New Dagon Bridge for socio-economic progress

The 4,540 feet long new Dagon Bridge built across Bago River in Dagon Myothit (Selikkan) Township was inaugurated the other day. The six-lane bridge can withstand 75 tons of loads.

Yangon is a commercial city with a population of over five million where agriculture, industries and trading are concentrated. inauguration of the new bridge contributes towards the smooth flow of commodities between South Dagon Industrial Zone, Hninethaya Industrial Zone and Thakayta International Container Yard and Myanmar International Thilawa Terminal.

Now people from Thanlyin, Kyauktan, Kayan and Thongwa Townships and Thamatan and Kawa Townships in Bago Division can go to nearby regions easily. Commerce will improve as local products such as paddy, beans and pulses and fish and meat can be transported easily.

Thirty one bridges including the present one that are over 180 feet and above long and many small bridges have been built in Yangon Division. With the opening of Maha Bandooola, Thanlyin, Bayintnaung, Aung Zeya, Shwepyitha, Panhaing and Twantay Bridges, industrial zones and industries in the townships have developed and the life of people from rural areas has also improved.

Smooth and secure transport contributes towards the rapid flow of commodities and regional development and brings about uplift of socio-economic life of local people. That is why the government is building a great deal of roads and bridges nationwide. Now there are 228 major bridges that are over 180 feet and above long and over 60,000 miles of roads.

Nowadays, the government is building better foundations including transport spending a large sum of money and with the utilization of manpower, machinery and technology. It is believed that all national people can enjoy fruits of development with the active participation in nation-building tasks.

Protesters in US cities call for end to Iraq war

NEW YORK, 28 Oct — Anti-war demonstrators marched in a dozen US cities on Saturday to call for an immediate end to the war in Iraq and a cutoff of funding by Congress. The “national day of action,” sponsored by the United for Peace and Justice coalition, attracted throngs of protesters in cities from Boston and New Orleans to Chicago and Los Angeles on the fifth anniversary of the US Senate’s vote authorizing the invasion of Iraq.

Wet weather dampened the turnout in New York, but thousands braved the rain for the anti-war event in Manhattan, where protesters carried signs reading “End the war now”, demanding a cutoff of its funding. “Healthcare, not warfare,” and calling for the impeachment of President Bush for “war crimes.”

One contingent began its trek in New Jersey, marching across the George Washington Bridge en route to a rally in Manhattan’s Union Square, where speakers included antiwar veterans and families of servicemen in Iraq.

Cuba’s ballet legend Alonso slams US embargo

HAVANA, 27 Oct — Alicia Alonso, the nearly blind matriarch of Cuban ballet, on Friday denounced US sanctions as an “inhuman and unjustifiable siege” that has hindered cultural ties between the United States and Cuba.

Alonso, 85, called on American artists and intellectuals to speak out against the US embargo that has banned trade with Fidel Castro’s Communist government and restricted travel between the two countries since the early 1960s.

“I ask you to raise your voices to reject so unfair a measure and demand the end to this inhuman and unjustifiable siege,” she said in a statement read out for her at a news conference. US President George W Bush on Wednesday rejected any easing of the sanctions without a full transition to democracy, calling last year’s transfer of power from the ailing Castro to his brother Raúl an exchange of one dictator for another.

Every year since 1992, the UN General Assembly has told the United States to lift the embargo against Cuba. Last year’s resolution was approved by a record 183-4, with one abstention. The next such vote is slated to take place next Tuesday.

Cabin crew strike begins at Air France

PARIS, 27 Oct — Air France has been forced to cancel 158 flights scheduled for Friday owing to a cabin crew strike, according to a statement published by labour unions.

“Due to the exceptional level of mobilization of the cabin crew and the unity of labour union leaders, at least 390 flights have been cancelled today, of which 158 were due to take off tomorrow,” the labour unions said in a statement Thursday.

Labour unions representing Air France cabin crew workers called for a five-day strike slated to start on October 25 after negotiations over salary conditions stalled.

FAO warns bird flu virus in Europe as hidden danger

ROME, 27 Oct — The avian influenza virus H5N1 could become entrenched in chickens and domestic ducks and geese in parts of Europe, the UN Food and Agriculture Organization (FAO) warned on Thursday.

The agency stressed that healthy domestic ducks and geese may transmit the virus to chickens and play a more important role in the persistence of the virus in the region than previously thought. H5N1 surveillance in countries with significant domestic duck and geese populations should be urgently increased. FAO’s warning followed the detection of H5N1 in diseased young domestic ducks by German scientists.

