did not say how many people have been killed this year.

Chinese eye wide-ranging investment in East Timor

Dili, 22 Sept—Chinese businessmen want to invest more than 100 million US dollars in East Timor over the next 10 years in a range of sectors from banking to agriculture, a Chinese business delegation said on Friday.

East Timor, a young nation of about one million people, is one of the world’s poorest with a per capita income of only around 400 US dollars, but is starting to tap its rich energy resources that over time could significantly raise standards of living. Some businessmen fled when the country was rocked by deadly factional and gang violence last year, but calm is returning to the impoverished country after presidential and legislative elections this year.

“We have come here to meet with relevant ministries to find the way how we can invest in East Timor,” a spokesman for the delegation visiting East Timor, Lu Yong Hua, told Reuters. “This investment is very relevant to East Timor’s condition, and I believe Timorese people involved in this investment will change their economy in five years to come,” he told reporters after talks with the tiny country’s Economy and Development Minister, Joao Gonsalves.

Lu said the private sector delegation was seeking investment in commercial banking, agriculture, property and road construction.

Arroyo suspends telecoms deal with Chinese firm

MANILA, 23 Sept—Philippine President Gloria Macapagal Arroyo has suspended a 330-million-US-dollar telecommunications deal with a Chinese firm after it triggered a kickbacks scandal that could rattle her government.

“I think this is the best thing to do now,” Trade Secretary Peter Favila told reporters on Saturday. “Those were her instructions. We were just implementing her orders.”

Favila said Arroyo made her decision after discussions with some Cabinet members but he declined to give further details. “Whatever reasons behind that, that’s an executive privilege.”

The suspension of the agreement with China’s ZTE Corp to build a broadband network linking state agencies comes two days after Arroyo’s Cabinet defended the contract at a Senate inquiry into allegations of kickbacks in the project. The Supreme Court had earlier stopped the implementation of the deal after it received two separate petitions to scrap the project.

Political analysts have said the scandal could affect the stability of Arroyo’s government because her husband was named in the Senate inquiry and because it could lead to a split with a major coalition partner in Congress.

Favila said he had not been in contact with ZTE officials, but he had informed China’s Commerce Ministry of the suspension. — MNA/Reuters

Venezuela, Argentina relaunch foreign bond

CARACAS, 23 Sept—Venezuela and Argentina announced separately on Thursday the relaunching of a foreign debt bill worth 1.2 billion US dollars that was suspended last month due to the volatility of global markets.

Venezuela’s Finance Minister Rodrigo Cabezas said the Bono del Sur III bond is made up of two combined foreign debt papers from both countries and will be put up for sale on Monday 24 September until midday on Thursday 28 September.

The minimum combined purchase will be offered at 3,000 US dollars, at the official exchange rate of 2.150 bolivars per dollar at an interest rate of 7 per cent.

The bond’s sale was suspended in mid-August to protect investors from global market volatility caused by the losses on the New York Stock Exchange.

Foreign investments up 161% in Brazil

RIO DE JANEIRO, 23 Sept—Direct foreign investments in Brazil reached 26.5 billion US dollars in the January-August period this year, up 161 per cent from 10.1 billion US dollars in the same period in 2006, the country’s Central Bank said on Friday.

The result, which represents 3.78 per cent of Brazil’s Gross Domestic Product (GDP) for the period, led the government to raise its expected direct foreign investment for 2007 from 25 billion US dollars to 32 billion US dollars.

The Central Bank’s Head of the Economic Department, Altamir Lopes, stressed that the revised expectation takes into consideration only the direct foreign investment in Brazil, disregarding eventual acquisitions of local companies by foreign players.

He said the highest annual volume of direct foreign investments was 32.77 million US dollars in 2000, which included the acquisitions that took place that year.

The Bank also said that direct foreign investments in the country amounted to 35.12 billion US dollars in the September 2006-August 2007 period, representing 2.98 per cent of the GDP accumulated over those 12 months. — MNA/Xinhua

Directive (93)

Sangha Nayaka Committees have been formed in accord with the principles.

