ISLAMABAD, 20 Oct — The Pakistan People’s Party (PPP) led by former prime minister Benazir Bhutto Friday announced three days’ nationwide mourning after attacks on the party’s rally that killed over 130 and wounded more than 500 people.

In the three-day mourning, party flag at the PPP offices throughout Pakistan would be lowered at half-mast and black flags will be hoisted to mourn the tragic incident, according to local Press reports.

Bhutto was unhurt, narrowly escaping with her life as the blasts ripped through the police escort of the parade in the streets of the southern Pakistani city of Karachi.

Meanwhile, the death toll from the attacks has risen to 138, according to the private GEO TV.

Two explosions went off shortly after midnight close to the vehicle Bhutto was travelling in, at the head of a procession of hundreds of thousands of PPP supporters who had flooded the streets of Karachi to welcome the return of their leader. A small explosion erupted near the front of the vehicle. That was quickly followed by a larger blast just feet from the truck, setting an escorting police van on fire and breaking windows in Bhutto’s vehicle.

Report says most fake bombs missed at US airport screeners

WASHINGTON, 19 Oct — More than 60 per cent of fake bombs hidden on undercover agents posing as passengers were missed by security screeners at two busiest US airports last year, a newspaper reported on Thursday.

A report by the Transportation Security Administration (TSA) shows about 75 per cent of simulated explosive and bomb parts TSA staff hid under their clothes and in carry-on luggage have been missed at the Los Angeles International Airport and about 60 per cent were let go at the Chicago O’Hare International Airport.

The failure rate stunned the security experts, said the report.

“That’s a huge cause for concern,” said Clark Kent Ervin, the former Homeland Security Department inspector general to the newspaper.

Putin warns Washington over missile shield

MOSCOW, 19 Oct — Russian President Vladimir Putin said on Thursday the United States was seeking ways to resolve differences over a planned missile shield, but warned that Moscow could re-deploy weapons if its concerns were not heeded.

Washington plans to place interceptor missiles in Poland and a radar system in the Czech Republic as part of a shield it says is needed to counter possible missile attacks from “rogue states” such as Iran and North Korea.

But Putin, in an annual three-hour question-and-answer session aired live on state television, said Russia would take retaliatory steps if its interests were not taken into account.

Iraq says security contractor Blackwater must go

WASHINGTON, 19 Oct — Iraqi put more pressure on the United States on Thursday to pull out security contractor Blackwater from Baghdad but the State Department said no decision had been made on the North Carolina firm.

Iraqi Government spokesman Ali al-Dabbagh told reporters at the White House that Blackwater must be held accountable for its conduct in a September 16 shooting incident that killed 17 people and enraged Iraqis.

“We would like .... Blackwater to leave Iraq, this is at the end their position, this is the State Department position,” said Dabbagh. “There is an anger, a great anger among the Iraqis against Blackwater. They should be kept accountable, this is what the Iraqi Government needs. It is a crime what they did in Baghdad, we have declared it,” he added.

But State Department spokesman Tom Casey said no final decision had been taken on Blackwater and the department was awaiting the outcome of several investigations, including a top-level review of security contractors overall.

US House apologizes to mistakenly-detained Canadian

WASHINGTON, 19 Oct — The US House of Representatives made an apology on Thursday to a Canadian citizen who has been mistakenly detaining by US authorities as a terrorist suspect for almost one year.

“Let me personally give you what our government has not: an apology,” said Democratic Representative Bill Delahunt at a subcommittee joint hearing. “Let me apologize to you and the Canadian people for our government’s role in a mistake.”

Maher Arar, a 37-year-old Syrian-born Canadian, was arrested by US Homeland Security agents on 26 September, 2002, as he made a stopover at New York’s John F Kennedy International Airport on his way home. Days later, he was sent to Syria for a detention, where he said he was tortured for almost a year without charges.

After being released, the Canadian government apologized to Arar for its part in the mistake and decided to compensate him with about 10 million US dollars. But the US Government has not taken any move to amend the fault.

Arar’s case was included in an extraordinary rendition programme, meaning that terror suspects are grabbed by government agents and taken to another country where local authorities may torture confessions out of them.

Democrats attempted to end the rendition programme but the government noted it would be a vital tool in anti-terror efforts.

The value of the drugs in Belgium was estimated at five billion baht (150 million US dollars), they said in a statement. It identified the two Dutchmen as Ronald Koornwinder, 55, and Paulus Meyer, 44 and the three Belgians as Koen Vanstaay, 29, Kelly Cautereels, 25 and Pedro Jose Noves Gracia, 40.