“It seems that a new chapter in the evolution of avian influenza may be unfolding independently in the heart of Europe,” said FAO’s Chief Veterinary Officer, Joseph Domecnejch. “If it turns out to be true that the H5N1 virus can persist in apparently healthy domestic duck and geese populations, then countries need to urgently reinforce their monitoring and surveillance schemes in all regions with significant duck and geese pro-ductions for the presence of H5N1. Europe should prepare for further waves of avian influenza outbreaks, most probably in an east-west direction, if the virus succeeds in persi-sting throughout the year in domestic waterfowl. This heightens the need for increased surveillance and monitoring of possible virus circulation in domestic ducks and geese,” Domecnejch said.

Armoured piercing roadside bomb kills US soldier in Iraq

BAGHDAD, 27 Oct — A US soldier was killed and four others wounded in a sophisticated armoured piercing roadside bomb explosion in southern Baghdad, the US military said on Friday.

The Multi National Division-Baghdad soldiers were attacked by the explosively formed penetrator, or EFP on Thursday, the military said in a statement.

EFP, first developed during World War II, is a special type of shaped charge designed to penetrate armour effectively. US officials frequent-ly accused Iran of providing Shiite militia in Iraq the weapons, including the EFP, which was denied by Iran.

The latest death brings the number of US soldiers who have been killed in Iraq to more than 3,333 since the outbreak of the Iraq war in 2003, according to media count based on Pentagon figures.

France has been forced to cancel 158 flights due to a strike among the cabin crew and this has clearly been shown by the massive participation in the strike, according to the statement.

Every year since 1992, the UN General Assembly has told the United States to lift the embargo against Cuba. Last year’s resolution was approved by a record 183-4, with one abstention. The next such vote is slated to take place next Tuesday.

Spain says over 40 missing in shipwreck off Africa

MADRID, 26 Oct — A Spanish fishing boat found seven bodies and one survivor in an open-topped wooden boat adrift off Mauritania, with dozens more passengers thought to be missing, Spain said on Thursday.

According to the survivor, the boat began its journey with around 50 people on board and had been adrift for around 20 days, the Development Ministry said in a statement. The vessel was half-sunk when found, the captain of the fishing boat said. “There was a foul stench and I think those people had been dead for around six or seven days,” maybe more,” the captain told national radio from the fishing boat, his voice trembling with emotion. He said it was unlikely others had survived.

Thousands of illegal immigrants in rickety wooden boats attempt the journey from Africa to Spain’s Canary Islands every year. Many die trying to reach Europe in search of work. The captain said the survivor told him the boat had run out of petrol far from the coast after leaving the Mauritanian fishing port of Nouadhibou. He believed the other passengers had been swept off board.

US Democrats press Bush on climate change testimony

WASHINGTON, 26 Oct — Democrats in the US Congress on Thursday demanded to know if the White House had improperly interfered with a health official’s prepared testimony about global warming, amid allegations that large portions were deleted for political reasons.

Senator Barbara Boxer, who chairs the Senate Environment and Public Works Committee, wrote President George W Bush requesting him “please provide to my office, no later than Monday ... a copy of all drafts” of testimony by the director of the Centers for Disease Control and Prevention.

“This isn’t a country that should be censoring science,” Boxer, a California Democrat, told reporters.

CDC Director Julie Gerberding testified on Wednesday before Boxer’s panel on the health implications of global warming.

On Thursday, Boxer released to reporters what she said was a draft of Gerberding’s testimony to the committee. About half of the text had been deleted.

Among the passages deleted, according to documents released by Boxer, were: “Scientific evidence supports the view that the earth’s climate is changing. ... In the United States, climate change is likely to have a significant impact on health.” — MNA/Reuters

Putin objects to sanctions against Iran

LISBON, 26 Oct — Russian President Vladimir Putin objected on Thursday to new sanctions against Iran, saying such action would put Iran in a corner over its nuclear programme.

“Why should we make the situation worse, corner it, (Iran) threatening new sanctions?” Putin told reporters during a visit to Lisbon.

His remarks followed an announcement by the United States that it would slap a new set of unilateral sanctions against Teheran, which it suspects of trying to make a nuclear bomb.

On Thursday, Boxer released to reporters what she said was a draft of Gerberding’s testimony to the committee. About half of the text had been deleted.

Denies the charges, saying its nuclear programme is peaceful.

Russia, which is helping Iran build a nuclear power station, has backed the United Nations’ two sets of mild sanctions, intended to encourage Teheran to cooperate more with the International Atomic Energy Agency (IAEA).

However, Russia said it would not back any further sanctions unless the IAEA said Teheran was not cooperating or the UN nuclear watchdog finds that Iran’s “programme had military goals.”

Court rejects appeal by ex-Illinois governor Ryan

CHICAGO, 27 Oct — A federal appeals court on Thursday refused to give former Illinois governor George Ryan another hearing on his corruption conviction, increasing the likelihood the Nobel Peace Prize nominee will have to begin serving a 6 1/2-year prison sentence.

Ryan, 73, promoted for several years a Nobel because of his opposition to capital punishment has been free on bond pending appeal since he was sentenced on 6 September, 2006.