3. State Central Working Committee of the Sangha has been assigned the task of purification, perpetuation and propagation of the Sasana. State Sangha Maha Nayaka Committee and Sangha organizations at all levels are implementing the said task. Hence, the task of curbing adhamma, purifying the Sasana, holding religious examinations and launching missionary services in remote border areas and hill regions in the nation and abroad is gaining success.

4. State Sangha Maha Nayaka Committee has the duty to reinforce and observe basic principles and rules and regulations and implement religious matters in accord with the wish of all the members of the Sangha in the entire nation. In other words, it is promoting Pariyatti and Paripatti.

The directives (81), (83), (85) and (65) issued by Chairman of the first State Sangha Maha Nayaka Committee Abhidhaja Maha Rattha Guru Bago Myoma Sayadaw and Secretary Sayadaw Bhaddanta Vicittasara Bhivamsa Tipitaka Bhara Dhamma Bandagarika Abhidhaja Maha Rattha Guru state all the rules and regulations for the monks prohibiting them from participating in secular affairs. Letter No: 212/4/Sar-Mahana
Date: 13 July 1991

Directive No (83)

Subject: The directive for members of the Sangha not to get involved in party politics.

1. More than 300,000 members of the Sangha (Theravada Buddhist monks) are residing in the Union of Myanmar. After an All-gana Sangha Meeting had been held, nine ganas were formed to carry out religious duties.

2. With a view to ensuring the propagation of the Sasana, all the members of the Sangha are to live in accord with Vinaya as well as the Sangha rules and regulations and to avoid getting involved in party politics.

3. If members of the Sangha did party politics, political parties would approach and serve them as their mentors. Then the members of the Sangha would not be able to practise both Pariyatti and Paripatti, thereby contributing to harming the perpetuity of the Sasana as they would have to get involved in the affairs of their favoured political parties. Moreover, there would be disagreements between the members of the Sangha, the unity of the all ganas be weakened and all Sangha ganas be in ruin.

During the colonial rule, there were different political parties like Vinsanu and Diarchy in Myanmar. As some members of the Sangha engaged in party politics, there broke out dissension among the mass of members of the Sangha and emerged Vinsanu monks and Diarchy monks.

4. As the unity of various Sangha ganas could be consolidated, Sangha organizations at different levels were formed to perform religious duties in line with the policy of carrying out Sangha affairs by the members of the Sangha alone. And this produced a lot of benefits to Myanmar. Therefore, the onus is upon each and every member of the Sangha to ensure the unity of all Sangha ganas. If they failed the duty, the unity of the Sangha would break up, Sangha organizations would be in ruin and there would be no more chance to achieve unity.

5. Party politics is concerned only with lay persons. No matter which party comes to power, members of the Sangha are to try to maintain the perpetuation of the Buddha’s Sasana under the administrative machinery of the new government of that party.

6. All in all, all the members of the Sangha residing in the Union of Myanmar are directed to avoid getting involved in party politics and instigation.

Directive No 85

Subject: Action to be taken against members of the Sangha who commit acts that tarnish the prestige of the Sasana.

1. The State Sangha Maha Nayaka Committee issued the directive No 24 regarding action to be taken against corrupt members of the Sangha, the directive No 30 regarding giving Ovada to members of the Sangha who enjoy festivities, the directive No 65 regarding members of the Sangha individually or in groups who violate Vinaya rules and laws enacted by the State, the directive No 72 regarding regulations to be observed by abbots and members of the Sangha residing in the monasteries in accord with Dhamma Vinaya and the directive No 75 regarding those who fail to follow the regulations in the directive No 72 and those who reside in the building that is not regarded as monastery or in forbidden building that is not to be constructed.

2. The Fourth All Ganas Sangha Meeting held at the Maha Pasana Cave in Kaba Aye Hill approved the rules and regulations to be observed by members of the Sangha in the Union of Myanmar in accord with Vinaya on 13th Waxing of Tabaug, 1356 ME (3 March, 1995).