Ship sinks off Indonesia’s Sulawesi, 15 dead

JAKARTA, 19 Oct — An Indonesian passenger ship capsized off the island of Sulawesi, killing 15 people and leaving six missing, a Transport Ministry official said on Friday.

The small wooden ship, carrying 71 passengers and 11 crew, sank on Thursday night just before reaching the town of Baubau in southeastern Sulawesi, Transport Ministry spokesman Bambang Ervan said. “Preliminary investigations have indicated that the ship may have sunk because passengers piled onto one side... tipping its balance and causing it to roll over,” he said. “It wasn’t because of a big wave. The weather was normal.”

The safety record of Indonesian passenger ships and ferries, widely used to connect the thousands of islands in the archipelago, is poor with vessels frequently overloaded and in poor condition. — MNA/Reuters

A post mortem revealed he had died from a single bullet wound to the head. “He was only 16, much too young to die and much loved by his friends, family and all the community,” his uncle Armand Vibila told a Press conference.

Five dead babies discovered in cellar in France

ROUEN (France), 19 Oct — The bodies of five newborn babies have been discovered in a plastic bag in a cellar in northern France, a judicial source said on Thursday.

A 35-year-old woman, who admitted giving birth to the babies between 1999 and 2006, and her boyfriend were held for questioning.

The boyfriend found the bodies after smelling rotting flesh and alerted the police on Wednesday night. It was not immediately known whether the boyfriend was the father of any of the babies. One of the bodies had a plastic bag on its head, in a sign the infant may have been suffocated after its birth.

The case is the third of its kind to make headlines in France in a year.

India offers Nigeria $900m for economic agenda

LAGOS, 19 Oct — India has offered a $900-million-US-dollar grant to Nigeria to assist the implementation of Nigerian President Umar Musa Yar’Adua’s seven-point economic agenda, local media reported on Wednesday.

India made such offer during its Prime Minister Manmohan Singh’s visit to Nigeria on Monday and Tuesday.

Nigerian Foreign Minister Ojo Maduekwe, while briefing journalists on the outcome of Singh’s visit, said it was a clear indication that the visit was not just a government to government affairs but a multifaceted one.

He said the agreements signed by the two sides involved key areas such as defence matters, agriculture, power generation and civil aviation.

In respect of defence, Maduekwe said it was agreed that the long military relationship between the two countries would be strengthened, just as it was agreed that India would establish two information technology laboratories in defence academies in Nigeria.

He said, “In the energy and power generation, the rapidly growing partnership will be further encouraged. A new civil aviation agreement will be entered into within six months.

“Other areas for one form of cooperation or the other are in the field of culture, education, science and technology and information and communication,” he said. — MNA/Xinhua

Novartis to cut more than 1,000 jobs in US

GENEVA, 20 Oct — Swiss pharmaceutical giant Novartis said on Thursday that it would cut 1,260 jobs in the United States among a series of setbacks in the US market.

The decision is part of a reorganization of Novartis’ pharmaceutical development system in the United States, which is responsible for getting new drugs through clinical trials.

The job cuts are expected to save the company 230 million US dollars annually, said the Basel-based company in a statement. The Swiss firm has suffered several setbacks to key drugs this year, impacting its share price which has dropped 11 per cent since January, the Swissinfo website reported.

The launch of one key product — Galvus for diabetes — was delayed in the United States, because of safety concerns. Galvus has been approved for Europe but will not be resubmitted in the United States before 2009. And last month, US regulators denied approval for the painkiller Prexige, quoted the company’s official document as saying.

Oil extends rally to over $90 a barrel

NEW YORK, 19 Oct — Oil prices extended a record rally to above 90 US dollars a barrel on Thursday as weakness in the dollar, tight fuel inventories and geopolitical concerns drew a wave of investor buying.

Oil’s climb of about 13 per cent since last week has renewed concerns that soaring energy costs could hinder world economic growth and raised a red flag for OPEC, which may call an early formal meeting to discuss output.

US crude oil futures hit a record 90.02 US dollars in electronic trading activity after settling earlier Thursday afternoon in New York with a gain of 2.07 US dollars at 89.47 US dollars a barrel. It was the fifth straight trading day that oil set a record high.

London Brent crude rose 1.47 US dollars to $84.60 US dollars.