In a 6-3 decision, the US Court of Appeals for the Seventh Circuit denied Ryan and colleague Larry Warner a hearing by the full nine-member panel to consider an August ruling by three of its judges upholding the convictions.

Budapest protesters block city roads

BUDAPEST, 27 Oct — Several hundred protesters blocked some of Budapest’s busiest traffic arteries on Friday and called on Socialist Prime Minister Ferenc Gyurcsany to quit.

Police attempted to push the protesters, many of them carrying flags associated with the far-right, away from the city centre but did not clash with the demonstrators.

Currency dealers said Budapest’s street protests contributed to the Hungarian forint’s slight weakening on Friday but that markets were not overly concerned as similar demonstrations in the past failed to have a lasting market impact.

On 22 October, several hundred demonstrators clashed with police, threw petrol bombs and set fires as they protested against Gyurcsany, and admitted in a leaked tape of having lied about the state of the economy to win re-election.

Oil hits record above $92 on weak dollar

NEW YORK, 27 Oct — Oil prices shot to an all-time high above 92 US dollars a barrel on Friday as the tumbling dollar and Nigerian output disruptions helped extend a rally that has lifted prices nearly 30 per cent since August.

Prices jumped past 90 US dollars a barrel after a US Government report on Wednesday showed a sharp drop in crude stocks in the world’s biggest energy consumer. Oil got a boost on Friday after a rebel attack on a oil rig in OPEC-member Nigeria operated by Italian firm ENI shut 50,000 barrels per day of production.

1.21 US dollars to 88.69 US dollars a barrel. “Fresh highs are now attracting fresh buying, especially following yesterday’s violation of the futures highs just above the ‘90 US dollars level,” said Jim Ritterbusch, president of Ritterbusch & Associates in Galena, Illinois.

Worries that supplies may come up short ahead of the Northern Hemisphere winter have fueled the rise, drawing a fresh wave of speculative money from investors.

US crude settled up 1.40 US dollars at 91.86 US dollars a barrel, off the record 92.22 US dollars struck during electronic trading earlier.

Oil was closing in on its inflation-adjusted high of 101.70 US dollars seen over the course of April 1980, a year after the Iranian revolution and at the start of the Iran-Iraq war.

London Brent gained 1.17 US dollars to 88.83 US dollars a barrel, or 1.37 US dollars to 88.69 US dollars a barrel. “While crude oil prices made headlines this week, the rally reflects a lot on the weakened US dollar,” said Jeffrey Ticic, managing director of LinnMade Futures in New York.

Alberta to boost oil, gas royalties by $1.45 billion

CALGARY (Alberta), 27 Oct — Alberta said on Thursday it will boost oil royalties as crude prices surge, but the Canadian Province backed away from some of the more contentious recommendations in a review panel’s report that the industry sought to discredit.

Under the new measures, Alberta’s take from the oil and gas industry will increase by 1.4 billion Canadian dollars (1.45 billion US dollars), or 20 per cent above projected 2010 revenues.

The panel, which Premier Ed Stelmach appointed to look at ways to overhaul a royalty system some Albertans saw as too sweet for the booming industry, had urged a two-billion-canadian-dollar increase over 2006 revenue.

The prospect of higher royalties has proven divisive in the province, whose oil sands resources represent the largest oil deposits outside the Middle East. The world’s oil industry has watched the developments closely.

The changes spurred angry comments from oil-sector officials who charged the government is grabbing too much in a high-cost operating region, but also from left-wing think tanks, which said Stelmach caved to industry pressure.
China opposes US sanctions against Iran

BEIJING, 27 Oct — China indicated on Friday it opposed the latest US Economic sanctions on Iran, warning that what it called rash steps could “complicate” the nuclear standoff with Teheran.

Washington announced the new sanctions on Thursday, accusing Teheran’s Revolutionary Guard of spreading weapons of mass destruction. Now Beijing has joined Moscow in voicing opposition to the move.

“China has always been opposed to imposing sanctions too rashly in international relations,” Foreign Ministry spokesman Liu Jianchao said in a short statement published on the ministry’s website “It can only make the situation more complicated,” he said.

Beijing’s comments came after Russian President Vladimir Putin said such moves only forced Teheran into a corner over its nuclear programme, and added to international worries that the White House had begun a march to war.

Accusing Iran’s Qods force, a special Revolutionary Guard unit, of supporting terrorism, Washington slapped sanctions on more than 20 Iranian companies, banks and individuals as well as the Defence Ministry, hoping to increase pressure on Teheran to stop uranium enrichment and curb its “terrorist” activities.

China, ASEAN vow to strengthen ties

NANNING, 28 Oct — Chinese Vice-Premier Zeng Peiyuan met with leaders from the Association of South-East Asian Nations (ASEAN) Saturday, and vowed to strengthen the China-ASEAN relationship.

