III. Summary of Comments

The Commission received two comment letters following the publication of the 2003 Release.³⁰ One commenter expressed strong support for the proposal.³¹ The other commenter limited its remarks to the provisions of the proposal affecting transactions in foreign sovereign debt and expressed support for those provisions.³² Specifically, this commenter maintained that NYSE rule 431 currently imposes high margin requirements on transactions in foreign sovereign debt, which the commenter believes have resulted in the exclusion of U.S. broker-dealers from significant segments of international bond markets. The commenter believed that the proposal would create more reasonable margin requirements for foreign sovereign debt while protecting U.S. broker-dealers and their customers from undue risk.

IV. Discussion

Section 6(c)(3)(A) of the Exchange Act³³ provides, among other things, that a national securities exchange may condition membership privileges on compliance with the exchange's own financial responsibility rules. Pursuant to this authority, the NYSE is authorized to promulgate rules governing the financial responsibility requirements of its members. In addition, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with the Exchange Act and the rules and regulations thereunder applicable to a national securities exchange.³⁴ In particular, as described above, for positions not maintained in exempt accounts, the proposal reduces the customer maintenance margin requirement for certain non-equity securities and establishes a customer maintenance margin requirement of 20% of current market value for other marginable non-equity securities. The Commission believes that these requirements are consistent with the risks of those securities.

The proposal also permits the extension of good faith margin to certain non-equity securities held in exempt accounts. The Commission notes that the definition of exempt account is limited to certain regulated entities as well as to persons with net worth of at least $40 million and financial assets of at least $45 million about whom certain information is publicly available or who make available to the broker-dealer certain current financial information. The Commission believes that these requirements are important to the broker-dealer's evaluation of the creditworthiness of the exempt account borrower and its ability to make an informed decision regarding an extension of good faith margin to the exempt account.

The Commission also notes that the proposal limits the amount of capital charges a broker-dealer may take in lieu of collecting marked to the market losses. Specifically, a broker-dealer may not enter into transactions with exempt accounts that would increase the broker-dealer's capital charges if the broker-dealer's capital charges exceed: (1) 5% of the broker-dealer's tentative net capital on any one account or group of commonly controlled accounts; or (2) 25% of the broker-dealer's tentative net capital on all accounts combined, unless the excess no longer exists on the fifth business day after it was incurred. In addition, the proposal requires broker-dealers to maintain a written risk analysis methodology for assessing the amount of good faith credit extended to exempt accounts and assures that a broker-dealer has procedures for determining, approving, and monitoring extensions of credit to exempt accounts. The Commission believes that these requirements establish important safeguards to minimize potential risks to a broker-dealer.

Accordingly, the Commission finds that the proposed rule change is consistent with section 6(b)(5) of the Exchange Act,³⁵ which requires, among other things, that the rules of a national securities exchange be designed to promote just and equitable principles of trade, and to protect investors and the public interest.

V. Conclusion

It is therefore ordered, pursuant to section 19(b)(2) of the Exchange Act,³⁶ that the proposed rule change (SR-NYSE-98-14), as amended, is approved.

For the Commission, by the Division of Market Regulation, pursuant to delegated authority.³⁷

Deputy Secretary.