“This is a market that is watching the dollar weakness very closely and as long as the dollar remains weak and stockpiles at the market’s delivery point in Oklahoma remain low, this market will keep heading north,” said Jim Ritterbusch, president of Ritterbusch and Associates. — MNA/Reuters

Biofuel production promoted in Argentina

BUENOS AIRES, 20 Oct — Argentina’s Renova company seeks to become one of the world’s largest biofuel producers after its Tuesday inauguration of a new plant in the country, local Press said Thursday.

The plant has cost 30 million US dollars on construction and will have an annual biodiesel production capacity of about 230,000 tons, the local media quoted the company’s official document as saying.

The plant, located in San Lorenzo in the country’s Santa Fe Province, is the second of the company. It was built together with a soya bean and sunflower grinding centre where biofuel will come from. The company’s first plant, located in Avellaneda of Rio Negro Province, currently generates about 50,000 tons of biodiesel per year. The plant is going to be the first of a series of investment aiming to make the region extending from San Lorenzo to San Martin Port the largest “biofuel centre” worldwide.

Severe floods kill 5, displace over 120,000 in central Uganda

KAMPALA, 20 Oct — Severe floods in central Uganda have killed at least five people and displaced over 120,000 in Mubende District, a district official has said.

Kalema, the district vice chairperson, was quoted by the Daily Monitor on Friday saying that three of the victims drowned at a washed away bridge at River Kitumbi in Kitumbi sub-county. The bridge, which links Kiboga and Mubende Districts, was washed away late last month, following days of heavy rain. He said the two others died earlier when a bicycle they were riding on through the flooded Nyangoma River on the Kasambya-Kitenga Road in Kagitenda sub-county, slid and fell into the river. He said the flood has cut off four sub-counties from the rest of Mubende, leaving about 120,000 people helpless.

The floods, which have swept away so far two bridges, have forced the district officials to close traffic on the Bukuya-Izanyiro Road and Bukuya-Kitumbi Road. “Those roads are now a no go area and whoever dares to use them does so at his/her own risk,” he said.

The central districts are currently facing the brunt of days of heavy rain after the northern and eastern parts of the country have faced months of flooding.

Storm, rainfall cause loss of $1.96m in S Bangladesh

DHAKA, 19 Oct — The recent storm and heavy rainfall due to depression in the Bay of Bengal has caused loss of over 137 million taka (about 1.96 million US dollars) in agriculture and fisheries sectors of Bangladesh’s southern coastal Bagerhat District.

District Disaster Management and Relief office was quoted by private news agency UNB Thursday as saying that the storm that swept over the district in last three days till Wednesday more or less caused damage to most parts of all nine sub-districts in Bagerhat, 140 kilometres southwest of capital Dhaka.

The storm damaged 1,590 dwelling houses, standing crops on 100 acres (4.05 hectares) of land and uprooted 50,000 trees, causing loss of 77.6 million taka (about 1.1 million US dollars). Fish worth 60 million taka (about 857,000 US dollars) was washed away, the fish cultivators claimed. Moreover, 30,000 people in different sub-districts were living in the dark till Wednesday as 26 electric poles have been uprooted in the district due to the storm. State bank says China helps Africa where West failed

BEIJING, 19 Oct — China is spreading prosperity in Africa where the West failed, a Chinese bank official said on Thursday in a sharp rebuke to critics of his country’s growing role in the world’s poorest continent.

Li Ruogu, president of China’s state-owned Export-Import Bank, key fund of China’s push into Africa, said roads and radios were more urgent needs for Africans than human rights and freedom, and that China was delivering such concrete benefits.

“Western colonialism over 400 years in Africa did not bring any development,” Li said. “But China has brought many benefits to Africa.”

After 50 billion US dollars in debt write-offs for impoverished countries mainly in Africa last year, Western donors fear China’s expanding economic links with the continent could lead to a build-up in burdensome debts all over again.

“Properly managed and handled, economic cooperation can bring mutual benefits,” Li said.

He said China had recently claimed credit for persuading Sudan to accept UN peacekeepers in the troubled Darfur region and it has won praise from the United States for its “constructive role” in dealings with Khartoum.

Exim Bank has also been working to address some concerns of international donors, signing a Memorandum of Understanding with the World Bank earlier this year to improve coordination of development projects.

As one of China’s three policy lenders that make loans explicitly in support of government policies, Exim Bank has invested in some 300 projects across Africa with a focus on building roads, railways, ports and mines.

China argues its own rapid growth and experience in lifting more than 400 million people out of poverty over past 20 years could provide valuable lessons to Africans.

Aunty Suu, we are living in hope or
Our only wish is to see a win-win situation

Chan Mya Aye

I will now continue the second part of my article.