When meeting with Brunei’s Crown Prince Al-Muhtadee Billah, Cambodian Prime Minister Hun Sen, Laotian Prime Minister Bouasone Bounhavanh and Vietnamese Prime Minister Nguyen Tan Dung, Zeng spoke highly of the bilateral relations between China and ASEAN countries.

Zeng hailed frequent high-level contacts, expanding trade cooperation, deepening local exchanges, more active cultural exchanges and closer coordination in international affairs between China and ASEAN countries.

China is willing to work with all ASEAN nations to promote their bilateral relations to benefit the people in the region, Zeng said.

He said the China-ASEAN summit held last October has brought the bilateral relations into a new historic era, adding that China will work with ASEAN to deepen strategic partnership, promote stable development of the cooperation in east Asia and contribute to regional peace, development and stability.

The ASEAN leaders expressed their warm congratulation to the success of the 17th National Congress of the Communist Party of China (CPC).

Two foreign soldiers killed in Afghanistan

KABUL, 27 Oct — Insurgents killed two soldiers from the NATO-led force in Afghanistan in an ambush in the east of the country, the force said in a statement on Friday.

Three International Security Assistance Force (ISAF) soldiers were also wounded in the clash when insurgents opened fire with small arms and rocket-propelled grenades on the joint patrol with Afghan troops in the province of Kunar, bordering Pakistan. ISAF does not release the nationalities of soldiers killed in Afghanistan, but most of the troops in Kunar are American.

The soldiers responded with small arms fire and called in air support. Several Kalashnikov assault rifles and the body of one insurgent were recovered after the clash, the statement said.

Scientists decode proteins with potential for new medicines

BRUSSELS, 27 Oct — A research team funded by the European Union, working with American scientists, is the first to determine the structure of a specific membrane protein, known as “recombinant G protein-coupled receptor,” said the European Commission on Friday.

Membrane proteins are potentially important targets for future medicines, because of their involvement in the development of many diseases within the body.

The European Commission, the executive body of the EU, also announced 22 million euros (about 31 million US dollars) of funding for two new projects looking into membrane proteins.

Final budget figures and project details are subject to the final signature of contracts. The projects will begin research in early 2008, the commission said.

Teenage shooting wounds four at US school football game

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — An American 15-year-old boy opened fire at a middle school football game late Wednesday in Saginaw, Michigan, injuring four people, authorities said Thursday.

The county authorities said that the suspect is held at a juvenile facility and would be charged as juvenile assault with intent to murder.

A 16-year-old was shot in the neck, another student was shot in the leg and the other two parents were grazed. The 16-year-old is still in critical condition but the other three injured have been discharged from hospital.

Police have not confirmed whether the shooter knew the 16-year-old, but officers said the incident had surprised them. “(It was) very brazen to do it in broad daylight and near a school function. It’s kind of scary stuff," said a Saginaw police Sergeant Brent Vanderhaar.

Dutch firm conducts trial of separate plastic collection

BRUSSELS, 27 Oct — A trial with the separate collection of plastic waste was a surprising success in 21 Dutch towns, Dutch paper De Telegraaf reported Thursday.

Dutch waste processing company Sita, which has been conducting tests in towns in central and eastern Netherlands since the summer, said most people are willing to go the extra trouble of separating the plastic from their trash, the report said.

People took the experiment very seriously,” a spokesperson from Sita was quoted as saying.

A 16-year-old was shot in the neck, another student was shot in the leg and the other two parents were grazed. The 16-year-old is still in critical condition but the other three injured have been discharged from hospital.

Police have not confirmed whether the shooter knew the 16-year-old, but officers said the incident had surprised them. “(It was) very brazen to do it in broad daylight and near a school function. It’s kind of scary stuff," said a Saginaw police Sergeant Brent Vanderhaar.

Residents in the participating towns, which included Arnhem, Leusden, Nunspeet and Harderwijk, have been able to hand in plastic containers separate from other household waste. Some 1,500 cubic metres of plastic has been collected for recycling so far. “We were positively surprised by the quantity and quality of the plastic handed in. People took the experiment very seriously,” a spokesperson from Sita was quoted as saying.

Today’s younger generation did not witness the 1988 unrest. They learn the 1988 unrest as the disturbance or democracy movement that took place at the instigation of internal and external elements. Destructive elements at home were entertaining constantly the made-up stories and distorted news stories aired by foreign radio stations of colonialists and their expatriate minions such as BBC, VOA, RFA and DVB. Those who placed their trust in the broadcasts were trapped and used at will by internal and external destructive elements. Their plots were intended to disrupt peace and stability and development momentum of the nation, undermine national coherence by driving a wedge among national brethren, and make Myanmar lose its independence or sovereignty following disintegration of the Union and national solidarity. Once the nation lost independence, the Union of Myanmar would be at the mercy of colonialists. National axe-handles of the colonialists, axe-handles at home, expatriates, absconders, and national traitors would have a meagre share of (power of the puppet government) from the colonialists.