3. Out of the 31 rules and regulations, the following are the points that tarnish the Buddha Sasana.
   (a) going to towns and villages without wearing the Buddhist monk’s robe in a proper manner (para-7)
   (b) going to towns and villages in the afternoon without the permission of abbot or Presiding Nayaka (para-8)
   (c) visiting festivals such as boat race and equestrian race, enjoying saing, pves and marionette shows and gambling (para-25)
   (d) going to the markets that are crowded with people including men and women (para-27)
   (e) having meal in the afternoon in the presence of the people or in the restaurants, riding on the roof or at the rear of the car and soliciting donations at the station or bus terminals or restaurants (para-29)

4. In order to take effective action against the members of the Sangha who commit the acts that tarnish the Buddha Sasan, the State Sangha Maha Nayaka Committee has requested the State Law and Order Restoration Council through the Ministry of Religious Affairs. The State Law and Order Restoration Council sent instructions to State and Division Law and Order Restoration Councils to take action against the members of the Sangha who violate Para-7,8,25,27 and 29 of the rules and regulations in accord with para 11 of Chapter 3 and para 14 of Chapter 14 of the law on Sangha organizations (20/90) prescribed by State Law and Order Restoration Council.

2. According to the resolution, Ovada has been given to the Minister for Home and Religious Affairs that taking due action against monks and novices who have violated rules, in proportion to the sins, some way constitutes propagating the Sasana.

3. Administrative bodies will soon take action, in accordance with the resolution mentioned in para (1), against the monks and novices who have violated rules. Therefore, Ovada is hereby given to respective Township Sangha Nayaka Committees to adhere to the following directives.
   (a) To invite the abbots of the monasteries of the township to the Office of the Township Sangha Nayaka Committee concerned to instruct them to enforce rules on their subordinate monks and novices to ensure that no monk or novice commits Vinaya rules and laws prescribed by the government, and to instruct Sangha Nayaka monks of Ward/Village-tract Sangha Nayaka Committees for their information;
   (b) Not to provide any protection to any monks and novices who, despite being instructed, violate any of the rules.

4. Some monks and novices are violating Vinaya rules and the Law. However, they may take advantage to commit offences again and again due to the fact that both Sangha Nayaka Committees at different levels and the government somewhat ignore their perpetration because the committees consider that the government will take action against them under the Law, while the government consider that the committees will do so. Therefore, Sangha Organizations at all levels are responsible for taking necessary measures in accordance with para (1) of the Resolution passed by the fifth session of the State Central Working Committee of the Sangha, for ensuring promotion and propagation of the Sasana.

destructionists, who are jealous of national development and stability, to harm all the government’s endeavours through various methods.

The government convened the National Convention for emergence of a Constitution that is as important as the life-blood of the people. Although they made various attempts, the saboteurs failed to jeopardize the National Convention. The Convention participated by various national races successfully concluded with the public support. They are trying to hinder the process of the seven-step Road Map.

Some global powers who pursue hegemonism totally dislike the proposed Constitution as it contains stipulations assuring self-determination and prohibiting the stationing of foreign troops on Myanmar soil. Hence, those powers in collusion with a group of destructionists from inside the nation are stirring up disturbances.

The protest walk occurring in Myanmar is one of the plots systematically manipulated from abroad.

Internal and external destructionists do not even spare the religion if it is in their interest.

The protest walk occurring in Myanmar is one of the plots systematically manipulated from abroad.

Internal and external destructionists do not even spare the religion if it is in their interest. They dare instigate young monks, who are trying hard in the religious studies, to stage street protests.

First, those internal and external saboteurs tried to penetrate and instigate students, workers and the public. The people who still remember the beheadings of persons of own race alive in crowded places during 1988 unrest due to their instigation are against unrest. Hence, the people are able to resist all agitations.

I would like to supplicate on an actual event regarding those instigators’ threat to the monasteries where the Buddhist monks are residing in accord with the Vinaya rules. At about 2.30 pm on 24 September, some 350 monk demonstrators and 50 NLD members went to Kyakhatwaing Monastery in Bago and threw drinking water bottles at the monastery buildings. And as a result, the window panes were broken.