Aunty Suu, you were continuously attacking the government while trying to realize your policy of confrontation, defying authority and grabbing power through short-cut in addition to jeopardizing the National Convention. We also heard you slamming the government constantly at the talks and public meetings you were holding in front of your house weekly and giving addresses and sending messages opposing the government on international days. The worst was the NLD announcement No 35 (8/98) issued on 23-6-1998. Actually, you opened a new front with the announcement demanding to convene the Hluttaw within 60 days before 21 August. Aunty Suu demanded the convening of the Hluttaw as a form of a struggle laying down a strategy to convene the Hluttaw in accord with her own schedule, to generate a civil commotion with the intention of protecting the Hluttaw from any acts to halt the scheme and to pave the way for the UN and international community to intervene if unrest and demonstrations erupted. I did not think you had an idea that we the people were so anxious with the thought that something bad might happen after drawing a conclusion that it was an extremely dangerous strategy.

I assume that Aunty Suu came to realize that the front – the demand to convene the Hluttaw – was not enough. Aunty Suu in deliberate defiance of the government’s restrictions toured Taikkyi or Nyaungdon or other places in July and August 1998. The worst was that Aunty Suu stopped her convoy at Htuntabin Ayaung on Yangon-Nyaungdon Road, staging protests for days. I still remember your solitary protest during which you were so saughtly that you stopped your line of cars on the public highway; makeshift tents including toilets had to be built. In the end you had to go back home in accord with the wish of party members as you failed to incite a civil unrest as you did not win public support and the last date (21 August) to convene the Hluttaw had passed. The incident at Yangon Railway Station is still in my memory. As you were staging anti-government activities and confrontations in violation of the law, the government had to impose restrictions on you at your home for the second time on 21-9-2001. At that time, I was able to accept the fact that the government did what was actually necessary. Aunty Suu, you have destroyed our faint hope.

Even though we the people assumed the situation to be hopeless it seemed that the government had not given up the process of national reconsolidation. We have known that the group led by the Head of State met Aunty Suu four times and another group comprising ministers met you 20 times while you were under restrictions. The Head of State hosted dinner for Aunty Suu and NLD members at the Guest House at 14 Inwa Road on 29-1-2002 evening leading to frank discussions between you and the government. The government showed its true goodwill and seriousness. We have learnt that you agreed to end all acts that would generate disturbances and outdoor meetings and to hold only indoor meetings with the number of participants less than 50. We were supposing that Aunty Suu had changed her intentions as a settlement might have reached after a series of discussions. The government seemed to believe so. So it is believed the government again lifted the restrictions imposed on you in accord with the settlement on 6-5-2002. In accord with the mutual agreement, Aunty Suu was allowed to launch organizational campaigns in the nation. You were even cooperating with officials concerned in arranging itineraries and schedules for reopening of township offices. They were positive signs. We believed that with this trend the political goal of our nation would not be so far.

Thanks to the government’s concessions, Aunty Suu was able to visit Mandalay, Magway, Bago and Ayeyawady divisions and Mon, Kayin, Shan, Rakhine and Chin states, carrying out party functions in 95 townships from June 2002 to April 2003. In addition you were treated as a VIP studying national developments in every place you visited. It seems that although Aunty Suu did things as agreed in advance in her early trips, but relapsed into her old ways later.

Aunty Suu, we are...
(from page 8)
civil commotion and defying authority again if the restriction order imposed on her is lifted? If she is restricted even if she promises not to apply those methods again, it can be said that the ones who impose restriction order on her are at fault. But to the extent of my knowledge, outsiders are saying that Aunty Suu is so stubborn. Her arrogant behaviour of talking about things as if she is always better than other people by assuming what she says is always right and must be obeyed without fail and using threats for failure to obey her is spreading outside the NLD through the whisper of the party members. Aunty Suu herself will know best whether they are right or wrong. Because of the given situation, there are criticisms saying that NLD has no inter-party democracy. If you amend yourself, Aunty Suu, you will become a valuable politician.

Even under restriction order, Aunty Suu has been enjoying full security and health care and other necessary services at her home. Aunty Suu knows best the offers for dialogue made by the government again and again. The Head of State has met her many times and paved the way to create a better situation. You should understand those positive attitudes like I do. I have learned that when Ms Gambari visited Myanmar for the first time in May 2006, the government asked you to send written messages concerning your wishes and opinions to the Head of State through the UN Special Envoy and that the government would consider fulfilling them. But there was no development. So, I was wondering whether Mr Gambari failed to convey messages to Aunty Suu and what they value in making concessions for the nation or in other words for producing valuable results. The essence of dialogue is the reaching of a mutual agreement through sacrifices and concessions. No dialogue can achieve success without sacrifices and concessions. Aunty Suu, you should understand the nature of giving up something that is ten times valuable and beneficial.