Myanmar people had experienced untold miseries for 123 years in the time of the British colonialists, three years in the time of the Fascists, and for more than 40 years due to the multi-coloured insurgency incited by those who stuck to sectarianism and were desperate to seize power at the instigation of internal and external elements. In addition, they have suffered a variety of destructive acts of neo-colonialists since independence (for about 60 years). So, destructive acts of lackeys to make the nation lose independence again are absolutely unacceptable to the people, as evidenced by the mass rallies to support the National Convention and the forthcoming State constitution held throughout the nation and people’s marches held in various townships denouncing recent protests.

Myanmar people still remember and should not forget the incidents in which the people lived under the yoke of the colonialists who unfairly exploited Myanmar’s teak, oil, precious stones and crops, the events in which Myanmar lived well below the poverty line, and the independence struggles such as Oilfield Workers’ Uprising and Peasants’ Uprising resulting from various forms of tortures and oppressions that were intolerable for the people.

According to the neo-colonialism, the neo-colonialists will have to manipulate the internal affairs of their targeted countries after installing puppet governments. In practice, they invaded a targeted country giving a lame excuse. Although they have installed puppet governments, they fail to withdraw their troops from the nations. The United Nations has decolonized. However, the neo-colonialists have occupied Afghanistan for seven years and Iraq for five years, but they have not withdrawn their troops yet.

The UN and international community want the US and its allies to withdraw from the invaded countries and meanwhile the peoples and legislative bodies of the invading nations are calling for withdrawal of the stationed forces. Those exercising combined pattern of neo-colonialism and old colonialism have refused to comply with the wishes of the global community.

Before they occupied the countries, the international community, the UN and the peoples of the invaded countries had objected to possible invasion. Showing total disregard for the instance of the majority of the people and failing to respect democracy, they invaded the countries. The excuses they gave were not correct before the invasion, so they have not been able to prove them. For instance, the US and Britain giving an excuse that the UN was unable to find out nuclear weapons, chemical weapons and biological weapons in Iraq in the time of Saddam Hussein. Nonetheless, they have not found out any such weapons as yet.

At that time, the US President claimed it was the liberation of Iraq from the rule of tyrant Saddam Hussein. Now, Saddam Hussein administration was toppled, and Saddam Hussein has been hanged. However, Iraqis have not been liberated from the tyrants. According to some world political analysts, Iraqis have not been freed from the US occupation. They also said that in the time of Saddam Hussein, thousands of Iraqis did not lose their lives, Iraqis’ residences did not face bomb attacks, oil wells were not exploited by the invaders, and more than five million Iraqis had not fled their country. Now, thousands of Iraqis have been killed, many houses of Iraqis have been ravaged, and a great deal of Iraq oil has been exploited. The number of Iraqi emigrants has reached more than five million.

The US attacked civilian targets of Iraq such as residential areas and houses with bombs, projectiles and rockets on the pretext of suspecting that there were insurgents and members of Al Qaeda in those areas. Consequently, dozens of Iraqi people including children, adults and mothers are killed daily. An excuse of suspects frequently used by the US has turned out to be the license to kill Iraqi people.

In their plots to encroach upon other nations the neo-colonialists used to make use of internal national traitors, lackeys and axe-handles. There is a Myanmar saying “If a mother is in calamity, she disowns even her own offspring”. It means that even a mother fails to save her own offspring when she is in calamity triggered by the disaster. There is not any impact of disaster in Myanmar. There is prevalence of peace in the nation instead. Remarkable progress has been made in education and health sectors. There is no such event in Myanmar to reflect to the Mynamar saying.

Another saying is that one would tread on the prey when the world is on fire. Another version is that one would tread on own offspring when the world is on fire. It means that one would save one’s own life first when one is in great trouble. There is no such incident in Myanmar. Such saying is in total contrast to Myanmar traditions and culture as the nation is now fully enjoying the fruits of peace and development. Although there cannot be such incidents in the nation expatriates and absconders abroad, who have been away from their parents, and internal traitors and lackeys are creating violent protest and unrest in the nation.

Expatriate and fugitives abroad are perpetrating such atrocities to undermine national development and tarnish the image of the nation as they have to rely on their masters and act to their liking. Even though their acts can be forgiven to a certain extent the acts of internal traitors who live in the same land and partake water from the same source together with the people getting the nation and its people into trouble are mean and totally unacceptable.

At the instigation of external destructive elements and the incitement of internal traitors, artless people felt prey to some big nations and they together with the wails and strays took to the streets without the knowledge of the prevailing situation of the nation and the world. Actually, they needed to study the real incident of the “88” disturbance and drew lessons from it.