Since their instigation targeting the public did not work, they started agitating the young monks who have no knowledge of social and political affairs as they have devoted to the Buddha’s teachings. Included in their agitated words were even exaggerating the government’s minor weaknesses by describing themselves as saviours of the troubled people. In some cases, the agitators ployed various wicked means such as painting pictures of torturing the monks, acting themselves for the torture and posting the news events on the Internet, threatening the big monasteries by phone through their raised hardcores, threatening those who do not want to stage protests to be blacklisted on the Internet after collecting their names and those who dare not go outside will be sent Hamain (women’s wear). Their instigation caused even some young monks and novices unwilling to be involved in the protests to take to the streets. Although the crowds of monks seemed big as they gathered together in a single place, the number of monks on the street was not as much as two percent of the total. Over 98 percent of monks want to perform their religious duties peacefully. Indeed, the instigators are organizing the young monks to express whatever they wish through the foreign media.

What’s more, they persuaded some young monks not to follow the admonitions of their Sayadaws who provided them with all requisites with whom they have been living for years but to completely follow the orders of the internal and external destructive elements, BBC, VOA, RFA and DVB. As far as we know, the presiding Sayadaws and supervisor Sayadaws are feeling sorry for their pupil monks.

After their instigation and driving of the wedge, the worst thing is that there was lack of trust between the pupils and their Sayadaws and there was suspicion among the members of the Sangha at the monasteries. They are now facing unhappy situations.

Before such situation, the members of the Sangha, the government and the people have been preserving the Sasana. The government tried to flourish the Sasana beginning 1988. As a result, there are a great number of pagodas, Zayats, Tazaungs, monasteries and lakes nationwide. Though the young monks are claiming they do prayers and recite parittas, due to the instigation of internal and external destructive elements, disciples are very sad to see the scene of demonstration and protest. When they see a group of monk demonstrators in procession, they may not pay respects to the monks and they will feel that they are in the wrong. If they do so, it will amount to committing sin.

After the demonstration of the young monks, even disciples who are intimate with the members of the Sangha before will be hesitant to go to the monasteries. It is a negative sign for the members of the Sangha. The BCP communist UGs, ABSDF and other insurgent groups created situation that harms the interest of the disciples visiting the monastery. As a result of this, there is suspicion and fear between the members of the Sangha and the disciples.

Myanmar is a true Theravada Buddhist country and it is famous for keeping the teachings of the Buddha by members of the Sangha and disciples.

Persons from other countries who do not know about the admirable Myanmar monks with good morale (See page 9)

Over 98 percent of monks want to perform their religious duties peacefully. Indeed, the instigators are organizing the young monks to express whatever they wish through the foreign media.
Some foreign media telecasting the protests aim to cause unrest in Myanmar. At the same time, they deliberately create a situation to tarnish the prestige of the Sangha when the people from other countries see the protests of the monks.

The authorities concerned have to handle the situation most softly to avoid incidents desired by destructive elements while protecting the people. It is U Khemasara, the so-called chairman of the young monks association who went into exile in 1988, has managed to manipulate young monks to march on the streets. He directed young monks over the phone to organize opposing groups; to slander the township/district/division/state Sangha Nayaka Committees in an attempt to jeopardize the current Sangha committees and not to obey the orders of chairmen of township Sangha Nayaka Committees, and has staged political movements on the pretext of managing the affairs of the Sangha. Moreover, so-called masters from the west group have instructed opposing groups in the country over the phone and BBC, VOA, RFA and DVB have aired fabricated news in an attempt to incite unrest in the country.

In a bid to slump the economy of the country, they also made efforts for imposing economic sanctions on Myanmar and for the shut down of factories invested by foreign countries to create jobless in Myanmar. They turned a blind eye to their acts and put the blame on the government when the country experienced instability of its economy.

Acts of internal and external elements have posed danger to tarnish the Sasana day by day. Therefore, I’d like to request Rev Sayadaws to give instructions for the sake of the country, the religion and the Sasana.—MNA

India mulls to buy Israeli unmanned aerial vehicles

NEW DELHI, 23 Sept—India plans to buy spy drones that can be used as cruise missiles, local newspaper the Times of India reported Saturday, citing Defence Ministry sources.

The sources said India’s Army, Navy and Air Force are drawing up a proposal to buy Israeli Harpy unmanned aerial vehicles, or UAVs, which are designed to detect and attack enemy radar, according to the newspaper report. “Indian teams went to Israel to see the Harpies in action last year. Their purchase has now been approved in principle,” said an official source.