Instead of putting blame on each other, means to join hands for finding the truth through concessions will produce practical benefits. In our country we have been blaming one another endlessly since the nation regained independence.
Enough is enough. We should love each other without finding fault with others. As the government has already made the official offer, it’s your turn now. Aunty Suu’s response may bring peace and success to the nation or lead to producing negative results. I write this article for you to weigh up the situation. I wish you chose the way that is good and beneficial for all of us.

We are hearing the voices to cause incitement saying that the government has made the offer to use Aunty Suu in finding an escape from international pressure. I think that extreme ideas, thoughts and criticisms cannot produce any beneficial results at this time. I hope you have already read the UNSC Presidential Statement issued on 11-10-2007. Even the UNSC emphasizes the fact that it welcomes Myanmar’s announcement to cooperate with the UN and to assign a liaison officer to facilitate relations with Daw Aung San Suu Kyi.

The statement calls on the government of Myanmar and other parties concerned to work together towards the positive development of the situation and a peaceful solution. It also urges the government and all parties concerned to cooperate fully with Mr Gambari. Aunty Suu whom do you think the words “all parties concerned” refer to?
It is the first time the UN has openly acknowledged that not only the government but also Aunty Suu’s NLD is responsible for the development of political situation in Myanmar. I believe Aunty Suu also understands this. And I sincerely trust that it’s time you weighed the matter to make a response.

Aunty Suu, now, I have already presented a comprehensive article for you. Anyhow, I have a clear conscience as I have presented this article taking into account the national interest, public interest, Aunty Suu’s interest and government’s interest fairly.
So, please accept what I have presented in the article as the words that came out from the heart of an ordinary person. As the ending part of one of our famous jatakas, we wish to see the sun carrying a pot of gold on his shoulder or in other words a win-win situation. Aunty Suu’s role is also vital in this matter.

In the finale of Suvannasama jataka, the two parents regained sight, Suvannasama, the Buddha-to-be was recovered from fatal poisoned arrow wound and came back home carrying a pot of gold on his shoulder, and celestial beings said “Well Done” with great pleasure. It is a story with a glorious and happy ending in Myanmar culture and a model for all of us to follow and take lessons from it. I wish a glorious and happy ending in solving our political problems. Please let us enjoy happiness and auspiciousness. I firmly hope that the solution will result in a glorious and happy ending like the Suvannasama jataka and will ensure benefits for the nation and the people, joy for government, satisfaction for Aunty Suu and NLD, and pleasure for global countries including the ASEAN and neighbours. We the people are so ger to see Aunty Suu’s positive steps.

Like us Aunty Suu should have trust in the government’s offers as constructive and willing, Aunty Suu, you should view those offers as an opportunity to make a turning-point in Myanmar’s history. I am worried that the essence of the offer – an opportunity for dialogue – will be lost in a superficial argument saying that Aunty Suu was not responsible for the four means to block Myanmar. The government, the people and the entire world know that Aunty Suu has supported the calls to bar tourists from visiting Myanmar and other economic sanctions. In my view you should accept the fact that the sanctions are not good either for the people or the government or you yourself. One will have to discard even the policy that one has upheld throughout his life if it is bad and wrong. One should have the courage to do so. Aunty Suu, one will be a hero only if one gets rid of the wrong and bad policy with courage.

Aunty Suu, you should not be deceived by foreign media that are attacking the government’s offer in unison. You should reconsider your idea of intransigence. Stubbornness benefits nobody. We with pleasure accepted Aunty Suu’s words that you will join hands with anyone if it serves the national interest. You have said those words many times.
But you should prove your words with deeds. I sincerely believe that Aunty Suu too will have to make sacrifices through appropriate and necessary efforts to initiate a meaningful dialogue.

It is the human nature that everyone wants the upper hand. No one would like to hold a dialogue having to make concessions. As both sides will have to go against the human nature to make concessions through coordination, magnanimity and correct attitude are specially required in this matter.
Moreover, both sides will have to sacrifice their beliefs and convictions and what they appreciate and what they value in making concessions for the nation or in other words for producing valuable and noble results. The essence of dialogue is the reaching of a mutual agreement through sacrifices and concessions. No dialogue can achieve success without sacrifices and concessions. Aunty Suu, you should understand the nature of giving up something for achieving another that is ten times valuable and beneficial.