As I have mentioned in the beginning of the article, nations that have fallen prey to neo-colonialists ran into trouble and suffered much resulting in bloodshed. Such nations became totally destitute and impoverished. The more they became destitute, the more neo-colonialists became satisfied.

The “88” disturbance originated from a brawl between two students and some residents at a tea shop in a ward, and it culminated into unrest. The Burma Communist Party (BCP) lacking the support of Myanmar people and the colonialists, who are desirous of meddling in the nation’s internal affairs fueled the incident rather than putting an end to it.

As a matter of fact, the “88” disturbance was not a revolution launched by the entire national people. Therefore, it was not difficult to halt and stop it. The violent unrest staged by those who wanted to grasp power through short cut, saboteurs, touts and unscrupulous self-seekers was put to an end on 18 September 1988. The “88” disturbance met its end in a short period of time as it was not a revolution launched and supported by the majority of people. It was just a riot out of control mixed with violence, looting and breaking of factories and warehouses and it occurred only in some towns and regions.

In Kyaukme, Shan State (North), a crowd of protesters confronted with Shan farmers in front of the police station in the town centre. The townsmen had to handle the situation. A similar incident happened in Lashio.

In Mandalay, Kyaunggon, Ayeyawady Division, about 1,000 demonstrators of the “88” disturbance staged protest walk along the streets of the town. At that time, over 5,000 farmers in the environs came into the town and walked in procession along the streets chanting “we oppose demonstrations” and left there.

Similarly, the recent protests were like another “88” unrest instigated by internal and external destructive elements and a notorious big country using the expatriates and axe-handles. As agitated by BBC, VOA and RFA, some ignorant people took to the streets but the number was very small. The people of every township are holding mass rallies to express their true desire. All in all, the number of destructionists is very small but the number of the peace-loving people very big.

If the Tatmadaw had not taken State responsibilities on 18 September 1988, the demonstrators committing destructive acts would really have confronted with the peace-loving local people.

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — US Senator John Kerry vowed on Thursday to press for further investigation of the tax practices of Blackwater USA, the private security firm already under scrutiny over killings of Iraqi civilians.

"Blackwater is hiding behind the Bush Administration to explain why they bilked the taxpayers out of millions of dollars," said the Massachusetts Democrat in a statement. "I intend to get to the bottom of this."

Blackwater, which employs about 1,000 people in Iraq, has been under a spotlight since some of its security guards were involved in the shooting deaths of at least 17 Iraqis in Baghdad last month in an incident that enraged the Iraqi Government.

The company was accused on Monday of "significant tax evasion" by Representative Henry Waxman, chairman of the House of Representatives Oversight and Government Reform Committee.

The California Democrat said Blackwater failed to withhold contributions from employees or pay to the government millions of dollars in mandatory Social Security retirement funds.

He also alleged that it failed to make required payments for medical and unemployment benefits and related taxes.

In a letter to Blackwater Chairman Erik Prince — a former Navy SEAL who founded the company in 1997 — Waxman raised questions about the treatment of Blackwater personnel in Iraq and Afghanistan as contractors rather than employees.

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — US security officials have been warned to look out for explosives components that can be smuggled in travellers’ thick-soled shoes, but no specific threat against the United States was reported.

A memo from the Federal Bureau of Investigation and Department of Homeland Security, reported by CBS this week, said European authorities in September found electric blasting caps hidden inside the thick rubber soles that had been packed in luggage.

A DHS spokesman was not immediately available for comment on Friday.

The memo said the shoe modifications are "difficult to detect by visual inspection." It said homeland security and law enforcement officials need to be alert particularly at passenger screening checkpoints. US airports do X-ray screening of footwear, but not all overseas airports with US-bound flights have the same requirement. — MNA/Reuters

Four killed in northeast of Baghdad

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — Four people were killed and another was wounded in three separate attacks in the volatile province of Diyala on Saturday, a provincial police source said.

"Two policemen were killed when unknown gunmen opened fire on their patrol in the al-Zanjour Village in the al-Khalis Town, 60 kilometres northeast of Baghdad," the source told Xinhua on condition of anonymity.

Blackwater responded by saying that Waxman was "incorrect" in asserting that the deployed personnel should be treated as employees for tax purposes. The Blackwater statement said: "The US Small Business Administration (SBA) has determined in an official finding applying the criteria based on the IRS for federal income tax purposes, that Blackwater security contractors are not employees."

In addition, a police man was critically wounded when gunmen opened fire on him in the town of Baladruz, some 75 kilometres northeast of Baghdad. "The police man was shot at point-blank range with his .45mm weapon at least seven times," the source told Xinhua.

In another incident, two civilians were killed when several mortar rounds struck the al-Dulab Village in the Al-Miqadlyah Town, some 100 kilometres northeast of the capital, the source said. Several houses were also damaged by the attack.