The move followed the use of armed UAVs like Predators during the US operations in Iraq and Afghanistan.

India’s Army is also planning to acquire miniaturized Israeli UAVs like Skylite-B and I-View for its special forces, the report said.

Harpy, which India plans to buy, is capable of tracking, verifying and detonating its warhead above hostile radar emissions.

Nigeria needs $5.8b funding annually for “IT” development

LAGOS, 23 Sept—President of Nigeria Information Technology Development Agency (NITDA) Cleopas Anyage said here on Saturday that the country needs to invest 5.8 billion US dollars for it to catch up with the global community in Information Technology (IT) development.

Anyage, who was represented by an official of the agency, Emeka Ezekwesili, said at a one-day IT summit on Friday in Lagos that the investment was necessary since IT had now become an integral part of the daily life of most Nigerians, providing useful tools and services in the homes and the work places.

He said that there had been tremendous growth in the IT industry since 2002 till date, with the number of Cyber cafes and Internet users growing from 500 to over 2,500 and about 500,000 to over 3 million respectively.

He said that the federal government had embarked on measures to enhance the development and deployment of IT through relevant bodies like NITDA and the Nigeria Communication Commission with the initiation of Computer for All Nigeria Initiative.

The NITDA boss, who spoke on the “Appraisal of the state of IT in Nigeria,” called for an increase on the annual budget of government ministries, departments and agencies for the provision of relevant IT infrastructure under the supervision of NITDA to avoid unnecessary duplication.

Minister says electricity to reach 1/4 rural Tanzania by 2013

DAR-ES-SALAAM, 23 Sept—The government of Tanzania has put back to the year of 2013 when electricity is expected to reach a quarter of the rural areas of the country.

Local English broadsheet Daily News on Tuesday quoted Tanzanian Energy Minister Nazir Karamagi as attributing the three-year putback to a delay in forming the country’s rural electrification board.

But the minister assured the public that the government had set aside 10 billion Tanzanian shillings (8 million US dollars) for this year’s rural energy projects.

Of the country’s 35 million population, some one million get electricity supplies from the country’s sole electricity supplier, Tanzania Electric Supply Company Limited.

According to the Energy Minister, only 8 per cent of the country’s urban residents and 2 per cent of the rural residents now get electricity supplies.

China to build new space launch centre in Hainan Province

BEIJING, 24 Sept— China plans to construct a new space launch centre in Wenchang, China’s southernmost Hainan Province, according to official sources.

The new launch centre aims to serve the next-generation rocket carriers that do emit poisonous and pollutive gas and new-type spacecraft.

The new launch site will be mainly used for launching synchronous satellites, heavy satellites, large space stations, and satellites, heavy satellites, type spacecraft.

Hainan is located in a low-latitude region, which is helpful to increasing the capacity of rocket carriers and extending the life span of satellites.

A spokesman for China’s space programme said the Chinese Government works on peaceful use of the outer space to promote development of human civilization and social development and benefit the whole Mankind.

In 1958, China began building its first rocket launch site in northwest China’s Jiuquan. At present, the country has three space launch grounds. The other two are located in Taiyuan, capital of north China’s Shanxi Province and Xichang in southwestern Sichuan Province.

These launch sites have carried out over 100 space launches, sending over 100 satellites and six manned spacecraft into space.

Hundreds of genes controlling female fertility identified

WASHINGTON, 24 Sept — Researchers at University of Texas Southwestern Medical Centre have found nearly 350 genes related to female fertility.

Their research may open the door to much wider study in the poorly understood field of infertility.

“This study gives us a way to begin to understand the causes of female infertility,” said lead researcher Diego Castrillon in a briefing released Saturday by the university. Their findings are published in the September issue of the journal Genetics.

“It gives us a much more complete list of candidate genes to explore.” The study was done in mice, “but at the molecular level, ovarian biology is very similar in mice and humans,” Castrillon said.

Some of the 348 genes the researchers found were already known to be involved in infertility, which helped validate the experimental method. Most, however, were previously unknown.