None of the staff were injured and the robbers fled on foot, according to a report by South African Press Association.

Indonesia honours poverty fight

JAKARTA, 19 Oct — Indonesian people took part in “Stand Up” events across the country on Wednesday in a show of support for global poverty alleviation efforts, local Press reported on Thursday.

In the capital city of Jakarta, hundreds of people joined a Stand Up event at Senayan City shopping mall, Ragunan Zoo, Central Jakarta and featured dozens of entertainers.

“We are the first generation that can end poverty in our country. We can’t waste this historic opportunity,” participants shouted, as they raised their hands in support of the Stand Up and Speak Out against Poverty movement.

The United Nations Millennium Development Goals (MDGs) Representatives for Asia and the Pacific, Eriko Witoelar, said Tuesday one million people in Indonesia were expected to Stand Up against poverty and demand the government speed up efforts to meet the MDGs.

Head of the national organization of the event, Wilson TP Sahaan, said Stand Up events were simultaneously held in 22 provinces, involving activists, businesspeople, government officials and ordinary citizens.

“But I cannot say yet whether we will meet the target of one million people since many people are still on Idul Fitri (end of fasting month) holiday.”

About 50,000 Indonesians joined the event last year, among the 23.5 million people worldwide who Stood Up against poverty.

According to data from the Central Statistical Agency, in 2007 there were more than 37 million Indonesians living below the poverty line.

Floods threaten Vietnam World Heritage site

HCM CITY (Vietnam), 19 Oct — Flood waters threatened the central Vietnam World Heritage town of Hoi An on Thursday, drowning at least 10 people and forcing thousands from their homes.

There were also threats of flash floods and landslides in three key coffee growing provinces in the Central Highlands, where rivers were rising following heavy rains earlier this week, the government said in a disaster report.

Heavy rain was falling in Hue, 660 kilometres (410 miles) southeast of Hanoi, swelling floods that have isolated many areas along the north-south Highway One and forcing people to move around by boat, a Reuters photographer said.

At least 30,000 people had been moved to higher ground in the provinces of Thua Thien-Hue and Quang Tri, where two people drowned as their boat capsized on Wednesday, the government said.

Floodwaters drowned in Quang Nam Province, many roads were eroded by floods and inundation was threatening to collapse homes in Hoi An.

Russia, India sign fighter development accord

MOSCOW, 19 Oct — Russia and India will jointly modify a fifth-generation Russian fighter aircraft for Indian use under a deal signed on Thursday, Russia’s federal service for military and technical cooperation said. India is one of the biggest buyers of Russian weapons and wants to licence the production of Su-30MKI fighter jets and T-90 tanks. Russian shipyards are also building three frigates for India’s Navy.

State-run Sukhoi corporation will develop the fifth-generation fighter for Russia, and under the accord signed after two days of talks, it will then be jointly modified for India.

There was no comment from either delegation on the value or duration of the agreement.

India and China together account for nearly 90 per cent of Russia’s arms exports, which totalled 6.4 billion US dollars in 2006 and are expected to reach 7.5 billion US dollars this year.

Chad says US missionary kidnapped by rebels

NDJAMENA, 19 Oct — An US evangelical church missionary has been kidnapped by rebels in northern Chad, a Chadian Interior Ministry official said on Thursday.

“The governor of the northern BET region has told me that an American priest has been kidnapped in the Tibesti (mountains) by remaining members of the MDJT rebel movement,” Secretary of State for the Interior Abderama Djanabaille told Reuters.

“The rebels took his vehicle and they are holding him at Zoumir.”

A leader of Chad’s Evangelical Church named the kidnapped man as Steve Godbold and said he was seized earlier this month. Other people in his group were abducted but later released, Pastor Ngarei Bak LSD said. Djanabaille said negotiations were under way with the Movement for Democracy and Justice in Chad (MDJT) rebels to obtain the release of the kidnapped missionary.

Pacific Island blame rich countries for climate change

NUKU’ALOFA (Tonga), 19 Oct — South Pacific countries on Thursday blamed the climate change on rich economies and called for assistance to the vulnerable island countries’ fight against the global problem.

A statement of the 16-member Pacific Island Forum (PIF) pointed to the urgency in checking the climate change, highlighting the threats to the region, particularly the small island countries.

“The time for action is now, we simply can’t economically, environmentally or socially afford to wait until it is too late,” said the statement.