Bluetongue spreads to whole of Netherlands

BRUSSELS, 27 Oct — The whole of the Netherlands has been declared a bluetongue-contaminated area and the number of Dutch farms where an outbreak has been detected has risen to more than 5,770, Dutch media reported Thursday.

Bluetongue is a non-contagious virus spread by species of midge that affects ruminants including sheep, cattle and goats. It does not affect humans and there is no risk of the disease being contracted or spread through meat or milk.

Most of the bluetongue cases were found in the mid-western province of Gelderland (1,860), which borders Germany.

It is followed by neighbouring provinces Overijssel (1,042) and Noord-Brabant (1,013), according to statistics from the Agriculture Ministry.

The first case of the fatal bluetongue disease was discovered in the Netherlands last year. But the explosive growth started this year, which indicates that there were more sources of contamination.

Transport and export bans seem to have little effect on the spread of the virus, the Agriculture Ministry admitted.

"The virus may have been introduced on the bottom of this."

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — Waxman raised questions about the treatment of Blackwater personnel in Iraq and Afghanistan as contractors rather than employees.

Two bodies found in burned California home

SAN DIEGO, 27 Oct — Two burned bodies were found in a San Diego area home, bringing the death toll in California’s five days of wildfires up to at least eight, officials said on Thursday.

San Diego County Sheriff Bill Kolender said the bodies were found in Santee, a town engulfed by the big witch fire in the northern part of the county, and had not yet been identified.

One death from the wildfires was reported in southern San Diego on Sunday. At least five other people, mostly senior citizens, have died in the evacuation of half a million people, the largest in California’s modern history. — MNA/Reuters

US astronauts conduct 1st of five spacewalks to expand station

WASHINGTON, 27 Oct — Two US astronauts of space shuttle Discovery’s crew conducted the first of five spacewalks of their STS-120 mission on Friday, attaching the newly-delivered Harmony module to the International Space Station, according to NASA TV.

Mission specialists Scott Parazynski and Douglas Wheelock kicked off their first excursion at 6:02 am EDT (1002 GMT), floating out of the Quest airlock.

“I see light out there, that’s a good thing,” Parazynski said. “You boys be good out there,” ISS female commander Peggy Whitson said inside the station.

The duo firstly retrieved a broken antenna mount, which will be brought back to Earth aboard Discovery.

Then, working inside Discovery’s cargo bay, they successfully grappled the new Harmony module with the help of crew inside using the station’s robotic arm.

With a delicate touch, astronauts inside the station plucked the new module out of the bay and slowly brought it into position. Now the nearly 16-ton node was successfully berthed at its temporary perch on the side of the station’s Unity node. During the next days, a series of bolts will drive into place to secure Harmony and the station together.

Indian guitarists strum together in record bid

GUWAHATI (India), 27 Oct — Hundreds of guitarists played Bob Dylan’s “Knocking on Heaven’s Door” in India’s remote northeastern hills on Friday, attempting to break the world record for the largest guitar ensemble.

About 1,730 guitarists played at a stadium in Shillong Town aiming to break the existing Guinness record held by musicians from Kansas City in the United States where 1,721 guitarists had performed Deep Purple’s “Smoke on the Water” last year.

There were no adjudicators from the Guinness Book of World Records at the Indian event, but its organizers claimed their feat would be recognized as they had two witnesses in keeping with the parameters set by the Guinness authorities.

“Though we set a new cash, the report said.

The suspects wore disguises when they dropped off a one-square-metre cardboard box in front of the store late at night. One of them would then crawl into the box and remove the door’s glass pane through an open side of the box.

The cardboard sat right up against the door, looking like a delivery and therefore concealing the action. Nothing looked unusual to passing police cruisers or motorists.

After entering the store using the specialized tools, the culprits would steal cash and take any laptops found inside the office, according to authorities.

The suspects communicated to each other using ear-pieces and disabled alarm systems, police said.

“These suspects were very organized and they planned and executed every one of their entries,” Toronto police Detective Sergeant Reuben Stroble told reporters at a press conference Thursday.

Restaurant burglars face 355 charges in Canada

OTTAWA, 27 Oct — Three people are facing 355 charges for burgling into fast-food restaurants in a “unique way” in Toronto, Canada’s largest city, local media reported Thursday.

The suspects, two men and one woman, targeted more than 200 businesses across the Toronto area since the fall in 2006, netting 250,000 Canadian dollars (250,000 US dollars) in

Bird flu-hit localities in Vietnam rise to three

HANOI, 28 Oct — Bird flu outbreaks have occurred in Vietnam’s northern Cao Bang Province since 10 Oct, raising the total number of localities currently affected by the disease to three.

The disease has killed or infected 480 ducks and 88 chickens raised by 13 households in Trung Khanh District, the Department of Animal Health under the Vietnamese Ministry of Agriculture and Rural Development said Friday, noting that samples from the fowls have been tested positive to bird flu virus strain H5N1.