These discoveries might lead the way to eventually allowing clinicians to test whether an infertile woman has problems with a specific gene, allowing for improved diagnostic tests and tailored therapy in the future.

About 13 per cent of women suffer from infertility, with the most common cause being dysfunction of the ovary. Researchers suspected genetic links in many cases, Castrillon said.

Brazil plans to restrict flights at Sao Paulo Airport

BRASILIA, 23 Sept — Brazil is seeking to restrict flights at Sao Paulo’s Congonhas Airport, where a deadly crash killed 199 people in July.

Brazil’s National Aviation Agency (Anac) submitted a proposal on Thursday to the Defence Ministry for cutting flights at the Airport, where a TAM plane crashed upon landing on 17 July.

Although an official report on the cause of the disaster is not yet ready, experts say the crash happened because the Congonhas Airport handled flights beyond its capacity.

According to the Anac proposal, only flights within 1,000 kilometres will be allowed in the airport and connecting flights will be banned.

Irish College in Paris reopens historic library

Mattel apologizes to China for toy recalls

BANGKOK, 24 Sept — The world’s largest toy maker, Mattel Inc, apologized on Friday for damaging China’s reputation after recent massive recalls of its Chinese-made toys, admitting it targeted some products that were actually up to scratch.

Mattel has come under scrutiny following the recall of about 21 million of the toys in a span of five weeks, many because of excessive levels of lead paint.

“Our reputation has been damaged lately by these recalls,” Thomas Debrowski, Mattel’s executive vice president of worldwide operations, told China’s quality watchdog chief, Li Changjiang, in the Chinese capital.

“Mattel takes full responsibility for these recalls and apologizes personally to you, the Chinese people and all of our customers who received the toys.”

Debrowski said he realized the damage that had been done to the reputation of Chinese goods, adding the company was committed to manufacturing in China and was also investing 30 million US dollars in a Barbie store in Shanghai.

“But it’s important for everyone to understand that the vast majority of those products that we recalled were the result of a design flaw in Mattel’s design, not through a manufacturing flaw in Chinese manufacturers.”

The company added in a statement that too many toys had been recalled, although it said that was because it puts safety first.

Li told Debrowski of his displeasure at the admission that perhaps too many toys had been targeted.

“Your company is not a company that has 10,000 products just because one is substandard. This is unacceptable,” he said.

But Li also struck a conciliatory tone with the company, which directly and indirectly employs thousands of Chinese.

“I appreciate your objective and responsible attitude towards the recalls and your sincere attitude towards our future cooperation,” Li said.

Mattel apologized to China in Shanghai, saying it did not mean that the toys were the result of a design flaw, and asked to receive the toys.

“Mattel is working together with China’s authorities to reinforce its quality control systems,” the company said.

Barbie fans have shown their support for the company by staging a picket at the Mattel Shanghai office in Shanghai.

But the company is facing a backlash, with angry consumers demanding compensation.

Root cause of problems is perpetration of internal and external destructionists, who are jealous of national development and stability

Some global powers in collusion with group of destructionists from inside the nation inciting disturbances

Yangon, 24 Sept—The following is the supplication on religious affairs made by Minister for Religious Affairs Brig-Gen Thura Myint Maung. Currently, external and internal unscrupulous elements have been making constant and continuous political instigation. On 28 August 2007, about 140 monks started to stage a protest in Sittway by holding placards demanding to bring down commodities prices.

A group of NLD political extremists on 5 and 6 September approached famous monasteries in Pakokku to instigate monks. The monks staged the so-called second protest walk through non-violent means in accord with the directive of some foreign radio stations. The monks recited parittas during the protest.

Due to continuous agitation of some NLD political extremists, BCP remnants and some foreign radio stations, monks staged protest walks, reciting parittas, in seven states and divisions including cities like Yangon, Mandalay, Hinthada and Monywa. The demands no more include fuel prices and commodity prices which are the original demands. Instead, the protesters are demanding a dialogue with NLD and even said prayers in front of the house of Daw Aung San Suu Kyi, who is under restriction order for security reason. They are trying to make the matter confused.

The root cause of the above-mentioned problems is the perpetration of internal and external destructionists (See page 8)