The statement was read out by Nauruan President Ludwig Scotty to the PIF’s 14 dialogue partners, which are mostly big economies, at a meeting held after the 38th annual PIF leaders’ gathering here.

“Poorly and highly industrialized nations which are mainly responsible for current global warming possess the know-how and resources to adapt while the most severe consequences are felt in poorer and more vulnerable countries,” said the statement.

“Climate change is a daunting and overwhelming threat to the economic, environmental and social well being of island communities, also threatening the very existence of some of our low-lying atoll countries,” it said.

A number of low-lying Pacific atoll countries have expressed their great concerns over the impact of climate change during the Forum meeting.

Researchers find gene linked with male infertility

CHICAGO, 19 Oct — A single gene may be crucial for the final stages of sperm cell formation and could help explain why some men are infertile, US researchers said on Wednesday.

Laboratory mice who lacked the gene had a significantly lower sperm count and were infertile, researchers at the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill discovered.

And the few sperm the mice did produce had significant defects, they said.

“Because this gene has a very specific effect on the development of functional sperm, it holds great potential as a target for new infertility treatments,” Yi Zhang, a professor of biophysics at the university’s school of medicine, said in a statement.

A number of six couples in the United States has difficulty conceiving a child, according to the National Institutes of Health. In 30 to 40 per cent of these 2.6 million couples, the men are infertile.

Zhang’s study, which appears in the journal Nature, focused on the last stage of sperm cell formation known as spermiogenesis. During this phase, DNA is crammed into a tight ball at the head of the sperm, ensuring that it can successfully penetrate an egg.

Russia test fires ballistic missile

Moscow, 19 Oct — Russia launched an intercontinental ballistic missile on Thursday from its Plesetsk cosmodrome in the north of the country, a Russian military spokesman said.

The RS-12M Topol, called the SS-25 Sickle by NATO and configured for a mobile platform, was successfully launched at 9:10 am Moscow Time.

The spokesman said the training exercise included hitting a target at the Kura test range on the Kachchatka Peninsula on Russia’s Pacific coast.

The test was part of a reliability evaluation of flight stabilizers the Topol uses over long distances, and part of a planned extension of the missile’s life-span to 23 years.

As configured in 1985, the ICBM has a maximum range of 10,000 kilometres (6,215 miles), and can carry one 550-kiloton nuclear warhead.

Drunk driving kills seven in Bangkok

BANGKOK, 19 Oct — Seven people were killed and five others severely injured when their pick-up car slammed into a Bangkok road guardrail early Thursday morning.

The accident took place in the early morning on the inbound Kanchanapisek Road in Bangkok’s Bang Bon District, local media group The Nation reported on its website.

Witnesses told police that the pick-up driven by a Chai Rat Kingkaew, 30, who was injured, tried to overtake a truck but it lost control and hit into the guardrail before hitting a tree on the roadside.

Police said four people died at the scene and three more died at a hospital. The pick-up was carrying 12 people and had left a fuel station where they were drinking.

A friend of Chai Rat said a total of 16 people were drinking on the back of the pick-up in a fuel station until they were asked to leave. Four of them rode motorcycles after the pick-up and escaped the accident.

Drogba regrets saying he wanted to quit Chelsea

London, 20 Oct — Chelsea striker Didier Drogba said he regretted telling France Football magazine this week that he wanted to quit the Premier League team. “On reflection, I regret making the comments I made in a recent interview,” the Ivory Coast international told the club’s Web site (www.chelseafc.com) on Friday. “I am a Chelsea player and will be 100 per cent committed and supportive to my manager, my teammates and the club. I will not be discussing my future any further until I meet privately with the club at the end of the season.”

Drogba, who scored 33 goals for the club last season, caused a stir in his interview with France Football. “I want to leave Chelsea. Something is broken with the club,” the 29-year-old striker told the magazine. The west London club were quick to dismiss the idea of a possible transfer. “Didier Drogba signed a new four-year contract last year. As a top professional we are sure Didier is committed to Chelsea and intends to honour that contract,” the club said on its Web site (www.chelseafc.com) on Thursday. The Ivorian was one of the players most affected by Portuguese manager Jose Mourinho’s shock departure last month.

Maradona bored with Argentina’s passing game

Buenos Aires, 20 Oct — Diego Maradona criticized Argentina’s style of play on Friday, saying there were too many backward passes. Argentina have adopted a patient passing game under coach Alfio Basile, centred on playmaker Juan Roman Riquelme, but Maradona said that too often the ball went backwards.