To prevent bird flu spread, local veterinary agencies have culled all ill poultry and isolated the affected areas. Now, bird flu is hitting Cao Bang, central Quang Tri province and southern Tra Vinh Province.

Bird flu outbreaks in Vietnam, starting in December 2003, have killed and led to the forced culling of dozens of millions of fowls in the country, according to the department. — MNA/Xinhua

Mallorca hold in-form Espanyol to 2-2 draw

MADRID, 28 Oct — Real Mallorca held Espanyol to an entertaining 2-2 draw in the Primera Liga on Saturday. Last year’s UEFA Cup finalists Espanyol came into the game on the back of a four-match winning streak that had ended Madrid’s unbeaten start to the season last week.

Ariel Ibáñez’s quickly taken freekick allowed Venezuela striker Juan Arango to volley Mallorca in front after just two minutes, but Espanyol were soon back in contention.

Luis García’s freekick in the 21st minute flew off Arango’s head into the top corner of his own net, and five minutes later Raul Tamudo tumbled under a challenge from Mallorca defender Sergio Ballesteros for a penalty. — MNA/Reuters

Juve lose at Napoli after two harsh penalties

MILAN, 28 Oct — Juventus missed the chance to join Inter Milan at the top of Serie A after losing 3-1 at promoted Napoli following two dubious penalties on Saturday.

Alessandro Del Piero, who became a father on Monday after bagging the winner against Genoa last weekend, opened the scoring for Juve straight after the break when keeper Gianluigi Buffon was adjudged to have handled Ezequiel Lavezzi’s close-range effort into the net.

Napoli hit back quickly as Walter Gargano cut back into the Boro half, moved forward and ripped a 30-metre shot past Mark Schwarzer. Hargreaves moved quickly to pull the stringing in his starting line-up for the fourth time since 1997.

The champions could lose first place on Sunday when Arsenal, on a high after 7-0 romp over Slavia Prague on Tuesday, travel to Liverpool looking for a 13th consecutive victory and hit four goals in a match for the fourth time in a row since 1907.

Bellion’s goal sends Bordeaux up to third

PARIS, 28 Oct — David Bellion netted his eighth goal of the season to earn Girondins Bordeaux a 2-1 victory over Valenciennes and third spot in Ligue 1 on Saturday. The former Manchester United player struck the winner on the stroke of halftime.

Valenciennes had opened the scoring with a Souleymane Diawara own goal in the 34th minute before Brazilian Jassie lev- elled from the penalty spot.

Bordeaux have 22 points from 12 games, three points behind lead- ers Olympique Lyon who travel to Paris St Germain on Sunday. Nancy, on 24 points from 11 matches, missed an opportunity to go back to the top when they were held to a goal- less draw at Metz.

Metz, who have not won attheir St.Symphorien Stadiu- mum this season, remain bottom with six points. Olympique Marseille slumped to a 2-1 defeat at Sochaux with visiting de- fenders Ronald Zubar and Laurent Bonnart scoring own goals. — MNA/Reuters

British security Co sued over death of US soldier

LONDON, 28 Oct — A British private security company is being sued in the United States over the death of a US soldier hit by one of its convoys in Iraq, according to court documents.

The case, believed to be the first of its kind, comes six weeks after Iraq accused the US security company Blackwater of using excessive force in an incident where 17 Iraqis were shot dead in Baghdad.

The case against Erinys, filed in a court in Houston, Texas, on Wednesday and also in London, was brought by the Perry Monroe, father of Christopher Monroe, a US soldier who was struck by an Erinys vehicle while on duty in southern Iraq in October 2005.

The lawsuit accuses the Erinys convoy of ignoring warnings and travelling at excessive speed after dark without lights fully on, leading to an accident in which Monroe was hit, suffering severe injuries that led to his death.

“Even though warned that the remainder of the US convoy was ahead, the Erinys PSD team to account for its action that led to the death of his 19-year-old son,” reads the suit, which also seeks unspecified damages.

Belgian man heavily fined for Internet piracy

BRUSSELS, 28 Oct — A Belgian man has been fined more than 400,000 euros (568,000 US dollars) for illegally copying films, games, software and music from the Internet, news reports said on Saturday.

This is the largest fine for piracy ever imposed in Belgium.

The appeal court in the eastern Belgian city of Liege imposed damages of more than 400,000 euros (568,000 US dollars) on the man last week, but the news was only announced Friday by IFPI Belgium, an organization representing the music industry and the plaintiff in the case.

The case came to light in 2000 after an anonymous tip-off about large sales of illegal music, films, games and software in the eastern Belgian town of Verviers. More than 7,500 illegal copies were since confiscated from the man.

In the first instance the man was ordered to pay just one euro in provisional damages to the parties that had filed the suit. Those parties appealed the first ruling.