Basile’s team have won their first two matches in the 2010 World Cup qualifying competition, 2-0 at home to Chile on Saturday and 2-1 in Venezuela on Tuesday, but the 100 per cent start was not enough for Maradona. “The team has not left me satisfied,” he said in a television interview. “I’m tired and bored of watching them pass the ball backwards.”—MNA/Reuters

Ghana to face Guinea in African Nations Cup finals opener

Ghana were placed in Group A in Accra with Guinea, Morocco and Namibia in Friday’s draw. “We are delighted to get the opening game, it will make for a compelling start,” Ghana coach Robert Nawazret told reporters. “It will serve as a major motivation for my players.”

Holders Egypt’s hopes of a record sixth title will be tested by Cameroon, Sudan and Zambia in Group C. Nigeria and Ivory Coast were paired in Group B along with Benin and Mali, meaning Bert Vogts (Nigeria) will be up against fellow German coach Ulri Stielike (Ivory Coast). Group B was due to be staged in Tamale in the north of Ghana but Confederation of African Football (CAF) general secretary Mustapha Fahmy said the venue was being moved to Sekondi which is nearer the Ghana-Ivorian border.

CAF said they were able to change venues to attract more fans.—MNA/Reuters

Nalbandian crushes Nadal as Federer advances

Madrid, 20 Oct — Unseeded Argentine David Nalbandian inflicted a shock 6-1 6-2 defeat on world number two Rafael Nadal in the Madrid Masters on Friday to earn a semi-final showdown with young Serb Novak Djokovic.

World number one Roger Federer shook off a determined challenge from Spanish wild card Feliciano Lopez to advance 7-6, 6-4. Holder Federer next meets last year’s losing finalist Fernando Gonzalez of Chile or German Nicolas Kiefer.

An out-of-sorts Nadal looked to be suffering the after-effects of Thursday night’s gruelling victory over Andy Murray as he surrendered his serve on five occasions, lost nine games in a row and made a host of unforced errors.

It was the Spaniard’s heaviest defeat since he lost to Julien Benneteau in Lyon in October 2004 when he also won only three games, and the second time in a row he has fallen in the quarters in Madrid.

Czech archaeologists find 7,000-year-old unique statue

PRAGUE, 20 Oct — Czech Archaeologists have uncovered a part of a half-metre high statue of a woman nearly 7,000 years old in the country, which was called “a find of the century,” the daily Mlada fronta Dnes (MFD) reported on Thursday.

Experts from Brno’s Masaryk University confirmed the unique character of the statue uncovered in Mostovice, South Moravia area of the Czech republic, the paper said.

The hollow legs and haunch of the female statue, made of ceramic, originate in 4,800 - 4,700 BC, MFD wrote.

Nothing similar has been uncovered so far, according to the experts.

The statue was made by the people of the prehistorical culture known as “Moravian Painted Ceramic”. “The statue was decorated with yellow paint. It is of an immense archaeological value,” archaeologist Zdenek Cizmar is quoted as saying.

Masaryk University expert Vladimir Podborsky said that the find is very unique.

“No statue of such dimensions and such type has been uncovered either in Europe or in Orient so far. It has a great scientific importance,” Podborsky said.

Thailand nabs hunted Canadian paedophile suspect

BANGKOK, 20 Oct — Canadian paedophile suspect Christopher Neil, focus of a global hunt that ended in rural Thailand on Friday, was charged with molesting underage children after being tracked down through his boyfriend’s phone.

Thai police appealed for more victims to come forward after nabbing Neil at a rented house. Neil is also accused of raping young boys in Vietnam and Cambodia after being unmasked by nifty police computer work and hunted in a unique Internet appeal.

“From pictures on the Internet, there were five to seven children under age 10 who have been abused by him, including one girl,” Deputy National Police Chief Wongkit Murem told a packed news conference in Bangkok.

Neil, 32, caught in the northeast Thai province of Nakhon Ratchasima, 250 kilometres (150 miles) from Bangkok and well off the normal tourist trail, refused to answer reporters’ questions.

Police said Neil, who arrived in handcuffs at national police headquarters, his head covered by a blue T-shirt, had confirmed his identity to investigators but said nothing else.

Neil was no stranger to Thailand, having once taught in a Bangkok language school, but his hiding place was revealed by a trace on the mobile phone of his 25-year-old Thai boyfriend, identified by transvestites in the seedy beach town of Pattaya.

“They went together to different provinces, probably on the run, and the last call made was from Nakhon Ratchasima. So I sent my men there,” tourist police chief Chuchart Suwannakom told Reuters.
